Swimming Starts Monday, June 21st

This year's swimming program of the Belmond chapter of American Red Cross will start a week from next Monday, June 21, Mrs. Robert Garms reports. The same as last year, the children from the Belmond chapter area who are enrolled for the water safety course will go to the Clarion pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings.

As in the past, the busses will leave for Clarion at 9:00 a. m. and will be back in Belmond by noon. Where the busses will load will be announced next week.

Mrs. Garms, who is in charge of the swimming program this year, says that the number of children registered for the classes is approaching the 100 mark. Since some 225 participated in the program last year, she is confident that a good many more still plan to register. Children from seven to 15 years of age are eligible.

The need for registering and paying the $2.50 enrollment fee in advance is again stressed by Mrs. Garms. She says that youngsters can register at her home any afternoon or evening next week, or with Mrs. L. M. Helland, who is assisting Mrs. Garms. The fee should be paid at that time, and younger children should be accompanied by a parent.

Several women have volunteered to act as chaperones, taking the bus ride to Clarion and back, but Mrs. Garms says that still more are needed. Tom Hand, manager of the pool, has gratefully accepted the offer of Coach Dick Hobbs to help teach the Belmond swimming pupils and the Belmond recreation director will go over with the local contingent each morning. He is a certified Red Cross Senior Lifesaver.

$5 CHECK BOUNCED

City police officials would like to "welcome back" to Belmond one passer-through who recently was arrested for speeding as he drove along Highway 69. One Gerald Torsch, who gave his address as Minneapolis, left a check for $5.00 as appearance bond. The check, drawn on a Dallas, Tex., bank proved no better than its writer's judgment of speed.

CHAMPLIN'S PAY RAISED

Don Champain's salary as executive secretary of the Wright county Soldiers Relief commission was raised Monday by the board of supervisors from $190 to $250 per month, effective July 1. At the same meeting, Fred Fulton of Belmond was reappointed as a member of the commission for another three-year term.

ART TEACHER RESIGNS

Marilyn Van Steenbergen, art teacher on the Belmond faculty during th past year, has submitted a resignation to the school board and plans to get married on June 21. On that date at the Methodist church in Prairie City she will wed Waldo Frankenstein, who is studying osteopathy at Still college, Des Moines.

TWO MEN DRAFTED

Only two men were needed to fill the Wright county Selective Service quota for June. Warren L. Ruberg of Clarion and Richard Van-Zwol of Eagle Grove will report at Des Moines next Monday for induction into the armed forces.

PLAY IN GOLF MEET

Larry Larson and Terry Johnson were at Ottumwa this week taking part in the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce state junior golf tournament. Larry qualified among the lower scorers and at the end of two rounds of play had an 81-80—161 over the par 71 course.

Legan Car Found, But Not Ex-Con'

Cerro Gordo county officials learned Saturday that Missouri police on that day recovered the auto bought 12 days earlier at Thornton by Gayle W. Legan, alias Delbert Lawson, with the aid of a bad check.

As reported last week, Legan—employed briefly as a farmhand by Foster Barkema—had traded a car purchased at Belmond Auto company, plus a bogus check for $229.50, to obtain a newer-model car from Lamb Body shop at Thornton. That was on May 25, and the ex-convict promptly thereafter took off for parts unknown.

Sheriff Bob Blecker had issued a watch order for the car, and for Legan. The car was found at Lewisburg, Mo. Legan is still on the loose.

CLASSICK MEMORIAL

Friends of Dr. H. J. Classick recenty presented a memorial gift in the amount of $20 to Belmond Community hospital in the name of the veterinarian's father, the late Dennis W. Classick.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ersland were Sunday guests in the Orval Hovland home at Kanawha. Mr. and Mrs. Arlon Lein and sons, Mrs. Ellis Lein, and Mrs. Tena Cook went along with them. Other guests in the Hovland home were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hovland of Renwick, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hovland of Gilmore City and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Stilson.

Kempton of Corning, and Eldon Hio Pals, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harm Pals of Belmond, were married Tuesday afternoon of last week at 2:30 o'clock in the Temple Baptist church at Omaha, Neb. The Rev. A. FACTS SUGGEST WRIGHT COUNTY'S ROAD PROGRAM REQUIRES SOME REVAMPING

It should by now be well known that The Independent regards that road work in Wright county is not too efficiently administered and that it costs too much for what the taxpayers are getting out of it. Every now and then facts appear in print to confirm this opinion and we take occasion to register another complaint. The "yelp" registered herewith is prompted by an article in the June issue of "The Central Constructor," official publication of the Associated General Contractors of Iowa. In it appears an article naming Kossuth County Engineer H. M. Smith as "Engineer of the Month."

Observes the magazine, "Any engineer who, over a long period of years, can administer the engineering business of the largest county (974 square miles) in Iowa and still maintain the lowest engineering cost would seem entitled to enjoy that designation He has been county engineer of Kossuth county since Jan. 1, 1922. . . . He has very positive convictions and sticks to them, and results seem to confirm their wisdom."

"How does he do it? Under his administration, Kossuth county has never engaged in day labor construction. (Ed's note: Wright county was employing a road crew of 51 men as of March 1.) It has never owned grading or graveling equipment. Since the county doesn't waste money on day labor operations — which Smith estimates cost at least twice as much as construction by contract method — it can afford to build what it wants.

"The Kossuth county board has never transferred construction funds to the maintenance fund, thus curtailing the work that construction funds should perform. Recently, however, the county did transfer $140,000 from the maintenance fund to the construction fund — adding a sizeable sum to construction money available to the county and doing so without slighting any necessary maintenance at all.

"How come? Because, Smith explains, snow removal cost was low this last winter, during which there was less than average snowfall, and because the county has been stabilizing all of its gravel roads and increasing the mileage of the higher type surfaces which attract more traffic. Thus maintenance costs have been so reduced that there was more money—large amounts—left over for transfer to the construction fund." (Ed's note: By the end of this year, Kossuth county will have over 100 miles of blacktop pavement; Wright county is in the course of getting its FIRST blacktop—about three miles down by Dows—via farm-to-market funds.)

We wish space permitted reprinting more of the article, but we believe these excerpts should induce a bit of thought on the part of Wright county taxpayers. We don't know what, if anything, has been transferred from Wright's snow-removal fund for use in road work this year. But we can tell you this: in 1951 the cost of snow-removal on Wright's local county road system came to $47,168—and in Kossuth the equivalent cost was $16,588! Wright has 772 miles in its local county road system and Kossuth has 1,505!!

How about some more comparisons? You'll find them not very flattering to Wright county. For instance, while Kossuth has 1,666 miles in its entire rural road system and Wright only 937, our neighbors to the north get along with $265,700 worth of equipment (1951 figures) while Wright requires $306,844. And according to the 1951 Wright county financial report, the bill for "repairing" equipment that year came to $115,827! A lot of that amount is attributable to time "lost" by Wright's big road crew when weather held up road operations, but the men had to be paid. This suggests Mr. Smith "has something" in his preference for getting his road work done by contract.

To continue comparisons from 1951, Kossuth showed a maintenance cost of $98,149 for road work other than resurfacing and $123,322 for gravel resurfacing. For this outlay, 21 miles of road were brought to permanent grade and 50.5 miles were graveled. Corresponding cost figures for Wright were quite comparable—$96,438 and $124,844; BUT, for this money WE got only 14.51 miles brought to permanent grade and 11.76 miles resurfaced with gravel. That same year, equipment, materials and supplies purchased from county funds in Wright county came to $415,203 and in Kossuth, $235,286.

You will note in the quotes from the article on Engineer Smith that Kossuth seems to have plenty of money to spend on CONSTRUCTION of roads. So let's take a look at how Wright compares on that score. In 1951, Kossuth did $245,914 worth of construction work on its country trunk road system and spent $210,109 on local county road construction—a total of $456,023. Wright's construction outlay on its trunk system was $9,793 and on local roads, $40,215. That's $50,023!

We are well aware that the present board of supervisors has very largely inherited the road procedures that are followed in Wright county; that local precedents can be pointed out for following the kind of program and practices that exist. On the other hand, we most sincerely feel that the comparisons above emphasize that there are phases of the road program that are badly out of kilter with the times. If the board and the county engineer feel that justification for some of the discrepancies can be offered, we'll be happy to present their views in print. We'd be happier still to announce that changes in procedure are being studied that will largely eliminate those discrepancies that seem to defy explanation.

CHICK CHATS

Egg Consumption

The more people that eat eggs, the more money we'll all make. We might not make any more per dozen, but bigger volume will make us more money. And that brings us to the crux (whatever that is) of the problem.

Over in England, they recently took eggs off of rationing. After eating about one egg a week, the people could have all they wanted. Trouble is, they didn't want very many. They'd gotten out of the habit of eating eggs. They didn't know how to cook them or anything.

The unlucky British poultry raiser found that he had too many eggs for the market. Prices dropped way down below the profit level.

And they will stay there until people get used to eating eggs again — lots of eggs.

Last year in the United States, egg consumption per person dropped off a few eggs. It was something over 400 per person in 1952. In 1953, it was somewhat lower. Something had to cause this. Maybe it was because egg prices were higher in 1953.

Yes, high egg prices may be a blessing in some ways, but they may discourage people from buying lots of eggs. When the egg price goes down, it takes the consumer a little time to get back in egg buying gear. The same thing may happen under high egg prices as it did in England under rationing.

The way to make more money is not to quit raising so many chickens. It's getting people to eat more eggs. People will buy good, fresh eggs more readily than the junk they get so often. By keeping quality up, we can increase the egg eaters.

And the produce industry, chick bredders and others are helping the cause too. They're supporting the Poultry and Egg National Board. That's the outfit that promotes the use of eggs and poultry. We contribute to it too. We think it can do a real job in increasing consumption.

We can do our part too. I've made up my mind to eat a dozen more eggs a month. Besides making me healthy and saving on the food bill, it'll increase consumption at least in this corner of the country. And if everybody would do it, there'd be 23 billion more eggs travelling down U. S. gullets every year.

It takes a few hens to lay that many eggs, too. And a goodly number of those hens could be on your farm — making money for you.

OBITUARY

MRS. B. T. VANDER WOUDE

Mrs. Grace Freriks VanderWoude was born on Jan. 2, 1886. She was the second child of Berend Freriks and Anne Van Zoeren, who lived on a farm east of Forest Grove, Mich.

She received her grade school education at a nearby rural school. When her father quit farming the family moved to Holland, Mich. There they joined the 3rd Reformed church and at 15, she made confession of her faith.

In 1912 she graduated from the Bible-music course at Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, then studied for two years at Northfield Moody school, Northfield, Mass.

On May 18, 1916, she was wed to Rev. B. T. VanderWoude, who had just graduated from the Western Theological Seminary, Holland, Mich. They served Reformed churches at Newton, Ill., Portage, Mich., Edgerton, Minn., Oak Harbor, Wash. and Woodstock, Minn.

In the fall of 1952 they retired from the active ministry and returned to Oak Harbor, Wash. In October of 1953 they were recalled from retirement to serve nearly seven months at the Reformed church of Conrad, Mont.

Five children were born to the Vander Woudes: Berend Theodore, Jr., Amy Ruth, Cornelius Antony, Dorothy Elma and Minert Paul.

On April 1, 1954 at Conrad, Mont., Mrs. Vander Woude suffered a slight stroke, resulting in a gradual deterioration of the brain cells and their function. Since April 26 on she has been cared for at the home of her son, Berend, Jr., in Alexander. There she quietly passed away on Sunday evening, May 30.

Surviving besides her husband are four of her children: Rev. B.T. Vander Woude, Jr., Alexander; Amy Ruth, wife of Capt. B. W. Sarver, U. S. Navy; Rev. C. A. VanderWoude, Ada, Mich.; and M. Paul VanderWoude, Sr., at Western Theological seminary. Dorothy Elma preceded her mother in death in 1945 at the age of nearly 20 years. There are also eight grandchildren and one sister, Alcie, Mrs. John Mast of Forest Grove, Mich.

Throughout the years she made many friends, all of whom regret her passing.

Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon, June 2, at the Reformed church, Rev. Johann Schmidt, Rev. C. Hoekstra and Rev. Jean A. Vis officiating. Interment was Friday at Holland, Mich.

HANS BARKEMA

Hans Barkema, eldest son of Hauko and Tena Johnson Barkema, was born at Ditzummer Verlaat, Easterfriesland, Germany, on June 1, 1877. His family emigrated to Wright county, Iowa, in 1891. During his young manhood he worked as a farm helper and also worked five years in an implement shop. On March 2, 1904, he was married to Flora Eden at Alexander. They were privileged this spring to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Three sons and three daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Barkema. The Barkemas spent their active lifetime farming — three years east of Meservey and the remaining years in the Alexander vicinity. They retired in the spring of 1948. In the spring of that same year, Mr. Barkema took ill and his health gradually declined thereafter. He was bedfast for two years prior to his death on May 31, 1954.

For many years Mr. Barkema was active in the community life of Alexander. He served on the school board during the time that the consolidation was effected and when the present building was erected.

Surviving are his wife and children: Mrs. George (Alice) Schulte, George, Carl, Mrs. Harold (Florence) Thompson, Mrs. Albert (Leona) Kuhlers and Foster; and 14 grandchildren. He also leaves four brothers—Dick of Belmond, Hauko and Hilko of Klemme, Charley of Ventura; and three sisters—Mrs. Kate Pals of Thornton, Mrs. Ernest Eckhoff and Mrs. Andrew Faaborg of Meservey. His parents: one brother, Ben; and one infant grandson preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, June 2, at the Alexander Reformed church and burial was in Alexander cemetery.

they like 'em ROUND

Watch your cattle eat round baled hay, packaged exclusively by ROTO-BALER. You can tell immediately how well they like the better quality, cured in round bales.

Examine one closely and see why. The hay is fluffier with more nutrition-packed leaves rolled inside. Livestock eat it readily right from the bale, saving labor.

And it costs less to bale, too. It's wrapped with inexpensive binder twine — field travel is reduced by picking up big double windrows. Get ready now. Hay time will soon be here.

ROTO-BALER is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

WHY MERCURY'S NEW V-8 ENGINE IS THE FINEST IN ITS FIELD!

MORE RESPONSIVE (unique, new 4-barrel carburetor)—Only 2 barrels are used for normal driving. But the 2 extra barrels cut in instantly when reserve power is needed. They are vacuum-controlled for smoother response, greater economy.

SMOOTHER OPERATING (5 bearings, 8 counterweights)—Mercury's method of precision molding crankshafts of alloy iron permits a full set of counterweights (8 rather than the usual 6). The result: better balance, virtually no vibration.

MORE EFFICIENT (special high-turbulence combustion chambers)—Wedge-shaped combustion chambers, the result of 5 years' research, swirl the fuel-air mixture past the spark plugs in a miniature cyclone for fast, complete combustion—for more power from less gas. This is the most powerful yet the thriftiest Mercury ever—with .629 hp for every inch of its 256 cu. in. displacement . . . the highest ratio in Mercury's history.

UNMATCHED FOR SHEER RUGGEDNESS (new deep-skirt block)—Mercury's new block extends almost 3 inches below the crankshaft's center line—gives far greater crankshaft support. New short-stroke (3.1") pistons cut engine wear, give 29% more mileage for same amount of piston travel.

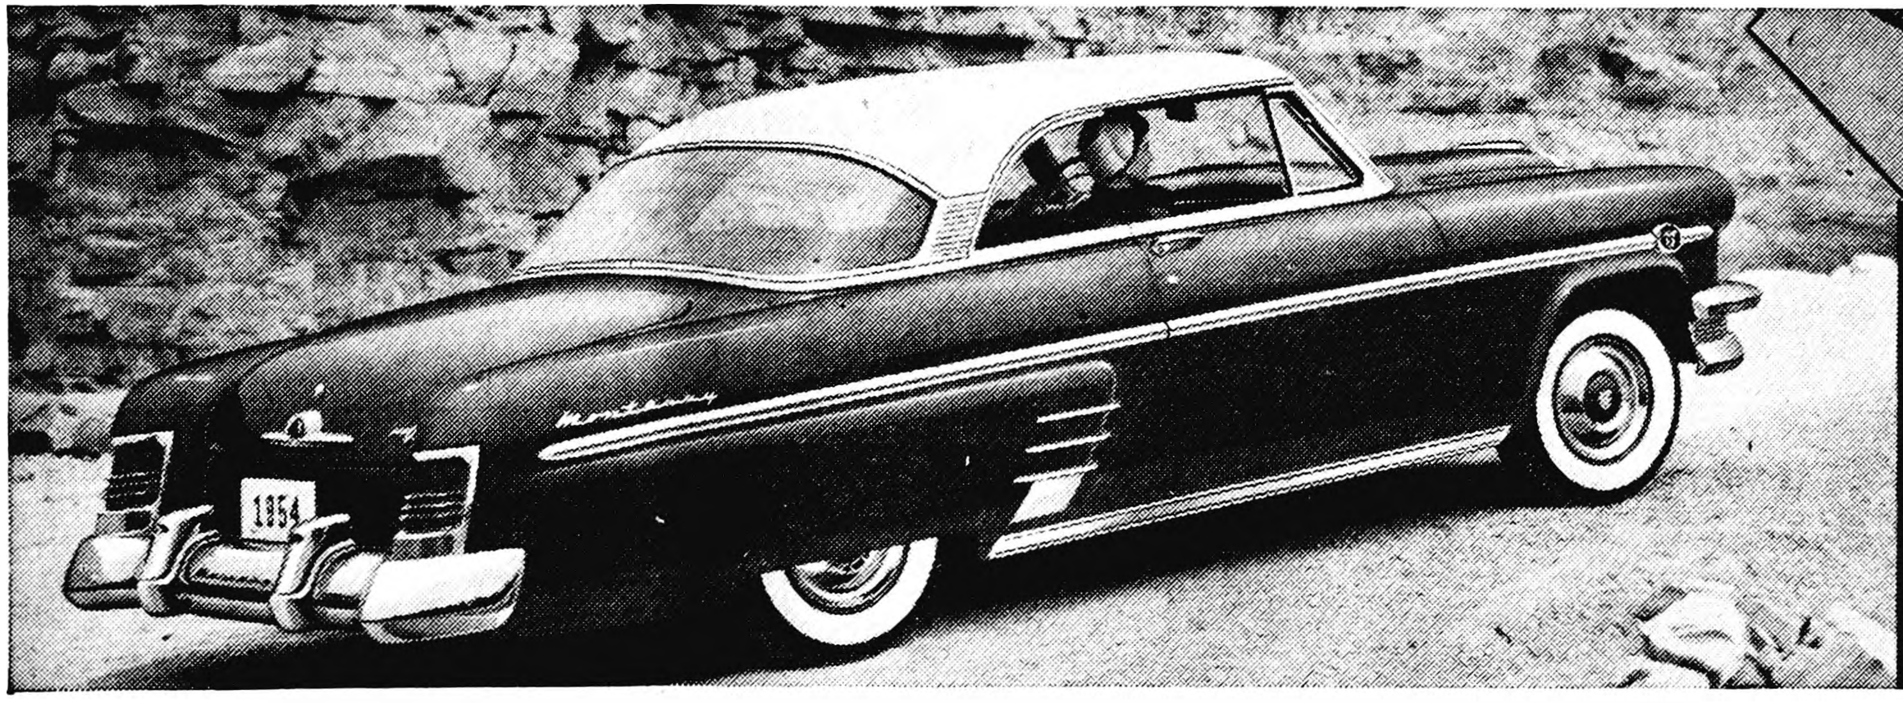
TREMENDOUS RESERVE POWER ("over-and-under" intake manifold)—Free-flow passages provide a balanced distribution of fuel to all cylinders—permit Mercury to deliver its full 161-hp when needed. In the 4-door sedan, for example, there's one horsepower for every 23 pounds of car.

QUIETER OPERATING (precision balanced)—All major parts are balanced separately, then each engine is individually balanced in operation after assembly—a manufacturing process reserved up until now for only the most expensive engines.

THE SAME HIGH HORSEPOWER IN EVERY MODEL—Unlike some cars with optional, extra-cost "top-of-the-line" engines, Mercury's new 161-hp overhead valve V-8 is standard on every model.

COME IN AND SEE FOR YOURSELF—You don't have to be mechanically minded to understand the benefits of these new engine features. You can feel them on a trial drive. We invite you to stop in at our showroom and do just that.

Co-op



ENJOY NO-SHIFT DRIVING AT ITS BEST, WITH SMOOTH MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE. OPTIONAL ON ALL MODELS.

BUILDS LOCOMOTIVE

At Garner, L. O. West has built a model locomotive in his spare time. It's a replica of the Northern Pacific's 4-8-4, on a scale of ¾ inch to one foot, and is 6 feet long. Over 1,000 rivets went into its constructions. What's more, it runs, using kerosene as fuel.

TRACTOR FATALITY

At Aplington, Fred Oldfield climbed down from his tractor, and "backed" the machine by use of a hand-clutch. He was pinned between the tractor and the plow hitched to it, and was found dead by neighbors some time later.

George Menke, of Dyersville, was painfully injured by a bull recently. Knocked to the ground and gored he managed to crawl under a fence during the few seconds that the bull's attention was attracted elsewhere.

TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 36 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

At long last, an estimate of the number of employees that the new feed mill will require was obtained last week by Henry Stokke during a call on GMI headquarters at Minneapolis. The word is that 32 wage hands will be needed to man the plant during its proposed two eight-hour shifts per day and there'll be eight or 10 persons needed in the office.

According to the powers-that-be, it's anticipated that about half of that total of 40 will have to be brought in from "outside." And if you want to be conservative and say that only two-thirds of that number will require family housing units (it could well be more), that would indicate need for a dozen houses or family-size apartments.

In addition, Art Stegner—reional sales manager for GMI Larro Feeds—is desperately searching for a home here; AND he'd like to locate four additional salesmen in Belmond. We've been told that the Thompson-Tomahawk staff could use several more men here, if there was only some place to put 'em. Who'll deny Belmond has a KING-SIZED housing problem?

—M-S—

Several high school faculty members are house-hunting, too. And there'll likely be more, considering the up-trend in enrollment that promises to continue for some years to come. . . . Things are so tough that the above-mentioned Mr. Stegner is even posting a $25 reward for information that will put him next to a house available for rent!

—M-S—

There will be four more families needing homes here when the police radio station north of town is completed and ready for operation (assuming all members of the staff are married.) And an Illinois seed company (hybrid corn, oats, soybeans, etc.) would like to locate an office here. It would employ half a dozen or more girls for clerical work (another payroll; relatively small, perhaps—but it all helps). Also, it would inevitably involve some "imported" management personnel; at least a family or two.

—M-S—

These are just the main prospects in view at the moment. It does seem that the old, home town is about to bust at the seams. Considering the number of new homes that have gone up since the end of the war, it is hard to believe we could be in such a plight for housing. But there it is.

That racket we hear is Opportunity knocking on the door. She MIGHT force her way in; but it would seem more polite if we invited her in.

What the current decade could do for Belmond gets the Mainstreeters all excited. It is certainly to be hoped that both municipal and civic leaders will form a reception committee for the lady at the door and bid her welcome. Wouldn't want her to walk off disgusted, seeking hospitality elsewhere.

—M-S—

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crabtree and the Bill Stadtlanders were recently guests in the home of their nephew and cousin, respectively, Bill Crabtree of Lucasville, Ohio. The farm which the latter tenants is the birthplace and early home of Branch Rickey of baseball fame. It's owned by a Portsmouth, Ohio, doctor.

Sam says he was a boyhood acquaintance of the well known manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates — perhaps still better known for his long period of leadership over the St. Louis Cards.

The past and the future rather walk hand in hand in that particular corner of Ohio. Thousands, looking to the past, gathered at Lucasville last fall to pay tribute to Branch on "His" Day. And right close by, the newest plant of the Atomic Energy Commission is a-building. Of course, Mr. Rickey has pulled some pretty fancy explosions himself, in his day.

FFA MOTHERS' NIGHT

Members of the BHS Friendly Service chapter of Future Farmers of America will entertain their mothers at a special Mothers' Night meeting next Monday at the high school band room. A brief demonstration meeting will be conducted by the boys so their mothers can see how the chapter business is carried on.

Crowd of More Than 400 Expected At County's 'Dairy Month' Banquet

Second annual June Dairy Month Banquet sponsored by the Wright County Dairy Interests association, will be held at the Grade School Auditorium at Clarion on Tuesday evening. Attendance of more than 400 is anticipated.

One of the chief events of the evening will be the selection of the Dairy Princess for 1954 from among 24 princess candidates selected by the dairy interests over Wright county. Belmond Co-op Dairy will have three candidates in the field. Their names were not obtainable in advance.

Dairy interests in the county include creameries, ice cream plants, dairy, farmers, cheese factories, purebred herd owners and retail milk plants. Personnel from these businesses and associations which represent dairy farmers will attend the banquet, with businessmen and their wives as guests.

Dairy Foods Featured

Principal speaker for the event will be L. A. Zahradka of Oconomowoc, Wis., who is well known in dairy circles. Mr. Zahradka is publisher of a magazine called "Ideas" and during the past six months has made two extended trips to Venezuela, South America, doing work in the dairy field. He will tell of experiences on these trips as well as having remarks to make on the national aspects of dairying.

As might be expected, the June Dairy Month banquet will be particularly tasty and nutritious, generously featuring all kinds of dairy products. The value of some of the dairy products will be discussed by Aaron R. Bowman, county extension director.

Rise County Chairman

Jack Brenny of Clarion, 1954 president of the Wright County Dairy Interests association, will preside. Curtis Rise, county June Dairy Month chairman, and Lynn Thompson, state Dairy Month chairman, will also assist with the banquet program.

Different dairy interests in the county sponsoring the banquet are: the cooperative creameries of Belmond, Dows and Goldfield: the Clarion Dairy, Clarion Produce, Fisher Dairy and Maplewood Dairy of Eagle Grove, North Iowa Breeders Cooperative, Wright County Dairy Herd Improvement association, Purebred Dairy Cattle Breeders, dairy producers and quality milk program supervisors.

Hensels Announce Plan for Building

Hensel Brothers Produce is advertising today that the building that houses the firm's Belmond branch is to be sold to make way for erection of a new structure better fitted to the needs of the business.

Carroll, Don and Ed Hensel, owners of the produce firm, want the 28x40-foot building moved or razed by July 1. Built well before the turn of the century by one of Belmond's earlier settlers, S. D. Pierce, the old frame structure is a genuine landmark of the community.

It is constructed very largely of native lumber and the Hensels believe there should be some valuable timbers salvagable in it, to any party tearing it down.

The Hensels plan to have work started on their new building as soon as the old one is out of the way. One of the Hensels' large trucks will serve as temporary "headquarters" here while the transition from old to new is being made. All produce will be handled through the Alexander branch during that time.

Carroll Hensel says the new building will be of tile and brick construction and will face the west approximately on the same site as the present quarters. The new structure will be about 40x60 feet in dimension, will be one story in height and without basement.

Hensel Produce has operated its Belmond branch since 1950, the original unit at Alexander pre-dating the one here by several years.

Dr. Nelson Office Lately Remodeled

Work was finished last week on a remodeling job in the office of Dr. A. M. Nelson. Additional room was made available in the office space formerly occupied by Dr. L. R. Parsons, and this has been equipped for a laboratory and examining room.

New storage cabinets have been built for the drug supply, and indirect fluorescent lights installed in the reception room.

All rooms in the building, occupied by both Dr. Nelson and C. C. Benson, have been completely redecorated and new asphalt tile floors laid throughout.

Cash Gifts Won Total $250

Winnings on this week's Cash Gift Day went to the northeast sector, as Mrs. Robert Koenigsberg of Thornton picked off the $225 at 3:00 p. m. Tuesday and Mrs. Herman Stadtlander of Meservey laid claim to $25 at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Koeingsberg held No. 3,009 to fall heir to the big one. It was No. 2,781 that brought a smile to Mrs. Stadtlander's face. Next Tuesday there'll again be six $25 prizes offered at 2:00 p. m. and at 3:00 o'clock the draw will be for $100. Not so much as $225 —but who's sneezing at 100 bucks?

Clubhouse for 2 4-H Clubs, Goal Of Fund Raising

A new clubhouse for the two 4-H clubs of this immediate vicinity, the Belmond Busy Bees and the Pleasant Pioneers, is the goal of a fund drive currently being conducted by friends of the 4-H'ers.

Purpose of the campaign is to purchase Center schoolhouse in Pleasant township with an eye to fixing it up so the two clubs will have a home of their own. Both groups have grown so large in recent years that it's become difficult for them to hold their meetings in private homes.

When Pleasant township closed down all its schools a year ago, the "clubhouse idea" took root in the minds of clubs' leaders. And when the other Pleasant schools were sold at auction last fall, Center school was withheld with a view to converting it to its now-intended use.

Heading the fund drive are the Pioneers' leader, Jim Payne, and assistant leaders, Richard Eckhoff and Ben Suntken; and the Busy Bees' leaders, Mrs. Galen Johnson and Mrs. Albert Rabe, and their assistants, Mrs. Dillion Strait and Mrs. Ernest Kalkwarf. Other friends of the 4-H'ers have been helping also.

Money will be needed to purchase the school and the land on which it stands, with enough over to convert the schoolhouse to its new purpose, furnish and equip it. A good response so far is reported by the solicitors, but quite a number of additional donations will be required to bring the total up to a sufficient amount.

It is the feeling of the leaders that the new club house will lend a great deal of added impetus to 4-H work in both Belmond and Pleasant townships.

Dr. Norris Wilson Soon to New Post

Dr. and Mrs. Norris James Wilson have been visiting for the past two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilson. A Belmond High school alumnus, Doctor Wilson was graduated from the University of Iowa medical school in June of 1951.

During the next 12 months he underwent internship at a Portland, Ore., hospital and stayed on after June of '52 to specialize in orthopedic surgery.

On July 1, Doctor and Mrs. Wilson will move to Seattle, Wash., where he will continue his training at the Children's Orthopedic hospital as resident physician in orthopedic surgery.

Swim Enrollment Over 200 Mark

More than 200 children had signed up for the Red Cross swimming program by the early part of this week, according to Mrs. Robert Garms, chairman in charge. Registration for the three-a-week sessions at the Clarion pool is still open to boys and girls from age seven through 15 on payment of the $2.50 fee. Classes start Monday, June 28, rather than next Monday, as was originally planned.

Busses to take the youngsters to the pool will leave from the city park on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 9:00 o'clock, returning shortly before noon. As reported earlier, Coach Dick Hobbs will help supervise and instruct the Belmond group. Mrs. Garms says that a few more volunteers to act as bus chaperones would be welcomed, mothers preferred.

Mrs. Garms reports that adult swimming instruction is planned each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 5:00 to 6:00 p. m. Anyone interested in this class is asked to call her.

NATIONAL EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN MEETING NAMES H. SIMERSON TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Harold C. Simerson of Belmond was highly honored at the biennial convention of the Evangelical Lutheran church in session last week at Minneapolis, being elected to board of trustees of the entire church body. He will serve on the board for a term of six years. For the past four years, Mr. Simerson has been on the Evangelical Lutheran board of charities.

In addition to Mr. Simerson, Belmond representatives at the Minneapolis meeting were: Rev. O. M. Severseike, pastor of the Trinity and St. Olaf churches; Gerhard Thompson, St. Olaf delegate; and Don Bunnell, Trinity delegate.

The Women's Missionary Federation, auxiliary of the church, met simultaneously with the ELC convention. Mrs. Daniel Veeder represented the Trinity parish at this assemblage. Well over 3,000 women registered for the WMF gathering and total registration for the church convention was close to 2,500.

Dr. Frederick A. Schiotz of New York City was elected president of the church body, succeeding Dr. J. A. Aasgaard of Minneapolis, retired. Dr A. N. Rogness of Sioux Falls, S. D. was elected as president of Luther Theological seminary, St. Paul, replacing Dr. T. F. Gullixson of St. Paul, who is also retiring.

Continuation of proceedings to the end of merger with several other Lutheran church bodies was approved by the ELC delegates by an almost unanimous vote. Due to continue through Tuesday of this week, when the local delegates returned home one other major matter of business remained to be considered. That was approval of a proposed budget of $4,000,000 for each of the next two years.

COLLINSONS DISPLAY THEIR NEW STATION WAGON

Relatives Give Missionaries-to-Be Station Wagon to Take to Africa

Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson were completely and almost overwhelmingly surprised on Wednesday of last week when they unexpectedly became the possessors of a brand new Dodge station wagon. It was a gift to them from relatives of the young couple, who are shortly to launch on two years of training preparatory to taking up missionary assignments in the Belgian Congo.

On pretext of discussing a business matter, Ron Courson held the attention of the Collinson while a delegation of kinfolk drove up to the house, knocked on the door and walked in to hand the keys to the car's new owners.

Ten Joined in Gift

Mrs. Edith Hoff of Clinton, Mary Collinson's mother, drove the station wagon to Belmond from Morrison, Ill. She was accompanied by nearly a carload of fellow conspirators. The Dodge dealer at Morrison had given the donors a very special price on the auto—and a trade-in allowance on the Collinsons' old car (sight unseen) that left Don regarding the replaced vehicle with new respect.

Participants in the gift, besides Mrs. Hoff, were the following relatives of her daughter: Mrs. Vernon Sharer of Fulton, Ill., and Lois Hoff, in nurse's training at Iowa City, both sisters; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Rummel of Fulton, uncle and aunt; Mrs. Alice Collins of Albany, Ill., great aunt; and John Hoff of Fulton, Mary's father.

Also chipping in were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Collinson, Don's uncle and aunt, and Edna Collinson, another aunt, all of Moline, Ill.

Bishop Gave Advice

All are extremely proud of the Collinsons in their new endeavor and wished to take some part in helping them prepare for and carry on their missionary work. Mrs. Collins, Mary's great aunt, is 81 and an old age pensioner—but she insisted on giving her bit towards the car's purchase.

Mrs. Hoff was working on "Operation Station Wagon" for six weeks. She conferred at some length with Rev. Newell S. Booth, Methodist Bishop of Africa, who happens to be in the United States at this time. He had many helpful suggestions to offer. For example, a car with standard shift was obtained, car servicing not being of the highest order in the middle of the African veldt. In fact, Don is preparing himself to be capable of such repairs as might be required after leaving the States.

The Collinsons will be leaving next week to launch upon the 27 months of intensive study and training they must undergo before taking up their missionary posts.

200 Fish Caught By 15 FFA Boys On Camping Trip

Fifteen Belmond FFA boys and Advisor Don Collinson enjoyed the Future Farmers' annual vacation outing over last weekend at Clear Lake. As is traditionally the case, a heavy rainstorm provided excitement on the first night of the camping trip. As has NOT always been the case, the fishing was excellent.

On the first day, the boys caught 100 fish. They cleaned and skinned them—they were mostly bullheads—and had a real fish fest that evening. The following day their luck was every bit as good. Having had their fill of fish, and particularly of cleaning them, the boys disposed of their second catch by bestowing the fish on less fortunate anglers camping in their vicinity.

Most of the boys, well tanned from field work, figured they need not fear a sunburn and went shirtless while they did their angling. They found they weren't as "toughened up" as they thought, and brought some painful burns home with them.

Eleven Receive 1st Communion

Ninety-seven children from Belmond's St. Francis parish and the St. Mary's parish of Goodell attended vacation school which was conducted during the past two weeks. Sister Marie Francis, Sister Mary Kevin and Sister Mary Antonette from Mt. Mercy college at Cedar Rapids were in charge of the classes.

On Sunday, June 6, a class of five boys and six girls received their First Holy Communion at the 8:00 o'clock Mass at St. Francis church. In the group were: Jean Ann Wiegand, Mary Jo Crimmings, Sue Ann Wilmarth, Jo Ann Svendsen. Mary Luick, Marlys McLaughlin, Michael McLaughlin, James Smith, Paul Quigley, Stephen Lansing and Raymond Johnson.

Immediately following the Mass, the 11 children, accompanied by their teachers, two flower girls and two "angels" were served breakfast by the St. Monica circle of the Rosary society, Mrs. Gerald McNulty being in charge.

BAKE SALE SATURDAY

Trinity Mission Guild is holding a bake sale at the Tip Top grocery, selling to start at 10:00 a. m.

Clinic to Protect Pets from Rabies

Mayor Henry Hokel in this issue calls official notice to a rabies immunization clinic which the city will conduct for the benefit of pet owners on Friday and Saturday of this week at the city hall. Dr. H. J. Classick and Dr. R. E. Misner will inoculate pets as a rabies prevention measure between the hours of 1:00 and 5:00 p.m. on those days.

A charge of $1.00 will be made, which is 50 cents less than the customary professional fee for immunization. Mayor Hokel and the council urge all owners of dogs to avail themselves of this service. In some instances elsewhere in the county, several cat-owners have had their pets inoculated, too.

Doctor Classick says that rabies immunization is a particularly sensible step right now as there have been recent evidences of the disease in this vicinity. Only last Friday, a family of skunks on the farm which Dennis Wilhelm operates east of town was discovered to have the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm had reason to believe that their dog was attacked by one of the skunks, and the pet is being kept under close observation until it can be determined if he has contracted the dreaded disease. The two adult skunks and one baby were sent to Iowa State college for post mortems, and all showed positive evidence of rabies.

Another farmer living east of Belmond reported to Doctor Classick that a squirrel was seen in the farmyard recently acting very strangely, and rabies is considered a definite possibility in this case, too.

EXTENSION TRAINEE HIRED TO SERVE DURING SUMMER

Alan Stevens, an Iowa State college junior from Northwood, has been engaged to assist with the Wright county extension program during the current summer. He will work mainly with the 4-H clubs. He has participated extensively in both 4-H work and in activities of the Future Farmers. Stevens began work Tuesday of this week and will continue as an extension trainee until about Sept. 15.

Joyrider Thinks About the Cost A Bit Too Late

Bobbie Ray Fergson, Eagle Grove 20-year-old, is residing at the Wright county jail at Clarion these days with ample time to contemplate the inadvisability of joy-riding in other peole's car.

According to the sheriff's office, Ferguson last Friday about midnight allegedly stole from an Eagle Grove parking lot a shiny, '53 Plymouth sedan owned by Jim Abbott, Jr., of that community.

He told the authorities that he drove to Fort Dodge, to Webster City and then to Garner, where it struck him about 4:00 a. m. that he was involved in a rather foolish stunt. Ferguson phoned Hancock Sheriff L. M. Brower, told him he wanted to turn himself in for car theft, and meekly waited to be taken into custody.

Later Saturday morning, after Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod had returned him to Clarion, Ferguson waived to the grand jury in a hearing conducted by Mayor Henry Jenkins. Bond was set at $1,000, and not having that sum available, the young man is engaged in sitting out the time until September term of district court convenes.

IOOF FRIENDS, NEIGHBORS PLANT, CULTIVATE CORN FOR DAVENPORT

Several weeks ago a breakdown in health forced Bernard Davenport to seek hospital treatment, leaving 150 acres of his farm west of town unplanted. It was intended for corn and the planting season was fast fading, with no one to get the work done. At that point, Bernard's brother Odd Fellows and some of his neighbors became aware of his plight and in next to no time they were rallying to the cause.

On May 13th and 14th they turned to, and a day and a half's labor saw the seed in. Seventy acres had to be disked and harrowed, as well as planted. By noon of the second day, the work was all done.

Members of the IOOF lodge who lent a hand were: Ed Bohning, Ed Hopkey, Harley Thompson, Emory Thompson, Courtland Luick, Loren Bamford, Walter Schleiffarth, Alfred Stadtlander, George Coburn and Henry Hokel. Neighbors who also pitched in were: Thomas Toft, Roger Toft, Duane McCormack, Donald Soma and Mrs. Davenport's brother, Bill Harson.

After four planters and ample effort had gotten the project off to a good start on the first morning, members of the Rebekah lodge assisted in preparing noon dinner for the hungry workers.

On the theory that a job half done is no job at all, willing hands turned out again last Friday to see that the 150 acres of corn got a good, thorough cultivating.

Odd Fellows on hand this time were George Braun, Earl Hinman, Harold Vanness, Loren Bamford, Walter Schleiffarth, Stanley Moe, George Crawford — and Rich McMurray pinch-it for his father, Jim McMurray, who couldn't make it. Neighbors Donald Soma, Bill Harson and LeRoy Smith also helped out.

Ordinary Sparrow, Saved Year Ago as Tiny Foundling, Makes Very Extraordinary Pet for Mrs. Faye Colby

Probably the most unusual pet in Belmond is the feathered friend of Mrs. H. E. Colby, whom she calls "Pete." Mrs. Colby—Faye, to her friends—has discovered with the passage of time that a name of feminine gender would have been more appropriate, but when Pete first joined the Colby household it was impossible to foretell this.

When discovered by Faye in the Colby backyard last summer, Pete was a scrawny, red-skinned mite not even clothed with pin feathers. Her mistress-to-be recognized that the foundling was nothing more glamorous than an English sparrow, but Faye put the ugly little thing on a bread-and-milk diet and set out to "raise" it.

Pete Thrived

Mrs. C. wasn't optimistic over the success of her project; but strangely enough, Pete seemed to thrive from the outset. She set up housekeeping in a canary cage and by the time she'd acquired adult plumage, Pete was as domesticated a bird as you'd ever hope to see.

An unknowing neighbor who called at the Colby home one day was more than a little perplexed at the unusual sight of Pete happily chirping about her cage. When she remarked to Faye that her pet had a remarkable resemblance to a sparrow, Mrs. C. impishly denied the similarity and divulged that the bird was actually a "rare, imported sparrakeet."

Although Faye's friend soon learned the truth of the story, there is reason to believe that Pete swallowed it whole. She's no sparrow, so far as she's concerned. Mrs. Colby virtuously, though sadly, endeavored to give Pete her freedom during last fall's drought; but Pete would have none of it.

PETE, THE SPARRAKEET
And the Lady Who Feeds Him

While Faye was absent from home, Pete almost beat herself to shreds to get back into the house. A neighbor, knowing Faye's whereabouts, phoned and warned her she'd better return and let Pete inside if she wanted any bird left. Scurrying home, Mrs. C. opened the door. Pete—all-fired thirsty and mighty indignant—flew in. That was her last fling at "freedom."

Pete isn't choosy in regard to food, but has a particular fondness for several delicacies. Among these are Jello, ice cream and raw hamburger. Whenever a package of hamburger is unwrapped, Pete practically does nip-ups until she's been given a dab.

No Gents Allowed

As much of a pet as any canary ever was, Pete loves to have free rein of the house and is idyllically content when allowed to spend an evening in the living room with the "rest of the folks." She gayly hops about Faye's arms, shoulders and head, and delights in "nesting" in a blouse pocket if one's available.

The Colbys once found a gentleman sparrow unhappily flitting about the kitchen when they got home from a short trip. Curious as to what Pete's reaction would be, they placed the intruder in her cage. Except for some get-that-man-out-of-here flutterings, she paid him no mind . . . By golly! Maybe she IS a sparrakeet!

'Hawks Defeated By Hampton, 6-4

Belmond's Tomahawks suffered their second Quad-County league defeat Sunday afternoon when they traveled to Hampton. It was the Hampton nine's first loop win in three starts. A bad 4th inning, during which the winners tallied four runs, accounted for the 6-4 Hampton victory.

Denny Scott pitched the first six innings for the 'Hawks and Gus Taylor went the rest of the route. Morgan Greer was behind the plate.

This Sunday the Tomahawks will endeavor to bring their won-lost record up to .500 when they take on the Eagle Grove Legionnaires on the Belmond diamond.

Against Hampton, the 'Hawks went into a 3-0 lead by scoring twice in the 2nd and once in the 3rd. To start the 4th, a Hampton batter gained base when a third strike was dropped and matters went from bad to worse until the host team had gone into a 4-3 advantage.

Hampton counted again in the 6th to make it 5-3. The Tomahawks drew back into contention with a run in the 7th, but the winners got the clincher in the 8th and Belmond was unable to score thereafter. Don Hoppel led the Belmond batters with a pair of singles. Bob Barry, Taylor and Scott also contributed one-baggers.

Millers to Meet Bud's Used Cars

Bud's Used Cars softball team, one of north Iowa's best, will play the General Mills Millers this Friday evening at the GMI diamond, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

So far this season, Bud's outfit has lost only one game. They bowed to Decker Brothers in the Mason City YMCA Softball league in one of their early tilts. They trail Deckers by a half game in the loop standings, having a 4-1 record to the leaders' 5-1.

The Millers will be laying an undefeated record on the line when they tangle with Bud's. The GMI team has taken its first three games in a row.

Renwick Beaten For Millers' 3rd

An easy 10-2 victory over Renwick Tuesday evening of last week kept the General Mills Millers in the forefront of the Little Six Softball league title race. It was the Millers' third loop win in as many starts. They were slated to play at Kamrar this week and next Tuesday will meet Garner on the GMI diamond, starting at 8:15 p.m.

Pitcher Duan Thompson kept the host team very much under control in last week's joust at Renwick. The Millers' mound ace fanned 13 batters, giving him a total of 25 strike-outs for his latest two games. Hitting was evenly distributed among the GMI crew.

A win this week and next would be worth $20 to the Millers as the Little Six is awarding that amount to the team leading the pack at the end of the first half of the schedule. The second half winner will receive a similar amount and a handsome trophy will go to the over-all championship team.

Algona Tourney To Fred Gordon

Fred Gordon kept his golf tourney batting average at 1.000 for the season by taking top honors in the annual Algona Amateur last weekend. His 185 for 45 holes edged John Eymen of Forest City and George Lee of Humboldt by one stroke. The championship prize was a deluxe, portable barbecue set worth over $100.

One troublesome hole came close to costing the Belmond ace the title. No. 7 on the par-36 course is a relatively easy par 4, but Fred was seven strokes over perfect figures on it for the five rounds. He had a six and five on it when qualifying, giving him a 74 to Eymen's low of 73.

Then on the final nine he picked up another six, leaving him in need of a birdie and a par on the final two holes to edge the other two leading contenders. Fred got his bird on eight and parred the last one to get the job done. Barring the pesky No. 7, he was two under par for the two days of play. The tournament got under way with 18 holes on Saturday.

Other Clarmond golfers who competed were Manly Baird, Dr. A. M. Larson, Larry Larson, Leo Hilton, Sr., and Leo Hilton, Jr. None of them figured among the prize winners. Hilton, Jr., was in the championship field with qualifying score of 80.

Committees Lined Up for Clarmond Amateur Tourney

C. C. Christie, club president, and George Hansen, tournament chairman, have drafted a full list of committees for the 2nd annual Clarmond Country club amateur golf tournament to be held on Sunday, July 4. Men named to the various committees have not been personally notified and are therefor asked to inform Christie or Hansen, upon seeing the listings below, if other holiday plans will prevent their being on hand.

Registration: Cyril Handfeldt (D), chairman, Ray Hagie (C), Clarence Johnson (K), A. P. Thompsen (B) and Leon Root (D). House committee: Dale Dougherty (C) and Bob Davison (C), co-chairmen, Ken Firkins (D) and Bob Hanson (C). Advertising and publicity: Pat Gallagher (B).

Ticket sales: Charles Bunn (C), chairman, John Brummond (K), Bud Gagnon (C), Jack Shepard, Roy Henderson, Preston Tyrrell and Clark McNeal of Belmond, and Lyle Oler (D).

LARSON FINISHES 34TH

Larry Larson finished 34th in the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce state junior golf tournament last week at Ottumwa. A mediocre start of 161 on his first 36 holes prevented the young Belmondite from finishing much higher in the rankings. In the closing day's 36-hole test, Larry improved with a 77-78—155, which was the 20th best score posted.

Wright Farmers Have 3,633,000 Bu. Of 1953 Corn Under Price Support

A total of 3,633,045 bushels of corn produced in Wright county in 1953 were placed under price support before expiration of the application period on June 1, it was reported here this week by H. B. Vanderlip, chairman of the county ASC committee.

This total was 260,651 bushels greater than the 3,372,394 bushels of 1952 corn which had been placed under support by the close of the application period for that crop. Comparative figures on the amounts of the two crops placed under support in Wright county follow, showing 1953 and 1952, in order: bushels in farm-stored loans — 2,846,201 and 2,464,511; bushels in warehouse-stored loans — 14,028 and 12,220; bushels in purchase agreements — 772,816 and 895,663.

Chairman Vanderlip stated that the figures on the 1953-crop operations are preliminary and subject to correction when the county ASC office completes and chhecks it records.

Percentage of Sealing Up

In the state as a whole, 158,579,011 bushels of 1953 corn were placed under price support, according to a preliminary report by the Iowa ASC office. The total was 12 million bushels less than the 170,654,960 bushels of the 1952 crop placed under price support but was 3½ million bushels greater than predicted a couple months ago.

The state ASC office emphasized that the amount of 1953 corn placed under price support represented 27.28 per cent of the estimated total Iowa production of last year, while the amount of 1952 corn placed under support was only 25.39 per cent of the much larger crop of that year.

Present government bins in Iowa have rated capacity of 220 million bushels but much of that space is already occupied by corn produced as far back as 1948. The ASC has announced that, even with additional new structures, it cannot handle all of the 1953 corn now under price support and consequently must look to producers to retain at least 40 million bushels on the farms another year under a resealing program. To encourage resealing, the government is offering to pay a storage allowance of 15 cents a bushel for loan corn kept on the farms until July 31, 1955.

Kossuth Top County

A summary of reports from all county ASC offices gave the following statewide breakdown of price support activities involving 1953 corn. subject to correction as paper work is completed and checked: total under farm stored loans, 130,524,114 bushels; total under warehouse-stored loans, 1,046,435 bushels; total covered by purchase agreements, 27,016,462 bushels.

Kossuth county, with 4,928,494 bushels under loan and 940,082 bushels under purchase agreements, led the state for volume of price support operations in 1953 corn. Webster county was next with 3,994,875 bushels under loan and 1,005,985 bushels under purchase agreements.

It appears certain that the number of individual loans and purchase agreements on the 1953 crop in Iowa will exceed 100,000, Mr. Vanderlip says, but adds that preliminary figures have not yet been compiled.

TWO ISC DEGREES IN ENGINEERING TO ROGER HANSON, '50 BHS GRAD

Roger Hanson, 1950 graduate of Belmond High school and son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hanson of Goodell, had the distinction last Friday night of receiving two degrees as the 83rd annual Iowa State college commencement exercises were held at the campus armory, Ames. By taking summer courses during three of the four years he attended ISC, Roger earned Bachelor of Arts degrees in both mechanical and electrical engineering.

His distinguished scholastic record at Iowa State won the BHS alumnus membership in six honorary societies. They ranged from Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary, to Phi Kappa Phi, the highest ranking scholastic society at the state school. And for high scholastic rank, he was awarded a Fisher Governor scholarship as a freshman and a John Morse scholarship as a junior and senior.

Roger was a member of Theta Xi social fraternity, which he served as treasurer. All four years at ISC he held membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

His grasp of mathematics, which was 1st evidenced when he won top ranking in a statewide geometry test as a Goodell High school sophomore, brought him appointment as instructor during the spring quarter of this year. He taught a class of 25 in freshman algebra.

Present Friday to see Roger receive his diplomas were his parents, Mrs. Bob Jenison and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bohning and Daryl of Belmond, and Marilyn McNutt of Goodell.

On June 2 Roger successfully passed the state board examination for engineers. He has tentatively accepted a position with the Chrysler corporation, Detroit, Mich. Clark McNeal Key Speaker in Move To Equalize Inventory Assessments

Recognition as one of the state's keenest students of tax equalization has brought State Representative Clark McNeal a series of speaking dates that will see him addressing 10 public meetings between June 10 and June 22.

Since Wednesday evening of last week, with a recess over Saturday and Sunday, Mr. McNeal has so far appeared at Sioux City Council Bluffs, Boone, Algona, Creston and Fairfield. This evening he will speak at Clinton. Friday at West Union and the first two days of next week at Cedar Rapids and Newton.

Sponsors of the meetings is the Tax Assessment Equality association, formed this spring by a group of seven Iowa trade associations. It was established to give voice and unified effort to a plan for obtaining more equalized assessment of merchants' inventory stocks.

Abel Heads Group

Executive director of the TAEA is L. W. Abel of Guttenberg, state representative from Clayton county in the 53rd and 54th general assemblies and a co-worker with Mr. McNeal on tax legislation during the latter session. At each of the gatherings listed above. Mr. Abel will tell of assessment variations he has found being followed over the state. Mr. McNeal is speaking on taxation and Iowa's tax laws in general.

Mr. McNeal explains that the TAEA Assessment Plan would make it mandatory for a merchant to report the same beginning inventory figure and yearly purchase figure that he shows on his state income tax report. The beginning inventory and yearly purchases would be added and then divided by 12 to arrive at assessable inventory valuation. Rate of turn-over for this plan would be determined by dividing beginning inventory into yearly purchases, using state income tax report figures.

Turn-over Key Factor

In order to recognize the different rates of turn-over for different businesses, a graduated percentage table has been prepared. It provides that merchants with turnover from 0 to 6 will get no reduction from assessable inventory valuation. Merchants with turnover from 6.01 through 15 will reduce their assessable inventory valuation by a percentage equal to their rate of turn over.

Merchants with turn-over from 15.01 through 45 will reduce their assessable inventory valuation at a gradually stepped up rate or percentage. The maximum reduction will be 75 per cent for a merchant with turn-over of 45 or more. The result obtained after reduction of assessable inventory valuation is identified under the TAEA plan as taxable valuation.

Taxable valuation will in all instances be reduced to 60 per cent, Mr. McNeal adds, and local millage rate applied to that amount to determine taxes due.

A. Pals Selected To Attend Short Course at Ames

Arlen Pals of the Pleasant Pioneers will be one in a group of 11 4-H boys and two leaders who will represent Wright county at the state 4-H short course at Iowa state college next Tuesday through Thursday This year's gathering will bring together some 1,200 boys and club leaders. Each local club is eligible to select a delegate.

Other club representatives from this general vicinity are: Daryl Kurtz of Kanawha, Norway Ramblers; Cecil Hill of Rowan, Iowa Hawkeyes; Rex Thompson of Clarion, Grant Growers; John Hagie of Clarion, Lincoln Leaders; Gary Stoppelmoor of Dows, Vernon Victors. Alan Stevens of Northwood, county youth assistant for the summer, and Chuck Clark of Eagle Grove will accompany the boys.

Theme for the short course will be "When Am I Old Enough?" In line with this theme, the boys will hear speakers on youth problems, civic responsibilities and duties of citizenship. They will also learn about new developments in agriculture, animal husbandry, agronomy and agricultural engineering. Plenty of interesting entertainment has been planned for the delegates, too.

One of the major highlights of the short course will be election of new state 4-H officers to help guide the club activities during the 1954-55 year. Eight candidates have been nominated.

Visiting around Iowa

Iowa Tolerance Pays

If it hadn't been for the open-mindedness and tolerance of Iowans, we might never have developed one of our best-known scientists.

His name was G. Washington Carver. He was a negro, born into slavery in Missouri. Eager for an education . . . he found it at Simpson College and Iowa State. Carver's later research on peanuts and sweet potatoes won fame, added millions to our wealth.

Iowa gave this boy his chance. Our people are tolerant and they can be proud of it.

It's like our attitude toward education or government, as simple as our preference for beer or coffee with our dinner, or our neighbor's choice of a bow tie if he likes it better.

Iowa is great in many things. One of the greatest is tolerance for the other fellow . . . or just plain open-mindedness if you'd rather call it that.

The nuptial ceremony was read by Rev. S. J. Meyer before an altar setting of white gladioli and candelabra. Miss Lorna Kingsland, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. John Gerdes.

Mrs. Robert Deppe of Monticello was the matron of honor and Miss Marilyn Frederick of Grundy Center was the bridesmaid. Attending the groom were Clinton Wolf of Hampton and Edwin Bruner of Cedar Rapids. Lawrence Smalley of Osage and Walter Tegen, Jr., brother of the bride, were the ushers.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned of imported rosepoint and nylon tulle over satin. The fitted bodice had a nylon yoke, jewel neckline and long tapered sleeves. The full overskirt of lace was scalloped at the bottom and fell over a double ruffle of pleated nylon tulle. She wore a finger-tip veil held by a coronation crown trimmed with pearls and her bouquet was of feathered white carnations and stephanotis arranged in colonial style.

Gowns of organdy over taffeta in ballerina length were worn by the bride's attendants. Miss Deppe wore blue and Miss Frederick wore yellow and both carried bouquets of feathered carnations.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Assisting as hostesses were Miss Carolyn Lenz of Oelwein, Miss Pearl Boelman of Aplington, Miss Lois Rossbach of Monona, Mrs. Lawrence Smalley of Osage, Miss Carol Bates of Winthrop and Miss Carol Beth Ahrens of Grinnell.

Helen Baxter Wed on June 5th To Donald R. Fraser of Holmes

Margaret Helen Baxter and Donald Ray Fraser exchanged wedding vows June 5th in a candlelight ceremony at Sands Memorial Congregational church. The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Baxter and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris E. Fraser of Holmes.

Rev. A. B. McKeith of Earlville read the double-ring ceremony before the chancel appointed with yellow and white gladioli and snapdragons flanked with candelabra.

Traditional wedding marches were played by the organist, Mrs. Cato Griesy, who also accompanied her son, Paul, as he sang Grieg's "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer;" and Beverly Stroup as she sang "At Dawning."

Entering the church with her uncle, George H. Baxter, the bride wore a white gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The delicately laced bodice was fashioned with an illusion yoke encrusted with iridescent sequins and long sleeves that tapered to a bridal point over the wrist. The moderately gathered skirt ended in a full court train.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion edged in lace fell from a bonnet of Chantilly lace trimmed with pearlized orange blossoms. She carried an orchid centered on a fan of white satin.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Fae Ellyn Shaw of Guttenberg. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua net over satin with a white net overskirt. Wearing gowns identical to hers, in yellow, were the bridesmaids: the Misses Mary Catherine Grace and Beverly Jean Wiles of Des Moines and Mrs. Florence B. Cockrum of Topeka, Kan. Each wore a jeweled silk tiara to match. They carried white satin fans of yellow sweetheart roses and wore white nylon net mitts spotted with rhinestones.

Jack Peterson of Eagle Grove was the best man. Groomsmen included Dean Mains of West Des Moines, Freeman Gates of Clarion and Richard Peterson of Iowa City. The groom and his attendants wore white dinner jackets with midnight blue cummerbunds and trousers. Their boutonnieres were yellow carnations.

Sandra Berkenes, niece of the groom, carried a basket of white flower petals. Her floor-length gown was yellow nylon over white taffeta and she wore a white tiara and mitts identical to those of the bridesmaids. She was escorted by her cousin, Dennis Brinkman, as flower boy. Another nephew, Jeff Fraser, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. The little boys wore identical black jackets with white trousers.

Sharon Fraser and Leslie Anderson were candlelighters. She wore an aqua net ballerina length gown and he wore a navy jacket with gray trousers, identical to those worn by his brothers, Lowell and Lyle, who served as ushers.

Mrs. Evelyn Hansen chose a lace and linen dress of aqua with white accessories. Mrs. Fraser wore a dress of navy lace over taffeta with pink accessories. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

Two hundred guests attended the reception in the church dining room immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Herman Schultz was hostess and cut the tiered white wedding cake. Preston Tyrrell was floor host. Mrs. George Elder and Mrs. A. C. Hinman poured. The punch bowls were in the charge of the Mrs. Lawrence Murray and Mrs. Ernest Johnson.

Darlene Engstrom and Ruth Ann Peterson of Forest City took care of the gifts and Chareen Cockrum of St. Ansgar was in charge of the guest book.

The couple returned to Des Moines, where Mrs. Fraser was graduated the following Monday from Drake university. She is also a graduate of Belmond High school and Waldorf Junior college. For her going away costume, she chose a brown linen dress with matching checked jacket and white accessories. The couple will honeymoon at Troutdale in the Pines, Evergreen, Colo., en route to San Diego, where they will make their home temporarily. Mr. Fraser is serving with the US Navy there. He is a graduate of Clarion High school.

IF WE DON'T WANT THE "SPEED TRAP" LABEL, LET'S NOT OPERATE LIKE ONE

With no criticism of the mayor or city council intended, we'd like to suggest that the problem of speeding on Highway 69 through Belmond be given a bit of thought before the height of the vacation season once again increases the volume of traffic along that thoroughfare. We know that some members of the council are fearful that Belmond is gaining the reputation of being a "speed trap," for we've heard them mention it. More than that, we know for certain that more than a few drivers who have left behind a $5.00 bond as they passed through our community feel very definitely that they were given the "speed trap" treatment.

In the past three months, 97 transient motorists have paid speeding fines in Belmond. We don't question but what that many have flagrantly defied the speed laws while passing through Belmond in that period of time. On the other hand, we'd question if a very high percentage of the really flagrant violators is represented among the 97 who were arrested. We have personal knowledge of several instances in which arrests have been made during the late evening or early morning hours when the degree of violation was moderate, considering the absence of traffic at the time. It is certain there is no degree of consistency; and we have reason to believe that by far fewer violators are stopped during daytime hours, when the traffic hazards are greatest, than at late hours when the hazard is small.

The answer can always be given that "the law is the law," and that 35 mph in a 20 or 25-mph zone is as illegal as 45 or 55. But that answer doesn't hold water very well when speed violations in town other than on Highway 69 go virtually unpunished. So if we're going to give local drivers such great latitude, let's not make a "fall guy" out of the transient.

If the city fathers sincerely want to prevent Belmond from being known as a "speed trap," it would be to the point to arrive at some understanding with the policemen as to what leeway should be allowed. When flagrant disregard of public safety is not involved, let's give the out-of-towner a part of the break given local drivers. If we don't, we'll not only earn the reputation of operating a "speed trap" — we'll DESERVE it!

THE TIME IS LONG PAST WHEN JOE'S OBJECTIVES CAN JUSTIFY HIS MEANS

There seem to be some watchers of the current scene who are so deluded they can still say, "Well McCarthy's methods may be open to criticism, but you can't deny the soundness of his objectives." We most lately heard the remark from a "good Democrat," and HIS tolerance we can understand.

There can be little question but what Joe McCarthy's demogoguery has done the Republican party more harm than anything since the Teapot Dome scandal. To the run-of-the-mine Republican, it's a growing mystery why the party leaders — and particularly the Eisenhower administration — don't flatly disclaim the Wisconsin roughneck once and for all instead of flicking at him with thinly veiled inferences.

It's all well and good to say that Joe served a useful purpose in his time. Perhaps, in retrospect, a pretty good case could be made for Judas Iscariot, too. Martyrdom was a important foundation stone in building the Christian faith, certainly. But Judas did not have furtherance of the faith in mind when he sold out. It is true that McCarthy alerted the public to the inner threat of Communism when it was, perhaps, taken too lightly. But it is a moot question that that threat could have gone undiscovered long enuogh to cause the harm that the square-jawed senator has as he's "crucified" the honest name of one citizen after another in the Red-hunting.

It is too late to undo much of the damage McCarthy has done. But he can wreak much more havoc unless promptly put in his place. It is devoutly to be hoped that the Republican party powers and President Eishenhower soon will finally and decisively disown McCarthy and his works while something can be salvaged from the shambles.

TAEA MAY BE THE ANSWER TO IOWA'S LONG NEEDED TAX ASSESSMENT REFORM

Elsewhere in this issue is a story concerning the participation of Clark McNeal in the most concrete effort yet seen in Iowa to bring about equalization of assessed valuations of merchants' inventory stocks. We suggest that local store operators who have long suffered financial pain due to the eccentric present process of taxing inventories should give Clark and his confreres an encouraging pat on the back and wish them God's speed.

As reported in the news article, a group bearing as its title the Tax Assessment Equality association is behind this move to reform Iowa's current tax assessment law pertaining to merchant inventories. It is significant, in itself, that seven, self-minded trade associations have been induced to join forces in a unified effort to gain a common goal.

Pitching in for the common cause are the following associations: Iowa Retail Hardware, Iowa Retail Lumbermen, Iowa Retail Farm Equipment, Iowa Pharmaceutical, Iowa Retail Clothiers, Iowa Retail Jewelers and Iowa Variety Stores.

In a personally conducted "poll" to learn what bases of assessment are used in Iowa's 99 counties, Clark wrote to the assessor of each to learn what procedure he is currently following. Out of the first 60 replies received, 23 distinct mthods of assessment were reported. To his great surprise, Clark learned from one assessor that he was already employing a system virtually identical to that recommended by the TAEA. The others were all heir to inequitable distribution of the tax burden to varying degrees.

It will be a real feather in the cap of the TAEA if it can bring about the tax-law changes that are its goal. Iowa assessment methods have been due for a major re-shuffling for aye these many years. Correcting the inequities that currently characterize the assessment of merchandise stocks would not be the whole answer to the problem. Maladjustment exists in other categories of taxable property, too. But it would certainly be a big step in the right direction and would within all probability lead to other assessment reforms.

CHICK CHATS

What Now?

Something happened to the egg market. It went down as you all know from looking at your egg checks lately. That is, if you can find your egg check.

I don't exactly know why the egg price has gone down. Could be because people quit buying eggs. I don't think that's the case. I think the cause is that there are a few too many hens around the country.

Of course, the low price on eggs may mean that more people will eat more eggs. That eventually will bring the price up. But, "eventually" doesn't mean we'll make more money on layers right now.

We can get around that low egg price bugaboo somewhat, though. Let's start with the chickens. First, when egg prices are low, you don't want a big chicken doing the work. She'll eat too much feed. And the extra meat for sale at the end of the year won't pay for the extra feed. You also want a chicken that will lay in high-gear all the time. Broody hens don't make you much money. Stay away from the breeds that are loaded with loafers.

Next, don't skimp on the feed just because prices are low. You'll get more eggs per pound of feed if you pour it to 'em. And put plenty of feeders around in the house too. You won't have to fill 'em as full — and the chickens won't dump as much into the litter either.

Third, keep the chickens clean — inside and out. It takes enough feed to feed the chickens. There's no use feeding all kinds of bugs and worms inside the chicken and those lousy lice on the outside.

Another thing. Some of those diseases on the inside can foul up a chicken's intestines so much that she becomes a feed waster. So keeping the chickens clean on the inside may mean the difference between profit and loss.

There are more ways to beat the egg price. Tune in again next week, and we'll discuss 'em — and cuss 'em too.

VOL. 34 NO. 37 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

"What about flood insurance?" is a question that was voiced 101 times (at least) along Main street as farmers ruefully contemplated drowned-out acres and householders unsuccessfully battled to keep the rampaging river from taking over their cellars—or even the first floors of their homes. . . . The fact is, there just ISN'T any such thing as insurance again natural floods.

As a local insurance man pointed out, "Only persons livin areas that might be subject to flooding would be interested in insuring the risk. Consequently every policy would cover a POOR risk and the cost of underwriting would be completely exhorbitant."

So none of the flood victims were caught without insurance for lack of foresight. High water is pretty much in a class by itself among natural disasters. The insurance companies will gamble that you won't get hit by a tornado, hail or fire. Those things can happen to ANYBODY. But only a low-lander needs to worry about a flood. Unfortunately, that's ALL he can do about it.

—M-S—

AGRICULTURAL NOTES: Ye Ed perceived whitecaps in evidence on several cornfields during a trip to Clarion on Tuesday. . . . Seems to be the concensus of farmer opinion that rice would do ideally as a replant crop hereabouts, if the season were only right. . . . One farmer told us dolefully that he's going to have to "mow" his soybeans before he can get at 'em with a cultivator. . . . Remember the drought last fall??

—M-S—

This week's sports section was "rained out." Athletic events around these parts simply couldn't compete with the weather man last week. The peewee baseballers got a few games in the early part of the week, and that was about it. No softball, no semi-pro ball, no golf tournaments. We'd planned to check up on how Belmond cars did at the Wright County Raceways (seem to be more local jaloppies having at it this year), but will have to delay until things dry out. Along with organized sports, river fishing appears done for — for a good many weeks to come, anyway. . . . Guess we'll just have to dust off the Parchesi board. Or maybe NOW is the time to learn Scrabble?

—M-S—

Coach Dick Hobbs suggests a good word should be said for the group of peewees who gave him a hand at fixing up the school ball diamond last week. The kids had to pick up rocks to earn the privilege of riding the drag for a few rounds of the diamond. What mothers said when the boys returned home grimy from head to toe after jockeying that drag is perhaps best left unrepeated. But the ball field was in about the best shape ever — before the deluge.

—M-S—

Rev. and Mrs. William Schorman favored Belmond as a new site for his ministerial activities due to the advantages this community would offer their children, compared to his former Congregational pastorate in Tennessee. Sometimes they wonder a bit, though. For example, when their little daughter Vivien suffered a broken arm Monday morning when a hook holding her swing chain broke. It was the second arm fracture sustained in the Schorman family since they moved here last September. Young Eric suffered a similar injury not long after the Schormans' arrival last fall.

—M-S—

It came as a surprise to Mainstreeter Gowdy last week to discover an adept politician among his kinfolk. The young lady elected as governor of Hawkeye Girls State—Georgia Ann Gaskill of Corwith — is Dick's cousin-once-removed (that's how Webster puts it). A Corwith High school senior-to-be, she's the daughter of Dick's cousin, George Gaskill, and wife.

WINS THREE TOP HONORS

Carole Chinberg spent last week living in a tepee in the Indian Village at Camp Hantesa, Camp Fire Girls' camp near Boone. She earned the Hantesa honor, highest given at the camp; White Feather, highest Village honor; and Torch Bearer Craftsman rating in sports and games, another high Camp Fire honor.

Belmond's Worst Flood Ever Causes Tremendous Damage

'51's Record Crest Beaten This Time By Over 2½ Feet

Uncalculated damage that seemed certain to run well into six figures was done to farm crops and land and to private and public property in the Belmond vicinity as it suffered the most disastrous flood in its history last weekend and the early part of this week. With rains of cloudburst proportions pouring record-breaking amounts of water into both the east and west branches of the Iowa river, an unprecedented flood crest was recorded here last Saturday afternoon.

This new high did not stand for long, though. Additional rain came Sunday night, on the heels of the Thursday night deluge that first precipitated the flood, and Monday morning a new crest was reached that exceeded the previous high-water mark by some eight inches. The flood remained virtually at crest stage until mid-afternoon on Monday, when the level gradually began to recede.

2½ Ft. Over '51 High

According to records kept by Rowat-Murray Engineers, the peak level of this flood surpassed that reached in July of 1951 by 2.6 feet. The '51 combination wind and rain storm produced the previous highest recorded flood level here. Measurements made by Haydn Jones of the R-M staff on Tuesday indicated that at its crest, this flood increased water depth at the Main street bridge at least 13½ feet over what the river was running before the Thursday night storm.

The torrential rain Thursday night—actually early Friday morning—doused Belmond with a total of some 4.75 or more inches of rainfall. This, by itself, would have produced high water; but much heavier precipitation along both northern branches of the Iowa river caused the real havoc. When another 2.5 inches or more dropped here Sunday night—again supplemented by even greater amounts to the north—the river rapidly rose to its previous crest and soon exceeded it.

Roads Blocked Off

Modern-day Belmond has never been so close to total isolation as it was after the second water rise. Highway 69 to the north had been closed to traffic a little after 11:00 p. m. Friday; but in the early hours of Monday morning, it was necessary to blockade the thoroughfare south of town, too. A detour remained open via the Main street bridge until a little after 9:00 a. m. Monday. When the bridge was closed, that left circuitous routes to the east, over roads that were in many places awash, as the only means of auto contact with Belmond.

Metal support rods on the bridge clanked for several hours while the river remained near crest stage, but after the level had dropped a foot or so overnight, traffic was once more permitted to pass across Tuesday morning.

Motel Not Quite Flooded

Just when the highway would again be opened to traffic was still conjectural at The Independent's press time on Wednesday. The state highway commission did not plan to reopen No. 69 until it was completely clear of water and both paving and bridge abutments possibly affected by the high water could be carefully inspected.

Only private business enterprise severely hampered by the flood was Hill Motel. Mrs. Edith Hill reports that, at its highest point, the water lacked a half-inch of going over her lowest doorsill. She elevated her furniture on tiles after the first water rise and was about ready to evacuate following the second rise when the crest was reached. Water surrounding the motel forced her to shut down on Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights.

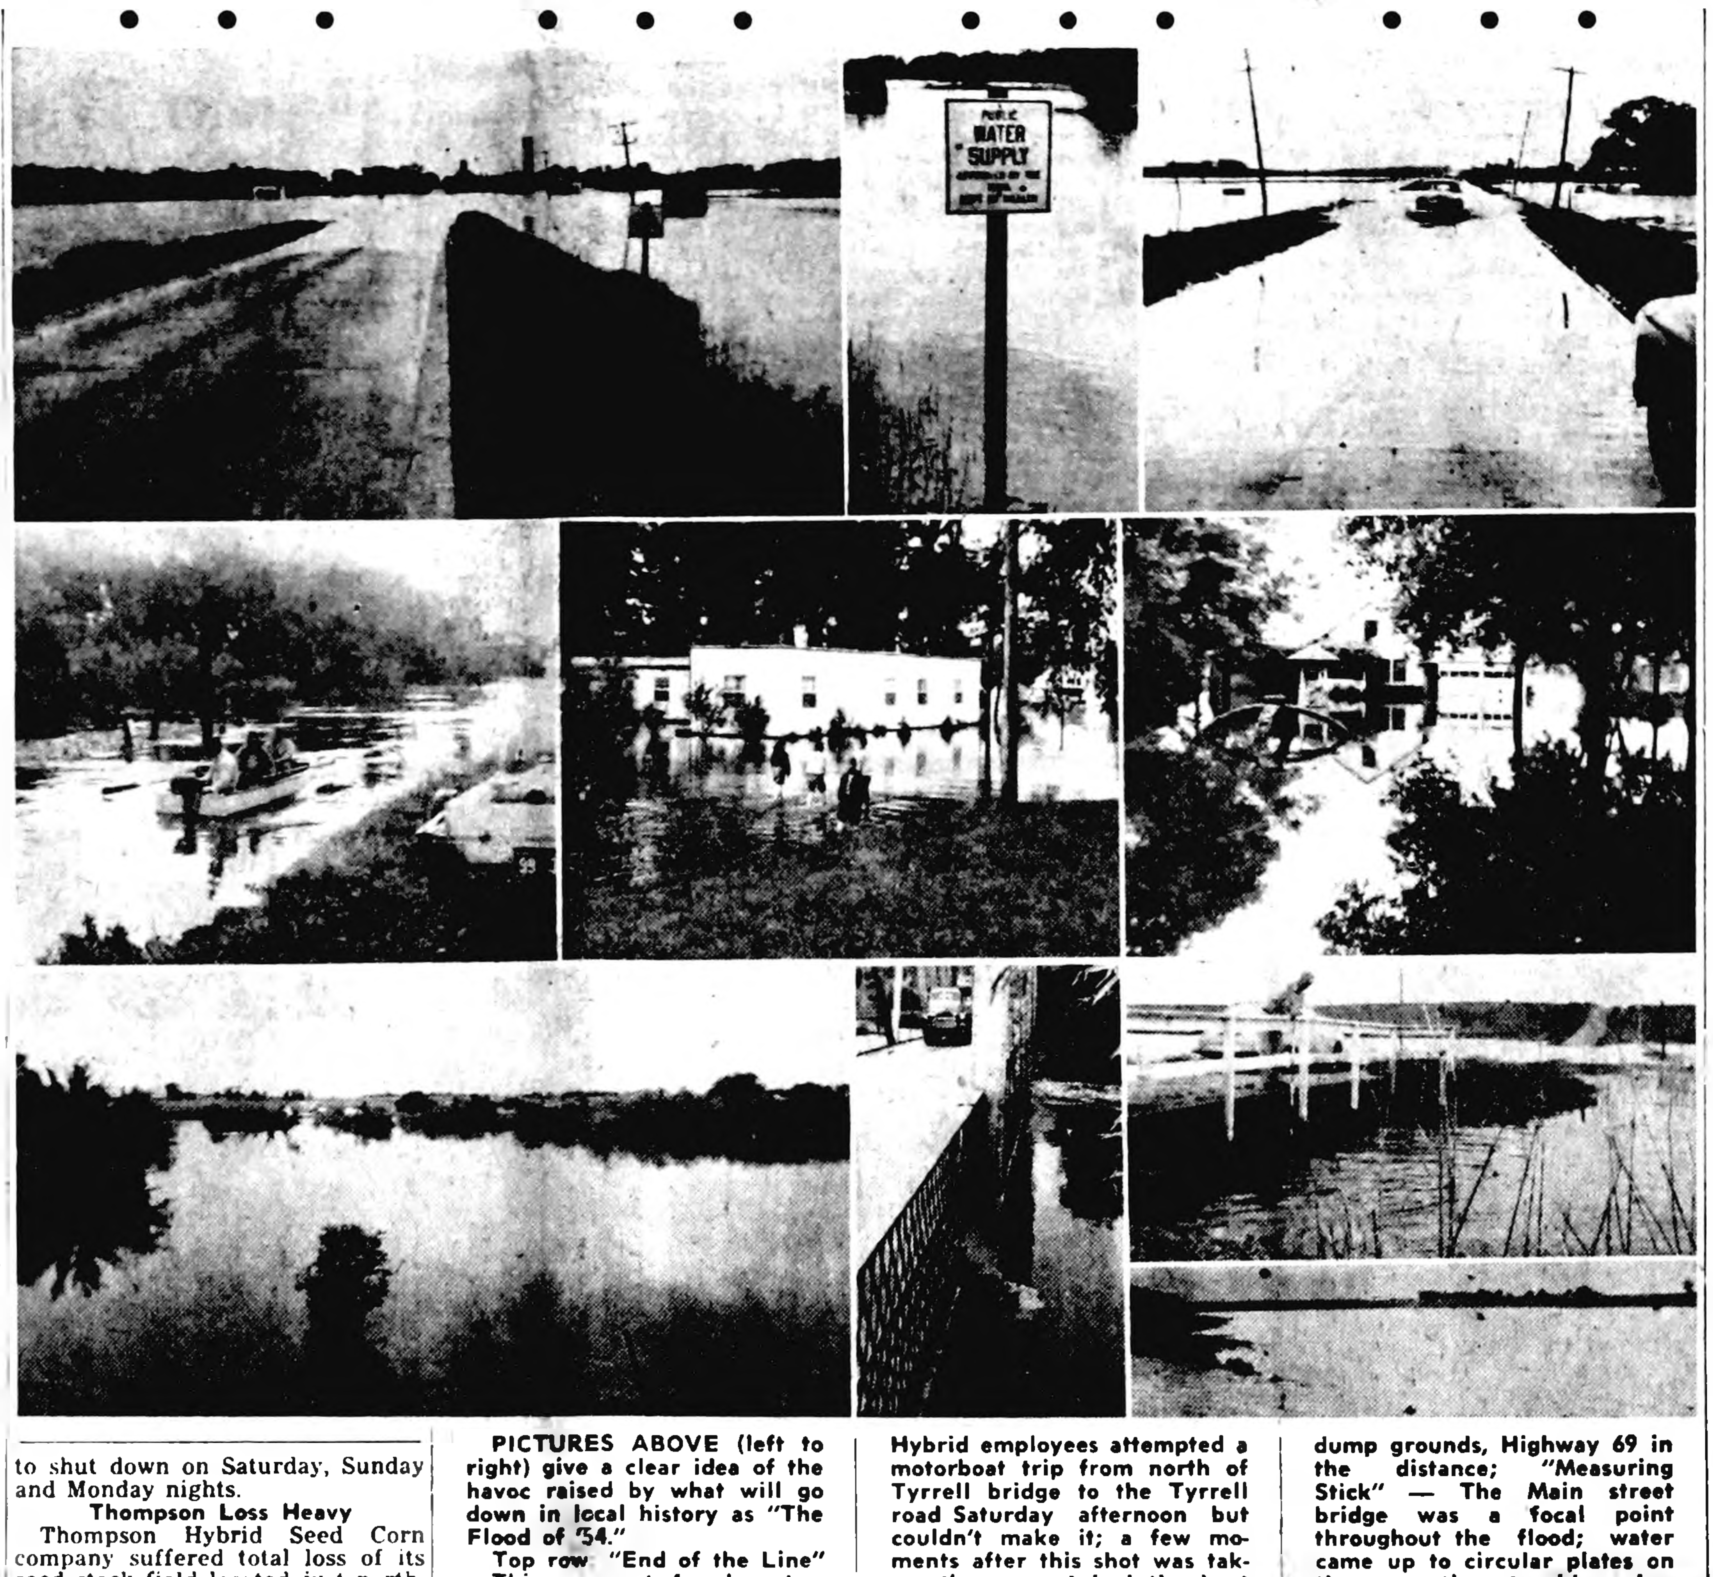
Bowman Suggests Crops to Plant On Flooded Land

Aaron Bowman, county extension director, this week offered advice to the hundreds of farmers in this vicinity who are regretfully eyeing drowned out areas in their field crops amounting to anywhere from an acre or so to — in some cases — 75 acres and more. Corn that's gone, is just that. Gone!

However, there are several crops that can be planted up to early July or a bit later and still mature satisfactorily (assuming that the farmer gets a normal break on the frost-end of the season). Fast-maturing soybeans are Bowman's No. 1 recommendation. He says that varieties best suited to late planting and likliest to produce mature grain are Ottawa, Mandarin and Blackhawk.

Most soybean varieties, according to Bowman, will mature large yields of hay even if planted after the first of July. Best bets to get a mature crop, considering the delay that is probable before replanting can be done, are Ottawa and Mandarin, he adds.

On flooded land not adaptable to beans, an alternative is forage from sedan grass, millet or sorghum. Or maybe this is the time for buckwheat, Bowman suggests. The popular pancake product can be seeded for grain any time from late June to eary July.



PICTURES ABOVE (left to right) give a clear idea of the havoc raised by what will go down in local history as "The Flood of '54."

Top row: "End of the Line" —This prospect faced motorists approaching Belmond on No. 69 from the north while high water necessitated detour to west of town; "State Inspected"—Sign just north of town on the highway ironically acclaimed Belmond's "Public Water Supply" (and what a supply!) as bearing the state's approval; "Just Makin' It"—South approach to town on No. 69 was still navigable when this picture was taken mid-afternoon Saturday.

Middle row: "Unsuccessful Voyage" — Three Thompson Hybrid employees attempted a motorboat trip from north of Tyrrell bridge to the Tyrrell road Saturday afternoon but couldn't make it; a few moments after this shot was taken, the current had the boat glued to the bridge; "With Running Water"—Hill Motel was the worst flooded of any Belmond business establishment and, finally simply had to shut down; "Evil Image" — Most deeply submerged of any Belmond residence was the home of S. Sarber, on (what's in a name?) River avenue, its unhappy state shown here in double.

"What Lake's That?"—No lake, just the vista to the west snapped from the gravel pit across the road from the city dump grounds, Highway 69 in the distance; "Measuring Stick" — The Main street bridge was a focal point throughout the flood; water came up to circular plates on the supporting stanchions during highest crest; "Country Roads, Too" — The highways had no monopoly on flood troubles, as this rural road west of town plainly shows; "Wright County Cornfield, 1954" — This field of corn west of Belmond got it worse than most, but hundreds of farmers saw big dents put in their harvest prospects.

Prints of the above pictures, 7x5 inches in size, can be ordered through The Independent office at 50 cents apiece. Please order promptly.

Co-op Creamery's Patrons Backing Dairy Industry's Promotion Plan 100%; Flood Fouls Up 'Dairy Month'

It appears likely at present that patrons of the Belmond Co-op Creamery will pour close to $2,300 into the promotion fund of the dairy industry during the current year, Manager Curt Rise reported this week. When it is considered that there are some 35,000 creameries in the nation and that approximately 80 per cent of them are in states cooperating with the promotion program, the determination of the dairy industry to win a new and bigger place in the competitive market can be appreciated.

June Dairy Month prompted, of course, the interview with Mr. Rise as to how things are going at the Co-op. He pointed out that, starting the first of this year, the creamery patrons have been "kicking in" a half-cent per pound of butterfat toward the nationwide promotion of the dairy industry. The ante is boosted to a cent per pound during May and June, then returns to the half-cent figure for the balance of the year.

Two Weeks, at First

Some years ago, when the June Dairy Month idea was started, dairy patrons gave a cent per pound of butterfat toward promotion during the first two weeks of the month, only. Later the set-asides were collected for the entire month; then, several years ago, donating during May was added. This is the first year for year-around "putting in the kitty."

The accumulated funds will be used for national and local advertising and promotion of dairy products and also research for developing new products and new markets. New life for the entire dairy industry is confidently expected to be the result.

Ahead of '53

Manager Rise told the Independent that the Co-op's volume for the first five months of 1954 was running a bit ahead of 1953's record output. June has been just a mite behind—and the flood's effect is still to be felt—but the total up to this week was still ahead of a year ago. A happy turn of events for Dairy Month.

What the flood did to the creamery's operations wasn't such a happy development, Curt says. Its source of water supply is a private well situated behind the creamery plant. This well "submerged" last Friday and since then the Co-op has had to use city water. A very inadequate volume is obtainable through the ¾-inch supply pipe and as a result, work at the creamery has been lagging badly.

Long Work Day

For example, it ordinarily takes about four to five hours to pasteurize a "batch" of 600 gallons of milk. Using the comparative trickle of city, water, it takes 14 hours. This sort of business has put the creamery virtually on a 24-hour-a-day basis since the flood.

Manager Rise says it will be more than a year before the well—when it DOES get back in operation—can supply water for butter-making. However, about 90 per cent of the creamery's water volume is used for pasteurizing; part for steam, but mostly for cooling.

Thanks to the flood and its effect, this is one "June Dairy Month" which Mr. Rise will be rather happy to see over and done with.

Sudden, Rapid Spread of Corn Borers' Egg Masses Forecasts Severe Hazard to Wright's 1954 Crop

Counts of egg masses of corn borers made in the central portions of Wright county have lately reached the point where spraying is necessary, according to Aaron R. Bowman, county extension director. Corn borer egg counts varied from 32 to 99 egg masses per 100 plants on Monday afternoon of this week on counts made by crews of a hybrid corn company. Egg mass counts made on one farm last Friday had shown 33 egg masses per 100 and the count had jumped to 76 by Monday, in spite of heavy downpours of rain.

This was typical of all areas where egg mass counts had been made on Friday and Monday. The average of the egg mass counts in six fields on Friday was 18 egg masses per 100 plants. On Monday, the same six fields showed an average egg mass count of 55 per 100 plants. This is evidence that the heavy rains are doing little, if anything, to wash off egg masses, Mr. Bowman comments; or else egg laying is continuing at a high rate over this period.

Entomologists expect the critical spraying time to come around the first of July in Wright county. It will be from June 25 to 30 for central Iowa and June 28 to July 5 for northern Iowa. Treatment recommended for corn borer control is 1½ pounds of actual DDT per acre applied in a mixture of water. The amount of water depends on the nozzle size on different spray outfits.

For controlling corn borer in farmers' fields of commercial corn, only one spray is recommended. This spray is applied when 75 per cent of the plants show evidence of leaf feeding by borers. This is toward the end of the egg laying period and should be watched carefully by farmers.

Hybrid seed corn producers should spray twice, because the seed corn is a high value crop. The first spray is applied when there are 50 egg masses per 100 plants on corn 20 inches in extended height. The second spray is applied seven to 10 days later.

Sweet corn spraying should start when there are 25 egg masses per 100 corn plants.

On commercial corn fields where 75 per cent of the plants show leaf feeding, the infestation of corn borer is sufficient to cause damage. The spraying should be applied with one or two nozzles directly over the corn row. This recommendation is for field corn only.

The height of corn this Monday, where counts were made, varied from 25 to 36 inches extended.

Entomologists expect rather heavy infestation of corn borers in this area and farmers are urged by Mr Bowman to watch their fields carefully.

Busy Borers!

Chuck Wilmarth of the Thompson Hybrid staff reported to the Independent Tuesday that corn borer masses in that company's fields were averaging 80 to 130 per 100 plants on Tuesday of this week, forecasting a serious infestation. Most dramatic evidence of borer activity was found in a Thompson field at the farm of Ira Studebaker, Jr. Thursday of last week, the count was only 20 egg masses per 100 plants. By Tuesday the total had ballooned to 416 per 100 plants!

Flood Postpones Banquet

Curt Rise, Belmond Co-op Creamery manager, reports that the banquet of the Wright County Dairy Interests association had planned to hold this Tuesday was postponed for one week on account of road conditions. It will be held at the Clarion grade school gymnasium next Tuesday, instead. He also made known that the Co-op's Dairy Princess candidates are Shirley Bohning of Belmond and Kay Whitten of Rowan. A third may still be chosen.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

Jane Svendsen was elected president of the Belmond unit of the American Legion Auxiliary at the organization's regular meeting held Tuesday evening of last week at Veterans' Memorial hall. She will succeed Betty Barkema as head of the Auxiliary.

Installation of Mrs. Svendsen and the other newly-elected officers will be conducted on July 20th.

Others named to Auxiliary offices last week were: "Tony" Jenison, vice president; Veronica Barry, secretary; Hattie Allison, treasurer; Cecilia Holtzbauer, historian; Bessie Thompson, sergeant-at-arms; and Betty Barkema chaplain.

Special guests at the Belmond unit's election meeting were Florence Fry, Wright County Auxiliary president, and the county secretary, Mrs. Martin, both of Dows.

Man from GMI'S Ohio Feed Plant Will Direct Mill

Thomas G. Burdsal of Rossford, Ohio, has been appointed superintendent of Belmond's new General Mills feed mill, according to an announcement made this week by J. Donald Johnson of Minneapolis, feed production supervisor for GMI. Mr. Burdsal has been serving as plant engineer for the large feed plant General Mills operates at Rossford.

According to the news release, Mr. Burdsal has been employed by General Mills since June of 1948. He joined the GMI plant engineering department immediately following his graduation from the University of Minnesota with a degree in civil engineering. He has been engineer of the Rossford plant since October, 1951.

In a communication received this week from Glenn Martin, former Belmondite who is now superintendent of the GMI soybean processing plant at Rossford, he stated that Mr. Burdsal planned to be in Belmond sometime this week. Whether the new superintendent will be on hand to watch over construction of the plant he is to head, or whether the contemplated trip will simply be for the purpose of a get-acquainted visit, wasn't mentioned.

Mr. Martin did state, "Belmond is going to gain a good man in the new plant superintendent. We think the world of him around here."

Joe Flaspohler, construction superintendent on the mill job, had hoped that excavating for footings could be gotten under way this week. In view of the flood, however, this work will have to be delayed until there's less moisture in the ground.

Rev. M. L. Jones New Pastor Here

Rev. M. L. Jones, new pastor of the Methodist church delivered his first sermon before the local congregation last Sunday morning and plans to move into the Methodist parsonage on Friday or Saturday of this week. He comes to Belmond from Rock Valley.

Besides his wife, the new minister's family includes a son and a daughter who are married and a younger son who is a sophomore at Iowa State Teachers college.

The Rev. Mr. Jones has been at Rock Valley the past nine years, accepting a call there after concluding a period of service as an Army chaplain during World War II. He was in uniform for something over three years and saw duty a fair share of that time in the South Pacific.

CHAMBER PLACES ORDER FOR NEW HIGHWAY SIGN

George Keleher says that the sign which the Chamber of Commerce plans to erect across Highway 69 at the Main street intersection was ordered this week from the Bob Smythe Sign company of Cedar Rapids.

The Cedar Rapids concern has promised every effort will be made to have the sign ready for delivery by the middle of next month and the Chamber sign committee hopes it can be installed and in use before the end of July.

GAS FRANCHISE PASSES

Cecil Carstens, local manager for the Iowa Electric Light and Power company, reports that the voters of Kanawha almost unanimously approved a 25-year natural gas franchise for the company last week. Election on granting of the franchise was held on Wednesday. Of 341 electors casting ballots, all but one voted for the proposition.

Flood Postpones Kids' Fish Derby

Because of flood conditions in the area of the gravel pit where the event was to be conducted tomorrow, the second annual Kids' Fish Day has been postponed until Friday, July 16. It is planned to transfer the site of this year's Fish Derby to a gravel pit located about two miles east of Lake Cornelia.

Roads leading to it and fields surrounding it were still so deeply under water Tuesday that there was no alternative but to postpone the event, Chairman M. B. Dannewitz reports. A thousand bullheads from Spirit Lake will be stocked in the pit just before Fish Day.

All "Misses"

Not a prize was claimed on this week's Cash Gift Day, though the cusomary number of "near misses" was bewailed. Next Tuesday's Cash Gifts at 2:00 p. m. will be the same as this week — six will be drawn for, each worth $25. However, this week's 3:00 p. m. "kitty" will be doubled to bring the "big one" up to $200. A chance at any part of the $350 should be worth a trip to town.

Detoured Traffic Keeps Town Busy Following Storms

Last weekend's record-breaking rains took their toll in Meservey in a variety of ways. But rather than being isolated by overflowed roads, as were some communities, the town saw exceptionally large amounts of traffic as Highways 69 and 65 were detoured through Meservey to enable cars to reach Clear Lake, Mason City and points beyond. Flooded places between Meservey and Thornton made transit of that stretch a rather nerve-wracking experience, nevertheless.

Several CGW railroad officials were in Meservey on Friday and Saturday to examine heavy water damage to the right-of-way.

Mrs. Hannah Watermiller was forced to leave her home on Friday when it became surrounded by water. She moved in with her son Nealo and family. The local fire-truck was in steady use for many hours Friday evening, pumping water from the basement of the Reformed church. It was held to a level of about six inches by the firemen's efforts.

Many basements in town were flooded and few householders in town escaped getting at least some water in their cellars. However, there was not the servere wind damage in Meservey that was suffered by many neighboring towns.

Simon P. Fischer was called to Thornton several times on Friday because of interruption of electrical service caused by wind. The farm occupied by Herman Frohling, northwest of Thornton a short distance from Highway 107, was severely damaged by a small twister.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Vierkant and Marlene were Sunday evening visitors at the Fred Quandt home at Clear Lake.

Things like that just don't happen in our flock. That's why it was such a shock when the boss found out. We had been looking well as growing chicks. Maybe we hadn't gained much weight lately and perhaps we were a bit lazy. But we blamed it on the heat. Then it happened. The boss discovered we had worms. Wright Purchase Of Savings Bonds Continues Heavy

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the savings bonds division, reports that purchases of series E and H bonds in this county for May amounted to $106,411, giving the county a five-month total of $830,147 for 61.25 per cent of the 1954 quota.

At the end of five months, Iowa had attained 54 per cent of its annual quota for purchases of United States bonds, and 78 counties had exceeded the 50 per cent mark.

Mr. Kramer says that sales of E and H bonds for the first five months of 1954 were 31 per cent greater than for the like period of 1953, and pointed out that the increase was largely due to the popularity of the H bond.

While purchases of E bonds increased 10 per cent, the increase for H bonds amounted to 117 per cent. Owners of H bonds receive an interest check from the Treasury each six months.

Total purchases for the first five months, and percentages of annual quotas attained, in adjacent counties were: Franklin county, $459,228, equalling 60.55 per cent; Hancock county, $482,686, 60.07 per cent; Kossuth county, $862,096, 59.19 per cent; Hamilton county, $594,028, 49.70 per cent.

CHICK CHATS

Range Care of Chickens

I 'spose that there are some poultry raisers who are pretty sick of the whole thing. They've got young chickens and the egg price is way down and they think that the pullets they house next fall won't pay their way. But there are ways to beat that low egg price — if you take care of the young chickens right while they're on range.

First, give 'em plenty of feeders. And the same goes for water. Give 'em all a chance to eat and drink at the same time. This will help build strong, and healthy pullets. And more important, they'll be thrifty next fall.

Put 'em on a clean range. That is, put the growing chicks on land that hasn't been used for chickens for a year or two. A lot of nice green grass will make the chickens happy too.

Watch the young'uns closely for worms and any kind of coccidiosis. Worms waste feed. So does coccidiosis — especially intestinal coxy. This disease scars up the insides so the bird can't absorb food well enough to lay and live at the same time. And a dead bird means a waste of feed.

And keep the flies away. Chickens that eat a lot of flies are usually loaded with worms. It seems that the flies are kind enough to carry worm eggs around with them. And the worm eggs are just nasty enough to hatch after the bird eats the fly. Playing host to a bunch of worms is hard on your feed bill. Keep the flies away.

And worm the birds often. With feed the price it is, it doesn't take long to make back the price of the worming with feed savings. Take care of the pullets on range and they'll make you more money next fall. With chickens, it takes health to produce wealth, y'know.

ISC Expert Gives Some Advice On Controlling Flies

Three standby chemicals—DDT, methoxychlor and lindane—are being recommended for 1954 fly control by Earle Raun, extension entomologist at Iowa State college. All three chemicals are classed as residual sprays since their effects extend for some time after spraying.

In general, Raun advises use of DDT and methoxychlor during early summer. Switch over to lindane in July, then back to DDT and methoxychlor in the cool fall weather. Lindane works better in hot weather than the other two sprays, he says.

An early spray, in addition to other fly control measures such as cleaning out breeding places, may give effective control until midsummer, according to the ISC expert.

Observe Results

In some cases, Raun explains, flies have built up resistance to DDT, methoxychlor and lindane. So he advises a close watch to see if the sprays are working—that is, that the flies are actually dying. If the sprays are failing to kill flies, he recommends pyrethrum sprays and the newer malathion.

Malathion is a residual spray. It can be bought as a 57-per cent emulsifiable solution. Mix a gallon of this solution to 50 gallons of water. It has been approved for use in dairy barns. Malathion sprays will be effective for eight to ten days. However, manufacturers say the length of kill may be increased several days by adding 10 pounds of sugar to 50 gallons of spray.

Activated Pyrethrins

Activated pyrethrins may be used as a spray in homes and barns. They must be used daily, since they kill only the flies existing at the time of spraying. Pyrethrins may be purchased in a "bomb" in ready-mixed kerosene or oil sprays or in a concentrate form to be mixed with water.

Horn flies may be controlled with the DDT and methoxychlor sprays. Raun says to use these materials on the animals every two weeks. However, he points to laws forbidding the use of DDT on dairy cows; the DDT is picked up by the cow's body and ends up in the butterfat.

Activated pyrethrins will kill or repel all blood-sucking flies. They may be applied on dairy cows as they leave the barn in the morning.

An automatic, treadle-type spray may be set in the entrance gate to a water source or some other place where the cattle must pass daily.

Relief Sewer Line Survey Ordered After City, Engineer Get Together

A misunderstanding that had existed between the city sewer committee and Engineer L. W. Murray in regard to a preliminary survey preparatory to expansion of the municipal sewer system was resolved at a special meeting of the city council held Wednesday evening of last week. Clarification of the engineer's assignment opened the way to possible completion of specifications and plans for two relief sewer lines within a period of four or five weeks.

It is the opinion of City Attorney Roy Henderson that it will not be nececessary to hold up letting of contract on the sewage disposal plant, pending final decision on what extension of the sewer system should be undertaken. Logically, both the disposal plant and the sewer extension projects should be financed by simultaneous bonding. This will be possible, Mr. Henderson believes, even though contracts for the related projects are not let at the same time.

Confusion Over Fee Basis

At the council meeting it was revealed that Mr Murray had the understanding that the sewer committee had ordered him to hold up on the survey work related to the sewer extension. On the other hand, members of the sewer committee declared they had no recollection of giving such instructions. A contract with Mr Murray drafted early in 1951 by the previous city adminstration specified that Rowat-Murray should carry on such surveys and draft such plans as would be entailed in construction of the disposal plant and extension of the sanitary sewer system.

After some discussion it was agreed that the rate of engineering fee to be paid to Rowat-Murray had been left in some question by conversations regarding the relief lines, subsequent to drafting of the contract.

Surveys Now Ordered

Exactly what engineering services are covered by the contract has continued in some doubt, and there were indications that confusion on this point had been responsible for the impasse that developed over the relief line surveys.

During last week's meeting, a resolution was passed by the council construing that the 1951 contract specifically permits the engineer to conduct surveys for the proposed relief lines on the same fee basis as pertains to engineering work on the disposal plant. With this clarification achieved, the council expressly authorized Mr. Murray to go ahead with preliminary surveys in conjunction with the auxiliary sewer lines but instructed him to delay on drafting specifications and plans until a fairly accurate cost figure has been obtained.

Swimming Class Limited to 250

Enrollment for this year's Red Cross swimming classes has so far exceeded past registrations that it has been necessary to turn down late applicants, Mrs Bob Garms announced this week. A maximum of 250 had to be set due to transportation limitations. That is about all the pool instructors can give satisfactory attention to, also, Mrs. Garms says.

Six buyers will be required to carry the youngsters to the Clarion pool Mrs Garms reports there has been a slight change in the time schedule. Belmond lesson hours will be from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and the earlier starting hour will require the busses to leave the city park at 8:30 rather than 9:00, as had previously been planned. Classes start next Monday.

RECREATION AT H. S. GYM WHEN RAIN INTERFERES

Dick Hobbs, summer recreation director, says that attendance has been very poor during those mornings and afternoons that rain has coincided with recreation periods. Sessions will be held at the school gymnasium when rain or wet grounds interferes with outside activities, he states. Plenty of fun will be provided, so he urges the boys to turn out—rain or shine.

LILA JEAN JOHNSON MARRIED LAST WEEK TO REV. DUANE SHAY

Miss Lila Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Talferd Johnson of Belmond, and Rev. Dwane H. Shay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shay of Mt. Vernon, S. D., were united in marriage Tuesday evening of last week at Trinity Lutheran church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. O M. Severseike, assisted by Rev. Ralph E. Johnshoy, Aneta, N. D., brother-in-law of the bride. Nuptial music was provided by Arlene Hetland, organist, and Diane Thorsheim, soloist, both friends of the bride from Fairview School of Nursing at Minneapolis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over heavy satin with a peter pan collar and seed pearl trimmings on the bodice. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Naomi Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Ralph Johnshoy, sister of the bride, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Elsworth Serstock of Minneapolis, twin sister of the groom, wore indentical gowns of baskets of blue and white daisies.

Serving his brother-in-law as best man was Elsworth Serstock of Minneapolis. Kenneth Johnson, brother of the bride, Paul Larson of Worthington, Minn., and Boyd Bahnson, of Sioux Falls, S. D., were ushers. They were attired in white dinner jackets and dark trousers.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore light blue dresses with white and blue accessories and had corsages of yellow roses.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlors. There were 150 guests attending. Hostess at the reception was Mrs. Glen Russell. Mrs. Clifford Christenson of Searville cut the wedding cake; Mrs. Dean Swanson of Forest City and Mrs. Myron Damon of Clarion poured. Three nursing school classmates of the bride also assisted — Wilma Rossing being in charge of the guest book, Linda Isaacs and Shirlee Haugrud opening the gifts.

After a two-week wedding trip the couple will be at home in Artesian, S. D., where the Rev. Mr. Shay has a pastorate.

Local Folks Attended Kelly-Hamilton Wedding

A recent wedding of local interest took place at the English Lutheran church at Oxford Junction when Miss Rosemary Ann Kelly became the bride of Gene Edward Hamilton. The Rev. John Greeny read the double-ring ceremony before a candlelit altar decorated with baskets of white carnations, stocks and peonies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Kelley of Oxford Junction and Mr. Hamilton is the son of Mrs. Frieda Hamilton of Tipton.

Mrs. Victor Valant of Bellevue was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Fifield of Oxford Junction and Miss Judith Baker of Belmond. Maynard Hamilton of Tipton served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Hamilton will teach in the Tipton grade school this coming year and Mr. Hamilton will enter the State University at Iowa City this fall.

Those attending from this vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fulton, Mrs. George Lieuwen, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dorr and David, Mrs. Helen Lieuwen, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pals, Carol and Jimmy and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Buchanan, all of of Belmond; Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Ostendorf of Goodell; Mrs. Cliff Evans of Clarion; Mr. and Mrs. Hauko Barkema and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barkema of Klemme; and Mrs. Ken Parker of Mason City.

State 4-H Girls' Presidency Goes To Glenda Wilson

Glenda Wilson, Wright county nominee for state office at last week's state 4-H girls' convention at Ames, became the first representative of the county ever to be elected to a state position in the girls organization. More than that, she was elected as state president.

Beth Robie of the Dayton Dandies was Glenda's campaign manager. All other county delegates to the state 4-H parley—including Gloria Rabe of the Belmond Busy Bees—spent long hours in preparation of campaign posters and mimeographed literature regarding the Wright candidate's merits.

Campaign speaker for the Wright candidate was Sheryl Bruhl, also of the Dayton Dandies, who just recently succeeded Miss Wilson as this county's 4-H girl president.

Delegates from Wright county arrived early on the convention's opening day, Wednesday, and immediately started an aggressive campaign in behalf of their state officer candidate. That they did an effective job was evidenced Thursday evening when Miss Wilson won the presidency by polling the largest number of votes of any of the eight officer candidates.

As state 4-H girls' president, Miss Wilson will have multiple duties to perform during the coming year. Her office will also require that she travel widely over the state during the course of the year, making club appearances.

● Flood—

west of the grove south of town; and on Tuesday it was estimated that its commercial seed fields will suffer damage amounting to 10 per cent. Dollar loss on the seed stock field, alone, will run between $14,000 and $15,000. This field was diked only last fall, the barricade being built to a height exceeding the previous record-high flood crest by a half foot. Water topped the dike at 11:55 p. m. on Friday.

Heaviest damage to Thompson commercial seed fields occurred at the Ernest Kalkwarf farm east of town. Some 40 to 50 acres were destroyed there. Not one of the company's seed fields entirely escaped.

Further, heavy loss to Thompson's was threatened when the flood waters crept toward metal storage bins west of the north plant. Transfer of the stored corn into the plant was started Saturday and continued for a time on Sunday. The work was then interrupted until rising water about midnight Sunday jeopardized the two highest bins. Thompson workers again turned to and worked another 12 hours to transfer the remainder of the binned corn. Water covered all of the bin floors as the highest crest of the flood was reached.

"ABOVE SEA LEVEL"

Here are the "above sea level" figures pertaining to the "Flood of '54," compared with that of '51: approximately pre-flood river level, 1,157.5 ft.; Saturday morning crest, 1,170.39; between-crests low on Sunday, 1,169.49; Monday crest, 1,171.1; July, 1951, crest, 1,168.5. These figures provided by Rowat-Murray, Engineers.

Five Homes Evacuated

Only five homes had to be evacuated. Water reached a depth of three feet or so in the S. S. Sarber residence on River avenue and the two-story structure on west Main street owned by Bert Sorenson and occupied by the Darwin Bode family. Other homes that had to be abandoned temporarily were those of Mrs. Emma Steinlicht, which is owned by Henry Larsen; those of Mrs. Pat Dillon and of Mrs. Gus Johnson. All of these are on River avenue.

While filled cellars didn't necessitate evacuation, this common nuisance of the flood made life so unpleasant in dozens of homes that more than one family was thoroughly sick of its lot. Virtually all homes along the highway with basements had high water in them. This same complaint prevailed a block or more from the river and in low areas throughout town. Volunteer firemen gave freely of their time, pumping cellars dry with the fire truck.

Health Warnings Given

It wasn't only residences that suffered the blight of wet cellars. A number of Main street stores had to have their basements pumped out and as far east as Woodward's store water to a depth of six inches was reported. In the Veterans' Memorial tap room and dining hall, water gathered to a depth of from six inches to a foot. On the highway south of town, the Iowa Electric Light and Power generating station had to keep two sump pumps steadily busy to keep water away from vital equipment.

Sunday night's storm introduced a new problem as sewer back-ups produced a serious health threat. Dr. G. J. Hruska, city health officer, issued a warning against letting children play in standing water that might be contaminated by sewage and also recommended that householders in areas where water has been standing should boil their drinking water. This precaution will protect the family in case of any seepage into the water line supplying the house. Typhoid fever is always a danger during times of floods. Dr. Hruska emphasizes and he asks that his warnings be observed so long as sewage-contaminated water is still standing.

One Narrow Escape

The flood had one fortunate aspect at least. No lives were lost in the Belmond vicinity. Only one instance of serious threat to an individual has been reported to The Independent. Shortly before the south approach to town on No. 69 was closed, an Illinois car was stalled while trying to navigate the water-swept highway. As the car filled with water, the driver seriously considered abandoning the vehicle — which would have left him with a very precarious escape effort to make. He finally succeeded in starting the car, though, and gained safety, thoroughly frightened.

Lightening Did Damage

Although the cloudburst of Thursday was accompanied by a severe electrical storm, there were few reports of lightning damage and apparently only one bolt struck Belmond. This hit the wiring leading into the Central Telephone company's garage and completely destroyed a switch panel. Wires and switch connections were melted into lumps of metal.

Manager Len Collier says the switch panel controlled the generators which keep the batteries on charge. The lightning struch about 4:45 a. m. when there was little activity on the dial switches, so telephone communication was not seriously affected. Had the damage been done a few hours later, when phone traffic began to get heavy, it would have been necessary to limit calls to those emanating to and from emergency points such as the hospital and fire-report stations, Mr. Collier remarked.

SOME OBSERVATIONS AND COMMENT ON THE NEED TO EXPEDITE SEWER PLANS

Several aspects of the current planning of the city council to link expansion of the sanitary sewer system with construction of the new sewage disposal plant seem worthy of comment. In the first place, it is indeed gratifying to see the Chamber of Commerce give the proposed civic improvement its unqualified and outspoken approval.

It is most appropriate that this organization, representative of the business and professional life of our community, should be so alert to the importance of giving Belmond "elbow room" in which to grow It is to the credit of the new Chamber administration that it regards ALL phases of community development within its scope of responsibility, and not trade promotion alone. Furthermore, the council should be — and undoubtedly is — grateful to the Chamber for its backing in this matter.

It was disappointing to the spokesmen for the Chamber that the council at its special meeting last Wednesday night chose to delay final approval of the proposed relief sewer lines until a preliminary engineering survey reaffirms the logic of the suggested routings and pinpoints the prospective cost.

It seems improbable that vastly preferable alternate routes for the two, needed relief lines will be disclosed by the survey. Caution is often commendable in a governing body; but in this case there are very good arguments in favor of a bold approach to the problem

Considering the critical need for IMMEDIATE housing, there can be little quibbling over the accompanying need for an auxiliary sewer line to service territory to the southeast, east and north of Belmond's present residential area. And the going cost for such an undertaking must simply be accepted as a reasonable cost, under the circumstances. The proposed relief line on First avenue east is likewise an imminent "must" and it would be most economical to include it in any sewer expansion to be undertaken at this time As a separate, later project, this supplement to the existing River avenue trunk line would inevitably cost more than as just a part of a larger project, now.

One line of talk has gained some degree of circulation, which reflects no credit on those who give it rise. These short-sighted individuals ask. "Why should we in the established parts of Belmond help pay for improvements that will be of no direct benefit to us?" They should bear in mind that a stagnant town is not a pleasant place in which to live. A growing community means better schools, thriving churches, sharper business competition — a GOOD place to live. We favor none but ourselves when we help our community to grow.

OUR RED CROSS COMMITTEE DESERVES CREDIT FOR FINE SWIMMING PROGRAM

Surely the Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross has a good word coming for the invaluable service it performs through the medium of its annual swimming program. This water safety course has been attracting an ever increasing number of children and this summer will increase the swimming proficiency of another 250 boys and girls in the chapter area. It means not only wholesome recreation for these youngsters but may be the direct means of saving the lives of some of them in years to come.

It may not be commonly known, but the chapter has in the past had to defend this program from disapproval of the regional Red Cross headquarters. National Red Cross policy does not allow chapter financing of projects of this specific nature, although enthusiastically endorsing Red Cross-supervised water safety courses. However, the Belmond chapter has insisted on the privilege of backing its local program with local funds and has justified its stand by the success of the swimming classes.

WHICH IS RIGHT EMBLEM FOR YOU? "EAGLE, OR OYSTER?" EDITOR ASKS

This season of the year sees patriotic oratory and editorial comment reach high tide, what with Memorial Day, Flag Day and Independence Day all taking the stage in a period of about a month's time. Platitudes flow and much lip service is given to principles that made our country great — principles that never placed dignity and self respect second to safety and security.

We feel there is an urgent call for frank examination of our national standards on the order of the following remarks written by Editor Merle Thorpe for the Cities Service company's "Service" magazine, which he heads, "The Eagle or the Oyster":

For a people . . .

who elect opportunism rather than opportunity, who dream of security rather than success;

who believe political charity is a virtue;

who mock the frugal and plunder the thrifty;

who adopt the rule that if I don't succeed you are to blame, that what you have is as much mine as yours;

who contend that property is a shameful sign of success;

who whimper that failure is the nobler cause; well-being is wicked; prudence, out-of-date; sacrifice silly—for such a people a fitting emblem is the Oyster

who faced nature in the raw, with privation the rule and hardihood a virtue;

who endured defeat, disease and disaster for a hundred years in order to get a foothold on the Eastern Seaboard, the while with one eye on the interior, a no-man's land, a cockpit for settling international rivalries and private grudges, disputed by wild animals and wilder redmen;

who sacrificed thus for a belief in the worth and dignity of the individual; who believed that economic freedom was as important as political freedom;

who substituted "In God We Trust," for the Old World motto "In Government We Trust"; for a nation built by men who dedicated their lives to achieve the realization of these beliefs,

I give you, fellow citizens—

[illegible] Feminine Qualms Regarding Night Crawlers Don't Bother Gloria; She Gathers and Sells Them!

As a general rule, night crawlers have a very minimum attraction for adolescent girls. A decided exception to that rule, though, is Gloria Rogalla, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rogalla. She not only tolerates them — she seeks them out. This is her second summer as a merchandiser of this choice, fish fare.

She started out a year ago, helping her Dad catch crawlers for his own use. She'd simply put a finger on 'em to hold them until Paul came along to pick them up. It wasn't long, though, before she was harvesting them herself; and as the next, logical step she started gathering them in sufficient quantities to sell.

Oddly enough, Gloria doesn't care for fishing herself. Not enough activity to it, she says.

"Kitty" Gets the Money

Asked how much money she's made from her sale of night crawlers, Gloria replied she has no idea. She sells them at 25 cents a dozen and all the money goes into "the kitty" — a glass, cowboy boot. She, her mother and her father all help themselves to the fund when a need arises. Gloria's never kept any books on her venture, and it's plain she has no intention of letting finance distract from the fun.

She collects her worms from lawns in her end of town She always asks permission and is rarely turned down. After or during a rain is the time to catch 'em, she says. During the drought last summer and fall, the pickings were slim. A sprinkled lawn is the only source of supply, under such circumstances. She was "out of stock" on more than one occasion last summer, but has run short only once this season.

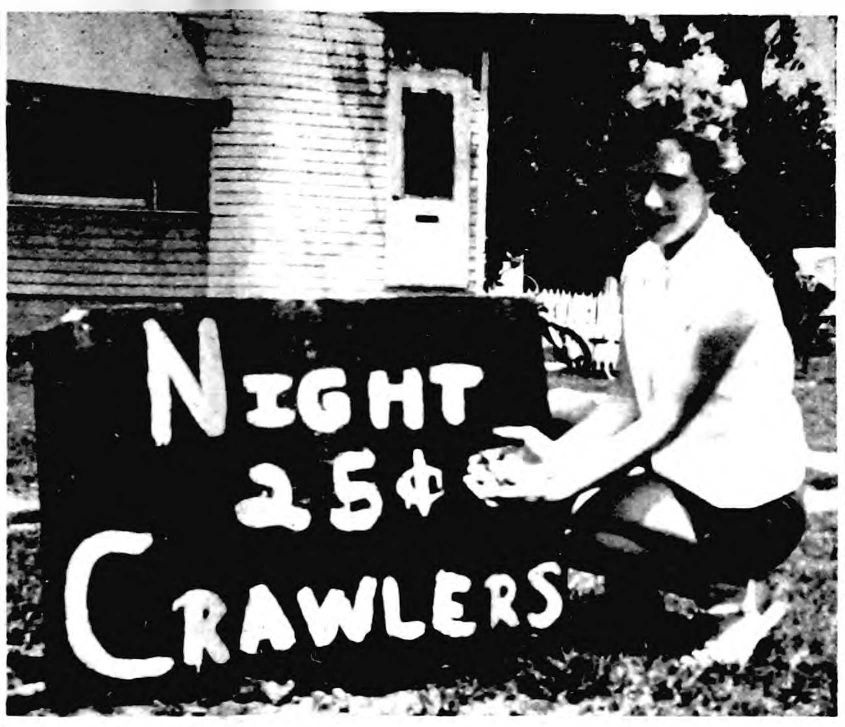
How to Raise Crawlers

Gloria keeps the crawlers in a metal box in the basement. There's burlap sacking on the bottom, then a one-inch layer of sand. The night crawlers occupy a deep layer of florist's moss, and on top of that goes some more burlap — soaked in molasses to provide food for the livestock. Gloria cleans out the box every couple of weeks, replaces the moss with a fresh supply and washes out the old to be used in cans brought by her customers.

Baby crawlers show up in the box regularly and Gloria thought for a time she might undertake breeding her own supply. An inquiry to Chicago university on ways and means proved it would be too expensive and risky an undertaking, though Food and equipment would cost quite a bit, and it takes five months to raise the little fellows to maturity.

Refused "Wholesale" Deal

She desposits the babies on the Rogalla lawn when she cleans out the box, hoping they'll grow there. So far, though, her own yard provides Gloria with none of her supply. It just doesn't seem to suit night crawlers.



WHERE ARE THEY?—Gloria Rogalla had a mess of night crawlers "posed" in her right aimed for this picture. But before the shutter clicked ,they slithered down into her left palm. Camera-shy, no doubt.

Recently a man from Clear Lake tried to buy all of her stock on hand at 20 cents a dozen She had about 400 crawlers at the time, but refused to sell. She neither wanted to sustain that nickel loss per dozen, or have to disappoint any of her regular customers who might call while she was out.

Has Feminine Competitor

Although granting that all of her girl friends seem pretty squeamish where crawlers are concerned, Gloria sees nothing particularly strange about dealing in them herself. She is not the only feminine merchant of night crawlers in town, however.

A neighbor-across-the-street, Diane Kessler, entered the business this spring She's 11 years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Gordon Kessler She's paying for her summer swimming lessons and hopes to finance a week at the Camp Fire Girls camp at Boone out of her profits.

Street Oil Goos Up Goodell Yards

Those torrential downpours that dumped close to 12 inches of rain on Goodell between Thursday night and Monday morning didn't even have the advantage of leaving this community fresh washed. Spreading of $1,200 worth of oil on some of the streets had just been completed prior to the initial storm as a dust-abatement measure. The gooey, black substance was floated onto many lawns and gardens, leaving very much of a mess.

A number of basements were filled with water to varying levels. The storms produced only one, near "casualty," however. Water in Robert McNutt's garage rose to a level above the floor pedals of his Ford car. OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

HARRY CARPENTER

We had the pleasure a few weeks ago of visiting with one of the original home town boys, for Harry Carpenter who lives 1½ miles SW of Goodell was born in this community and then moved to a farm north of Goodell at the age of 2½.

Found Harry in the machine shed on a cold misty day fixing up a sprayer to take care of the apple and plum trees north of the new house they built 3 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are taking life somewhat easier now on their ½ section of land. Harry still farms 70 acres of it but the balance is worked by Dean Neuhring who occupies a 2nd set of buildings across the road. They like to spend several months in Florida, which they have the past 2 years.

Harry is proud of the record corn production from the 45 acres of seed corn he has had under cultivation for Thompson Hybrid Corn Co. Last year it made an average of 105 bushels to the acre and that was "over the scales" as Harry put it.

The Carpenter's daughter and husband, Mr and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson who works for the IEL & Power Co., live in a second home on the farm.

VOL. 34 NO. 38 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

State Department of Health OK's Disposal Plant Plans

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Rowat-Murray has passed on to us some figures received from the U S. Geodetic Survey which emphasize just HOW BAD a flood we just experienced here. The USGS maintains in the Iowa river near Rowan a gaging station which measures the Iowa river's volume of flow. And last week, the flow was SOMETHIN'! Although the figures are for the gaging point, about half mile west of the Snarl Street road, presumably they would apply with almost equal accuracy to the swirling waters that passed under the Main street bridge and which were watched with such morbid interest while the flood approached and passed crest stage here.

On the basis of frequency, a flood like last week's is to be expected (it's gratifying to learn) LESS than once every 100 years. That doesn't mean there couldn't be a recurrence a year from now — or five— or 10. But it DOES suggest that the possibility is extremely remote.

Average river flow past the Rowan gaging station, according to the USGS, is a sluggish 186 cubic feet per second. That July cloudburst in 1951 produced a flow that ranged from 4,000 to 4,500 cubic feet. A flood of those proportions can be expected on an average of every of every 30 to 35 years. But the USGS flood frequency chart of the Iowa river's flow volume at Rowan doesn't even anticipate a flood like last week's record-breaker. At its crest, 8,500 cubic feet of water per second were racing past the river gage! That's more than 45 times normal flow, and almost twice that of '51 — when we though we had it bad.

Belmondites who read the biography of Mrs. Mary Jessop (she's a sister of Mrs. Herman Schultz), entitled "Bubbles in My Soul," will be interested to hear that the book was recently given the first award in the adult non-fiction book classification at the annual conference of the National Federation of Press Women. Mrs. Jessop's entry was made through the Illinois Women's Press club, of which she is a member.

Two Belmond women are taking summer work at Drake university to reinstate teaching certificates that were permitted to lapse when they deserted the teaching profession a good many years ago (we didn't know just how to phrase that to avoid the possibility of being glowered at by our subjects) for matrimony.

Now, with domestic responsibilities back at the low ebb of pre-family days, Mildred Schultz and Selma Griesy plan a return to the classroom.

The former will teach homemaking at Plymouth and the latter will teach music at Klemme. These are the respective subjects that they were teaching in the Belmond schools when Herman Schultz and Cato Griesy interrupted the ladies' pedagogical careers. Both women believe it will be "real fun" to return to teaching again.

With the vote all counted and announcement about to be made as to winner of the Dairy Princess election at the Dairy Interests banquet at Clarion on Tuesday evening, it was discovered that 16 ballots had not been picked up at one table. So proceedings had to be delayed while the omitted votes were added to the previous totals.

Prior to the amended count, Diane Armatis of Clarion was the apparent winner with 39 votes, Diane Rohrer of Clarion 2nd with 37 and Shirley Bohning 3rd with 34.

When the tallies had been amended to include ALL of the ballots, Shirley was found to be in 1st place with a total of 40. Miss Armatis' count remained at 39 and that of Miss Rohrer went up one, to 38. Though it was a secret ballot, Mainstreeter Gallagher readily confesses he voted for Shirley. That 'un made the difference!

Farmer's observation concerning a dissatisfied hired hand: "A lot of fellers who complain about the boss being dumb would be out of a job if the boss was any smarter."

Mother watching her small fry loading his water gun at water fountain by P&G: "We never permit our son to do as he pleases. He just does it, without permission."

Good advice for the politician, with election coming up: "Remember, when you throw mud you're the one who's losing ground."

Idle gent propping up the front of a local tavern: "Always felt that a woman wears a low-neck dress to keep people from lookin' at her face. I try to oblige."

BELMOND TOWNSHIP GIVES $188 FOR CANCER CRUSADE

Mrs. Donald Markham reports that the recently concluded Cancer Crusade fund drive in Belmond township brought in a total of $188.72. Mrs. Markham, as chairman of the drive, expresses her thanks to all who helped in the solicitation and to all who contributed.

Workers who assisted in conducting the township canvass were: Mesdames Bob Tomson, Loren Bamford, Elmer Smith, Vernon McLaughlin, Donald Moore, Roy McClure, Andy Miller, Chester Hill and Arthur Stockseth.

Shirley Bohning Elected County Dairy Princess

Shirley Bohning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bohning and a nominee of Belmond Co-operative Creamery for the 1954 title of Wright county Dairy Princess, Tuesday night was winner of the royal crown in competition with 20 other lovely, young candidates.

Election of the Princess was a highlight of the annual June Dairy Month banquet of the Wright County Dairy Interests association. The event was held at the Clarion High school gymnasium and was attended by some 350 members of the association, businessmen, wives and other guests.

Miss Bohning, valedictorian of the BHS Class of '52—indicating that she has intelligence that matches her charm and beauty, will be a sophomore at Iowa State Teachers college next fall. She also won scholastic honors at ISTC this past year. Her margin of victory in the Princess contest was a narrow one over Diane Armatis and Diane Rohrer, both of Clarion, who placed 2nd and 3rd, respectively.

A check for $10 was awarded to the Dairy Princess. The next two place-winners received necklace and earring sets and the other contenders all were given compacts. Miss Armatis was entered by the Wright County Dairy Herd Improvement association and Miss Rohrer by Clarion Dairy.

Jack Brenny of Clarion Dairy, head of the Dairy Interests association, served as master of ceremonies for the program that accompanied the dinner and introduced various celebrities and guests, including Frank Barker, head of the Iowa Dairy Industry commission.

L. A. Zahradka of Oconomowoc, Wis., speaker of the evening, gave a hard-hitting address in which he charged the dairy industry with responsibility for some of its own problems. He declared not enough dairymen affiliate with the DHIA in order to improve herd quality, not enough have thoroughly Bangs-tested herds, too many take insufficient care to keep milk quality high by proper sanitation practices, and too few creameries are participating in the American Dairy association's set-aside program for promotion.

He urged honest answers to the questions: (1) Can I produce my product cheaper? (2) Can I make my product better? (3) Can I sell my product better? (4) Can a better government program for my industry be developed? Mr. Zahradka also related many interesting sidelights of a recent visit in Venezuela, made in behalf of the American dairy industry.

Aaron Bowman, county extension director, was heard in remarks appropriate to the occasion and Lynn Thompson of Clarion, state Dairy Month chairman, spoke briefly. Curtis Rise, Belmond Co-op manager and county Dairy Month chairman, was unable to attend the dinner due to having contracted mumps. Mrs. Rise crowned the Dairy Princess in her husband's absence.

GOP, Democratic County Parleys Set for Friday

Both the Republicans and Democrats of Wright county will meet in convention at the courthouse in Clarion tomorrow, their primary business being to name delegates to the parties' state conventions.

C. C. Christie of Belmond will serve as temporary chairman of the GOP parley and John Walker of Williams, Republican candidate for state senator from the 37th District, will deliver the keynote speech.

M. B. Crabbe of Eagle Grove formally announced at a meeting of the GOP county central committee held last week that he will not again accept chairmanship of the committee. He has served in that capacity for the past four years. His successor will be named by the convention.

At the central committee meeting last week, it was also made known that Mitchell Schroder of Galt has been recommended for the post of Republican finance chairman for Wright county. His acceptance of the position has not yet been confirmed.

Vernon McLaughlin of Belmond has been appointed temporary chairman of tomorrow's Democratic convention. Mrs. Olaf Eliason of Norway township will be keynoter.

Both conventions will convene at 10:00 a. m., the Republicans assembling in the district courtroom and the Democrats in the jury room adjacent to the sheriff's office.

Gordon Gets Good Start in Amateur

Fred Gordon was among the low qualifiers for the Iowa Amateur golf tournament at Davenport as the state classic got underway Tuesday. He had an even-par 71 to tie with eight other contenders for third lowest score of the day. Only Jack Rule, Waterloo 15-year-old, and Rodney Bliss of Des Moines bettered par; they had 68 and 70, respectively.

In Wednesday's opening round, the '47 state champion from Belmond was slated to play Tom Lewis of Ottumwa. A victory in this match would throw him with the winner of Bob Leahy (Denison) and E. M. Lankford (Davenport) in the second round.

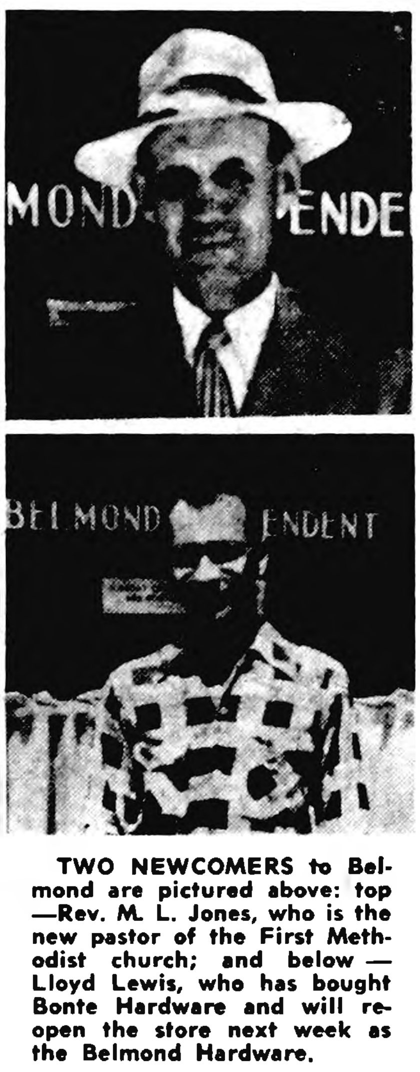
Air-Conditioner Will Cool Hospital Delivery, Labor Rooms and Surgery

Administrator Jack Shepard has been authorized to announce that the Belmond Community hospital's labor room, delivery room and surgery will before long be equipped with air-conditioning. Purchase of the necessary equipment is being made with funds from the Chester P. and Vida Luick Memorial hospital Fund, of which B. C. Hewlett and A. C. Hanson are the trustees.

Cost of the air-conditioning unit and expense of installation will run slightly in excess of $2,900. The unit is being purchased from James Refrigeration company of Mason City, whose bid on the contract was lowest of four submitted.

Specifications for the equipment were drafted by William Beuttler of Sioux City, the architect who designed the hospital. The air-conditioning unit consists of cooling coils to be inserted in the existing ventilating system, air compressor and controls.

Shipment has already been promised on the compressor, but the coils must be especially fabricated for the unit. Mr. Shepard says it is expected that the air-conditioner can be installed and in use by the latter part of July.



TWO NEWCOMERS to Belmond are pictured above: top —Rev. M. L. Jones, who is the new pastor of the First Methodist church; and below — Lloyd Lewis, who has bought Bonte Hardware and will reopen the store next week as the Belmond Hardware.

LEUKEMIA CAUSES DEATH OF SALLY ANN THOMPSON

Leukemia caused the death last week of Sally Ann Thompson, 3½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson of Mason City. Her father is a native of Belmond and she was the granddaughter of R. A. "Rich" Thompson.

Last rites for the little girl were held on Friday at Patterson-James Funeral Home, Mason City. Besides her parents she is survived by a brother, Billy, age six; and a sister, Sandra, age seven.

FUNDS TRANSFERRED

Wright county's board of supervisors last Monday transferred $10,000 from the county home fund to the soldiers relief fund. The money represented earnings of the county farm, which for some years has not been used as a county home for the indigent.

Belmond Pioneer Dies at 91 Years

One of Belmond's very earliest pioneers, Lydia Whited, 91, died at Claremont, Calif., on May 30. Her ashes were sent back to Belmond for burial and they were interred in the family plot in the city cemetery on Wednesday of last week, Fulton Funeral Home in charge.

Miss Whited was the daughter of William and Jane Whited, who came from Michigan to settle here in 1855. A Civil War soldier, her father died at Vicksburg, Miss., in 1864. For many years, Miss Whited operated a millinery store here.

Besides her parents, Miss Whited was preceded in death by two brothers, Kirk and Wirt; and three sisters, Lyna, Rose and Emma. She is survived by a nephew, Mark Garth of North Hollywood, Calif.; a great nephew, George Garth Miller, Clarion; and a great niece, Mrs. Marjorie Miller Brown of Ft. Steilacoom, Wash.

Jensen Receives Haiti Assignment

M. C. "Mac" Jensen, former Belmond grocer, has lately received his long-awaited appointment from the U. S. department of state to foreign service. On July 22 he will report to Washington, D. C., for a two-week course of training on various phases of his assignment.

At the end of the brief training period, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen and their two children, daughter Cristy and son Brian, will be sent by plane to Haiti in the West Indies. They will be located at the capital, Port-au-Prince.

According to Mr. Jensen, he will not know of what his duties are to consist until he receives his briefing at Washington. He is assigned to the West Indian island for two years, at the end of which time he will be eligible for a home leave and possibly for reassignment to another post.

Mr. Jensen's work will be under the Foreign Operations administration, successor to the Point IV program. He will serve as business manager for the FOA mission in Haiti. He has learned that the FOA has a staff of 26 at Port-au-Prince and that the city has an American colony of about 150 families.

For some months past, Mr. Jensen has been living at Ida Grove and employed as an agent for the Iowa Life Insurance company, a Farm Bureau subsidiary. The Jensens were in Belmond last weekend to greet old friends.

Palmer Arrested On Check Charge

Ward Palmer, 29, Belmond housepainter, was arrested last weekend on a charge of check forgery and was given preliminary hearing Saturday in the court of Mayor Henry Jenkins at Clarion. The defendant was bound over to the grand jury for hearing during the September term of court. Bond was set at $500 and on Tuesday, Palmer was still in jail, having failed to post that sum.

Warrant for Palmer's arrest was sworn out after he endorsed a check made out to Frank Champlin of Holmes and cashed it at Ron and Jean's cafe on the highway. The check had been given to Palmer by his fatherin-law, R. E. Ferguson, to settle a debt that the painter owed Holmes. Palmer had signed Holmes' name and put his own signature under it in order to pass the check.

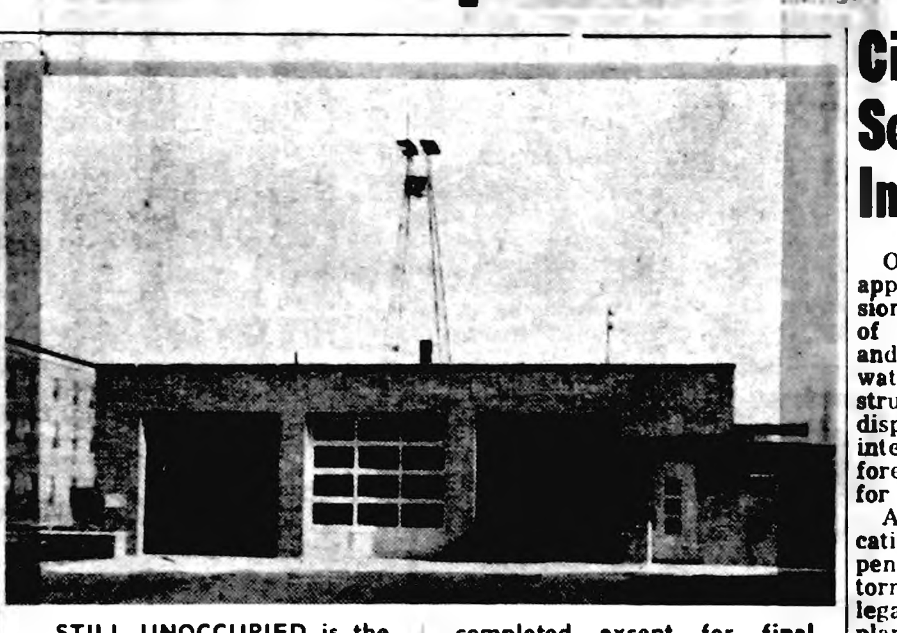
QUEEN OF THE RODEO held Saturday and Sunday at Clear Lake under sponsorship of the Bit and Spur club was selected from a field of five candidates, among whom was Shirley Proeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Proeger. Though not winner of the crown, Shirley reports she was shown a wonderful time at the bronco-bustin' event.



STILL UNOCCUPIED is the new fire station recently erected by means of funds donated to the Belmond Fire department, plus quite a generous contribution made by the volunteer fire company, itself. However, the fire hall stands completed except for final "spit and polish" and likely will be housing the department's three fire trucks within a couple of more weeks. An open house is planned at a date that will be announced later.

Repairs and New Paint Rejuvinate Library Building

In the past few weeks a rather ambitious repair and redecoration project has been underway at the city library with a view to returning the building to first class condition. Built 37 years ago, the structure had been deteriorating quite rapidly in recent years; but the library board last year launched on a rejuvination plan intended to return the building to A-1 shape.

Last summer new gutters were installed around the roof. This summer the flat deck that forms the top of the roof has received a new coating of pitch and gravel, making the roof again thoroughly watertight. Pointing up of the brick exterior and replacement of rotted window frames remains to be done. Another year or two, though, will suffice to see the library in just about as fine condition as when it was built.

The inside of the library has been brightened up appreciably with fresh paint. Ceilings of the main room and the reference room at the southeast corner, which have consisted of plain acoustical board, have been painted an off-white and the improvement makes both rooms much lighter than before. All walls, in the basement as well as the upper rooms, have been pleasingly redecorated, too.

Clearance of some obsolete volumes from the stacks has made it possible to convert the former store room at the southeast corner of the library into a magazine room,. where current periodicals can read in comfort and leisure.

PAPER A DAY LATE

Due to July 4th falling on Sunday, making next Monday an "official holiday," next week's Independent will be published a day late. It will go into the Post Office on Thursday instead of Wednesday.

Just One Prize Won Tuesday

Efforts of Belmond business firms to give away $350 in Cash Gift Day awards last Tuesday proved highly unsuccessful. All they managed to unload was a single, $25 prize at 2:00 p. m. which went to Mrs. Henry H. Pals. It was No. 1079 that brought her the Cash Gift. At 3:00 o'clock, No. 2967 would have been worth $200—but no one showed up with it. For next week, the Cash Gift Day committee is whooping the total ante to $400. At 2:00 o'clock Tuesday there'll again be six, $25 prizes; at 3:00 p. m. there will be a draw for $250.

Several Belmond Families to Get RC Flood Relief

Elizabeth Gernes of Ames, Red Cross disaster field worker for the area that includes Wright county, was in Belmond yesterday interviewing families whose homes were damaged in last week's flood. She was instructed to visit Belmond when area headquarters was informed that more than five families would be subjected to definite hardship due to flood-incurred damage.

Mrs. James T. Barry, disaster chairman for the local Red Cross chapter, completed temporary investigation of flood losses here by last weekend. She discovered that eight or nine families will be eligible for Red Cross assistance. When five or less families are involved in a disaster, chapter funds are used to alleviate need; when the number exceeds five, the responsibility for aid falls upon the national Red Cross disaster fund.

According to Mrs. Barry, expenditures on behalf of Belmond families will go largely toward replacing ruined floor coverings and items of similar nature. She says that local flood victims have been extremely moderate in making requests for assistance and in some instances, where very legitimate need was still involved, distinctly reluctant even to accept aid.

Degree of hardship is the criterion for determining where Red Cross assistance is given, Mrs. Barry emphasized. When disaster losses would make it difficult for a stricken family to meet current living expenses while paying for costs of damage, the Red Cross regards it as a bona fide relief case.

Red Cross Asking Donation of Funds For Flood Relief

A special Red Cross appeal is being made in Iowa for funds to aid victims of the northern and central Iowa floods that affected more than 1,000 families in 18 inundated counties, according to Mrs. Arlo Pitcher, chairman of the Belmond chapter of the Red Cross. She pointed out that Red Cross is supported by voluntary contributions and is not financed by government or tax funds.

Contributions may be addressed directly to "Red Cross Disaster Relief, Des Moines, Ia.," or left at the First State bank to be forwarded by B. C. Hewlett, chapter treasurer.

The Red Cross will provide disaster relief, which includes emergency aid of shelter, food, clothing, and medical care for victims unable to meet these emergencies, Mrs. Pitcher says.

City Council May Solicit Job Bids In Week or Two

On Monday of this week, final approval of the engineering division of the Iowa state department of health was received on plans and specifications drafted by Rowat-Murray, Engineers, for the construction of Belmond's new sewage disposal plant. This left only one intervening step to be taken before the city council can advertise for bids on the plant's construction.

A copy of the plans and specifications has been sent to E. B. Carpenter of Des Moines, bonding attorney who is looking after the legal aspects of the local sewage plant and sewer extension project. As soon as he has satisfied himself as to the preferable bonding procedure to follow and has drafted in proper form the advertisement for bids, the council will be in a position to move the solicitation of bids

While the exact amount of time that Mr. Carpenter will require to clear the remaining legal details can't be too accurately predicted, it is probable that action can be taken by the council soon after the first of July. If the necessary clearance from Mr. Carpenter hasn't been received in time for the council to approve solicitation of bids at its regular meeting next week, a special session will be called when the bonding attorney has given his okay.

Damage Petition Filed by Nielsen Asking $40,000

As administrator for the estate of his son, the late David B. Nielsen, Arthur J. Nielsen of Rowan last Saturday filed a petition in Hancock county district court for $40,000 judgment based on a highway accident that claimed young Nielsen's life last Feb. 19.

The mishap victim was in the company of his cousin, Don Waddington, and Harvey Hosick of Belmond when struck on Highway 18 north of Garner by a car driven by John Finch, Jr., of Crystal Lake.

Waddington's car had gone in the ditch and young Nielsen, 16, was flagging traffic while a tow-car extricated the Belmond boy's auto. Finch and his father, owner of the death-dealing car, were named as co-defendants.

Lions Will Sell Brooms to Back Welfare Project

Belmond's Lions club has in the planning stage a welfare project that will serve a double purpose. It will take the form of a communitywide broom sale similar to one recently conducted by the Clarion Lions club.

Brooms of a number of varieties are being purchased from the Arkansas Lighthouse for the Blind, Little Rock, Ark., where they were manufactured by blind workers.

Proceeds from the sale of the brooms will go into a fund to be administered by Alta Smith, local school nurse, in whatever way the money will most benefit Belmond school children from low-income families.

Current Shut Off For Three Hours

Electrical current was shut off for about three hours early Tuesday morning while new transformers of larger capacity were installed in Iowa Electric Light & Power company's local sub-station. Manager Cecil Carstens says the replaced transformers were adequate to carry the load currently demanded, but that prospective growth of Belmond prompted the utilities firm's decision to make the change at this time.

C-of-C Will Sponsor Beauty Contest Next Wednesday; "Miss Belmond" to Seek County Honors at Clarion

Belmond's Chamber of Commerce is cooperating in a contest to select a Wright county entrant to compete for the title of "Miss Iowa" at next month's Governor's Days at Clear Lake. The Clarion Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a countywide beauty contest in conjunction with the county seat's Town and Country Day on July 23rd, and the local C-of-C has been asked to provide a "Miss Belmond" to compete for county honors.

To select the local representative in the county contest, the Belmond Chamber will hold a beauty contest in conjunction with next Wednesday evening's band concert at the city park. From among the entries, judges will select a winner to advance to the Clarion contest.

Girls entering the competition here must meet the following qualifications: (1) resident of Belmond for at least six months; (2) single; (3) high school graduate or senior; (4) at least 18 by Sept. 1, and not over 28 by that date; (5) must be prepared to present three-minute talent routine—singing, dancing, instrumental, recitation or the like.

Judging will be done on the combined bases of character, charm, beauty, intelligence and talent. Bathing suits will be the prescribed attire for the local and county contests.

Winner of the contest here will be awarded an appropriate prize and the C-of-C will pay her $7.50 entry fee in the county contest. To the winner at Clarion will be presented a lovely, new evening gown, new bathing suit and photographs commemorating the occasion. She and her chaperone will be provided an expense-free weekend at Clear Lake. Second and third place-winners at Clarion will also receive prizes.

"Miss Iowa," selected at Clear Lake, will be the state's official entry in the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City, N. J., later in the summer.

Girls interested in taking part in the local contest should submit their entries to Pat Gallagher at The Independtn. As chairman of the contest committee, he urges prospective contestants not to be overawed by the "talent" requirements. If you meet the other qualifications, he says, some sort of "talent" routine can be worked out. Entries should be in by next Monday evening.

Next Wednesday's band concert will start at the customary time, 8:00 p. m., and the beauty contest will be held about 8:30 o'clock.

Gordon Heads Contenders for Title In Second Annual Clarmond Amateur

Entries received by last weekend made it clear that many outstanding contenders will again be seeking championship honors in the Clarmond Amateur golf tournament this Sunday at Clarmond Country club Heading the list, of course, will be Belmond's own No 1 golfer and the defending champion, Fred Gordon.

Besides Gordon, another former Iowa state amateur title-holder will be on hand in the person of Art Koch, Waterloo Former state junior champ John Marschall of Hampton has his entry in, as has his fellow townsman Bob Rost, another of north Iowa's best

Others who promise to be leading contenders for the title in the second holding of the Clarmond classic are Bob Leahy of Denison, Ken Draves and Jack Rule of Waterloo and Bruce Osmundson of Thompson All are among the state's best linksmen

Field Limited to 128

It is confidently expected by Tournament Chairman George Hansen that the entry list will include quite a number of additional standouts before firing gets underway on Sunday Participants in last year's tourney praised it as one of the best-managed they had played in and word-of-mouth advertising will probably help to swell this year's registration.

Twenty-seven holes will be played by the championship flight, which will include 16 players plus any additional who might figure in a tie for the last qualifying spot. Other flights will also include 16 plus ties for the final place, but will be over an 18-hole route.

Considering the success of last summer's meet, the tournament committee considers it easily possible that the maximum number of 128 will be registered before mid-morning on Sunday.

Visitor Preference Sunday

Clarmond players are urged to do their qualifying on Saturday to make certain of a place in the field Visiting golfers will be given preference on Sunday local qualifiers being fitted in on that day only if there is room for them.

Clarmond members can shoot qualifying rounds any time Saturday afternoon On Sunday morning the first foursome will be sent out at 7:00 o'clock Time schedule for the tournament calls for the second round of play to start at 11:00 a.m.

Millers in Vital Game at Kamrar

Next Tuesday night the GMI Millers travel to Kamrar for a crucial Little Six softball game that could throw the league standings into a three way tie Kamrar is unbeaten in loop play and includes among its victims the Garner nine Garner last week handed the Millers their first and only league defeat 14-2, with Ed Albers and Rog Kinseth taking over pitching duties for the losers in the absence of Duan Thompson

Manager "Moke" Obrecht reports that the Millers next home engagement will be tomorrow (Friday) night when the recent rained-out game with Bud's Used Cars of Mason City has been re-scheduled

Last week was not a good one for the Millers Friday night they whipped the Richland township team of Latimer 14-9 but on Sunday night were beaten by Shellrock, 6 to 2 Although they out hit their Sunday rivals the GMI crew bobbled themselves into defeat Le Roy Smith larruped two homers for the Millers' scores Against Latimer a bases-loaded triple by Smith sent the winners ahead to stay

In the first half of Sunday's double header at the GMI diamond, Helland & Long—the former Western Auto team—was trimmed by Shellrock by a 6-1 count Dave Helland was on the mound for the H-L outfit

Rusty Tomahawks Lose to Latimer

Lack of practice showed up very clearly as the Belmond Tomahawks tumbled before Latimer last Sunday afternoon in a Quad-County game 8 to 2 The 'Hawks have been able to work in only one regular practice since the season's start

Jake Koenen started on the mound for Belmod After getting by one inning unscathed, he gave up seven hits and six runs in the next four frames Denny Scott took over in the fifth and it was a 2-2 ball game from there on but the damage had already been done.

Only three hits were collected by the 'Hawks Scott got one off of Pitcher Don Dodd in the sixth the both Koenen and Ken Loats connected for safeties in the seventh, when the losers picked up both their runs

Dodd struck out 10 and allowed six walks Koenen fanned only two batters and issued three passes Scott gave up only two hits during his four innings on the rubber and walked two men

This Sunday the Tomahawks will try to get back into winning stride when they tangle with Clarion on the home diamond at 2:15 p m On Monday afternoon they'll play at Kanawha oBth are league games

Fourth Place Tie Best Fred Could Do at Fort Dodge

Fred Gordon was able to do no better than a tie for 4th place at the annual Fort Dodge Amateur golf tournament last weekend as his shooting fell somewhat short of the pace he'd set in earlier tournaments this season On the other hand, competition at the Fort Dodge event was much sharper than any he'd faced previously this season and playing conditions were decidedly less than ideal on the wind-swept, water-soaked course.

At the end of the qualifying 18, Gordon shared 3rd place with a one-over-par 71, behind Bob Astelford of Omaha (66) and Jack Rule of Waterloo (67). Among those tied with the Belmond star were Don Narveson of Cedar Falls.

Astelford finished out with a 69 for a 135 and the championship, while Narveson added a 68 for 139 and second place. Tom Chapman of Fort Dodge edged in with a 143 for 3rd, while Gordon turned in a second round 73. Jack Webb of Spirit Lake and Marion Joslyn of Fort Dodge each 73-71 to deadlock at 144 for the last money spot in the title flight.

Other than Gordon, Lyle McConaughey of Clarion was the only other Clarmond winner at Fort Dodge He shot an 88-79-167 to tie for 1st in the seventh flight but lost a flip for the first prize.

Peewees to Begin League Contests

Peewee baseball will enter round-robin play in the summer recreation league this week after a final round of practice games last week. Dick Hobbs had intended to start league competition last week, but a couple of the teams showed up short of players so the opening, "official" games were delayed a week.

In the final, warm-up sessions last week, the Cubs downed the Cards 9-4 in three innings and then proceeded to whip a team composed of Braves and Yankees 11 to 4.

In the first game, Roger Ginap and Kenny Hawley shared mound duties for the winners, with Cecil Eccles catching. Mike Long and Gordie Johnson traded off battery duties for the losers. Extra-base hits included doubles by Eccles, Larry Tideback and Jerry Kaduce for the Cubs, a double by Walt Hotvet and home run by Long for the Cards.

Hawley pitched four frames and Bob Lerdal one in the five-inning second game, Eccles again receiving. Mark Mason and Art Jenison formed the Braves-Yankees battery. Heaviest hitters in this fray were Hawley, Lerdal, Eccles and Tideback (2) with doubles for the Cubs —Lerdal adding a triple, also.

Hobbs reports that he has lined up home-and-home games for the peewee all-stars with Clear Lake, Clarion and Kanawha and that other tilts are "on the fire." First game against out-of-town opposition has been carded for July 9th against Kanawha, here, at 3:30 p.m.

The recreation director also states that he has obtained a half dozen very fine baseball films which will be shown during the course of gym sessions when bad weather forces recreation activities indoors.

Pfaltzgraffs Honored by Relatives, Friends; 35th Wedding Anniversary

After being dinner guests on Thursday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pals, Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Pfaltzgraff were thoroughly and pleasantly surprised by a courtesy which had been planned for them at the school auditorium. The occasion honored the couple's 35th wedding anniversary.

Approximately 250 persons awaited them at the auditorium, as pre-arranged by their two sons, Rev. Paul Pfaltzgraff of Griswold and Rev. Richard Pfaltzgraff of Kalona. Families of the two men and members of the Helping Hand society of the Meservey EUB church, which the Rev. Mr. Pfaltzgraff serves as pastor, also assisted in the plans.

Simulate Radio Show

To open the program, words of appreciation and esteem were spoken by several members of the church congregation and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Carroll Morris.

Then the two sons and their wives made their appearance from behind the stage curtains and proceeded to conduct a "This is Your Life" program. They introduced first the voices and then the personalities of a number of individuals who have played a part in the Pfaltzgraffs' past as they journeyed through their many years of service to various churches of the Iowa conference.

Relatives and friends appeared on the program who had come from Griswold, Kalona, Mason City, Waverly, Dumont, Ackley, Hubbard, Waterloo and other places.

Buffet Luncheon Served

After the program, the guests reassembled at the EUB church parlors, where a buffet luncheon was served A large pink-and-white cake centered the table and the same color scheme was carried out in other decorations. Mrs. Herman Fischer cut the cake and the two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Paul Pfaltzgraff and Mrs. Richard Pfaltzgraff, poured.

Many gifts were presented to the honored couple and a "money tree" centered the gift table.

Belmond Publishing Company's Biggest Annual Job Finished With Distribution of 1954 Telephone Books

Last week saw the Belmond Publishing company's biggest printing job of the year climaxed by distribution of Central Telephone company's 1954 directories This year it was a larger job than ever before. For one thing, listings for both Swaledale and Sheffield were included in the Belmond book for the first time; for another, the "yellow page" section of the classified directory was expanded from 22 to 38 pages.

Whereas the 1953 book consisted of cover and 52 pages, the 1954 directory includes cover and 78 pages. Most of the book was printed in four-page sections, but even so that meant that 20 pieces had to be gathered together to make up each book — or a total of nearly 92,000 pieces in fabricating the 4,587 books that were ordered. Nearly a ton of paper was required, altogether.

Six-Week Job

Printing of the phone directory is always a hurry-up job. Just about a month and a half passed from the time the original copy for the listings was received by the printer until the books were delivered to Manager Len Collier. If this sounds like a fairly ample period of time, it must be borne in mind that some 4,000 listings must be checked and re-checked for accuracy. Each reading involved shipment of the proofs to the directory company's offices at Kansas City.

Of course, the work on the telephone book has to be fitted in with the regular publication of The Independent and with the general run of job work that the print shop handles. Consequently, "directory time" is always a time of concentrated effort on the part of everyone at the newspaper office.

"Seven Miles" of Stepping

There are dozens of separate, time-consuming jobs involved in publication of the phone book. For example, the matter of stapling the pages in the cover involved tramping on the pedal of the stapling machine nearly 15,000 times. Dick Gowdy, who did most of the pedal-pushing, figures it constituted the equivalent of nearly a seven-mile walk.

Setting the type and printing the pages are the big jobs. The relatively recent installation of a new Blue Streak model Linotype by The Independent makes the setting of directory type a much easier process than it has been in times past. The new machine was a particularly big help considering the expanded size of the book. The Chandler & Price automatic press had approximately 193,000 impressions to make in the printing process, which it whipped out at the rate of about 2,400 an hour.

Aalbers to Zook

How much the rapid gait of the automatic press expedited the directory publication can be appreciated when it is considered that scoring of the stiff covers — to make them bend easily and in the proper place — had to be done on the hand-fed press at a rate of no more than 1,000 per hour.

Lowest alphabetical listing in the phone directory continues to be that of "Ted" Zook in the Belmond section. And the same alphabetical "lead-off man" is to be found in the '54 book as a year ago — Masson Aalbers of Latimer-Coulter.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa's Stake in Mov es

Sam Carruthers down at the feed store was worrying the other day about the effect of TV on theater attendance. "Why," he said, "Iowa has a big stake in the motion picture business."

"How come?" I asked.

Sam gave me a big wink. "Popcorn, that's how come. Saw a chart that shows nearly 30% of the U. S. popcorn production comes from Iowa."

Maybe Sam's got a point there. But I'll bet folks who like popcorn will keep right on eating it, whether they're at the movies or home watching television.

Of course, not everyone prefers popcorn as a TV snack . . Em just loves peanuts, Linda Mayberry serves potato chips . . . some like ice tea on a warm night, and I enjoy a temperate glass of beer.

That's another wonderful thing about people . . . the great variety of their tastes. You respect mine, and I respect yours, whether in movies or TV, in popcorn or pop. We may not agree with other people's preferences, but Iowa is big enough and broad-minded enough to accommodate them all.

'54 Oats Support Price in County 5c Under 1953's

Price support rate on oats produced in Wright county this year will be 73 cents per bushel, or five cents less than for the 1953 crop, it was reported this week by Wright county ASC committee.

County by county, the 1954 support rate on Iowa oats will range from 71 to 75 cents. The rates represent 85 per cent of parity, the same as for 1953, but are a few cents lower than for last year's crop because an existing law directed that a "transitional parity" formula be applied for 1954. The 1953 county by county rates ranged from 76 to 80 cents per bushel

National average support rates for 1954 corn, wheat, soybeans and flaxseed have been announced, but individual county rates have not yet been fixed In the case of corn and wheat, benefits from price supports this year will be dependent upon compliance with acreage allotments.

Average rate for corn in commercial producing areas, including all of Iowa, will be $1.62—two cents higher than for the 1953 crop Corn will be supported at 90 per cent of parity

Average flaxseed rate will be $3 14 this year at 70 per cent of parity, as compared to $3 79 at 80 per cent of parity in 1953 The average soybean rate will drop to $2.22 at 80 per cent of parity for 1954, as compared to $2 65 at 90 per cent of parity for 1953

Field Day Slated By Experimental Farms, July 7th

Annual field day will be held on Wednesday of next week at the Northern Iowa Experimental farm and the Clarion-Webster Experimental farm, both near Kanawha At these farms, owned by local associations and operated by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment station, farmers of this area will have an opportunity to learn about recent crop research findings and land management

Activities for the day will open at 10 15 a m at the 96 acre experimental farm at the south edge of Kanawha E P Sylwester, Iowa State college weed control specialist, will discuss weed identification and control methods Farmers may bring weed specimens for indentification John Pesek, ISC research agronomist, will discuss nitrogen fertilizers

Starting at 1:00 p m. field day visitors will be given time to tour experimental plots Crops under trial include varieties of oats, barley, spring and winter wheat, flax and soybeans Stations will be set up on the farm to deal with corn seed treatment and with insect and weed control.

At 3 00 p m., the 80 acre soil experiment farm 1½ miles south of Kanawha will be visited There, farmers will view methods of tiling and backfilling, also rotation and fertility experiments

Lunch will be provided on the grounds during the field day Co chairmen of the event are Paul Henderson, Hancock county extension director, and D W Staniforth, director of the experiment station

Candidates File Campaign Costs

With the deadline for filing campaign expenses falling on Wednesday of next week, a majority of the candidates for Wright county office in this month's primary election had already filed their expenditure totals by the first of this week Not turned in to the auditor yet were the expenses of the two contenders for the Republican nomination to that office, Carroll Paulson of Dows and Myron Price of Clarion—the winner

Fifty dollars each was reported by Recorder Grace Fletcher, Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson, Attorney Ben Birdsall and Sheriff Bob Blecker Carl Kelling of Renwick, unsuccessful candidate for renomination as supervisor from District 2, reported expenses of $24 50 Treasurer Harold E Sullivan had no expenditures None of the candidates reported any contributions toward their campaign outlays

Not yet heard from were Rolland Trotter and R G Nolte of Goldfield, Kelling's opponents—Trotter being the successful contender, or either of the District 4 supervisor candidates Incumbent George Trowbridge of Dows or his defeated rival, Ora White of Dows

Keep The Hens

In The Hen House

A lot of poultry raisers let their hens out during the nice weather. They think it's better for the hens and that the hens like it outside.

Even if the hens do like it outside, it's not good for them. Any benefit they get from the sunshine, they can get more of it out of the feed. The same goes for the grass, etc. Of course, sunshine, grass etc., is cheaper than feed. But the difference in cost is more than offset by the advantages of keeping them in the house.

In the first place, the hens can pick up a lot of diseases on the outside. They hang around where the flies hang around occasionally feasting on a big fat juicy fly. And providing the entrance for worms thereby. Flies carry worm eggs.

Second, the hens, although seemingly healthy, can spread disease to the young birds. And letting the hens outside merely speeds up the process. The young and old mingle and Bango — you've got a disease problem in the pullets. One of the diseases which seems to be passed on in this manner is leucosis — (big liver and paralysis). That's a doggoned expensive disease, too.

Third, the hens don't lay as many eggs if they're outside. At least you don't find as many eggs. They'll lay under the corn crib and in the hay mow. Unless you've got an eagle eye on every hen, you won't find all the eggs. And besides, the hens won't get the right kind of feed — and they won't lay as many eggs. They'll be messin' around picking up the wrong feed rather than filling their crops with good, egg-producing mash, corn and oats.

Keep the hens inside. They'll do a better job for you. And they'll probably be just as happy.

CORN BORERS ARE HERE

The worst infestation of Corn Borers in a number of years threatens the 1954 corn crop. State Entomologist Harold Gunderson recommends spraying in this area from July 1st to July 6th. Latest recommendations are to spray when 50% to 75% of leaves show corn borer feeding damage. Some fields now have 80% of the leaves showing "shot holes."

DDT and Planes

ARE AVAILABLE

DDT for use in your own ground equipment and planes for custom application are available through this Company. Call the sales office number 291 or the North Plant number 293. DDT is stored at the North Plant on Highway 69.

TIME TO ACT

To do any good, spraying for first brood borers must be done within a week. Most if not all our seed fields are being treated with DDT. For up-to-date information on what our checking crews are finding on field conditions contact C. E. Wilmarth at one of the above phone numbers.

WRIGHT COUNTY CAN BE PROUD THAT IT ESCAPED "DISASTER AREA" LABEL

When press association stories last week carried the announcement that Gov. William Beardsley was soliciting federal aid for 19 flood-struck Iowa counties, many a perplexed eyebrow was raised by Wright countians upon observing that their county was noticeably absent from the list. Hancock was among those deemed in need of federal funds to recoup from the flood; so were Franklin, Humboldt, Kossuth, Cerro Gordo, Hamilton, Webster and Hardin. Take a look at the map of Iowa. Wright county alone, in this area, was judged to have withstood the flood without serious damage to its roads and bridges.

It's primarily the prospect of extensive and expensive repair to roads and bridges that brought forth the clamor for federal aid among our neighbors. County Engineer P. T. Struck reports that Wright county suffered only one major bridge loss. Two miles south of Eagle Grove on the Boone river a span went out Sunday night as a resurgence of flood waters followed the second, heavy downpour of rain in four days. And relatively few road stretches suffered important damage. Considerable road repair will be required, of course; but most of it will be in the nature of patching jobs

There can be only one explanation for the unique ability of Wright county roads and bridges to withstand the onslaught of that record-breaking flood, that we can see. They plainly must have been built to meet higher standards than those of our neighbors.

"Luck" doesn't keep bridges in place or prevent roads from washing out. Presumably right-of-ways that are a bit wider, road grades that are a bit higher and bridge abutments that are a bit broader must cost a little more. But it must be said of past boards of supervisors that have served Wright county that they planned well and built well. Out of an eight-county "disaster area" that completely surrounds us, Wright is the "hole in the doughnut" — an island of exceptionally well built roads and well constructed bridges.

In case some readers may regard that this circumstance refutes The Independent's contention that Wright county is not getting full value out of money currently spent on its roads, let us state that we don't believe that is the case. Expenditures of the past are being at least matched by road expenditures of today; but the achievements of the past are not. It still seems unreasonable to us that it should cost as much to KEEP what we have as it did to GET it.

ISOLATIONISM CONTINUES TO DELUDE TOO MANY WITH ITS FALSE VIRTUES

Considering how sophisticated the average American has become in many regards, he's doing a mighty slow job of learning some facts of life that should by now be highly self-evident. One of his most regretable blind spots is the place that internationalism MUST play in the affairs of men from this day forward.

The limits of states' rights had to become more elastic as rapid means of communication and transportation reduced our nation from one of almost incomprehensible vastness to a relatively compact geographical area. Similarly, some jealously guarded frontiers of national isolation must be surrendered today for the general benefit of ALL mankind. We can no longer live unto ourselves alone.

What prompts these observations is the current congressional investigation into certain tax-free educational foundations by the so-called Reece committee. One of the entities being most scrupulously investigated is the Ford Foundation, of which our own Randall Klemme is a representative in Pakistan. It appears to be the theory of the investigators that some of these foundations "support efforts to overthrow our government and to undermine our way of life" simply because they have adopted a realistic, international point of view.

Before the first witness had even been questioned, the investigating committee's staff made a report that, in effect, defined as un-American anything that savors of "an international viewpoint." This virtually condemned the "defendants" as guilty before the "trial" had even opened.

Complaints over the trend that the investigation has taken have been expressed by many individuals and publications whose nonpartisanship toward the proceedings must be accepted. They regard that these educational foundations, in the main, are seeking worthy objectives under difficult circumstances. Certainly their efforts are more to be praised than to be subjected warped criticism based on the illusion that isolationism is STILL a feasible principle of national policy.

"NEW LOOK" FOR OUR CITY LIBRARY REFLECTS CREDIT ON ALL CONCERNED

A story in this issue tells of the extensive repair and redecorating program that has gone on at the city library in recent weeks. While such a project might be taken as a matter of course, ordinarily, in this case the availability of funds for the purpose is more than a little noteworthy. The fact of the matter is, our city library today is probably a more vital community institution than it has ever been before.

During a long — much TOO long — period of years, the library had to limp along on inadequate funds; and no institution, any more than an individual, can remain healthy on a starvation diet. It is much to the credit of Librarian Faye Colby, the library board and the city mayor and council that the library HAS been revitalized.

Mrs. Colby has found the library board responsive to suggestions of needed improvements and keenly interested in making the library more useful to the community. The board has earnestly and convincingly presented its need for more money to the city fathers; and the city administration has appreciated the good sense of allowing the library sufficient funds to perform its function satisfactorily.

It's taken mutual interest and real team work to make of the library the going concern that it is today. It is a steadily growing force in Belmond's cultural life and its importance will continue to increase, we're confident, so long as the librarian and trustees receive sympathetic understanding from the men who hold the purse-strings.

VOL. 34 NO. 39 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Barney Dillon recently brought in to us an Independent of April 11, 1935, telling of the early baseball exploits of young "Okie" who once worked here for the sugar factory and went on to win considerable fame on the diamond. More or less of a close-mouthed Dizzy Dean (if such an individual can be conceived), Ray Harrel made good in a try-out with the St. Louis Cardinals and pitched for them several years, later being traded to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Harrel's most reknowned performance in these parts was a 27-inning battle with "Lefty" Wilson, the southern boy pitching for Corwith and the sheriff-to-be hurling for Clarion. The old newspaper reports a 2-1 win for Harrel in that heroic struggle.

Pat and Barney Dillon "discovered" the whip-armed lad when he was weeding sugar beet fields around Belmond. He made a deep impression on Card Manager Frankie Frisch in a try-out game when he went in as relief pitcher against the N.Y. Giants. Men were on 1st and 3rd with none out, and Hank Lieber, Mel Ott and Bill Terry due to bat in that order. Harrel struck out this trio of heavy hitters on nine pitched balls and presumably walked from the mound with the Card contract assured, then and there.

The Independent has carried hundreds upon hundreds of pictures in its pages during recent years, but the subject of the accompanying photo is unquestionably the "youngest" subject we have yet presented. We introduce herewith Miss Renee Jeanne Riggs, daughter of Gene and Maxine Riggs of Denver, Colo., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riggs. She was just 24 hours old when this picture was taken on June 16. Proud Grandpa Ed rushed it over to us as soon as he received it. Renee has a brother, Mark, age three.

RENEE

We've gotten a real, stern talking-to twice lately from long-time subscribers to The Independent who were indignant over being dropped from the subscription list promptly upon lapse of their subscriptions. Mrs. M. H. Hanson when recently asking "How come?" informed us she'd been taking the paper for 52 years; and last weekend, Mrs. Pat Dillon gave us a bit of a burnin' for stopping her paper so abruptly when she's been on the list for no less than 54 years!

If they realized how tremendously our circulation bookkeeping has been reduced since we established the practice of stopping ALL subscriptions IMMEDIATELY when payment is due, we are sure they'd have been a little more lenient with us. On the other hand, we feel they have a point.

It's not that we don't trust our subscribers. Not by a long shot. But it's a widespread practice nowadays — brought about by hopeless confusion in the past — for newspapers to keep their subscription lists PAID up to date. However, we're going to make an exception (tho we always said we wouldn't). Any subscribers who've been on the list for 50 years or more get an extra month. Just let us know that you're qualified for the special dispensation.

—M-S—

Our neighbor-next-door, Manager "Cec" Carstens of the Iowa Electric Light and Power company, handed us a printed card the other day with a very pointed suggestion that its contents should be of interest to our readers. Having just lately sent Uncle Sam his quarterly pound of flesh, we're inclined to agree; so we're passing on to you the card's information regarding the amount of taxes that IEL&P is shelling out this year, payable for 1953.

It comes to the impressive total of $4,583,105! The Belmond Publishing company wouldn't mind paying that tax, if receiving the income to justify it. Nevertheless, it must be conceded that the power company undeniably provides PLENTY of grease for the wheels of government to spin on.

Since the Mainstreeters' comparatively modest contributions to the tax collector fall a bit short of seven figures, we've never taken trouble to discover how much we're "hurtin'" per minute. IEL&P's gone all out, though. It reports that its taxes come to: $381,925 per month, $92,904 per week, $12,556 per day, $523 per hour — and $8.70 per minute. We know ONE thing. That's more than the government makes on the TVA. . . . IT goes in the red, annually!

Republicans and Democrats Pick State Delegates; Christie New Chairman, GOP Central Committee

It was clearly apparent at the county convention of the Republican party that was held Friday at the district courtroom at Clarion that election of Tom Martin to the U.S. Senatorship from Iowa is regarded in state GOP circles as the No. 1 assignment of the party in this fall's general election.

This was emphasized by John Walker of Williams, the convention keynoter who will himself be seeking election as state senator from the 37th District, and in the resolutions drafted at the convention. Repeatedly, stress was given to the importance of giving the Eisenhower administration the advantage of another Republican senator from Iowa.

Christie Succeeds Crabbe

C. C. Christie of Belmond was chosen by the county central committee as county GOP chairman for the coming two years, and the convention named Mr. Christie as chairman of the group of state convention delegates chosen Friday. Mrs. Bert Samson of Clarion was elected by the central committee as county vice chairman. Retiring chairman and vice chairman, respectively, were M. B. Crabbe of Eagle Grove and Marion Oberhauser of Belmond.

After serving at the outset of the parley as temporary chairman, Mr. Christie was also chosen to be convention chairman. Leona Bras of Belmond served as secretary, an assignment that has fallen to her regularly over a considerable period of years.

Committees Named

Appointed to the convention credentials committee were: Max Sheldon, chairman, Mitchell Schroder, Walter Martens, Mrs. Marion Moellering and Pearl Pardun. Comprising the rules committee were: Don McGrath, chairman, Robert Kay, Harlan Larson and Russell Blue. On the resolutions committee were: Marion Oberhauser, chairman, Lynn Thompson, Spencer Smith, Don Mitchell, Cathlene Blue, Jim Burt, Clark McNeal and Roland Trotter.

Delegates selected to attend the state convention on July 23 were: C. C. Christie, Clark McNeal, Marion Oberhauser, H. C. Stokke and Friend Bras, Belmond; John Tallman, Kathleen Birdsall, Hazel Ballou and John Rowan, Clarion; M. B. Crabbe, Robert Blue, A. H. Weselink and Lucille Johnson, Eagle Grove.

New Lessees Take Over Coffee Shop

Irene McMannus and Emma Carolus have leased the Coffee Shop from Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pimper and took over active management of the eating place last Friday. They will continue to feature noon and evening meals and short orders, with new emphasis on home-baked goods.

Mrs. Carolus has been cooking at Bob's Truck Stop at Clear Lake. Her husband, Ralph Carolus, last week joined the service staff of Berns D-X station. Mrs. McMannus has lately been employed as a room maid at the Belmond hotel.

It is the Pimpers' plan to remain in Belmond. Mr. Pimper has been working for Leo Dorr, Sr., and will continue with the local contractor. Mrs. Pimper has not been in good health recently and will take a much needed rest for the time being.

Lions Broom Sale Starts Next Week

Belmond's Lions will turn out in force as salesmen next week, peddling brooms for a combination of worthy causes As announced last week, the brooms will be purchased from the Arkansas Lighthouse for the Blind, where they were made by sightless persons; and proceeds from the sale will go to help deserving children in the Belmond public schools. The fund is to be administered by School Nurse Alta Smith.

Cecil Carstens, chairman of the broom committee, is being assisted in plans for the sale by Chet Hiddleston, Len Collier and Jim Cairns. Mr. Carstens says that three different types of brooms have been ordered and that rubber door matts in two sizes will be sold, also.

House brooms will sell at $1.75, warehouse brooms at $2.00, whisk brooms at 75 cents. Price of the door mats will be $2.00 and $3.00.

Lions club members will canvass the residential area starting next Thursday afternoon and continuing on Friday until all homes have been visited. Several broom stands will be set up in the business district on Saturday and again on the following Tuesday. On the evening of Tuesday, July 20, the Lions will have a sales crew at the Belmond Livestock Pavilion to sell brooms to their farmer neighbors.

Approximately 625 brooms, in the assorted sizes, and 48 door mats have been ordered and Mr. Carstens and his brother Lions hope that all can be sold for their worthy cause.

The Giffords had owned the store for the past four months. Mr. Gifford's future plans are uncertain at this time. Mr. Roskamp was employed as a Fuller Brush salesman before acquiring ownership of the grocery.

Teacher Employed For H. S. English

Another vacancy in the Belmond High school faculty was filled last week when James E. Schmitt of Waterloo was hired to teach English. He is completing requirements for a Master's degree in English at Iowa State Teachers college this summer and will receive his M. A. next month.

A graduate of St. Mary's High school at Waterloo in 1946 and of Loras college, Dubuque, in 1950, Mr. Schmitt held his first and only teaching position at Union (Ia.) High school. He was teaching English, dramatics, history and government there when he was drafted into military service at the end of one semester.

He was honorably discharged after three years' service and entered ISTC last fall to obtain his M. A. degree. Mr. Schmitt is 25 year sold and unmarried.

Paper Publisher's Father Dies After Stroke at Age 80

Funeral services were to be held today (Thursday) for Rasmus Hansen of Humboldt, age 80, father of George C. Hansen, co-publisher of The Independent. Rev. F. O. Johnson was to be in charge of the rites, held at the Humboldt Methodist church, with burial in the cemetery at Humboldt.

Although Mr. Hansen's activities had been rather restricted since suffering a heart attack three years ago, he had enjoyed moderately good health for a man of his years until the victim of a stroke last Friday Death came to Mr. Hansen at 1:00 p m. Monday, July 5, at Sisson Nursing home, Humboldt He was eight months and three days past his 80th year.

Born in Denmark

Born in Alstrop, Denmark, Nov. 2, 1873, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hansen. He came to this country in 1889 and lived the rest of his life in Iowa. On Dec. 10, 1895, Mr. Hansen married Nelsine Rasmussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Rasmussen, near Rutland.

They farmed at Rodman until 1903, then moving to a farm in Humboldt county to continue in that occupation north of Rutland. Following retirement from farming, Mr. Hansen followed the carpentry trade at Humboldt for a good many years and also was a city employee for a time. Humboldt has been the Hansons' home for the past 34 years. Mr. Hansen was a member of the Methodist church there.

Six Children Survive

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hansen, and all survive their father. Besides the son living in Belmond they are: Raymond D. Hansen and Mrs. Thomas (Hannah) Christensen of Humboldt, Nels R. ATTEND LDR CONVENTION

Sharon Thompsen and Connie Hill are spending the current week attending a convention of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation being held at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn.

BEATIN' THE HEAT? No, the gent pictured aloft on the city library flagpole is simply an itinerant painter, shown as he was giving the pole a fresh coat of aluminum paint Wednesday afternoon of last week. The teeth of more than one onlooker chattered while the artisan was watched at his work, though; so maybe the dizzy perch WOULD be one place to beat the heat, at that.

Council Soliciting Bids on Building Of Disposal Plant

In today's issue of The Independent appears original publication of the notice to bidders, soliciting bids on construction of Belmond's municipal sewage disposal plant. A motion to proceed with solicitation of bids was passed at a regular meeting of the city council held Wednesday evening.

Interested contractors are asked to have sealed bids in the hands of City Clerk Carrie Courtney by 8:00 p. m. on Aug. 4. The successful bidder will be expected to start work on the plant within 30 days after contract is let and to have all work completed within an additional 180 days.

Notice is also published today that a public hearing on the matter of adopting plans, specifications and form of contract for construction of the sewage treatment plant will be held on the same date and at the same hour that bids are to be opened, Aug. 8, 8:00 p. m.

A description of the new disposal plant has been written for The Independent by Paul Morgan, faculty member in the division of

AND A Happy Birthday to YOU!

Birthdays figured heavily among the winners of this week's Cash Gift Day awards, by an odd quirk of coincidence.

At 2:00 p. m. Tuesday, Mrs. Bennie R. Vierkant of Meservey picked off a $25 prize for the second time. When she won the first time, on April 20th, the date fell just two days short of her own birthday. This time, she hit her husband's birthday right on the nose!

Mrs Ed Ackerman did almost as well. She also claimed one of the $25 awards; and her husband's birthday fell on Wednesday. Just how Mr. Ackerman and Mr. Vierkant made out in the way of presents, due to the unexpected windfalls, we are not in a position to say.

A third, $25 gift went to Mrs. Myrtle Campbell. It didn't happen to strike any birthday in her family — but she was happy about the whole thing.

Having been nicked for $75 this week, the Cash 'Gift Day committee announces that that amount will be added to the kitty for next week so the prizes will remain the same. There will be six $25 awards at 2:00 p. m. and the handsome sum of $250 at 3:00 o'clock. No. 1,881 would have pulled down the "big one" this week.

The committee once more emphasizes the importance of shoppers promptly reporting possession of a winning number to the proprietor of the business establishment where they happen to be at the time of the drawing. Winners' names must be called in to The Independent before 2:05 or 3:05, as the case may be. Don't lose out on a prize because of this time limit!

Nine-Tenths Mill Beneath Figure Earlier Foreseen

Budget figures for the Belmond Community School district's first year of operation were released this week by Supt. Don Faris, showing proposed expenditures of $227,952 which will require a total tax levy of 18.7 mills. This first-year millage comes to nine-tenths of a mill less than was predicted at the time that reorganization was still in the planning stage last year.

Comparison of the 1954-55 budget with that of last year has little significance, in view of the reorganization. It might be noted, though, that the 1953-54 Belmond Independent school budget totaled $193,091 19; and that tax requirements last year were set at $101,264 as to $181,552 for the coming year. Assessed value of property in the new district is almost four times that of the old, $9,414,000 compared to $2,464,808.

New Accounting System

With enrollment due to be nearly 100 higher than last year, the cost for instruction this coming year will exceed last year's record high total of the independent district by approximately $21,000. A change in accounting procedure being introduced this year, though, will result in only $126,062 of the $148,246 total for instruction being included in the 1954-55 budget.

Payment of all teachers' salaries will hereafter be made on a 12-month basis, instead of most of them being on a nine-month pay schedule. This will greatly simplify the school bookkeeping, Mr. Faris says. A special Burroughs bookkeeping machine has been bought to make possible the simultaneous recording of ledger entries and drafting of checks. Hand entries and separate writing of checks by hand were previously required.

Holds Millage Line

This change in accounting methods will serve the additional end of keeping rural millages at the lowest possible level and assuring farm owners maximum benefit from agricultural land tax credits on taxes payable in 1956. There is a year's lag in fixing these land tax credits, and 1954 millages will be their base when 1955 farm property taxes are figured. It is generally anticipated that the 56th Iowa General Assembly will increase state aid to the schools so that agricultural land included in reorganized districts will not be assessed an inequitable share of school taxes levied for the year 1955.

Mr. Faris is hopeful that when a full 12-month schedule of salaries is budgeted for 1955-56 (salaries for

Zook Bid Lowest On Radio Station

Word was received last week by Ted Zook, local contractor that he submitted low bid and has been awarded the contract for construction of the state police radio station that is to be erected north of Belmond.

Mr. Zook turned in a figure of $11,877 on the 24x46-foot frame structure, which includes the electrical and plumbing and heating installations as well as the general construction.

Workmen have been at the station site since the latter part of last week making preparations for building the 320-foot transmitting tower. Mr. Zook says that his crew will not get started on their phase of the work until the tower is up and a well to provide water for the station has been drilled.

Mr. Zook expects it will be at least a month before the tower is completed and the well sunk, so he can begin construction of the building

Betty Clare Henderson Entered As "Miss Belmond" in County Contest

Left with the responsibility of selecting a Miss Belmond, due to lack of entries in the beauty and talent contest that had been scheduled in conjunction with Wednesday night's band concert, a Chamber of Commerce committee this week chose Betty Clare Henderson to represent Belmond in the Wright county finals at Clarion on July 23rd

At the county seat's Town and Country Day, the local candidate will compete with nominees from several other communities for the privilege of representing Wright county in the Miss Iowa contest to be held next month during Clear Lake's Governor's Days. Miss Henderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Henderson.

Skilled as a dancer and possessed of a pleasant singing voice, Miss Belmond meets the contest requirements of character, charm, beauty, intelligence and talent, from every standpoint. A BHS graduate in 1950, she was active in school music and dramatic activities and was valedictorian of her class.

As a freshman at St. Catherine's college, at St Paul, Minn., Betty Clare was prominent in campus theatricals Last year she was enrolled at the University of Minnesota, where she plans to continue her education.

This is not the first time that Miss Henderson has borne the title of Miss Belmond. As a BHS senior, she was this community's candidate in the Band Queen contest held annually during Mason City's North Iowa Band Festival. The accompanying photograph pictures her on that occasion.

Hold Your Fire, Ladies; Mayor States That Oiling Of Streets Should Start Before End of This Week

Mayor Henry Hokel made an announcement yesterday that will be heartily welcomed by housewives throughout Belmond. The city's new street-oil distributor arrived here last Friday, order for the penetrating asphalt for treating the streets was placed Wednesday of last week, and before the end of this week the 1954 dust abatement program should be in full swing.

A combination of unforeseen developments was responsible for the "dusting" that Belmond has had to suffer through in recent weeks, Mayor Hokel says.

First, considerable pressure was brought to bear when chuck holes in the year-old street surfaces made driving about town hazardous during the late spring and early summer. Believing that resurfacing of the streets would shortly be possible, the street department responded to demand by scarifying and smoothing the worst ones. Holes were eliminated, but the loosened gravel produced dust clouds that bothered housekeepers every bit as much as the bumpy going had disturbed the motorists.

However, negotiations were underway to rent an oil distributor and other necessary equipment from Clear Lake, and relief from the dust was regarded as imminent. Then the Clear Lake "city fathers" decided it wouldn't be feasible to place the added load on their surfacing equipment and the deal fell through.

Very soon after that, the Belmond council ordered similar equipment so the local street department could handle the surfacing work itself; but it was impossible to avoid several weeks' delay on delivery.

With the distributor and other needed items now on hand, and arrival of the oil from Casper, Wyo., expected momentarily, Mayor Hokel was confident Wednesday that the end of the dust nuisance was in sight. He added that there need be no repetition of this season's delay in years to come, since the city will be prepared hereafter to do the re-surfacing with its own equipment promptly after the streets have been scarified.

Mr. Hokel and Street Commissioner Al Stadtlander visited Waterloo on Saturday to see similar work being done there and to pick up tips on the best procedure for applying the street oil. Waterloo has been using the penetrating asphalt treatment on its streets for a number of years, with very general satisfaction.

The Belmond men were advised at Waterloo that it is not necessary to rope off the freshly treated streets so long as auto drivers exercise reasonable judgment in driving over the newly applied oil. Consequently, local streets will not be barricaded while the project here is in progress.

Sand will be spread over the oiled streets as soon as possible after application, Mayor Hokel states. For an hour or so after the oil has gone on, however, very moderate speed should be observed when driving over fresh oil, he advises.

CHICK CHATS

Shade on Range

When it's hot, shade is pretty handy — especially if you freckle easily. I know one thing: I wouldn't want to eat my meals in the hot sun. And I don't know of many chickens who do either.

There should be plenty of shade on range. Trees are good. And a corn field next to the range gives the birds plenty of shade and scratching area. The range shelters can give a lot of shade if they're put in the right places.

There should be some shade on every chicken range. And in that shade, you should put the feeders and waterers. Chickens just don't like it out in that hot sun. And they won't come out of the shade to eat. Consequently, if the feeders are in the sun, the birds will eat only in the early morning before the sun gets high in the sky. And you want them to eat as much feed as they need to grow into healthy pullets.

Water is even more important in hot weather. Seems that no matter how thirsty a pullet gets, she won't come out of the shade to quench her thirst. So, we have to place the waterers in the shade too.

And coolness has something to do with taste too. Chickens will drink the cooler water before they touch the water that's gotten too hot out in the sun. Can't say I blame them much either.

Water is a very important part of a growing pullet's diet. Most of her body is made up of water. And she needs a lot of it to get rid of waste material. Sometimes, the lack of water will make a chicken look like she's paralyzed. That's because the waste material gathers in the joints and cripples the chicken. A lot of range paralysis (so-called) comes from lack of water.

Let your birds go in the shade to eat and drink. They'll appreciate it.

KESSLER'S WHERE YOU GET EXTRA SAVINGS WITH KING KORN STAMPS

Clarion Meeting Next Thursday Will Seek Storage for 1 Million Bu. Corn

A special corn storage meeting will be held on Thursday evening of next week, to find a home for nearly a million bushels of corn in Wright county. This is the problem facing the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee of this county, which must find farm storage for around 900,000 bushels of corn. The special meeting will be held in the basement of the I.O.O.F. hall at Clarion starting at 8:00 p. m.

Dwight Meyer, head of the state ASC committee, will be the special speaker for the evening. Max Soeth, field man for this area, will also be there. Special information will be given on construction of cribs, temporary storage for corn, and other buildings that may be used for corn storage.

Lumber yards and companies handling corn storage cribs will have displays of building plans and crib at the meeting.

Problem More Serious

The corn storage problem is even more serious this year than last year, with about 400,000 more bushels of corn under loan and purchase agreement in the county than in 1953. A total of 3,633,000 bushels of corn is under loan and purchase agreement and must be stored on the farm or delivered to bin sites. Bin site storage will be entirely inadequate to provide for the total amount of corn, according to O. J. Hanson, ASC office manager.

Farmers will benefit from the new storage rate of 15 cents per bushel for resealing a loan or converting a purchase agreement to a loan. The same provision applies to extending the loan on 1952 resealed corn.

Everyone's Problem

The corn storage problem in the county is every farmer's problem and not just the problem of the the county A.S.C. committee, its members emphasize. Many farmers of the county feel strongly that if the price support program is to be maintained, full cooperation is needed on the part of everyone.

The meeting of July 15 is being called jointly by the county extension service and the county A.S.C. committee to acquaint farmers with the problem and to get their cooperation in solving it. The meeting is open to all farmers, landlords and others interested. Farmers who are contemplating building corn storage in later years will be benefited by attending this meeting, says Extension Director Aaron Bowman.

Full details of the resealing program and how depreciation corn storage structures can be charged off over a period of five years will be fully explained at the meeting. Free refreshments will be furnished by the building trade at the close of the meeting.

Rule, Waterloo 15-Year-Old, Wins Clarmond Amateur

Jack Rule, 15-year-old Waterloo lad who gives promise of becoming perhaps the finest golfer the state of Iowa has ever produced, shot a three-under-par 106 Sunday to win the second annual Clarmond Amateur tournament. He took top honors in the 27-hole test despite the fact the Clarmond holiday classic drew the toughest field of any one-day tournament held in the state this year.

Some indication of the keenness of competition is offered by the fact that a former Iowa amateur champion—Art Koch of Waterloo—was unable to qualify for the championship flight, and placed only fourth in the 1st flight. Fred Gordon, Belmond's own former state titlest, finished out of the money although shooting a fairly respectable 112, only four over par.

Oberhauser Takes 2nd

Pete Oberhauser of Minneapolis, nephew of L. B. Oberhauser, forced the young Waterloo flash to the limit before settling for second place with an even-par 108. A mediocre 40 on his second round, partly attributable to a ball out of bounds, left Oberhauser trailing Rule by two strokes at the outset of the final round. The lanky Minnesotan steamed in with a concluding 33, only to see the teen-age star match that three-under-par performance. In a play-off between the two for the prize for lowest round, Rule won on the first extra hole.

Kenny Draves of Waterloo with 109 and Les Johnstone of Mason City with 110 copped the third and fourth place prizes in the championship flight. Following, a stroke apart, were Dick Schultz of Boone, Gordon and Jack Webb of Spirit Lake; then came George Lee of Humboldt and Don Narveson of Cedar Falls with 114's.

Tourney Wins Praise

Flight prizes went to golfers from 16 different cities and towns as 128 players took part in the tournament. Although the latest entry in the list of Iowa one-day tournaments, the Clarmond meet has already stamped itself as one of the most popular in the lot. Visitors were generous in their praise of the smooth way the tournament was managed and the speed with which play was completed.

Only one Clarmond member was among the flight winners. Dr. A. M. Larson took first in the 4th flight on a play-off with Harry Birdsell, Jr., of Hampton after they had tied with 91's. Other Clarmond club-swingers who figured "in the money" were: Bill Wright of Clarion, fourth in the 2nd flight; Fred Hole, Kanawha, fourth in the 4th.

Also Roger Kinseth, Belmond, and Lynn Knoll, Kanawha, third and fourth in the 5th; R. Rouillard, Clarion, and Lyle Oler, Dows, second and fourth in the 6th; Louie Oberhauser, Belmond, and Wilmer Gabrielson, Goodell, third and fourth n the 7th

Cubs Undefeated In Peewee League

	W	L
Cubs	2	0
Braves	1	1
Yankees	0	2

A no-hit, no-run pitching performance by Kenny Hawley of the Cubs featured the opening rounds of play in the summer recreation Peewee League last week. The 11-year-old Hawley's efforts enabled the Cubs to blank the Cards, 6 to 0. Mike Long and Gary Dean hurled for the losers.

In the other first-rund game on Tuesday, the Braves trimmed the Yanks, 9-4. The Yanks were short of players from the third inning on, so they would have had to forfeit the game, at any rate. Bobby Whipple pitched for the winners and mound duties for the Yanks were shared by Jeff Hansen, Gary Porter and Dick Boone.

On Friday, Hawley and Roger Ginapp pitched the Cubs to their second victory, a 6-3 decision over the Braves. Mike Crimmings and Whipple tossed for the losers. The Yanks were unable to field a team and the Cards won the second game by forfeit.

Director Dick Hobbs reports that the Peewees are showing steady progress, particularly in the hitting department. Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the Peewee All-Stars will get their first trial against out-of-town opposition when they play Kanawha here.

Last week the boys enjoyed seeing six, good films on baseball fundamentals. Mr. Hobbs adds that of recreation other than baseball, archery seems to be attracting the most interest.

Tomahawks Whip Clarion by 18-2; Lose to Kanawha

An even break was the best the Tomahawks could do in a pair of Quad-County league games played over the holiday weekend. On the local diamond Sunday, they blasted Clarion by an 18-2 score; but Monday afternoon at Kanawha they were whipped, 4 to 1. The 'Hawks finished the first round of league play with only two wins in six starts, their seventh loop game being rained out.

This coming Sunday the Tomahawks will endeavor to get their second-half campaign off to a better start as they tackle Swaledale, here.

Scott Effective

Denny Scott had a no-hitter working against Clarion until he surrendered a single in the eighth frame. The visitors had scored an unearned run in the sixth on a walk and a pair of errors and the safety in the eighth added their final tally. Scott was touched for a second hit in the ninth.

Meanwhile, the young 'Hawks were piling up a total of 11 hits. Don Hoppel connected for a homer as the first Belmond batter when his hit was lost in the weeds of the outfield. Dale Caquelin produced a four-bagger without the help of nature in the second frame. Bunn, the losers' pitcher, kept himself in hot water with 11 walks. He struck out 10.

Abbas Stingy on Hits

Scott fanned only eight, but passed only five batters. Each team was guilty of three errors.

Kanawha proved to be as classy an outfit as the Tomahawks have met all season. The Belmond crew was able to get only two hits off of Abbas, the winning hurler, who set down 10 men on strikes. He issued seven passes. Jake Koenen pitched fairly respectable seven-hit ball for the 'Hawks, also fanning 10 and walking only three.

Kids' Fish Day, Week From Friday; Youngsters from 6 to 14 Eligible

Preparations were rapidly nearing completion this week for the second — and possibly the last — annual Kids' Fish Day under sponsorship of the PTA summer recreation program. This year's event is scheduled a week from tomorrow, July 16th. It may be the last even of its kind here because the state conservation commission has indicated that fish days have become so popular that providing bullheads for them has become a serious problem.

A thousand bullheads will be placed at next week's fishing site through arrangements made with the conservation commission by Game Warden Bill Ayers of Goodell. Fishing this year will be done at an abandoned gravel pit located two miles west on Cornelia road, three-quarters north and about another quarter west, on the south side of the road.

Register 1:30 p. m.

Registration, which will begin at 1:30 p. m. at the fishing site, will be open to all boys and girls from age six through 14. Children from anywhere in the Belmond area will be welcome to participate. There will be prizes for both boys and girls by age classification. Complete details regarding the prizes will be published next week.

Once again the Sportsman's club will be in direct charge of the Fish Derby and members of the organization will be on hand in adequate number to assure safety of the contestants and to lend a hand wherever needed.

Prizes Listed

The list of prizes, with separate classes for boys and girls, will include awards for: (1) most fish caught; (2) biggest fish; (3) smallest fish. In addition there will be sweepstake prizes for (1) largest fish of the day; (2) best Huckleberry Finn costume; (3) contestant from the greatest distance.

Only a single prize will be allowed any on entrant. Consequently, in the class to which the sweepstakes winner for largest fish belongs, the divisional prize will go to possessor of the second-largest fish.

Once again the Belmond Chamber of Commerce will provide treats for all children taking part in the Fish Derby. MR. AND MRS. HANSON

The chancel of the First English Lutheran church at Brush, Colo., was decorated with lighted white tapers in candelabras and bouquets of white stock for the wedding Sunday evening, June 20, at 8:00 o'clock of Miss Jacqueline Hartwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hartwig of Brush, Colo., and Jerry Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Hanson of Belmond. The Rev. Jerrold Elling, pastor of the church, and the Rev. O. M. Severseike of Belmond officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Smith of Fort Morgan, Colo., as organist, played the nuptial music. She accompanied Keith Schickell of International Falls, Minn., as he sang "I Love Thee" and "O Perfect Love", the selected choir members as they sang "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and the bridegroom as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" as he and his bride knelt at the altar following the wedding communion.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a wedding gown of white silk satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a portrait collar lined with lace and sequins and a sweetheart neckline. The skirt having front lace panels, ended in a court train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace crown. She carried a double wedding ring arrangement of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

The bride's attendants wore white taffeta strapless gowns with circular skirts and balero jackets, white satin clip hats, face veils and wrist gloves. Miss Karen Hanson, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, carried a wedding ring arrangement of deep pink feathered carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Reichert of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Richard Peterson of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Keith Schickell, carried wedding ring arrangements of light pink feathered carnations. Miss Janice Hartwig was her sister's junior bridesmaid and carried an arrangement of pink carnations.

Julie Charlson of Denver, Colo., was flower girl. She carried stephanotis in a green basket, which had been carried by the bride when she served as a flower girl when she was three years old. Dell Schomberg of Coulter was ring bearer.

Jerry Hartwig, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Harlan Nassen of Denver, Colo., Odean Severseike and Richard Elliott. The men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets with tuxedo trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a delft blue lace gown with pink accessories and the groom's mother wore a gray taffeta dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 200 guests in the church parlors. The bride's table was graced with greenery, wedding bell shaped candles and the wedding ring arrangements carried by the bridal attendants. The four-tier wedding cake, adorned with a miniature wedding bell and bride and groom, was served on a separate table which belonged to the bride's great grandparents.

For their wedding trip to Estes Park, the bride chose a white linen suit dress with brown accessories and wore the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will make their home at Brush until he enters the US Air Force this fall.

Mrs. Hanson graduated from Brush High school with the class of 1950 and received her B.A. degree from St. Olaf college at Northfield, Minn., with the class of 1954.

Mr. Hanson graduated with the class of 1950 from Belmond High school and this year received his B.A. degree, magna cum laude, from St. Olaf college and also a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force.

Guests attending from Belmond and vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hanson and Rev. and Mrs. Severseike of Belmond, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson of Clarion, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Charlson of Forest City and Mrs. Lester Schomberg and Dell of Coulter.

WATCH OUT FOR FOOD POISONING DURING THE WARM DAYS OF JULY

Bacteria which cause food poisoning grow rapidly in warm weather. For that reason July, picnic month, is a time to be especially careful about handling and storing food, warns the state department of health.

Chicken, tuna and potato salads and creamed desserts are favorite foods for bacteria. Bacteria grow rapidly in these foods if they are left at room temperature. These are the foods that should be properly cooled and kept in the refrigerator until eaten.

Watch Out for Sores

Storing foods in large quantities, even though refrigerated, has led to food poisoning, also. Large quantities of food take longer to become chilled and even though the food is in the refrigerator bacteria can grow in it before it becomes cold.

for two or 200, hands should be scrupulously clean and free from cuts and sores of any kind. Often, people have become ill from food prepared by a person with a sore on her hand.

Another thing to remember in avoiding food poisoning is to wash fresh fruits and vegetables thoroughly before they are eaten. They may be covered with bacteria, chemicals or insecticides, which can cause illness.

Luke Warm Foods "Out"

Food poisoning may be only a mild illness, causing slight discomfort, or it may be severe enough to cause death. At any rate, food poisoning is no picnic. Care in preparing and storing food is the best safeguard against food poisoning.

It is not always easy to tell by appearance, taste or smell whether bacteria has developed in food or not. The best safety device is to keep cold foods cold, and hot foods hot, but never luke warm. Don't bring food poisoning along on your picnic.

Lightning Ignites Goodell's School

While onlookers viewed the proceedings with mixed feelings, the Goodell and Belmond Fire departments battled successfully to save the Goodell school building from destruction by fire last Sunday morning after it had been hit by lightning.

Goodellians are looking forward to the day when the old, frame structure will be replaced with a modern grade school; but the efficiency of the fire-fighters effectively postponed this eagerly desired improvement for the time being.

During the violent electrical storm about 2:00 a. m. Sunday, lightning struck the flag pole on top of the school's bell tower and set the belfry in flames. The fire was promptly noted by Robert McNutt, who lives not far from the school, and he turned in an alarm.

Members of the Goodell department kept the blaze under control until the Belmond firemen arrived. Two 500-gallon tankloads of water pumped by the Belmond truck extinguished the flames after about an hour and a half of effort. Estimate of fire and water damage was set at about $900.

Goodell's fire company remained at the school until 5:00 a. m. to guard against the fire breaking out again. Their vigil was made pleasanter by coffee served by Mrs. Roy Foss and a case of pop provided by Oscar Olson.

It remains the hope of the advisory committee that planned establishment of Belmond Community School district that Goodell may in due time have a new grade school unit to replace the structure that was so successfully preserved Sunday morning. The time apparently is "not yet," that's all.

CHURCH PLANS RECEPTION FOR NEW PASTOR AND WIFE

All members of the Methodist church congregation have been invited to attend a reception at the church parlors at 7:30 o'clock this evening, honoring Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Jones. The Rev. Mr. Jones assumed his new duties as pastor of the church two weeks ago.

A special program is planned for the evening and lunch will be served.

BOHNING AT PENSACOLA

Aviation Cadet Donald C. Bohning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bohning, recently reported to the U. S. Naval Auxiliary Air station, Saufley Field, at Pensacola, Fla. There he is undergoing training in formation flying. After this phase of instruction, he will next be assigned to Barin Field, Foley, Ala., for the gunnery portion of his flight training.

PRICE SPENT $124

Other than those filed last week, only one more candidate's report on primary campaign expenditures was turned in to the county auditor before Wednesday's deadline. Myron Price of Clarion, successful contender for the GOP nomination for county auditor, reported he spent $124.37. None of that amount was contributed.

Limited Spraying Done to Reduce Insect Population

Breeding spots of mosquitos and flies were given a thorough spraying in a number of areas in town last Friday, Mayor Henry Hokel reports, but the possibility of a city-wide spray job by airplane has been vetoed as too dangerous.

Several nearby communities, including Clarion and Garner, have been sprayed by plane to reduce the horde of insects that have hatched since the recent, heavy rains. However, Belmond's "city fathers" feel that risks involved in this sort of operation are too great and do not plan any similar undertaking here.

Spray equipment of the Thompson Hybrid Corn company was used to give some of the insect-breeding spots a good dousing with a DDT emulsion. Low areas along both banks of the Iowa river, downtown alleys and the city dump grounds were given attention. The entire block covered by the city park received in intensive spraying, also, for the comfort of picnickers and audiences listening to the band concerts.

Fire Demolishes Car of Salesman

Flames dealt total destruction to a 1951 Nash sedan owned by Russell J. Lamfers, Clarion kitchenware salesman, when the car caught fire in an undetermined manner Tuesday afternoon. Heat from the blaze was so intense that the windshield was completely melted.

Lamfers told Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod that he noticed smoke rising from beneath the dashboard while driving on Highway 69 just north of the Hamilton-Wright county line. He pulled into an intersection and tried to summon the Blairsburg fire department, he related, but was told the department's policy didn't permit answering such alarms.

Deputy Walrod reports that, according the Lamfers, the fire broke out about 4:45 p. m. When the officer arrived on the scene, 35 minutes later, the car was already reduced to smoldering ruins. Walrod says Lamfers told him he succeeded in saving part of the car's contents but was unable to rescue some business account books lying on the back seat.

19 PRIESTS PARTICIPATE IN "HOUR OF ADORATION"

Nineteen visiting priests participated in an "hour of adoration" at St. Francis church Tuesday, from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

Rev. Victor Hintgen of Stacyville spoke on the lives of the great apostles, Peter and Paul. Rev. Gilbert C. Lattner of Rockford assisted the host pastor, Rev. R. A. Ormsby, at benediction.

The visiting clergymen were dinner guests of Father Ormsby at 1:00 o'clock.

Helen Erdman visited friends in Marshalltown for a few days last week.

RC Spent $341 On Flood Relief

Nine Belmond families received disaster relief from the American Red Cross following the recent flood, according to Elizabeth Gernes of Ames, area field worker. Expenditures in behalf of these flood victims came to $341.74.

"Assistance is given to meet the basic needs of families which cannot be readily financed by those families through their own resources, when afflicted by disaster," Miss Gernes explained.

Largest local outlay was for replacing household furnishings, the total coming to $191 35. For food, clothing and other maintenance, $137 was spent; and $13 39 was paid for home repairs.

BELMOND SEWAGE PLANT

The new sewage treatment plant for Belmond is designed to provide the sewage at Belmond with complete treatment. The sewage will enter the plant in a 15 inch sewer which is large enought to carry the sewage from the proposed new 10-inch and 12-inch sewers for Belmond. The sewage first enters an 8x8-foot diversion box. During normal periods, the sewage will flow to a 6x22-foot wet well at the west end of the control building. During times of high flow at flood periods, the sewage flow may be diverted from the diversion box directly to the river.

In entering the wet well, the sewage passes over a flow-measuring weir and through a bar screen located in the open well about 15 feet below the surface of the ground. The bar screen is used to remove from the sewage large objects such as sticks and rags in order to protect the pumps in the plant. The weir and bar screen may be reached by means of an outside stairs leading down into the wet well.

Control Building

The control building is a 22x22-foot one-story tile-walled building which houses the plant control equipment. The basement is on two levels. On the bottom level, three sewage pumps are used to lift the sewage to a 12x48-foot primary sedimentation tank. The sewage flows through this tank very slowly, permitting most of the solids to settle to the bottom. This thin "sludge" is scraped continuously along the bottom by flights on an endless chain to a hopper at the inlet end of the tank. The sewage, with most of the solids left behind, flows on by gravity to a trickling filter.

The trickling filter is a circular tank 72-feet in diameter and is filled with seven feet of crushed rock. The settled sewage is sprayed evenly over the surface of the coarse rock by a revolving arm. As the sewage trickles down through the rock, repeated contacts are made with the bacterial growths covering the rock. This is the most effective step in sewage treatment and helps to remove the solids which are dissolved in the sewage.

Clear Water into River

Next, the sewage flows to a circular final clarifier or sedimentation tank which is 26 feet in diameter and has a water depth of 7 feet. The sewage flows slowly through this tank to remove the small amount of solids still carried in the sewage. A revolving blade sweeps this very thin sludge to an outlet in the floor of the tank. The clear water flows out of this tank and into the river.

The thin sludge from the final tank is drawn off continuously and is returned to the wet well to be mixed with the raw sewage. It is then returned to the treatment process. The sludge collected in the primary sedimentation tank is drawn off at regular intervals and is pumped to a cold digestion tank. The sludge pump is located in the basement of the control building.

Sludge Digester

The sludge digester is a circular open tank 35 feet in diameter and 29 feet deep at the deepest part. In the digestion process, the sludge is held in the open, unheated tank while the solids are converted to stable humus material. This action may take several months. The digested sludge, resembling a thick, black mud, is drawn off to sand beds during the summer months.

There are four of these sand or sludge beds, each 18x50 feet. Depending on the weather, the sludge will dry out in two to six weeks. The water that seeps into the sand is collected and carried back to the wet well. The dried sludge is valuable fertilizer and soil builder and may be disposed of to farmers in Belmond and vicinity.

500,000 Gal. Capacity

The treatment plant is designed to treat a maximum flow of 500,000 gal. of sewage each day. If the flow during flood periods exceeds 700,-000 gal. per day, the sewage would be sent around the plant directly to the river. In order to protect the plant during periods of high water, the walls of all of the tanks have been taken to an height of several feet above any previously recorded highwater mark at Belmond. During normal times, the sewage will require from four to five hours to pass through the plant.

The plant will normally be operated by one man, who should be a certified sewage treatment plant operator. The control building is provided with the laboratory space and equipment required for making the plant control tests and gathering the plant operating data required by the state department of health.

PALMER GETS 30-DAY TERM IN JAIL ON FORGERY COUNT

Ward Palmer, Belmond house painter, received a 30-day county jail sentence for forgery when heard in district court at Clarion on Wednesday morning. The case was heard by Judge H. C. Nichol of Ames.

Judge Nichol also ruled that upon completion of his sentence, Palmer shall be taken to the state hospital at Cherokee to undergo treatment for alchoholism.

● GOP Parley—

Seven attorneys of the county will be delegates to both the district and state judicial conventions: Roy Henderson, Belmond; Ben Birdsall, Robert Kay and Maurice Birdsall, Clarion; John Henneberry, Eagle Grove; A. M. Butler, Dows; and Harlan Larson, Goldfield Robert Blue is also in the district delegation.

Three Junior Delegates

Others, besides the lawyers, chosen to attend the state judicial convention were: Everett McGrath, Russell Blue, George Wright, B V. Willie, L. N. Archerd, Don McGrath, C. J. Nagle, Ralph Austin, A. M. Otteros, A. B. Parson, R. L. Blecker, Alre Watts, Dr. C. J. Neuman, Max Sheldon, Gladys Henderson, Mary McGrath, Cathlene Blue and Mrs. George Wright.

This year the state committee has introduced the innovation of permitting a limited number of minor-aged "junior delegates" to attend the state convention to familiarize them with its procedures. Three Belmond youths were named as Wright junior delegates: Sherman Oberhauser, Sam Leinbach and Dick Jacobson.

Registration Funds Raised

Delegates to the county convention assessed themselves to provide registration funds for the delegates to the two state conventions, a total of $150 being required. The sum of $177.05 was collected.

The convention's resolutions pledged support of all party candidates, with special endorsements of Tom Martin and John Tallman of Clarion, the latter for state commerce commissioner. Backing of the Eisenhower farm program and of the Eisenhower administration, in all phases, was also pledged.

● School Tax

only 10 months are included in the proposed budget for next year), the expected increase in state aid will have been appropriated. This would assure that the rural landowners of Belmond Community School district will continue to enjoy moderate taxes as residents of the reorganized district.

Proposed expenditures in the budget for the coming year include among others: $4,500 for an additional bus, bringing the fleet up to 11; $3,000 for new seats for the pupils and new desks for the teachers at Goodell; $600 for additional playground equipment for the Goodell and Belmond grade schools; $12,600 for additional salaries and teachers' salary increases not anticipated when the new district's budget was estimated at time of reorganization (there will be 40 on the combined faculties, compared to the 35 teachers Belmond had last year); and $1,500 for books and equipment for the school library.

Members of the new district's school board are highly gratified that the millage will be only 18.7, compared to the 19.6 that was predicted when the reorganization movement was launched. Reduced millage required for the general fund — 17.03 instead of 17.9 — accounts for the difference. A 1.7 mill tax is needed for the school house fund, as had been foreseen. The over-all budget of $227,952 is approximately $4,500 under the estimated figure.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

ARTHUR G. RUKA

It was our pleasure to visit last week with another "home town boy" in the person of Art Ruka, who is living on the 180 acre farm, 3½ miles SW of Goodell, on which he was born.

We drove up to the house just as Art, Harvey Nassen and Harold Eliason were finishing up the business of the school district which went out of existence July first.

Art said that not only had he lived on this farm all his life but that he had been a customer of the State Savings Bank for 47 years. He is still doing some of the farm work but most of the ground is rented to his son Merle. Another son, Lyle an electrician, lives in Kanawha and a daughter, Eleanor, Mrs. Don Abbas on a farm 1 mile south of Britt. Actually, he says, he is semi-retired.

One of the recent conveniences, we learned about, for his farm, was the installation of natural gas in his home. He also has a line running to his hog house ready for hook-up in the fall.

Besides the usual grain farming, Art says they aim to fatten out 80 to 100 head of hogs, 20 head of Beef cattle and keep about 25 head of sheep to clean up after the other livestock.

Although he likes to go on trips and to fish, because of his health, he has been advised not to go too far and to get too tired. So he tries to obey the rules by keeping his time occupied with affairs at home and in his community.

INCREASED STATE SCHOOL AID IS ONE PROBLEM THE LAWMAKERS MUST SOLVE

One of the biggest problems that will face the next Iowa general assembly is that of increased state support for the public schools. Awareness of this stickler was shown by the governorship nominees of both the Republican and Democratic parties during the recent primary campaign, and regardless of which may win the office a pledge exists to find ways and means of expanding state aid. It's been estimated that close to $20,000,000 additional revenue would be needed to enable the state to provide 25 per cent of the funds needed for public school operation.

As you have perhaps read in the daily press, this introduces the question of how that amount of money is to be raised. One of the most feasible, potential sources appears to be extension of the present two per cent sales tax to include services as well as merchandise. It seems to us that if certain services were excluded (doctor and dentist bills, for example), this type of tax would be about as fair as any. Some criticism has been expressed regarding the service-tax on the complaint that it does not take into sufficient consideration "ability to pay."

In other words, a part of the burden now borne by property owners through taxation on their property for financial support of the schools would be shifted to ALL the population. In this day and age, it is a moot question if ownership of real estate accurately indicates an "ability to pay" that exceeds the ability of the average renter.

So many families with moderate incomes have made the transition from "renter" to "owner" status through the auspices of FHA and the GI Bill that property ownership does not reflect the degree of financial independence that it once did. Perhaps there would be more than a small degree of justice in placing a larger share of the burden of school financing on the general public.

Two things should be borne in mind when studying the problem of state school aid. Assuming efficient administration of the state-collected funds, the cost of statewide school operation should run no higher with the state footing more of the bill than under the existing circumstances — with propertyholders bearing the very major part of the load. If state taxes for school purposes go UP, local taxes for the same purpose should come DOWN, correspondingly. The main consideration is WHO puts the money in the kitty.

Secondly, with reorganization sweeping the state and more and more farm land being included in "community school districts" such as Belmond's, equitable distribution of school taxes becomes a critical matter. A considerably larger appropriation than the present $5,000,000 per year for agricultural land tax credits MUST promptly be forthcoming. Otherwise, the rural landowner will be collared with an exhorbitant share of school costs.

As we noted, an obligation to see that something is done rests upon both gubernatorial candidates. So regardless of who achieves the governor's chair, his election will represent a mandate that state school aid be given a high place among the problems to be solved during the 56th General Assembly.

"LIFER" RUNYAN GAINED FOR OTHERS A "BREAK" THAT'S BEEN DENIED TO HIM

It probably came as no surprise to Tom Runyan, Fort Madison penitentiary inmate who is unquestionably one of the most widely known "lifers" in America, that the state parole board recently found "no basis at this time for recommending a commutation" of his life sentence. In his best-selling book, "In For Life," published this year, Runyan was outspoken in his criticism of the reluctance the board has too often — in his opinion — shown toward giving a second chance to prisoners who have apparently earned it.

Also as editor of the prison magazine, "The Presidio," he has campaigned strenuously for a more realistic attitude toward parole on the part of the board. It is worthy of note that his crusading has clearly borne fruit and that in general the parole board has exhibited increasing tolerance during recent years — even if that tolerance does not encompass his own case.

Runyan, it may be recalled, launched upon the escapade that halted his rather extended career of crime when he and two companions stole a car from a vacationing family just south of Belmond back in 1935. During their flight, which followed a bank hold-up, a young farmer from Britt was fatally shot. Although a post mortem revealed that Runyan had not fired the death bullet, he was sentenced to life as an accomplice.

In his book — which is remarkably interesting reading and which is available at the Belmond library — Runyan recounts in frank detail his life of crime and his subsequent existence as a life-term prisoner at Fort Madison. There can be no question but what his writings in "The Presidio" have helped to bring about important reforms at the penitentiary — and in the attitude of the parole board toward prisoners who have ostensibly been rehabilitated to a degree that justifies making them eligible for parole.

Unless circumstances have changed since his book was written, Runyan likely was not too disappointed by the recent refusal of the board to grant HIS freedom. A federal retainer order has hung over his head all these years, based on a crime that pre-dated the one for which he was sentenced. Should he be released from Fort Madison, he would have to stand trial in federal court — and he regards a life sentence to San Quentin as the probable outcome.

Having read his book and been deeply impressed by its obvious honesty, we regret that Tom Runyan is not permitted to enjoy the freedom that he has helped to win for others. He has fully paid his debt to society — with interest. As his biography is more and more widely read, we suspect that increasing pressure will be brought to bear that Runyan be meted the same sympathetic justice he has won for numerous fellow inmates. To that end, this represents our "two cents worth."

Tot Badly Gashed In Odd Accident

Dean Barkema, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Barkema, received severe lacerations on his back about 6:00 p. m. Monday when he tumbled out of the family car and fell on some broken glass. He was rushed to Belmond Community hospital, where some 30 stitches were required to close the deep wounds. He will still be hospitalized for several days, though at mid week he was making a good recovery.

The little tot, who will be three in September, was in the car with his mother as she was backing it down the lane leading to their farm home. Apparently the door came unlatched. A glass pie plate fell out of the car ahead of the youngster, broke, and little Dean fell back down on the pieces. Mrs. Barkema had shortly before taken her husband's supper out to him in the field, accounting for the pie plate being in the car seat.

Belmond Locals

Mrs. Leota Singmaster of Des Moines spent the weekend visiting her mother Mrs. R. J. Bamford and other relatives.

VOL. 34 NO. 40 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Williams' recent celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary found them receiving a unique gift among the many remembrances that relatives and friends presented to them in honor of the occasion. It was a gilded horseshoe that was made back in '88 by Mrs. Williams' grandfather to serve as a memento of his own Golden Wedding Day. It has acquired the status of a family heirloom and is to be passed along to each succeeding member of the family who achieves the distinction of living to attain—with his or his or her mate—50 years of wedded life.

The grandfather, S. M. Richardson of Clear Lake, was one of that community's earliest settlers. He lived to be more than 100 and this fact might be regarded to bode well for those so fortunate as to "inherit" the lucky horseshoe.

In the 66 years since the horseshoe marked the Richardsons' 50th anniversary, the Williams are second in the line of descent to qualify for ownership of the good luck token. Four years ago it went into the possession of a cousin of Mrs. Williams, R. R. Rogers of Clear Lake, as his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were present at the Williams' open house to pass along, personally, the charmed horseshoe. The tradition presents an interesting goal to Mr. and Mrs. Williams' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nicolet of Milwaukee. They have 25 years to go to "win" the horseshoe.

In case you have wondered why the mayor's docket report is regularly interspersed with names that are unaccompanied by addresses, the omission is due to a penchant of Chief Art Awe for putting down on his tickets only the defendant's street address and not the city where he lives. We're appointing Art's granddaughter, Mona McLaughlin (gatherer of local items for The Independent), as a committee of one to sell her grandpop on the desirability of recording ALL of the answers—including "where" as well as "who," "when" and "what." The reportorial "why" we're willing to waive, where traffic violators are concerned. They'd probably just fib if you did ask 'em, Art.

John Crosby, the noted radio and television critic, reports that a new phrase has been introduced by the fraternity of hucksters to indicate, "I like the idea but let's, for goodness sakes, proceed cautiously." . . . "Let's smear it on the cat and see if she licks it off?" . . . Purty good, huh?

Mainstreeter Gallagher had a spot of religion administered to him in most enjoyable fashion last weekend during a visit to his ex-home town, Grinnell. He'd made a Sunday morning golf date with some buddies, who inquired whether he'd like to join them at church before assembling at the first tee. Seems that the Congregational minister decided that if he couldn't whip 'em he'd jine 'em and holds a brief service each Sunday at 7:30 a. m. especially for back-sliding club-swingers.

He reads a short sermonette in the form of a letter that opens, "Dear Turf-Slashers:" . . . . A responsive reading and prayer completes the service, whereupon a bite of breakfast is enjoyed by all and the golfers turn to the business at hand.

It was a pleasing experience, though it creates more of a sense of self-righteousness than the circumstances perhaps justify. How complete a feeling of well-being ensues was demonstrated dramatically by one member of the foursome. A friend in a car caught up with us on the 13th hole to report the gent's factory had apparently been broken into overnight and the fire department had just been called to his home to extinguish the roast. He calmly finished out the round and was three under par for the last five holes!

Three "old men"—old enough to know better—challenged a gang of Boys Scouts to a race last Sunday afternoon at the city park as a delegation of local Scouts assembled to depart for a week's sojourn at Camp Roosevelt. Oddly enough, the oldsters backed up their boast of superior speed with remarkable success. The challengers were Lem Long, Mainstreeter George Hansen and "Doc" Sam Leinbach. Their opponents were largely in the 11-to-12 age bracket.

All of the adult sprinters were able to be on the job Monday, so they apparently "got by with it," OK. A sprint of approximately 60 yards was involved.

Lem Long steamed in first and would have had time to pick daisies along the way, so great was his lead. "Hans" made it to the finish line second, but rather spoiled the effect of his yeoman effort when he tripped and tail-spinned into a somersault. It took Sam quite a distance to work up a head of steam, but dependable witnesses report he hit a very respectable pace once he got completely into gear.

Several Disagreements Characterize Sessions When Bodies Set Non-Elective County Officers' Salaries

Salaries of three non-elective county officers have been raised, effective with start of the new 1954-55 fiscal year. In the case of two of the officials, some disagreement existed as to term of appointment or amount of salary among members of the governing body responsible for the making the appointment.

Re-named to the offices they are currently filling were P. T. Struck, county engineer, C. W. Sankey, county superintendent, and F. Ross Henry, assessor.

Struck Salary Same

When the board of supervisors considered the reappointment of County Engineer Struck, an initial motion was made by A. W. Christopher that Mr. Struck be rehired at the salary of $5,000 annually, but for one year only. This motion was defeated for lack of a second.

Then Carl Kelling moved and George Trowbridge seconded a motion to reappoint the engineer at the same salary for a period of three years. This motion was approved by a voice vote; no record was made of the individual balloting.

Conference Board Disagrees

When the conference board gathered at the courthouse last Thursday to act on the reappointment of Assessor Ross Henry, a wide variance of opinion was expressed as to what the officer's salary should be. It was agreed that each of the 14 board members present should record his personal idea regarding the proper salary and that an average should be struck.

Proposals ranged from $3,000 to $6,000, compared to the assessor's 1953-54 salary of $4,000. The average of all the suggestions approximated $4,500 and that was the figure settled upon, representing a $500 raise. The salary of Florence Breckenridge, assistant to the assessor, was raised from $2,625 to $2,528.

Sankey Gets Raise

Membership of the county conference board is comprised of the mayors of all the incorporated towns in the county, the board of supervisors and the board of education. Vote of the group was eight to six in favor of Mr. Henry's reappointment at the proposed salary.

A raise of $300 annually was voted County Supt. C. W. Sankey by the board of education. He has been receiving $5,000 per year. This action, taken some weeks ago, was regarded by the board as justified by the heavy burden that school reorganization has placed on the superintendent's shoulders.

Ed Bailey Gives Up Job as City's Maintenance Supt.

What might be regarded as the end of an era was marked at a special meeting of the city council last Friday night when the city fathers accepted the resignation of Ed Bailey from the position of city maintenance superintendent. Mr. Bailey witnessed much of the growth of Belmond and contributed in no small part to that growth.

He had been a city employee for the past 15 years. For nearly half of that period he was water superintendent, being transferred to his present capacity when Glen Eccles succeeded him as head of the water department.

But even before he was directly employed by the city, Mr. Bailey played an important role in Belmond's development during a long career as an independent contractor. He has lived in or near Belmond for the greater part of 70 years, excepting a decade spent in Garner operating a dray business.

In partnerhip with George Hake, Ed put in the original, municipal water system that consisted of about 4½ miles of mains. That was back in 1913. He also constructed most of the mains that have been added during the intervening years.

Although seriously handicapped by lameness in recent years, Mr. Bailey had kept faithfully at his duties. It was with some regret, very understandably, that Ed arrived at the decision to retire. In speaking to the Independent reporter of his retirement, Mr. Bailey commented enviously on the wonderful opportunities open to today's contractors.

"If I were just 20 years younger," he declared, "I'd be right back in that business."

THREE BELMOND COUPLES ATTEND SPEECH CONTEST

Three members of the Belmond Toastmasters club and their wives attended the Toastmasters' regional speech contest that was held Saturday evening at Omaha. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bunnell.

Competing in the contest were the four survivors of earlier eliminations conducted in 14 states and four Canadian provinces.

FIRST CUSTOMER to buy a broom from the Lions club to help towards that organization's welfare fund was, appropriately enough, Mrs. H. Hokel, wife of Belmond's mayor. She is shown above listening to Cecil Carstens' "pitch" as His Honor looks on. Advertisements in today's paper relate when and where the Lions will sell the brooms. Since the sale will serve the joint purpose of helping the blind persons who made the brooms and creating a welfare fund for deserving, needy children in the Belmond schools, the Lions hope the public's response to the project will be both cordial and generous.

Throng of 150-200 Kids Expected To Participate in 2nd Fish Derby

A crowd of boys and girls to equal or surpass the 150 that participated in last year's Fish Derby is expected to be on hand for the repetition of Kids' Fish Day scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. A fine collection of cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded to winners in the various classes of competition, Chairman M. B. Dannewitz reports.

Any and all children from the age of six through 14 will be eligible to compete in the event, which is co-sponsored by the PTA Summer Recreation program and the Belmond Sportsman's club.

New Location

This year's Fish Derby site will be the gravel pit which is located two miles west on Cornelia road, three-quarters of a mile north and another quarter of a mile west on the south side of the road. Game Warden Bill Ayers will supervise stocking of the pit with 1,000 bullheads imported from Spirt Lake and provided by the state conservation commission.

Fishing competition will be divided into four separate classes; one each for boys and for girls in the 6-through-10 age brackets, also for boys and for girls age 11 through 14. There will be three prize divisions in each class, providing a total of 12 prizes to be awarded on the basis of fish caught.

Five Rods and Reels

Rods and reels will be presented to the boys and girls in each of the four classes who catch the largest number of fish. Cash prizes will go to four winners in the "smallest fish" division and also to the four who catch the biggest fish among the contestants in their respective age group.

Another rod and reel will be awarded to the youngster catching the biggest fish of the day. This winner will be ineligible for any of the other fishing prizes.

Additional prizes will go to the boy and the girl wearing the best Huckleberry Finn costumes and the contestant who has come from the longest distance will also be rewarded. Actually, ALL boys and girls taking part in the Fish Derby will be "winners," as the Chamber of Commerce is providing free treats for all participants.

Onlookers Welcome

Parents and friends of the contestants will be most welcome to be present for the fun, but can lend no assistance to the fishermen. Those youngsters having no other means of transportation will be given rides via school bus if they come to the city park at 12:45 p.m. Friday. All entrants must register at the gravel pit at 1:30 o'clock.

Boys and girls planning to take part in the Fish Derby are reminded that rods and reels cannot be used and that they must provide their own fishing poles and bait. Every precaution to assure the complete safety of the youngsters will be taken by the Sportsman's club.

Playground Items Stolen from Auto

Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod were called to Belmond this week to investigate the theft of some recreational equipment last Saturday night from the car of Dick Hobbs, director of the summer program.

Mr. Hobbs discovered Sunday morning that two bows and three dozen arrows had been stolen. A number of new baseballs, also in the car, were apparently overlooked.

Because Mr. Hobbs' big German police dog was in the car at the time the bows and arrows were stolen, the sheriff is inclined to think that the thief or thieves were from Belmond.
unaware of how friendly and docile
unwere of how friendly and docile Hobbs' pet is, would have risked entering the car while the dog was in it.

Annual Car-Safety Check Scheduled Here Next Monday, Tuesday Evening

July has been named by the Wright County Peace Officers association as "Safety Month" in Wright county and the annual countywide series of car-safety inspections is currently in progress. Belmond motorists will have their opportunity for a free check on their car's driving condition next Monday and Tuesday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Dows, Clarion, Goldfield and Eagle Grove all have been or will be the site of "Safety Lane" check-ups during the month. This is the third year that the countywide inspections have been conducted.

Inspection on Main Street

Sheriff Bob Blecker says that the sole aim of the "Safety Month" project is to make Wright county a safer place to live by acquainting drivers with mechanical flaws that might make their cars more liable to accidents. Inspection will be strictly on a voluntary basis, but all motorists are urged to avail themselves of the free inspection service.

"Safety Lane" will, as usual, be set up on Main street in front of the post office. All cars passing the required tests will be given safety stickers stating that they are in good operating condition. Defects discovered will be pointed out to the car owner so he can have them corrected. Belmond auto dealers and garages, local and county law officers will conduct the car-checks.

Ten Items Checked

On all cars, the following equipment will be tested for satisfactory performance or condition: (1) stop-light; (2) tail light; (3) headlights; (4) horn; (5) windshield wipers; (6) brakes; (7) wheels, for alignment; (8) tie rods; (9) dimmer switch; (10) directional lights.

During last year's safety check in Belmond, 275 cars were inspected and 62 per cent were found to be in good operating condition. That meant that 105 of the cars possessed mechanical defects that made them hazardous to those riding in them.

During "Safety Month," members of the peace officers association are rewarding especially careful and courteous drivers with a "summons" to the nearest restaurant for a free cup of coffee and doughnut—a practice initiated last year.

CHURCH GROUP HAS PICNIC

The Young Married Methodists had a picnic dinner Sunday in the Clarion park. Fifteen families attended.

Auto-Truck Mishap Tuesday Claims Life of Donald Mourlam at Age 33

Donald D. Mourlam, 33-year-old trucker, was killed in a collision that occurred on a gravel road a mile north and 14 west of Belmond about 2:00 p. m. Tuesday. He was driving east in a '52 Ford gravel truck owned by Oscar Nelson when the rear of his vehicle was struck by a '51 Chevrolet sedan driven by Mrs. Dorothy May Abels, 25, of Kanawha, who was headed south.

When questioned by Sheriff Bob Blecker, Mrs. Abel said that she "just didn't see the truck coming." Mrs. Abel had her three children in the car with her. She and the youngsters—Steven, Paul and Patricia, ages six, three and 1½—all escaped injury.

Impact of the collision tipped the empty gravel truck and it rolled over on the road. Although there were no witnesses, Sheriff Blecker said that the position of Mourlam's body suggested that the truck apparently rolled over the driver after he'd been thrown from the cab. He must have died almost instantly, according to the sheriff.

An estimated $900 damage was done to the truck and it was estimated that repairs to the front end of the sedan would run around $200.

Mourlam had lived in Belmond for a good many years but had moved with his family to a farm home near Goodell the first of this month. He leaves his wife and two sons, Donnie, age seven, and Robert, two. Another son and daughter died in infancy and he was also preceded in death by his father, about a year ago.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. H. J. Mourlam of Belmond; two brothers, Raynard of Woolstock and Harvey, living in California; and six sisters—Mrs. Mamie Lucas of Fort Dodge, Mrs. Irene Sarber of Pickstown, S. D., Mrs. Gladys Thompson of California, Mrs. Frances Groen of Belmond, Mrs. Doris Hill of Alexander and Mrs. Josephine Lowenberg of Belmond.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:00 p. m. at the Methodist church, Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial will take place at the cemetery at Klemme.

"Big Draw" $300

Mrs. Laura Waltzing was the only winner of a Cash Gift Day prize this week. She presented one of the winning numbers at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday and received a $25 award. In an effort to help their patrons forget the heat, the business concerns sponsoring Cash Gift Day are boosting the prize money for next week. Once again there will be six $25 awards offered at 2:00 o'clock. But next Tuesday at 3:00 p. m., the "big draw" will be for $300.

TOT PAINFULLY BURNED

Bobby Carpenter, 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Carpenter, returned home from Belmond Community hospital on Wednesday of last week after being under treatment for burns. Flesh on both of his legs was severely burned when he stumbled into the bed of a bonfire, in which the coals proved still glowing.

If You Have Any Coupons to Spare, 4-H'ers Want 'em

Members of the Pleasant Pioneers and Belmond Busy Bees 4-H clubs are asking for a bit of help from the general public toward equipping their new clubhouse, which was formerly the Pleasant township Center school. They hope the response will be a ready one, as it won't cost a cent.

These boys and girls would like to receive such Betty Crocker silverware coupons as housewives of the Belmond vicinity are willing to contribute. These coupons are enclosed in a wide variety of General Mills grocery products.

Collections boxes are being placed at the Tip Top and P&G groceries to receive donated coupons. While the land and building for the clubhouse have been paid for, there is some ways still to go on equipping the meeting place. Receipt of enough coupons to defray most of the cost of needed silverware will be a big help.

Clarionite Jailed On Arson Charge

Russell J. Lamfers, Clarion kitchenware salesman whose car was destroyed by fire on Tuesday of last week, was arrested two days later on a charge of burning property to collect insurance by fraud. This action followed careful investigation of the incident by state and county authorities

Lamfers' '51 Nash was totally demolished by the flames in little over a half hour. He was given preliminary hearing Thursday in the court of Mayor Henry Jenkins at Clarion and bound over to the grand jury. He remained in the county jail until he succeeded in making arrangements for posting of a $1,000 appearance bond Sunday evening.

Failure of Power Makes It Dark!!

Belmond, like many another town on the Iowa Electric Light and Power company's power system through this part of the state, was plunged into darkness for about 45 minutes Sunday night through a mechanical failure at the Iowa Falls generating plant.

Cecil Carstens, local IEL&P manager, reports that a bushing in the main transformer burned out at Iowa Falls and the resulting build-up of steam caused a boiler tube to blow out at the generating station there.

Belmond and a number of surrounding communities remained without electric service until the local generating station was rushed into use.

Within a couple of hours, all line switches in the Iowa Falls area had been thrown in to bring the flow of current back to normal and the system was supplied with power by the Belmond plant and others at Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, Boone and Britt.

Ordinarily the local generating station does not operate from 11:00 p. m. to 7:00 a. m., but it was kept busy around the clock from the time of the power failure until 11:00 o'clock Tuesday night. By that time, repairs had been effected at the Iowa Falls plant that permitted it to return to normal operation.

Luicks Will Mark 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Luick will reach the 60th anniversary of their marriage next Monday and plan to celebrate the event a day in advance by holding open house at their home a mile east of town on Sunday. All of their friends are invited to visit them between the hours of 2:00 and 4:30 p. m. and join in observing the happy occasion.

Both of the Luicks were born in Belmond in 1873. She was Nellie Bullis prior to her marriage at the Clarion Methodist church on July 19, 1894. They first lived on the farm that is now the home of Dr. S. P. Leinbach but since 1899 have lived in their present farm home.

Joining with them in marking the anniversary will be their three daughters, Mrs. Edith Hill of Belmond, Mrs. Ethel Tuttle of Fertile and Mrs. Ralph (Emma) Watts of Clarion. The Luicks' descendants now include 10 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

VISITORS FROM OHIO

Mrs. Alfred Meyer of Toledo, Ohio, is spending a week in the Nickolie Nelson, Russell Lonnevik and Reuben Nelson homes.

Judy, the Mule, Now Age 34, Has Lived Strenuous and Eventful Life

This is the story of Judy, the Mule—and where fact leaves off and semi-fact enters the tale, your reporter is not certain. "Notes" were accumulated from a variety of sources as Judy's past was investigated, and they by no means always agreed. Nevertheless, Judy is a remarkable animal; of THAT, there is NO question.

In the first place, Judy is 34 years old. That's about the human equivalent of "goin' on 150." As near as we've been able to determine, she was originally the property of the Tyrrells. She now belongs to Virgil Koenen of Meservey and has for some years been living in rather active retirement.

We say "active" because Judy is not given to taking life as easy as her years would warrant. She's a "jumpin' mule" and has never seen a fence in her life that did not represent a personal challenge.

Virgil says that as a consequence he spends "too much" of his time bringing Judy home from the neighbors. She's definitely "one of the roving kind;" and she takes the highest barbed-wire, farm fence with all the nonchalance of a blooded steeplechaser in the Grand National.

Judy's life has been rich in variety and achievement. Probably the major highlight of all, though, was the time she helped put the power line through. She belonged to Andy Lamb when Central States Electric was stringing a link cable between Dows and Belmond. That was about 28 years ago. The utilities company was getting along with the project admirably until faced with proposition of getting the heavy wire across the Iowa river down around Dows.

It became evident that some assistance was boing to be needed—and Judy's fame being what it was, someone suggested she be assigned the task.

The end of the cable was fixed to her halter and she was pointed toward the opposite shore. Our equine Gertrude Ederle took off, swimming purposefully, and was given a heroine's welcome by a reception committee of linemen as she shortly afterward scrambled up the opposite bank.

This feat was recorded for posterity in the form of a photograph that hung for years in the Central States office at Iowa Falls. We like to think that it's still there, even though Iowa Electric Light and Power has succeeded to ownership of the power-distributing system.

Ed Bailey, then in the contracting business, acquired possession of Judy in a deal with the Tyrrells involving a team of work horses that the Tyrrells wanted. She was only a small colt at the time, and she never did acquire respectable size for a mule.

It's Andy Lamb's recollection that he bought Judy as a six-year-old for the price of $91 dollars.

As Ed Bailey remembers the deal, it wasn't nearly that simple. He recalls that the transaction involved exchange of Andy's rendering works south of town for 40 acres of peat ground that Ed owned; and Ed thinks that the local ice business was part of the "boot" Andy got, along with the mule.

We rather gathered that money was only used for "putting in the bank" in those days—and how anyone ever got ahold of some in the first place, we wouldn't know. Surely there were more "trades" than cash transactions.

Anyway, in this instance Andy ended up with the undergrown mule and the ice business and set about getting a similarly pint-sized male mule (by the name of Jack) to work in double harness with Judy.

He was a youngster six years the lady's junior but they made a fine team for hauling ice and gravel and whatever other heavy work fell their lot.

For about three years, after Otto Hanson had traded in a handsome team of bays and acquired a Ford touring car to cover his mail route, the now-veteran rural carrier borrowed Andy's mules for winter deliveries when the snow was deep. At a rental of $3.00 per day, they got the mail through for him—almost always. When the snow got belly deep, they sometimes lost enthusiasm for the job, Otto admits.

He says that once around the route was enough for them to learn it to perfection and they'd sidle up to each succeeding mail box like they'd been at the job for a lifetime. It took him about six hours to cover his 26 miles, with time out for lunch.

He says the critters' services were stronger on dependability than speed.

That's about the story of Jack and Judy. Jack passed to his reward several years ago at the equivalent age of only 80 or so, by human measurement. Andy, in the meantime, had sold the pair to John Koenen, Virgil's dad. So Judy's now living out the twilight of her life in solitude, if one disregards her fence-jumping proclivities.

Probably her frequent visits to the surrounding farms is for the purpose of relating to her more stodgy equine and bovine neighbors how SHE "swum the Iowa" to get the power line through. Could be?

FROM THE APPAREL Virgil Koenen's attired in (above) as he posed with Judy, it is clearly apparent that the picture was NOT taken during the past week. Judy was thinking about hurdling the barnyard gate as soon as her master turned his back—accounting for that "far away" look in her eye.

Tossing a 13-hit attack at opposing pitcher J. Bonner, Belmond's Tomahawks got the last half of their Quad-County card off to a good start here Sunday by whipping Swaledale, 13 to 2. Jake Koenen hurled good ball for the winners, allowing only six hits.

Swaledale was scoreless until the 8th inning, when Tom Bonner cracked out a homer that scored Miller in front of him. One of the longest wallops seen at the local diamond in some time, Bonner's four-bagger hit halfway up in the tree in left field and the ball would probably have ended up in Christie's pond had there been no obstruction in its way.

Denny Scott wielded the heavy bat for Belmond. In the 5th he lashed out a homer with two men on base. He collected three other hits, two of them being doubles.

At the end of the first round of league play, Kanawha and Eagle Grove appeared to have berths in the play-offs at the season's end pretty well cinched. There is a wide-open race for the final, two play-off spots, though, with the Tomahawks still in the running.

Top division teams will compete in the post-season eliminations. Belmond will have a chance to advance into a tie for 4th place when the 'Hawks tangle with Rockwell this Sunday at Rockwell. The young Tomahawk crew has been hitting hard in recent games and they remain very hopeful of bettering their standing in the second half and getting a crack at some of that play-off money.

QUAD-COUNTY TEAMS PLAN TO SPONSOR BENEFIT DANCE

Faced with a shortage of operating capital due to rather small game attendance, members of the various teams in the Quad-County semi-pro baseball league are endeavoring to add a few dollars to the league coffers with a benefit dance.

Jack Lansing reports the ball players are peddling ducats for the appearance of Jules Hermann at the Surf ballroom, Clear Lake, on Saturday of this week. Support in the way of ticket purchases will be greatly appreciated.

Cubs Down Yanks, 3 to 1, to Retain Peewee Top Spot

Cubs	3	0
Cards	2	1
Yankees	0	3

Kenny Hawley turned in another sparkling mound performance in Peewee play last week, helping his Cubs to win an exciting battle from the Yankees, 3 to 1. Jeff Hansen did a commendable job of twirling for the losers but couldn't match Hawley's effectiveness as the latter allowed but a single hit.

The second game a week ago Tuesday was just the reverse of the first. Base hits were a dime a dozen as the Cards lambasted the Braves, 26 to 7. "Mighty Mite" Alan Dean was the winning pitcher, while Bobby Whipple, Mike Crimmings and Mark Mason shared hurling duties for the Braves.

Thirty-Three Try Out

Thirty-three Peewee players participated in try-outs Thursday afternoon as Coach Dick Hobbs looked over his material with a view to picking an all-star aggregation to meet Kanawha on Friday. Not all of the boys who have been regularly taking part in league games were able to be present for the trials.

Aspirants for all-star berths and the positions at which they tried out were: catcher — Gordon Johnson and Cecil Eccles; pitcher — Kenny Hawley and Emmett Studebaker; 1st base — Jeff Hansen, Tom White, Mike Long and Larry Tideback.

Fourteen Outfielders

Second base — Alan Dean, Hawley and Johnson; shortstop — Roger Ginapp, Bob Lerdal, Art Jenison and Richard McLaughlin; 3rd base E. Studebaker, Richard Peddicord, Bob Negrete and Ginapp.

Outfield — Johnny Murray, Bobby Whipple, Jerry Kaduce, Mark Mason, Robbie Courson, Johnny Shepard, Dwight Mennenga, Gary Luick, Bruce Leinbach, Walt Hotvet, Merle Robbins and Chuck Studebaker; 3rd and outfield, Denny Gallagher; 1st and outfield, John Dannewitz.

Hawley No-Hitter Defeats Kanawha

Kanawha's peewee baseball club found the Belmond All-Stars much too tough last Friday afternoon and the locals chalked up a 6-3 victory in their first start against out-of-town opposition. Kenny Hawley hurled no-hit ball for the victors.

Hawley had a little trouble with control in the first inning and the visitors racked up a couple of unearned runs when an error followed on the heels of a pair of walks. Kanawha tallied another unearned score in the 4th due to a couple of Belmond errors.

Belmond tied up the score in its half of the opening fram when Jeff Hansen and Bob Lerdal received walks and Mark Mason brought them home with a clean hit. The winners went ahead in the second when Mason hit again to score Merle Robbins and Lerdal, who'd gained base on an error and a safety.

Gordie Johnson counted for Belmond in the third. He made base on an error and Johnny Murray and Robbins followed with hits. Mason, who'd already batted in four runs, accounted for Belmond's final tally in the 4th when he hit safely and then crossed the bag as Hawley got on through an error.

Altogether, the Belmond boys collected six hits, half of them being produced by Mason. Hawley's fast ball was too hot for the visitors to cope with and he fanned two men in each of the five innings for a total of 10. The only passes he allowed were the two in the first inning.

Next week the Peewee All-Stars travel to Clarion for a 5:00 p. m. game on Monday and play host to Clear Lake at 3:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

ORIOLES HAVE AN EYE ON TWO MASON CITY BRAVES

A pair of baseball prospects from this vicinity are under serious consideration by the Baltimore Orioles, according to Jack Lansing, scout for the American league team.

They are Bill Banker of Summit, Ill., and Don McCarten, erstwhile University of Minnesota diamond luminary. Both have been playing for the Mason City Braves and showing to good advantage.

Banker pitched last school year for the University of Pennsylvania and McCarten played third base for the Gophers. Both are slated for an air trip to Kansas City soon to be looked over by top scouts of the Oriole organization.

New Supplement For Cattle Feed Shows Promise

Wright county farmers who attended the 36th annual Cattle Feeders "Hey" Day at Iowa State college Tuesday returned home pretty well convinced that feeding of diethylstilbestrol may be the key to more profit that they've been looking for. State college specialists first reported on the feeding of 'stilbestrol to fattening cattle last February. Tests in the meantime have been impressive.

C. C. Culbertson, Wise Burroughs and their livestock nutrition research staff told "Hey" Day visitors that steers fed during the winter on cornstalk silage and finished on ground shelled corn gained faster and at less cost per pound of gain when they received 10 milligrams of 'stilbestrol daily in a 243-day feeding experiment.

Test reports were also presented that showed 'stilbestrol feeding saved about 10 per cent in feed cost for fattening heifers in an experiment at the Southwestern Iowa Experimental farm at Shenandoah last winter and spring. Burroughs said two experienced cattlemen observed the heifers every day and noticed no adverse effects. They concluded that the heifers were normal in every respect.

Five milligrams of 'stilbestrol fed in wintering rations for yearling steers in another test saved from 1.5 to 3 3 cents per pound of live-weight, the research staff reported. This trial was conducted at the Western Iowa Experimental farm at Castana from Dec. 18 of last year up to April 24.

Klemme Friends Fete Wellemeyer

Friends of Arthur Wellemeyer honored the veteran Klemme businessman last Saturday in recognition of the long period of time he has served the community as a merchant and as a civic leader. He opened the Wellemeyer furniture store in the spring of 1907.

During the intervening years he made the store one of the outstanding small-town businesses of its kind in the state. He sold the store in 1950 and since then has been connected with it only in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Wellemeyer served on both the town council and the school board and has been active during his 47 years in the community in virtually all civic undertakings for betterment of the town. His most recent activity was in behalf of the successful reorganization of the Klemme school district, to which he devoted much time and strenuous effort.

Three In County Raising Clintland Variety of Oats

A limited supply of the new Clinland oats will be available for general distribution to Wright county farmers for 1955 sowing. Wright county has three growers who have the seed this year to grow for increase and to be distributed this fall and winter. They are Lloyd Drury of Grant township, Oscar Engstrom of Boone township and G. M. Halverson, Jr., of Belmond township. Farmers who are interested can observe the new Clintland oats growing on these farms.

Clintland oats are a back cross between Clinton and Landhafer, which gives them high resistance to all races of crown rust present in North America. However, Clintland is susceptable to race 7 of stem rust. Clintland should be a few days earlier than Clintafe oats, which were released last fall and winter for general distribution over the county.

Farmers interested in obtaining the new oats for seed must make application through the County Seed Distribution committee. Application forms requesting the Clintland oats can be obtained from the county extension office at Clarion. Final date for receiving application will be Oct 1 The forms must be completely filled out and signed by the farm operator.

Even though a farm operator makes application for the new oats, he is not assured of getting the seed he asks. The supply will be limited and there may not be sufficient seed to meet the demand. If there is insufficient seed to fill the requests, the County Seed Distribution committee will allot the seed.

The price of the new Clintland oats cannot be more than $1.50 a-above the Nov. 1 Chicago cash price for U. S. No. 2 oats The oats must be certified seed and in new bags.

DO YOU KNOW VALUES?

NO DOUBT IN SOME LINES YOU DO—

A car dealer knows about what a used car is worth.

A stockman can accurately value a feeder steer.

The housewife knows what she should pay for groceries.

BUT—when a highly-trained roofing and siding salesman drops in and gives you the works, do you KNOW whether he is offering you a good value or half value?—Is his material durable?—How much should it sell for?

Oats Draw Most Attention During Recent Field Day

Oat plots provided one of the chief attractions at the field day on two experimental farms at Kanawha Thursday of last week. According to Aaron R. Bowman, Wright County extension director, the Clinton variety was hit hard by crown rust. Most of the infection probably came from locally grown buckthorn. The Clinton variety is completely susceptible to crown rust.

However, Clintafe and Clintland variety plots, located next to the Clinton plot, showed no crown rust damage but are suffering some damage from stem rust. The two new varieties are resistant to all races of crown rust prevalent in this area.

Standing near to the plots was a field of Cherokee oats. Although Cherokee is susceptible to some races of rust, its earliness allowed it to escape major infection. There was a great deal of stem rust present on a number of varieties.

Field day visitors also viewed the Branch and Ajax varieties. Research workers at the farms explained that Branch and Ajax are weak-strawed varieties. Thus, they should not be grown on exceptionally fertile soil.

Considerable "blasting"—or failure of the kernels to fill—was evident in many of the oat plots. The blasting was blamed on adverse weather conditions during critical stages in the oat plants' development.

More than 200 persons were on hand for the field day. It was held on the North Iowa Experimental Farm and the Clarion-Webster Experimental Farm. Both farms are located near Kanawha. The farms are owned by local associations and operated by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station for research work with crop varieties, fertility crop rotations and tiling.

It's not the H-bomb that worries me!

As a growing chick, I'm more concerned about disease No. 1 -- coccidiosis. It has bothered my parents and grandparents. In fact all my ancestors were troubled with "coxy." I wish the Boss would keep Sulquin on hand as a control when coccidiosis strikes. Used off and on in the feed, Sulquin prevents "coxy" breaks. It comes in either liquid or soluble form. It would ease my mind if the boss would buy Sulquin where he sees the sign...

ADAMS PHARMACY

When alfalfa was coming into its own as a forage crop in Iowa 40 years ago, it was regarded with repect that was tinged with awe. But right in this year of 1954, with crops burgeoning due to the (at least) ample rains, perhaps some farmers in these parts may view as a kindred spirit the writer of the following letter. It appeared in the July 1, 1914, Herald-Press. The Belmond paper identified it only as a "letter from and an Iowa friend":

"If you don't want lots of trouble, don't sow alfalfa in Iowa. Along in the middle of June when corn needed cultivating most, we had to stop and cut that durned alfalfa patch. It was all in bloom; three feet high. We had to haul in 20 big loads of hay.

"In July the folks in town invited us to spend a week attending chautaqua. I expect they were glad when they got my postcard, 'cannot come 'cause I got to cut that durned alfalfa patch.' Gee, it was hot hauling in that hay. Worser still, I got four bushel more of clean alfalfa seed and put it in. It's sure to grow. Next summer I expect I'll get to rest from hauling alfalfa only only on rainy days.

"It got to raining in September; first I knowed that durned alfalfa was three feet high again and all in bloom! Had to have another hair cut. Then I got a bill by mail that Barnum & Bailey circus would be in town. Durn my buttons if I don't have to miss that show for the first time in 40 years and haul in 20 more loads of that alfalfa!

"I got mad then and turned the pigs, the cows and calves all in; still kept right on growing. But still on cold ground hog days it makes mighty fine stuffing for the cows. Everything on the place eats it except the hired girl, and she hain't been here long.

Yours in trouble,
John Peterson"

PROTECT POULTRY AGAINST WORMS

Poultry raisers who ignore the possibility of worms in their birds are asking for trouble.

Worm damage is not readily seen. Therefore, it's easy to think that birds are normal because they look normal. Yet all the while worm infections may be building up.

Most birds are exposed in some degree to worms. With today's better-bred, better-fed flocks, worm infections must be moderate to heavy before damage causes marked outward symptoms. Unless the poultry raiser has occasion to open up a few birds he will not know the extent of the worm infection.

Production Off

Then comes the rule awakening. A good flock, which should reach 70 or 80 per cent egg production in the fall may lay at only 50 or 60 per cent. Broilers show disappointing gains and fleshing when marketed. Sooner or later, birds carrying heavy worm burdens visibly break down.

A sound sanitation program will reduce chances of worm infection. This means keeping birds off old range or contaminated litter and practicing a constant clean-up program. Feeding a good ration will lessen the effect of worms.

Birds that have become infected should be given regular worming treatment. Since the principal worms reproduce on a 28 to 30 day cycle, a monthly worming schedule is usually recommended.

Worming Treatments

Use the wormer that suits your needs. Some treatments can be given in the feed to reach the entire flock whereas others are in tablet form and involve handling of individual birds. Some treatments are for only certain kinds of worms. There is a tablet that removes large roundworms, cecal worms, tapeworms and intestinal worms—the main species that parasitize poultry in the intestines.

Many raisers adminster worm removers to birds every month as a matter of practice. When continued through the growing season and also after fall housing, this system is very effective.

A good worm control program during the summer will not only encourage high egg production in the fall, it will also promote uniform growth. If no methods or means of worms control is enforced, an entire flock may soon be ruined.

59-lb. Pig Raised in 56 Days Wins FFA Contest

Fifteen members of the Future Farmers of America, Friendly Service chapter, competed with one another this spring and summer to see who could produce the heaviest porker and most outstanding litters in a 56-day weight test. Results of the contest were delayed by the departure of Don Collinson; but now that his successor as vocational agriculture instructor, Francis Kelly, is on the job, tabulations have been made available.

Veteran hog-raisers of the vicinity may feel the urge to question some of the young Future Farmers as to how they did it, after they look over the FFA boys' achievements. There's no question but what any of their elders would be most happy to have a hog lot full of spring pigs matching the 59-pound specimen that was produced by Harold Tendall during the contest period.

Litter Averages 51.2

Harold also had a litter of five that averaged 51.2. Other particularly outstanding achievements were reported by Steve McLaughlin, whose lone project litter of nine included a 55-pounder and averaged 47.4 pounds at the end of the 56 days; and Jerry ,Toft, who also had a nine-pig litter that averaged 42.2 and included one that weighed out at 53 pounds.

Trailing these boys by only a narrow margin were Roland Jenison, whose contest sows raised fine, healthy litters of 12 and eight pigs, respectively, that averaged 38.8 and 29.6 pounds at the 56-day mark; and Kenneth Halfpap, who raised five litters that averaged 6.4 in size, 37.6 in weight and included a 55-pounder. Ken's record was marred somewhat by the fact that a sixth sow lost all of her pigs.

Prize to Tendall

Harold Tendall will receive an award for producing the heaviest pig among the 261 the contestants had in their project litters. Mr. Kelly says that another prize will go to the boy judged to have turned in the best management job. Winner of this award will be chosen by a committee after a study of the individual project records.

Following is a compilation of the project performances of the various contest entries, showing number of litters, number of pigs in the litters, average weight and heaviest pig: Harold Tendall (2), 5 and 5, 51.2 and 36.6, 59 and 43 lbs.; Steve McLaughlin (1) 9, 47.4 and 55 lbs.; Jerry Toft (1) 9, 42.2 and 53 lbs.; Jim Fetrow (1) 8, 37.25 and 43 lbs.; Roland Jenison (2) 8 and 12, 29.6 and 38.8, 33 and 53 lbs.; Larry Schimp (2) 9 and 4, 35.16 and 38.5, 45 and 40 lbs.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Iorio and baby of Omaha, Nebr., spent the weekend at the parental George Lieuwen home.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lonnevick entertained dinner guests in their home Sunday following the christening of their infant son, Wayne Russell, at St. Olaf church. Present for the occasion were Mrs. Alfred Meyer of Toledo, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Olson of Forest City, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Nelson and family of Scarville, Paul Peterson of Badger, Mr. and Mrs. Nickolie Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nelson and family.

Two Local Teams In Softball Loop

Two Belmond softball teams have affiliated with a newly formed, six-team league that is to start play on Friday night of this week. Elliott's and Helland and Long are the local entries. One "minor" obstacle to these teams' participation in the league has developed, however, in the form of no home diamond to play on.

K. Ketchum is the H&L manager and Jim Cairns is manager of Elliott's. Both have been endeavoring to find some individual or business establishment willing to underwrite the cost of installing floodlights at the school diamond. To date, their their efforts have been unsuccessful and they would welcome any offers of help—or suggestions.

Other teams in the new league are Latimer, Thornton, Sheffield and Root's of Latimer, an aggregation of rural players. A double round of home-and-home games is planned with the first tilts scheduled for this Friday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Elliott's goes to Latimer for their opener; but Helland and Long is supposed to play here, and that's where complications set in. Ketchum says that last year's softball season ended with the local independent teams only 95 cents in the red, after all expenses—for lights, equipment and entry fees — had been paid out of gate receipts or by the team sponsors.

The 30 young fellows who play on the two teams are hopeful that someone will come to their rescue and make it possible for them to play home games. Anyone willing to step into the gap is asked to contact either Ketchum or Cairns.

Millers Planning 4-Team Tourney

Manager "Moke" Obrecht announces that the GMI Millers softball team has a four-team tournament scheduled for the General Mills diamond this coming Sunday evening. The first game will get underway at 6:30 o'clock, with the Millers taking on Woolstock.

Helland & Long is paired with Clarion in the second game and the two winners will meet in the nightcap.

Last Friday night at Manly, the Millers played one of their finest games of the year—but still went down to defeat. They were beaten by the strong Bud's Used Cars team of Mason City, a home run doing the trick by a 5-4 count in the bottom half of the 10th inning. The game was part of an invitational double-header.

Tokman Opposes Suit by Doctor

Louis Tokman, named as defendant in a suit recently filed in district court, has filed an affidavit in conjunction with the case stating that he has "a good defense to the whole action." He also points up the fact that the plaintiff, Dr. Meyer Z. Goldner of Minneapolis, is a non-resident of the state of Iowa.

The plaintiff seeks judgment for $43, plus interest of $6.09, for medical attention he says was given the defendant when he suffered an ankle fracture in April of 1947. The petition states that of a total amount of $73 due, only three $10 payments were made, the last being received in March of 1951.

On Wednesday of last week, R. A. Henderson, counsel for the defense, entered before the court a motion that the plaintiff be required to give security for costs of the action on the strength of the affidavit that has been filed by Mr. Tokman. The plaintiff's petition asks that costs of the case be assessed against the defendant.

Newcomer to GMI As Four Go "Up"

Recent arrival of Robert "Jake" Freshwater to join the General Mills staff as laboratory technician completed a chain of promotions that has been in progress at the soybean plant since Ray Karinen was advanced to a GMI position at Minneapolis this spring.

Mr. Freshwater, his wife Patricia and son John Gustason, born June 17, have an apartment at the Glenn Rierson residence. The new chemist is a Marine veteran of both World War II and the Korean war. He graduated from Parsons college at Fairfield in 1949 with a B. S. degree in physical education and then taught and coached a year at Farson.

After his stint in Korea, he was teacher and coach at Lockridge for a year and then returned to Parsons to obtain a B. S. in chemistry. He worked at the Iowa Ordinance plant as a chemist while attending school this past year.

Since Mr. Karinen's departure from Belmond, Dick Nutt has been promoted to the vacated position of refinery supervisor and Nymer Christiansen replaced Dick as safety and housekeeping supervisor. Nymer's promotion left an opening in the trainee staff, which was filled by Bob Hein, whom the new chemist is succeeding as laboratory technician.

Library Receives New Gift Volumes

Librarian Faye Colby reports that several additional volumes have been added to the library shelves in recent weeks through the medium of the BOOK FRIENDS club.

Thera Fitts has given the library the recently published autobiography of Charles Lindbergh, "Spirit of St. Louis."

With a view to placing some anti-Communist literature at the disposal of the library's patrons, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Rankins have contributed a subscription to the American Mercury magazine.

They also provided funds for the purchase of two highly-praised books that expose the viciousness of Communism, "Out of Bondage" by Bentley and "Twenty Year Revolution" by Manly.

North Iowa Fair Plans Shaping Up

What will be the biggest and most varied edition of the famed North Iowa Fair will get under way Aug. 10 in Mason City, according to Secretary M. C. (Cap) Lawson.

"In an effort to offer a varied and thrilling grandstand program, we have combed the nation from coast to coast," Lawson added. "It looks like our goal of having many changes of program before the grandstand will be achieved There will be a half dozen different changes of program during the six days of the fair."

Included on the grandstand program are the following features: motor cycle races, Pee Wee King and his nationally famous television stars, Gene Holters racing ostriches and dozens of animals, a gigantic Tournament of Thrills, a 100-mile stock race, a second appearance by Pee Wee King, big car races with many championship dirt track drivers and a huge amateur talent show. The 20th Century Shows will take over the midway and there will be many other outstanding attractions.

Lawson indicates that all concession space has already been sold, a guarantee that interest is at an all-time high for the 1954 North Iowa Fair. He also has announced that the livestock department will be filled to the rafters, that premiums offered will be higher than ever and that this year there will be a nationally sanctioned rabbit show on the grounds.

Two flower shows are also on tap, Lawson says, both shows to be larger than ever.

All in all, says the fair secretary, the show should be the best in a long series of fine North Iowa Fairs.

"If the folks want variety before the grandstand, that's what we will give them this year. They can come back often and see a completely different show."

Goodell Budget's 1955 Tax Needs Less Than '54's

Any Goodell taxpayers who might be momentaraily startled by a glance at the "proposed expenditures estimated for 1955" in the 1955 town budget need have no fear that the city council actually proposes to spend any such sum of money, City Clerk Bill Butts assures.

According to the budget appearing in today's paper, these "proposed expenditures" add up to $9,485, compared to $6,827 for the current year. These inflated figures are misleading, Mr. Butts admits, but are required by the existing state law as a bookkeeping formality. Actually, town expenditures next year will be around $4,000, just as has been the case in the past several years.

Only the column showing "amount necessary to be raised by taxation" has real significance in relation to city expenses, the city clerk points out. This year, that figure was $3,227 and the coming year's tax needs are set at only $3,085. Since both taxable valuation and the total of monies and credits have increased in Goodell during the past year (from $212,865 to $233,261 and $56,645 to $68,053, respectively), the millage rate for municipal taxes should actually dip downwards.

Only fund for which there is an appreciable increase in tax levy proposed is the street fund. Tax requirements of this fund have been boosted from $331 in the last budget to $900 in the new one, because the expense of the recent street program rather depleted the street fund balance. On the other hand, levy for the general fund was reduced from $850 a year ago to only $400 this time, to compensate for the increase in the street fund.

Law requires that expected income—from taxes or elsewhere—plus balances on hand be listed as "proposed expenditures." Because there will actually be some pretty comfortable balances on hand in the various funds at the close of 1954, Mr. Butts explains, the "proposed expenditures" column presents a total that varies from fact by a good margin. Except for the shifts in the general and street funds, the Goodell budget items will be virtually the same for next year as they were for this year.

Public hearing on the 1955 budget will be held on Aug. 2 at 7:30 p. m.

IF A LOYAL "EISENHOWER MAN," NOW'S THE TIME FOR TOM MARTIN TO PROVE IT

At the recent convention of Wright county Republicans, great stress was laid on the importance of getting Rep. Thomas E. Martin elected to the U. S. Senate. Both the keynoter and the convention resolutions pointed up the fact that the Eisenhower desperately needs a majority in both the House and Senate in the coming two years. No criticism was directed at the incumbent Iowa senator, Guy Gillette, other than the implied criticism that he couldn't logically be counted on to give the President the loyal support that might be confidently expected of a Republican senator.

We agree that President Eisenhower deserves the fullest opportunity to exercise his leadership. Certainly he won't possess that opportunity without a friendly majority in Congress. We regard that Senator Gillette has served his constituents both conscientiously and well. On the other hand, he owes his allegiance to the Democratic party and cannot but be swayed by that fact in his vote on issues that possess partisan aspects. Consequently, we feel it is important for Iowa Republicans to let their loyalty to Eisenhower prevail over their respect for Gillette.

Certainly, if Tom Martin IS elected to the Senate, his election will carry with it a mandate to abet the adminstration's policies and aims. This inevitably raises the question of whether Martin will fully respond to such a mandate. Actually, there is room for reasonable doubt in view of the attitude he has taken towards Eisenhower's pleas that a foreign military and economic aid program must be continued, at least on a reduced scale.

When a vote on the program was recently taken in the House, Martin was one of four Iowa Representatives (including Hoeven, Jensen and Gross, ALL Republicans) who voted against the bill. THAT kind of administration "support" certainly gives him no claim upon the Republican voters of Iowa who helped place Eisenhower in the White House. It would be well for Martin to understand well in advance that a vote FOR him this fall will not necessarily represent a vote AGAINST Gillette. Much more likely it will signify a vote FOR the principles of President Eisenhower. And it would also be most fitting, meanwhile ,that his actions in the House give us Iowans reason to be confident that he would perform as a worthy cohort of "our man" in the White House, should he gain that seat in the Senate.

WE DON'T WANT BELMOND TO POSSESS A REPUTATION AS A WEED "NURSERY"

Floyd Tourtelotte, county weed commissioner, paid The Independent a brief visit not long ago and made a remark that left us somewhate less than proud. He handed us for publication the annual weed-eradication notice (it appeared in the paper a couple of weeks or so ago) and said, "I hope you will give this a little editorial support. The fact of the matter is, Belmond—and Clarion—are the two most negligent towns in the county when it comes to fighting weeds."

Weeds we let flourish IN town this year will provide the seed for next year's edge-of-town crop of plant pests; and in due time they will complicate the efforts of our farmer friends to keep weeds on THEIR land under control. Effective weed control depends upon as nearly complete eradication as possible. It takes teamwork—and the weed commissioner says we haven't been a very cooperative member of the team in years past.

We've got a double reason for doing our bit this year. Not only do we help an important cause by laying low the weeds on our own property; but if you've waded through hip-deep undergrowth lately, you know how the pestiferous insect hordes flourish there. A weed destroyed this year may well mean dozens less to fight a year hence. How about we should get in there an pitch?

HERE'S A PRO-UTILITY EDITORIAL FOR CARSTENS; 'TWASN'T EVEN REQUESTED

Seems as if "Cec" Carstens, IEL&P's popular, local manager, is after us more or less regularly to give the utilities industry in general and his own company in particular a favorable plug. He cudgeled us into a Main Street item just last week. This week, we're going to surprise him. The following editorial from the Atlanta Constitution we found very interesting—and we KNOW it will bring a gleam to Mr. Carsten's eye. So we dedicate to our friend next door the following observations, which were headed . . . . FOR A PENNY:

America's light bill has gone up.

Average residential bills for electricity moved down steadily for 20 years until 1947, then they leveled off.

The Federal Power Commission says they have gone up slightly since then.

The reason is not merely a rate increase, although there have been rate changes. The larger electric bill reflects an increase in consumption.

Since 1947, the TV, the garbage disposal unit, the attic fan, the air conditioner have come into their own.

It takes only a casual count to reveal six to eight electric motors at work in the home with average equipment. The coils in the toaster, the stove and the curling iron take more current than the motors.

The power companies will tell you the operation cost is low.

For a penny, at New York rates, the housewife can toast 114 slices of bread or watch television two and a half hours. For a penny Sis can get five and a half hours of "Cross Over the Bridge" out of the record player.

"Honor the Light Brigade!" says the wife who appreciates the handy household gadgets that lighten her labor and her day. "Oh, what a charge they made!" her husband may complain when he goes to pay the bill.

The fact is that electric labor is cheap labor. Furthermore, it's skilled. How did we ever get along without it?

(Peeking over our shoulder as we clipped and pasted this item, Ye Ed's wife commented that that sounded like a lot of bread toasted for a penny. How about that, "Cec"?)

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

We believe you Main Street readers will get just as big a chuckle as we did out of the following, very timely observations of Stan Brotherton's from the Whittemore Champion. . . .

Every year about this time we stop and ponder the method employed by mosquitos in making their "bedroom allotment." Anyone who is not entirely devoid of his sense of feelings knows that no matter how many of the pests you slaughter before retiring, there is always one lone mosquito left in each bedroom after the lights are doused for the night.

He usually lays low until you are just on the verge of dropping off into peaceful slumber. At that point he takes a couple of trial runs a few inches above your ear, but always manages to find a neutral corner just a second before you hit the light switch with both arms flailing the night air.

Our nerves have been able to bear any night sound — the cricket, the police siren and the Hollywood muffler. But the awful drone of a lone mosquito in the confines of our boudoir is more than any man can stand.

We've spent many a humid summer night with a pillow over our head to shut out the terrifying buzz. Covers do no good. When you emerge perspiring from your shelter at sunrise, there at the foot of the bed rests the best fed mosquito in the business.

Sometimes they are so full, their tummy is almost transparent red with good old American blood. We can even recall the morning we peeked furtively over the edge of the sheets and met the sleepy gaze of a gorged mosquito who burped.

To our mind the Red Cross has missed a bet. A contract with the mosquitos on their bedroom allotment might be just the thing. A mosquito doesn't even have to leave a shot of rye with his victim.

—M-S—

Former-Sheriff "Lefty" Wilson found a flaw or two (OK, so it was a dozen or so) in the recent Main Street item regarding the historic pitchers' duel between him and Ray Harrell, later a starting hurler for the St. Louis Cards. Source of our information, you may recall, was a 19-year-old copy of The Independent. "Lefty" writes that, to give our readers a "true version of the game," he wishes to point out that . . .

This game was played at Corwith in 1932, not 1935 (we didn't say when, so you don't have us there, Lefty) . . . That it was 17 innings, not 27 . . . That Harrell pitched only the last nine innings for Corwith . . . That the final score was 0 to 0, not 2 to 1 . . . That the game was between Eagle Grove and Corwith, not Clarion and Corwith . . . That reason the game was referred to as 27 innings "was due to the fact that I had pitched a nine-inning game at Eagle Grove that afternoon before we went to Corwith for the night game."

"Lefty" adds, "I wish to further state that Harrell was a very fine competitor, both on and off the field; we had high regard for his ability after that long tussle at Corwith and watched his record with interest after he joined the St. Louis Cards." Guess that ought to cover the subject about as authoritatively as it could be covered. Thanks, Lefty, for putting us straight on a bit of local lore.

3:00 p.m.: $350!!

Mrs. Robert Summers was the lone winner of a Cash Gift Day award this week. She picked $25 on No. 2,200. The other $425 that numbers in The Independent and Belmond Buyers Guide would have won, had they been presented, went begging. Next week the CGD committee is "sweetening the pot" by adding an extra $50 to the 3:00 p. m. prize, bringing it to a total of 350 big, beautiful dollars. At 2:00 p. m. next Tuesday, a half dozen numbers will again be good for $25 prizes. The committee once again reminds numberholders that they MUST be in one of the participating stores at drawing time, as winners' names have to be phoned to The Independent within five minutes after the hour.

Meyer Pays $25 Fine Following Crash on Bridge

Gary Meyer, 17, was fined $25 and costs for attempting to pass in a prohibited area as one result of an accident that occurred about 1:15 a.m. Sunday on the Tyrrell bridge just south of town on Highway 69. Other results included irreparable damage to one of the cars involved, about $200 damage to the other and a collection of minor lacerations and contusions suffered by occupants of the two vehicles.

Charges were filed against Meyer by Patrolman Harland Sievers, who investigated the accident with the help of Patrolman Al Sparby. Sievers attested Sunday morning in the court of Mayor Henry Jenkins at Clarion that young Meyer honestly confessed he had attempted to pass the second car, driven by Amos Braland of Lake Mills, while it was crossing the bridge.

Mr. Braland, 49, was admitted to Belmond Community hospital for observation and was still a patient at mid-week. He was apparently thrown from his car and in glancing contact with either the bridge rail or highway surface suffered multiple "burns" or contusions. X-rays revealed no bones were broken. Mrs. Braland, 47, and their son David, 10, along with Meyer, required no medical attention other than dressing of minor cuts.

Meyer told the patrolmen that he misjudged his attempt to pass the Lake Mills car as both reached the bridge, going north. The '51 Mercury coach owned by the youth's father, Ted Meyer, struck the rear left fender of Braland's '51 Chevrolet. Impact of the collision hurled the right front end of the Braland car against the side of the bridge. The Chevrolet made a complete 180-degree turn, clockwise, again slamming into the bridge with the left front end.

Some way, Meyer's car synchronized its movement with the spinning of Braland's auto, got by it on the bridge, ran onto the left shoulder of the highway on the north and then crossed over into the right-hand ditch. Reconstructing the accident on paper, Patrolman Sievers remarked it was difficult to understand how a second collision between the cars failed to occur.

Shirley Eliason Given SUI Post

Shirley Eliason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Eliason, has informed her parents that she has been awarded a full instructorship in the art department of the State University of Iowa for the coming school year. She will also be assistant to Dr. Lester D. Longman, who is head of the department.

Miss Eliason received a Bachelor's degree in Art Education from the Chicago Art Institute in 1952 and since that time has been studying at SUI toward a Master's degree in Fine Arts. She hopes to have all requirements for this degree fulfilled before mid-August.

Dollar Days

A number of Belmond merchants are planning a joint Dollar Days promotion for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. They promise some real bargains during the three-event, which will be advertised in next week's issue of The Independent. Readers of this newspaper are urged to keep an eye out for these money-saving advertisements.

167 of 292 Cars Earn Safety OK's

This year's "Safety Lane," conducted Monday and Tuesday nights on Main street by the Wright County Peace Officers association, drew the biggest turn-out of safety-minded motorists in the three years the annual car-check has been conducted. A total of 292 cars—125 on Monday and 167 on Tuesday—took advantage of the free inspection. Last year the count was 275 and the year before, 238.

A larger percentage of cars were discovered to have mechanical faults this year than last. In '53, only 38 per cent of the autos passing through "Safety Lane" were denied "OK" stickers. This time, 43 per cent —125 cars—were discovered to have defects. The first year, 61 per cent "flunked" the examination.

Local mechanics, assisting members of the Peace Officers association in conducting the tests, found the most frequent faults to be headlights out of focus and wheels out of alignment.

Street Job Slow Because of Delay In Arrival of Oil

Mayor Henry Hokel informed The Independent on Tuesday of this week that the unintended delay in continuing the current street treatment project was caused by failure of the street oil to arrive on schedule.

In order to avoid the cost of demurrage charges on the tank cars, the oil shipments were to be staggered—one following another at about a two or three day interval. For some unaccountable reason, Mayor Hokel says, there was almost a two-week period between arrival of the first and second tank cars.

However, the second was on the Great Western tracks on Tuesday and the program of dust-abatement was to proceed as soon as the streets were dry following Tuesday's rain.

Altogether, the street department has ordered four carloads of the penetrating asphalt so there will be enough for all city streets and some extra for application on private drives and parking areas.

According to the shipping order, the third and fourth tank cars were to follow at short intervals after receipt of the second and the city council hopes that there will be no further interruption of the oiling of the streets.

State Institution, Soldiers' Relief Funds Show Rise

Both proposed expenditures for the coming year and the amount of money that must be raised by taxation are less in the 1955 Wright county budget than the corresponding figures for 1954, according to the budget estimate that appears in this issue on Page 7. The estimate was set at a meeting of the county supervisors held on Monday of this week. Hearing on the budget is scheduled for 10:00 a. m. on Aug. 6 at the courthouse in Clarion.

Total proposed expenditures of $880,000 are listed in the estimate, compared to $893,700 for the current year; and the amount to be raised by taxes is $476,000, compared to the $493,000 that was needed from taxes for the 1954 budget. Estimated rural millage required to meet the new budget is 11.4 and for cities and towns, 6.4; corresponding figures for actual levies required by the '54 budget are 11.3 and 6.6 mills.

Four Funds Remain Same

Only four funds are exactly the same in the '55 budget as for the present year: $3,000 for bovine tuberculosis, $6,000 for old age and survivor insurance, $10,000 for public employees' state retirement and $2,000 for the Eagle Grove Junior fair. All these sums are to be raised by taxation.

Six funds are being increased in the 1955 budget and will require more in tax monies. Topping this list is the state institution fund, with proposed expenditures up from $84,000 to $95,000 and tax requirements increased from $60,000 to $87,000. New laws passed by the state legislature have boosted the share of the state institution expense that the counties must bear for their inmates in these institutions, largely accounting for the $27,000 more in taxes that will be needed.

Soldiers' Relief, $30,000

An increase of $10,000 in both proposed expenditures and tax levy has been requested by the soldier's relief commission, raising both from $20,000 to $30,000. An explanation of the need for this increase could not be obtained from Don Champlin, secretary of the commission, prior to publication of this issue. Expenditures through this fund have been steadily increasing since the end of World War II. In 1946, the outlay was only $4,465.

Another $10,000 increase is attached to the 8-mill road maintenance fund, which is boosted from $140,000 to $150,000 — all to be raised by taxation. Over-all, proposed road expenditures run somewhat less than for the current year, however. For example, whereas $20,000 for road construction was raised by taxes for '54, no levy for construction is budgeted for this year; and whereas $25,000 was earmarked for road clearance (weed spraying and brush clearance) this year, only $13,000 is asked for 1955. This fund, raised entirely by taxation used only $8,934 in 1952 but expended $38,854 the following year due to purchases of equipment.

State Road Funds Down?

Due to the fact that receipts from state use tax were lighter the first half of this year, the supervisors list estimated income of only $280,000 from this source for next year compared to the $300,000 they anticipated for this year. This has the effect of reducing proposed county road expenditures for '55 by the $20,000 amount. Only time will tell whether the "guess" that receipts from the state will or will not be that much lower is accurate.

With a $50,000 unencumbered balance in the 2-mill road maintenance fund predicted, whereas there was none anticipated at the close of '53, this fund has been budgeted at $5,000 less than for '54. A $25,-

2nd-Brood Corn Borers Serious Threat in Wright

Will the second brood of European corn borers devastate Wright county's corn? This, says Extension Director Aaron Bowman, is the threat hanging over farmers of the connty for the next two or three weeks. Second brood of borers are expected to start laying eggs the latter part of this week in Wright, with the peak expected in another seven to 10 days, Bowman warns.

Reports show there are plenty of first-brood borers to give a heavy population of second-brood moths to lay eggs. Count of borers in some stalks run to 50 or more in quite a few instances. Most farmers, Bowman asserts, could find eight to 15 in practically every stalk of the early corn.

(C. E. Wilmarth of the Thompson Hybrid staff, believes there is a possibility that the borer infestation may prove as bad as in 1949, or worse. He also warns that army worms may cause extensive damage and recommends that their numbers be watched carefully.)

While many farmers sprayed for the first brood, some of the spraying was done too late to reach all the borers, the extension director says. Most of the corn in Wright county will still be in stages to be attractive to the second brood of borers, he adds, and will need treatment to avoid dropped ears.

Spraying is recommended when there are 100 egg masses per 100 stalks. Most egg masses will be found on leaves near the ear. Only high clearance outfits and aeroplane spraying can be used on second-brood borers.

Since the number of these outfits is limited, Bowman recommends that farmers should be alert, make careful counts of second-brood egg masses, and arrange for DDT and equipment for applying the spray.

Holtzbauer Named Post Commander

Martial Holtzbauer was elected commander of Eimbrink Post No. 35 of the American Legion as the Legionnaires voted on 1954-55 officers at a meeting of the post held Monday evening at the Veterans' Memorial hall. He succeeds Bill Dempsey as head of the local Legion.

Others elected to fill offices during the new year are: Bob Nelson, 1st vice commander; Paul Dorr, 2nd vice commander; M. E. "Gus" Taylor, adjutant; Marvin L. Pals, finance officer; Rev. Ralph Meyer, chaplain; Fred Fulton, historian; Arnold Alderson, sergeant-at-arms; and Fred Fulton, service officer.

Mr. Fulton was reelected to both of his offices, having held the same positions during the past year. He has been service officer for several years. Marvin Pals succeeds himself as finance officer, also.

Two trustees were elected as Legion representatives on the executive board of the Veterans' Memorial corporation. They were Bob Nelson, named for a three-year term to succeed Marvin Meinders, whose term expired; and Bill Dempsey, elected for a year to fill the vacancy left by Dan Veeder's departure from Belmond

LION'S SALE OF BROOMS UP OVER $625 MARK TUESDAY

More than $625 worth of brooms and rubber doormats had been sold by Belmond Lions club members prior to their wind-up "pitch" at the Sales Pavilion on Tuesday evening, according to Cecil Carstens, chairman of the benefit broom sale.

A complete report on what the venture netted for the Lions' welfare fund for deserving and needy school children will be ready for release next week. In the meantime, the Lions extend their thanks to all who helped make the undertaking successful.

IT ALL DEPENDS on point of view. That new police radio tower north of town appears in its true perspective at left, as Karen Hanson points at its pinnacle, 320 feet above the ground. At right, Karen appears to be nonchalantly laying a hand cross the tower's peak. Needless to say, the photographer resorted to a bit of trickery on this shot.

PAUL MILLIGAN
New Hospital Administrator

D. M. Man Taking J. Shepard's Job

Paul Milligan, 33, of Des Moines was chosen last week from a long list of applicants to succeed Jack Shepard as administrator of Belmond Community hospital. He started on the job this week and will work with Mr. Shepard until the latter leaves in mid-August to enjoy a vacation before enrolling as a graduate student in hospital administration at the State University of Iowa.

Mr. Milligan got his secondary school training at Dowling and North High schools at Des Moines and Parker High school in Chicago. He also has had two years of night school study in political science at Drake university. For the past 8½ years he has been employed by the state office of the Veterans Administration at Des Moines.

With the VA, Mr. Milligan has most lately served as chief of the mail and services section. He has had a wide range of administrative responsibilities, of such a nature that the trustees of the Belmond hospital felt that they would constitute excellent training for the post he is to fill here.

The newcomer is married to the former Phyllis Rose Rink of Clarion and they have three children — Kathleen, age five; Colleen, three; and David, 1½. While Mr. Milligan is looking for satisfactory housing accomodations in Belmond, he and his family are temporarily making their home with Mrs. Milligan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Rink, at Clarion.

Boost in Gas Rate Given Council OK

Members of the city council at a recent special session passed an ordinance permitting an increase in the rates charged in Belmond by the Iowa Electric Light and Power company for natural gas. Rate raises averaging nine per cent will go in force on July-August billings which will be payable in September.

Representatives of the utilities firm pointed out to the council that the gas rates charged up to this time have remained the same since natural gas was brought to Belmond in 1932. In the meantime, wage and equipment costs, the company's taxes and the rate IEL&P is charged for gas by its supplier have all gone up appreciably.

It was agreed by the council that conclusive evidence had been presented that the point had been reached where the rate being charged for gas did not allow the utilities firm an adequate return.

Under the new rate structure, a new minimum charge of $1.00 for 400 cu. ft. was set to replace the former minimum of $1.25 for 500 cu. ft. As before, the company will be permitted to charge 10 per cent penalty on the first $10 due on bills delinquent for more than 10 days and two per cent on amounts in excess of $10.

WYNIA'S MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Gertie Wynia, mother of Henry Wynia, died last Saturday morning at the hospital in Rock Rapids of injuries she suffered in an auto accident the previous day. Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Reformed church at Lester. Mrs. Wynia was known to a number of Belmond people from visits in the home of her son, who is manager of the Fullerton lumberyard here.

WINS IN STATE TOURNEY

Mary Gordon easily qualified for the championship flight in the Iowa Women's Golf tournament at Waterloo this week, turning in an 87 for 11th lowest score in the large field. In Tuesday's opening round she defeated Ann Roeder of Waterloo, 2 up, and was scheduled to meet Mrs. Patty Black of Des Moines in the second round on Wednesday

Detasseler Crews Greatly Reduced By Thompson Co.

A strong hint that the corn-detassler is headed for the same limbo that has claimed the buggy whip and the horsehair sofa is provided by the 1954 detasseling season of Thompson Hybrid Corn company. Whereas 600 to 700 workers have been busy in the seed fields at this time of the season in previous years, approximately 200 will suffice during the period of peak demand this summer, according to Oscar Lundstrum, head foreman of the detasseling detail.

Explanation of this trend is development of male-sterile female seed parent stock that does not require detasseling. This new type of seed parent has been used to some extent for the past four years but was available in greater quantity this year. About half the Thompson fields are planted with the male-sterile stock this season.

This has had the further effect of making it possible to mount practically all the detasseling crews on machines, thereby expediting the over-all job. Thompson's has so far used only one or two walking crews. The company has used local labor very largely and has been able to get enough help in spite of boosting the minimum age limit for detasslers up to 15. C. E. Wilmarth, chief of research for Thompson's, forsees that the next 10 years may see detasseling entirely a thing of the past.

Mr. Lundstrum says that a peak in field work was reached early this week and another is anticipated about the end of the week. He believes that the crews presently employed will be able to handle the job from here on out, and that a decline in the labor need will be reached next week.

School Directors Gather to Divide Districts' Assets

Some 60 to 70 school directors representing districts affected by organization of Belmond Community School district met last Thursday night with the new district's board of directors to act upon division of assets. Robert Garms, president of the Belmond Community board, conducted the meeting. It was held at the local high school.

Total assessed property valuation of the eight affected districts that falls within the Belmond Community School district comes to $9,310,853, including the entirety of Belmond Independent's valuation.

Assessed Valuations

In the other districts, the dollar amount of assessed property valuation and the percentage of the original district's total valuation figured as follows: Belmond township, $2,676,200 or 96.1 per cent; Pleasant, $1,818,736 or 98.3; Iowa, $571,081 or 81.3; Grant, $456,703 or 23.24; Norway, $113,878 or 5.34; Goodell Independent, $576,548 or 96.33; Twin Lake, $280,172 or 17.68; Avery, $174,727 or 10.53.

The last three districts lay in Hancock county and the rest in Wright. Apportioning of the valuations was based on percentages developed by the Wright and Hancock county auditors.

Cash-on-Hand Divided

Division of cash-on-hand assets was arrived at in a similar manner. Some $25,000 to $30,000 in cash assets accrues to the new district, exclusive of the approximately $19,000 that is acquired from the Belmond Independent district.

Except for the $203,000 still outstanding on the $207,000 bond issue with which Belmond Independent financed the building of Ramsay Elementary school in 1952, none of the districts had liabilities to be shouldered by the new district.

Assets Mostly Liquidated

Assets in all of the districts except Norway were very largely in liquidated form, most of the discarded schoolhouses and equipment having been sold. Norway's directors are currently advertising four schoolhouses for sale and a pro-rata share of the proceeds will be passed on to the Belmond Community district.

State funds for transportation, general and supplemental aid that have accrued to districts affected by the reorganization, but are not yet paid, when remitted will be allocated to the schools thereto entitled on a per pupil basis. The same will pertain to all tuitions due from affected school districts. Taxes levied and not yet paid will be divided, when received, upon the basis or percentages established for the division of other assets.

The packer strike just now agitates this country and how it will end no one can tell. It would seem that unions are all right in their place and the members have a perfect right to quit work when they desire, but when they attempt to prevent others from working, we believe that is going too far.

—1904—

At the Republican county convention last week, they first sat on Bro. Elder good and hard, while at the last they elected him secretary. With Pete Goslin chairman and Walt Elder secretary, everything passed off harmoniously. Truly the lion and the lamb doth gambol in perfect unity upon the verdant political green.

National Farm Safety Week JULY 25-31

To our farm neighbors, always working against time and weather, delay can mean the difference between a crop and no crop, a good year or a lean one. So accidents have no place in their schedulees: they cost money, delay production — and the growing season keeps rolling along.

Sunday's Results

Kanawha 5, Swaledale 2
Eagle Grove 10, Latimer-Coulter 9
Hampton 7, Clarion 6

By virtue of a 7-3 win at Rockwell last Sunday; the Belmond Tomahawks boosted themselves into a third-place tied in the Quad-County league standings with the losers and Latimer-Coulter. The latter gave the second-place Eagle Grove Legionnaires a severe scare before losing a 10-9 thriller. Further evidence that the quality of play in the loop is leveling out as the season progresses was provided by the comparatively, narrow 5-2 margin by which the strong Kanawha nine vanquished Swaledale. Only a week earlier the 'Hawks had trampled on Swaledale by a 13-2 count.

This coming Sunday the Tomahawks will play host to Hampton. The local crew will have a double reason for wanting a win in this one. In an earlier game at Hampton, the Belmond team suffered an unexpected 6-4 defeat, which calls for revenge; and a victory Sunday will be essential to bolster the Tomahawks' hopes of a place in the post-season play-offs. Either Jake Koenen or Gus Taylor, the old fire-baller, will be on the mound for Belmond.

Win to Gus Taylor

Taylor pitched the Rockwell contest, his first start for the 'Hawks this season. He gave up 10 hits while Wix, his opponent, was touched for only eight; but Gus wielded a heavy bat to help himself gain credit for the win. Although the Tomahakws were guilty of a couple of errors early in the game, they gave Taylor excellent support in the late stages and twice held Rockwell scoreless after the bags had been filled.

Belmond got off to an impressive start in the second inning when Jack Lansing and Koenen hit consecutive homers to put the 'Hawks into a 2-0 lead. Another Belmond run was added in the third when Dennis Scott gained base on an error and was doubled home by Koenen. Rockwell shortened the deficit to 3-2 in the fourth when Taylor surrendered three hits in a row, the last two being doubles.

Taylor Bats in Three

In the seventh, Taylor lashed out a tremendous triple that scored Don Hoppel, who'd taken first on a walk. In its half of the inning, Rockwell filled the bases on a hit, walk and error—but some nifty fielding prevented any scoring. Again in the eighth, Rockwell loaded the bags; but again they couldn't get a man across. Taylor batted in two more Belmond runs in the ninth, scoring Scott and "Ozzie" Nelson, who'd gained base on a fielder's choice and error. Gus then tallied, himself, when Lansing connected for a safety.

Taylor fanned six batters and walked only three. Wix struck out six, also, and like Gus issued three passes. Five of the eight hits permitted by the Rockwell hurler went for extra bases, which largely told the story.

Millers to Play In Manly Classic

Last week saw the GMI Millers pick up a pair of victories in the Little Six Softball league which, Manager "Moke" Obrecht believes, strengthened their hold on second place in the loop. Late standings have not been mailed out by the league secretary, but a recent challenge by the Millers for first place failed when they dropped a toughie to Kamrar, 2-0.

In last Sunday's four-team tourney on the GMI diamond, the host Millers came off as winner by blanking Clarion 7-0 in the opener and then trimming Helland & Long in the wind-up game, 5-1. H&L nosed out Woolstock in the second tilt, 11-10.

Duan Thompson hurled a no-hitter against Clarion and allowed Helland & Long only four safeties. George Sharp and Coonie Smith shared mound duties as H&L nipped Woolstock. Smith pitched in the finals, being touched by the Millers for seven hits.

This week the Millers are entered in a 16-team meet at Manly, which is bringing together some of the finest softball outfits in north Iowa and southern Minnesota. Tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:30, the Millers open against Dumont. If they win this one, they will immediately tangle with the winner of Artz & Merritt (M. C.) and Dr. Salisbury's (Charles City) for the right to advance to the quarter-finals.

SPORTS

51 Bullheads in Hour, 45 Minutes Takes Derby Prize for 'Most Fish'

Last year's Fish Derby of the summer recreation program brought out some 150 boys and girls, but saw only 83 bullheads hauled in. Last Friday afternoon as the event was repeated, the situation was quite the reverse. Only 82 boys and girls were on hand, but the fish cooperated to the extent of surrendering by the hundreds. In spite of the smaller entry list it was a successful venture, though, as conducted by Chairman M. B. Dannewitz and members of the Sportsman's club.

First fish of the afternoon was pulled in by Freddie Cronk within the first minute after the "go" signal was given. He provided ample proof that this initial success wasn't just luck by accumulating a stringer-full of 51 fish in the allotted hour and 45 minutes. He won a prize for each achievement —the "first" and the "most" — taking home $1 and a new rod and reel.

Biggest, 1 lb. 11 oz.

Edith Van Gerpen snagged 11 bullheads, largest catch among the girls 11 to 14; Charles Swenson topped the boys 6-to-10 with a string of 20; and on a draw also involving DeeAnn Cronk and Emma Louise Garms, Karen Steffens of Rowan won the biggest-catch prize for younger girls with three. Rods and reels went to each of the three winners.

This year's fish, on the average, weren't so large as those imported for last summer's Fish Day; but the biggest ones were bigger. Randy Musselman had the "whale of the day," a beauty that weighed one pound and 11 ounces. That netted him a rod and reel, too. Three dollars apiece was awarded for the largest fish in the four age divisions: older boys, Bobby O'Connor, 1 lb. 7 oz.; older girls, Diane Kessler, 1 lb. 9 oz.; younger boys, Gary Pals, 1 lb. 10 oz.; younger girls, Mary Studebaker, 1 lb. 10 oz.

Two Half-Ouncers

Catching the smallest fish of the afternoon brought $2.00 "consolation" prizes to the following: Kay Stecher and Bob Lerdal (tie) among the older boys, each with a ½-ounce "minnie;" Betty Eccles and Fay Pals, older girls, ¾ oz.; Billy Jenison and Joey Kelley, younger boys, ¾ oz.; and Caroline Boller of Goodell, younger girls, ¾ oz.

Merchandise prizes for the best Huckelberry Finn outfits were awarded to six-year-old Joey Kelley and to Betty Eccles. A "swim pipe" for under-water swimming was presented to Ronald Lee of Sand Point, Ida., as the boy from the greatest distance; and Ardella Zdenek of Elk River, Minn., got $2.00 as the girl from farthest away. Although he won no prize, 14-year-old Jon Wicks of Kanawha at least earned a pat on the back for negotiating his relatively long trip to the contest site astraddle a tiny motor-scooter.

Bobby Misner Youngest

Little Bobby Misner became the proud owner of a rod and reel for being the youngest fisherman in the Fish Derby.

Beside the Belmond contingent and the out-of-towners already mentioned, contestants were on hand from Spring Valley, Minn., Mason City, Meservey and Alexander.

The abandoned gravel pit southwest of town proved a good location for the contest. It offered plenty of shore area adjacent to "good" fishing depths and the pond is small enough that it could be easily policed for safety.

Elliott's Tumbles H&L in 8-0 Tilt

Elliott's Hardware won its second Tri-County league softball game last Friday night, taking Helland & Long into camp by an 8-0 count. The tilt had to be played at Alexander for want of a local field. The two local outfits are still trying to make arrangements for night-lighting of the school diamond here so they can play their "home" games at home.

A week earlier, Elliott's played at Latimer and came home with an 8-4 decision. Helland & Long's opening game had to be postponed for lack of a local playing site.

Coonie Smith pitched the hardware crew to its victory over H&L, allowing only two hits and fanning 11 batters. Two old-timers, Paul Rogalla and Jack Lansing, helped to complete the winners' line-up.

This Friday night Elliott's travels to Thornton and Helland & Long is scheduled to meet Root's. This game has H&L as host team, so presumably will be played at Alexander.

S. W. LUICKS GREETED BY 160 ON OCCASION OF 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Some 160 relatives and friends signed the guest register as Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Luick held open house Sunday afternoon at the farm home east of town to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary. Many lovely gifts were received by the honored couple and they were also presented with a purse of $142.

Mr. Luick had been eager to have the occasion fittingly observed as similar plans for marking the Luicks' Golden Wedding in 1944 were marred by illness. Mr. Luick had to be hospitalized a day or so before the event and was permitted to leave the hospital for only two hours to greet the friends and relatives attending the open house.

This time, both Mr. and Mrs. Luick were in remarkably good health for their years and in high spirits. Perfect weather helped further to make the occasion a success.

Besides their three daughters— Mrs. Edith Hill of Belmond, Mrs. Ethel Tuttle of Fertile and Mrs. Ralph (Emma) Watts of Clarion all of the Luicks' seven great grandchildren and all but one of their 10 grandchildren were able to be present. Only Darrell Watts of Clarion, away at Scout Camp, was not on hand.

Relatives coming from a distance included two nephews, George Bullis and Max Nolte both of Waukegan, Ill., and their wives, a niece, Mrs. Harve Major of Mason City, and her husband, and a sister in law of Mr. Luick, Mrs. Earl Luick of St. Paul, Neb., and her daughter Florence.

Budget—

000 slash in tax requirements, from $90,000 to $65,000, is shown in the new estimate.

Minor increases in tax requirements are budgeted for the general fund and court expense, coming to $3,000 and $1,000, respectively. Biggest reduction in tax requirement other than that in the road maintenance fund mentioned above, is $20,000 in the appropriation for the poor fund. The proposed expenditures under this fund are reduced from $35,000 to $28,000 and tax needs from $25,000 to $5,000. Extension of the social security program mainly explains the reduction, in that this has materially reduced the need for old age assistance.

With more and more of the rural schools closing, the supervisors deemed it feasible to reduce the school fund from $8,000 to $5,000. Whereas there was no appropriation for eradication of Bangs disease for '54, the sum of $2,000 is appropriated for next year. New legislation going into effect the first of the year, it is explained, will inspire greater attention to Bangs eradication and is expected to require more money in this county fund.

Peewees Have 3 Tilts Coming Up

Belmond's Peewee All-Stars have three games with out-of-town opposition scheduled in the next six days, the first being a clash with Clear Lake here tomorrow afternoon. Game time is set for 3:00 o'clock in all cases.

Monday afternoon Clarion's peewees will play on the local diamond and Wednesday afternoon of next week Coach Dick Hobbs has games for both the peewees and midgets carded with Kanawha, to be played there.

Hobbs says he plans to give more attention to track training again, now that the archery equipment has disappeared. As reported last week, the bows and arrows were recently stolen from Hobbs' car. The summer program director says that Tuesday and Thursday mornings will be devoted to track trials.

Several hurdles have been bought and are now available. Hobbs will also give instruction in high jump, shot putt, sprint starts and other track and field activities.

Peewees Trounce Clarion, 10 to 4

Belmond's Peewee All-Stars chalked up an easy win over Clarion on the losers' field Monday evening, 10 to 4. Kenny Hawley pitched for the victors and had a one-hitter up to the sixth and final inning. In the bottom of that frame, Clarion made a walk, two hits and an error good for three runs

Two runs on a pair of hits in the first inning and four runs on two hits, two errors and a walk in the second sent Belmond into an early 6-0 lead. Clarion got its only hit of the first five innings in the second but couldn't make it pay off.

In the third inning, the losers picked up an unearned tally to make the count 6-1; but Belmond made it 10-1 in the top of the sixth when Kenny Lerdal smashed out the longest run of the day. It was a solid triple, scoring Gordie Johnson, Emmett Studebaker and Jeff Hansen. Lerdal made it good for a personal round-trip when he knocked the ball out of the catcher's hands in a play at the plate.

Pete Smith, starting hurler for Clarion, did a nice job after the first two innings and blanked Belmond in the 3rd, 4th and 5th. Phillips took over for him in the 6th. Hawley, besides striking out 14 and giving up only three walks, got two of Belmond's five hits. Lerdal, Hansen and Johnson got the others.

Big "Swine Day" At Calara Farm Slated Sept. 23

Word has been reecived by The Independent from Don Washburn, publicity director for the United Duroc Record association to the effect that Calara Farm of Thornton has been selected as the site for a Swine Day on Sept. 23. Calara Farm is managed by Joe Duea, former Belmond livestock breeder and one of the nation's outstanding breeders of purebred Durocs.

Mr. Washburn says that choice of the Thornton show place, which is owned by Carl Henkel, Mason City contractor, bespeaks the high regard in which Mr. Duea and his achievements as a Duroc showman are held among the midwest's leading swine-raisers.

Cooperating with Calara Farm in holding the event are the Iowa Duroc Breeders association, Iowa Swine rPoducers association, the United Duroc Record association and Iowa State college.

"There will be no hogs for sale during this field day," Mr. Washburn says. "It will be strictly an educational event and we feel that the program will prove extremely worthwhile for all who can attend it. Emphasis will be placed on the type of swine to raise for the most profit."

Some of Calara Farm's fine breeding stock will be shown to illustrate points brought out by visiting experts who will appear on the program. Among the day's features will be a demonstration of backfat probing, a discussion of the importance of selecting a specific breeding program and other phases of good swine management.

Mr. Washburn reports that the following men have been engaged to take a part in the day's program: Wilbur Plager, secretary of the Iowa Swine Producer's association; Bernard Ebbing, [illegible] Packing company representative; Clarence Bundy, professor of vocational agriculture at Iowa State college; Dr. Maynard Speer and L. N. Hazel, also of the ISC agriculture staff; and Ted Thomas, prominent hog breeder from Iowa City.

GOODELL NEWS

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

WILMER GABRIELSON

WESLEY BOLLER

We are pleased, this week, to sing the praises of two young businessmen in our community who are fast becoming the most popular purveyors of fine foodstuffs in this area. We speak of Wilmer Gabrielson and Wesley Boller, who not long ago purchased the C & P Grocery and renamed it the Goodell Grocery and Lockers.

It is a pleasure to shop at this Goodell store where the boys are doing everything possible to make shopping easy with a large and complete stock. We've noticed, too, that their weekend promotions and specials are bringing more people to Goodell than we've ever seen before and that is good for all of us.

"Will" and "Wes" as everyone knows them are also mighty active in the locker part of their business, especially in the winter when the boys do a lot of butchering and processing.

Although it is a bit delayed, it is none the less sincere, when we say "Welcome" to Goodell to two good young businessmen.

WHY ARE SO MANY SMART FARMERS SO NEGLECTFUL ON SOIL CONSERVATION?

Quoting from an article in today's paper on the opportunity open to farmers for financial assistance in carrying out soil and water conservation practices, "The heavy rains and flood waters of June revealed a great need for extensive conservation work in the county and in the state as a whole. Much of the heavy loss of topsoil resulting from the heavy rains and high water could have been substantially avoided if farmers had only performed needed conservation in years gone by."

It certainly seems that the average farmer has received enough object lessons in the indisputable wisdom of following sound conservation practices that it shouldn't require a record-breaking flood to emphasize the point. Yet there are more farms than not, right here in Wright county, where the untrained eye of even a city-dweller can see that neglect of conservation fundamentals are year after year doing irreparable damage.

More than that, it is difficult to understand why disregard of the toll this negligence takes should continue in spite of the cost-sharing proposition the government offers to induce a farmer to do what he readily should of his own volition. Is it a case of too much paternalism — that, like a pampered child, the opportunity is ignored because it comes too easy? What floors us most of all is the fact that many a farmer who in other respects exhibits a very ample supply of good, solid, horse-sense is so foolishly blind — or is the proper word "stubborn" — where soil conservation is concerned.

Even so basic a practice as establishing grassed waterways is still flouted on some farms hereabouts, with the result that each rain sees valuable top-soil washing into gullies and roadside ditches — there to raise ever more luxuriant crops of weeds. We city fellers don't even pretend to be smarter than our country brethren. But you can rest assured that if a Main Street merchant finds a chink in the foundation that's letting rain in the basement to ruin stocks of merchandise, he PLUGS the hole.

We know a way that indifference to good conservation practices could be corrected overnight. Instead of coaxing and wheedling by offers of cost-sharing, just let Uncle Sam PROHIBIT such practices. Let him say, "No more planting on the contour or strip-cropping, men. Cease at once the construction of diversion terraces, installation of tile, land leveling and pasture improvement." How quickly the same fellows would FIGHT for the right to do those things, who now neglect them despite every inducement! Do you doubt it?

NEW ASC ELECTION AND TENURE RULES ARE A GOOOD MOVE IN RIGHT DIRECTION

We suspect that the new regulations governing county ASC elections and office tenure will be greeted with some relief by a good many of the conscientious, public-spirited farmers of this county who have devoted long hours of work to stabilization and conservation business. Wright county has been fortunate in having highly capable men in charge of ASC operations, but its doubtful that any of them have suffered any illusions about being "indispensable."

There is always the risk in an organizational set-up such as prevailed in the ASC before the changes recently made, that a self-perpetuating group will get in control. As too often becomes the case in county party politics, willingness to serve may in due time comes to be regarded as a vested privilege; and inertia on the part of the majority permits undemocratic control to fall into the hands of a few.

Not infrequently, such a situation develops although "the clique" in the first place has no desire to establish dominance over the organization. But temptation along such lines should be quite effectively eliminated by the new ASC procedures, which is a good thing. And being the type of men they are, we feel quite certain that our county ASC leaders are grateful for the protection they now enjoy against that old argument for endlessly continued service, "You've GOT to take the job; there's no one else equally capable."

If you are unfamiliar with the sensible safeguards that will assure continual introduction of "new blood" in county ASC organizations, we suggest you read the ASC election announcement in this issue, which outlines the new procedures. We would say all credit is due the Eisenhower administration for effecting these chances to take "politics" out of the ASC program.

WITH THE "SUCKER SHIFT" OUTLAWED, MAYBE "IRISH FAINT" WILL BE NEXT

We see where the Notre Dame "sucker shift" which Ex-coach Frank Leahy so righteously defended, along with the phony faints that deprived Iowa of a win over the Irish last fall, is a doomed maneuver. The National Association of Collegiate Commissioners has given its hearty endorsement to the endeavor of the National Football Rules committee to legislate this deliberate trickery out of existence. We suspect that further flagrant abuse of the injury-timeout provision will see THAT ruse black-balled in due time, too.

Football allows plenty of leeway for outsmarting an opponent without resorting to tactics that consist mainly of gross, poor sportsmanship. With another football season nearer around the corner than you might like to think, its consoling to know that the powers-that-be regard that the spectator's blood pressure should be given SOME consideration.

RANGE CHICKENS HAVE ENEMIES

Predatory animals and birds cause poultry raisers substantial losses each year. This is particularly true when birds are on the range.

Weasels, foxes, rats, crows and hawks are the main offenders. Where losses have been encountered it may be necessary to take steps to protect the flock from these natural enemies.

Hawks and crows commonly attack the younger birds although full-grown birds are occasional victims. These cunning and daring attackers watch the flock from high in the air, then swoop down for the kill at the opportune moment.

Jump Traps

When about ready to strike, hawks and crows will often alight on poles nearby and pick out a victim. By setting "jump traps" on tall fence poles or other perches near the brooder or range houses, the attackers can often be caught. By hanging the bodies of the dead birds in full view of where the chickens range, some of the other attacking birds are often frightened away.

To prevent loss of very small chickens to hawks and crows, fence in a small area and cover it with 2-inch mesh. Confinement rearing is an advantage in that it makes the chickens less subject to attack.

When the flock is bothered by rats and weasels, eliminate all possible havens for the animals. The houses or range shelters should be clear of refuse and the grass should be cropped around them.

Build Fences

Against foxes, skunks and dogs, the raiser can build fences which will be effective. The fences should be 5 or 6 feet high and should be sunk into the ground to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. Of course, the spaces or aperatures in the fence itself must be small enough to prevent these animals from crawling through.

About the most effective way to prevent rats from damaging the flock is to follow a rat control program. There are a number of chemical rat killers on the market.

Various other devices, including night flares, are used to keep predaters away. Information regarding local predators and methods of combatting them can be obtained from the county agricultural agent.

TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 42 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1954 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

All we've got to say is, we're certainly glad that Mrs. Erma Ramsay isn't close by, so she could cast a direct influence on our good friend Ed Bailey. We got a letter last week from the widow of our former confrere, the late Wallace Ramsay, saying she'd written a letter of condolence to Ed sympathyizing with him over the fact that his retirement from city office drew so much less space in The Independent than an adjacent story concerning a half-n-half horse.

"You gave Judy the Mule about four times the space allotted to Ed!" Erma notes accusingly; then adds, "I suggested to him that he at least retaliate by 'stoppin' the paper'."

She almost had us worried until she appended, "Having spent 44 years with a newspaper background, I realize the problem of pleasing the public, so I'm sure you will know I'm only trying to be facetious." Erma even gave us a glow by having some real nice things to say about The Independent. Her many friends will be sorry to hear that she's finding it impossible to make a trip "home" this summer. She hopes, though, that she'll find some "home folks" knocking on her door at Missoula, Mont.

—M-S—

It's been politely called to our attention that 476 from 493 leaves 17 (arithmatic never was one of Ye Ed's strong subjects, but he never realized it was THAT weak). As a consequence, the county budget story last week should have credited the supervisors with having knocked $17,000 off of the tax askings for 1955 instead of $16,000, as was reported. This facility with figures SHOULD help Gallagher score lower in golf, but is doesn't seem to.

—M-S—

To illustrate that generous rewards for money-saving suggestions of merit await employees of Archer-Daniels-Midland company, the mammoth milling concern of which Marilyn Madsen is a Minneapolis employee, the attractive, Belmond miss recently enjoyed a brief moment in the lap of luxury. In the July issue of ADM's monthly magazine, "Archer," Marilyn was chosen to depict what even a working girl might tumble into by coming up with a REALLY bright idea.

On one page, Marilyn is pictured in secretarial garb, day-dreaming over what-might-be. On the next page she is posed in a sumptuous mink jacket, supplied for the occasion by Dayton's of Minneapolis; and again, sparklingly accoutered in a genuine diamond necklace and bracelet worth thousands of dollars (courtesy J. B. Hudson, Co.).

Marilyn forwarded a copy of the magazine to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Madsen, without comment. From the publication also was winnowed the fact that the '50 graduate of BHS was one of 39 girls chosen from ADM establishments from coast to coast who recently contended for the title of "Archer" Cover Girl. Apparently she hadn't regarded the matter as worthy of mention. It was the first her mother and father had known anything about it.

—M-S—

A few relatives and friends helped Mrs. Minnie Christie observe her 87th birthday Monday at her home. The chipper, little old lady (we hope she'll forgive us the third adjective) had just been released from Belmond Community hospital the day before, after a two-week stay. We asked Dorothy Christie if her mother-in-law wasn't pretty happy to be home for the event. "I wouldn't say so, entirely," Dorothy replied. "She surely loves the wonderful attention she gets at the hospital." Longevity is nothing new in Minnie's family. Her father lived to age 95.

—M-S—

While Sheriff Bob Blecker is well liked, both personally and as a public official, he proved a prime target when he took his turn on the seat of the Clarion Jaycees' "dunk stand" last Saturday during the county seat's Town and Country Days. This familiar contraption seats a "victim" on a collapsible perch over a tank of water. A "bullseye" with a thrown baseball dumps the occupier of the perch unceremoniously into the drink.

One, bespectacled businessman of Clarion with a previously unrecognized skill for pitching accuracy really gave the sheriff a stiff work-out. With his first three balls, he scored consecutive, direct hits. Delighted with his success, he bought three more balls and connected with two of them. When another three unseated Bob only once, his tormentor apparently decided the point of diminishing returns had been reached and relinquished his position to the next in a long line of waitees.

Bob sacrified his offical dignity long enough to spend about a half hour as the come-on at the dunk concession.

...AND I QUOTE

Over the bridge table: "That aunt of mine who we thought was slightly cracked finally went to a psychiatrist. When he got through with her she was completely broke."

DOING THINGS TOGETHER is practically a life-long habit of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Luick, so it was most logical that they made a cooperative undertaking of cutting the "wedding cake" at their 60th Anniversary open house a week ago Sunday. Mrs. Luick has another anniversary coming up a week from this coming Sunday — her 81st birthday. Mr. Luick reached the same milestone in January. Belmond has been the home of both, all of their lives.

Stockseth Smashes Up Car, Fined; Driving Wrong Side Yellow Line

Merlin Stockseth, 19, Belmond farm youth, was fined $100 and costs last Friday at Garner as the result of an accident that occurred on Highway 69 two days earlier. Heard in the court of Justice of the Peace R. J. Fritsch, Stockseth was charged with having driven on the left-hand side of the road in a no-passing zone marked by a yellow line. The magistrate stated he was also writing a recommendation to the state department of public safety that Stockseth's driver's license be suspended.

According to Patrolman Elmer Engel of Garner, who investigated the accident, Stockseth was undertaking to pass a car going in the same direction the young man was headed when a vehicle approaching from the opposite direction forced him to pull back into the right lane. Engel reported that Stockseth's car must have been traveling at a very high rate of speed, as its tires left skid marks that measured more than 370 feet in length.

Near Fatal Crash Site

In his desperate effort to regain the right hand lane, Stockseth lost control of the car as it crossed a farm driveway. The auto, a new '54 Nash sedan with only 8,000 miles on the speedometer, rolled over and came to rest on its top on the right shoulder of the highway.

The mishap occurred three miles south of Garner on a rise just south of the hill where a collision claimed six lives in July of last year, Patrolman Engel stated. Justice of the Peace Fritsch made it clear to young Stockseth that a similarly fatal mishap could easily have been the outgrowth of his illegal driving maneuver, had he not been fortunate enough to pull out of the left lane just in time to avoid the oncoming auto.

Car Damage, $1,500

Stockseth told the patrolman that, although the car was registered in the name of his father, Harry Stockseth, he himself had largely paid for its purchase and had put all his savings into it. Damage to the car was extensive and it was estimated that cost of repairs and replacements would run $1,500. Neither Stockseth nor his companion, Eugene Quigley, suffered worse than minor bruises.

Patrolman Engel added that suspension of license is obligatory upon the department of public safety when recommended by the magistrate hearing a case of this nature. The license can be suspended for a period of 30, 60 or 90 days, or indefinitely, depending upon the judgment of the highway safety officials. On Tuesday of this week, the decision of the state department had not yet been returned.

$15,000 Sought In Damage Suit

Thela Zielske of Rowan has filed suit for judgment of $15,000 against Ellis Markham, also of Rowan, in district court at Clarion. The action develops from a highway mishap that occurred Dec. 24 of last year when the plaintiff and her daughter Barbara were riding in the defendant's car on Highway 3 just west of Rowan.

Markham's auto went out of control on a patch of ice and was wrecked. The plaintiff's petition states that both she and her daughter were hospitalized by injuries they sustained. Mrs. Zielske charges that negligence on the part of the defendant was responsible for the accident.

NORBY WILL RETIRE

According to "The Modern Millwheel," General Mills company publication, Chris Norby is slated for retirement as of Aug. 1 after seven years as a maintenance helper at the local plant.

Betty Clare Henderson Wins Beauty-Talent Title

Betty Clare Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson, last Friday night at Clarion won the title of "Miss Wright County" and earned the right to compete for the "Miss Iowa" title during Governor's Days this weekend at Clear Lake. Seven communities in the county had entries in the contest, which was sponsored by the Clarion Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A BHS graduate with the Class of '52, Miss Henderson is 20 years old and next fall will be a junior at the University of Minnesota. Like the other contestants, she made appearances before the judges—and the large audience before the outdoor platform—in formal dress and bathing suit, and also competed in a talent revue.

Betty Clare performed an Indian ritual dance attired in a beautiful and appropriate costume. Patsy Tracy played piano accompaniment for the dance.

Second place was awarded to Shirley Gram of Rowan, who played "12th Street Rag" very expertly on the piano; and third went to Rachel Peterson of Holmes, whose talent bit took the form of a tennis demonstration. Each received a loving cup as a prize. Other entries were: Sharon Hoadley, Eagle Grove; Shirley Rollene, Dows; Marian Madison, Goldfield; and Colleen Mishler, Clarion.

Gifts to the winner included a lovely evening gown, a handsome bathing suit decorated with rhinestones, a large bouquet of red roses and a floral crown. The Clarion Jaycees also are paying Miss Henderson's $25 entry fee for the "Miss Iowa" contest

Judges were the three vice presidents of the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce: Don McCoy of Clear Lake, Ron Taylor of Ames and Jerry Wilhelmi of Storm Lake. So close was the competition for the "Miss Wright County" title that they deliberated for at least a half hour before making known their decision.

Betty Clare has been invited to make her arrival in Clear Lake on Friday night when she and the 20 other contenders for state honors are scheduled to appear on Doug Sherwin's 6:00 p. m. show over KGLO-TV. The girls will register Saturday morning, take part in the Governor's Day parade at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and parade in speedboats past the audiences attending Saturday night's "Venetian Nights" show presented from the Stage-on-the-Lake.

All the contestants will be personally interviewed by the contest judges at some time on Saturday. Sunday morning the beauty candidates will attend church and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon will appear in the talent show at Surf ballroom. Final event will be the Presentation Dance at the Surf, starting at 9:30 p. m., during which the 1954 "Miss Iowa" will be introduced.

19 Participating In Dollar Days

Nineteen Belmond stores are advertising Dollar Day specials in this issue that are good today, Friday and Saturday and offer local shoppers some excellent, money-saving opportunities. The Independent reccommends careful perusal of these ads. Business places taking part in the Dollar Day event are: Adams Pharmacy, Belmond Hardware, Coast to Coast, Dougherty Jewelry, Elliott's Hardware, Infelt's, Jim's Paint & Wallpaper, Jacobson Furniture, Kennedy Furniture, Kessler's, Lloyd's Standard Service, P&G Grocery, Style Shop, Ted's Shoe store, Tip Top Super Valu, Thompsen's Clothing, Waddington's, Western Auto and Woodward's.

Administrator Job Once More Vacant

It was announced this week by the board of trustees of the Belmond Community hospital that the group is once again engaged in searching for a new administrator.

Paul Milligan of Des Moines, after working for a week with Jack Shepard to acquaint himself with duties of the position, last weekend submitted his resignation for personal reasons. He was to have succeeded Mr. Shepard upon the present administrator's departure the middle of next month.

The trustees say that they hope the field of candidates who have applied for the administrator's job since Mr. Shepard told of his intention to resign will provide another logical prospect for the position. Mr. Shepard and his family plan to enjoy a vacation before he enrolls at the University of Iowa for graduate study in hospital administration this fall.

Belmond Musician In Talent Contest

Carolyn Classick, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Classick, was notified last week that she has been selected to compete in the Venita Rich Amateur Talent show at the North Iowa Fair. This show will be the grandstand attraction on Sunday, Aug. 15.

Some 200 prospective contestants from throughout this part of the state were audited at the studios of radio station KGLO, Mason City, week before last. Only 20 were chosen from this field to take part in the finals during the fair.

Miss Classick will compete as a marimba soloist. She earned a Division I rating as a soloist on that instrument during the state music competition last spring. She has pleased many local audiences with her skill on the marimba.

Now 2 Teachers Still to Employ

Supt. Don Faris reports that the number of vacancies left to be filled on the high school faculty doubled last week. There are now two, instead of one.

Margaretjean Butterworth, commercial instructor for the past two years, submitted her resignation to the school board with the explanation that she has decided to enter secretarial work. She has accepted a secretary's job with a business concern in Richmond, Va.

So the school board is now searching for a new commercial teacher as well as a teacher of art to replace Marilyn Van Steenbergen Frankenstein, who abandoned the teaching profession for marriage.

TICKETS AVAILABLE

The Independent has been sent some tickets for the two, top attractions to be held at Clear Lake this weekend in conjunction with the "Miss Iowa" contest. Separate charge for the Talent Revue at 2:30 p. m. Sunday is $1.00 and for the Presentation Dance at 9:30 Sunday night, $1.25. Tickets for the two events can be bought at the reduced price of $2.00.

Second-Brood Hatch of Corn Borer Moths Delayed; But Bowman Warns They Will Come--And Be Costly!

There will be some delay in the arrival of second-brood corn borers in Wright county, Extension Director Aaron Bowman reported this week; but he warned, "They WILL arrive."

Cooler weather has delayed the peak emergence of the European corn borer moths, although Bowman expects the first of them will still probably arrive on schedule. Present indications are that the best time for spraying will be the latter part of the first week in August and the first part of the second week.

Infestation Widespread

Bowman adds that first-brood borer surveys show practically every field in the county infested with the expensive pests. Some stalks have had counts as high as eight full-grown borers in unsprayed fields. Pupation had started last week and the second-brood moths should appear shortly.

The small tan moths so much in evidence last week were not borer moths, according to Bowman, but were moths of the garden web worm. Infestations of these pests, too, are reaching serious proportions in some parts of the county.

Only high clearance outfits and airplanes can be used for second-brood borer spraying, Bowman again reminds farmers. Since the number of these outfits is decidedly limited he recommends that early arrangements for their use should be made.

Watch That Count!

Control of the second-brood borers can be achieved by spraying with 1½ pounds of actual DDT per acre. Most effective application is in the area of the ear, where most of the eggs will be deposited.

Only yardstick for timing the second-brood treatment is egg-mass count, Bowman stresses. He says, "When about 100 egg masses are found per 100 plants, spray at once!" One treatment applied early during the egg-laying stays on the plants and protects them against larvae hatching later.

"Early treatment is important," Bowman emphasizes; "so it is also important that corn be kept under continuous observation during the second-brood moth flight."

Borers Not Only Pests That Could Do Much Damage

Insect pests are finding the current season very much to their liking, and Extension Director Aaron Bowman warns that corn borers may by no means be the only serious source of damage to 1954 crops. Army worms, garden web worms and grasshoppers all threaten to take their toll.

A small infestation of army worms attacked corn in Norway township early last week, but it was limited to about a five-acre area.

Southwest of Belmond is one of three areas where the web worm has infested entire fields. Its damage has been exceeding that of the army worm. The web worm is now attacking alfalfa and soybeans, but will also feed on clover and corn, Bowman says. It is likely to be found throughout the county.

Control of both pests can be gained by spraying 1½ pounds of toxophene per acre. Alfalfa or clover should be removed from the field and the new growth sprayed. Soybeans, new seeding and corn should be sprayed as soon as web worm is found working. DDT, 1¼ pounds to the area, is also effective for web worm but not for the army worm.

Grasshopper hordes may be severe in some parts of the county and can cause serious damage to hay or pasture crops and to corn and beans. Spraying with a quarter pound of heptachlor, with 1½ pounds of toxophene or a pound of chlordane per acre will control the 'hoppers.

FATHER OF MRS. COURSON DIES AT HAMILTON, ILL.

Funeral services were held in Hamilton, Ill., on Tuesday for W.C. Hughes, father of Mrs. R. W. Courson. He died Sunday after an extended period of ill health that had left him in invalid during the last months of his life. He was past 80 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Courson and sons Ronald and Robert went to Hamilton to attend the funeral. Mrs. Courson was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. The deceased, who was a retired druggist, is also survived by his wife.

Peewee Tourney Here Next Week

Annual, invitational peewee baseball tournament of the PTA summer recreation program will be held next week at the high school diamond on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Director Dick Hobbs says that three teams in addition to Belmond's have already submitted their entries and he expects to have an eight-team field before time of the filing deadline this Friday evening.

Clear Lake, Hampton and Kanawha have made known that they will have teams in the meet. Invitations have also been sent to Garner, Britt, Goldfield, Renwick, Corwith, Rowan and Latimer. An invitation was also sent to Clarion, but it was declined.

When entries are all in tomorrow evening, drawings will be made and the teams informed of their first-round opponent and playing time. Opening games on each afternoon will start at 2:30 p. m. Trophies have been purchased for presentation to each of the first three place winners.

Draftees Will Go To Camp Chaffee

Wright county's local draft board has been notified that starting this month, and until further notice, selective service registrants delivered to Des Moines for induction will be sent to Camp Chaffee, Ark., for processing and basic training.

First Wright countians to be sent to this new training center are Gerald Rohrer and David Mechem, both of Clarion and both volunteers, who were inducted on Tuesday of this week to fill the July quota.

$50 CLAIMED

Only $50 was siphoned off the vat of cash that Belmond business places had up as prize money for this Tuesday's Cash Gift Day—so they're replenishing the "kitty" to the extent of the missing 50 and keeping prizes the same for next week. Mrs. Alvin Albers of Belmond and Mrs. Dick Blau of Alexander were the pleased winners of $25 apiece this week. At 2:00 p. m. next Tuesday, there will be six $25 awards at stake; and at 3:00 o'clock, the BIG draw will be for $350.

Broom Sale Nets Club About $270

Approximately $270 was netted for the Lions club's fund for needy and deserving school children as a result of its recent broom sale. Cecil Carstens, chairman of the committee in charge, reports that 408 brooms were sold and 48 rubber doormats.

Total proceeds of the sale came to about $700 and the expense of conducting it approximated $50. Some $380 was returned to the Arkansas Lighthouse for the Blind, where sightless persons had fabricated the articles sold by the Lions. About $320 was the Lions' share (the shorter end, in this case), before expenses were paid.

WSCS Preparing For Flower Show

Annual flower show of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Methodist church will be held Thursday afternoon of next week. Any flower fanciers in the Belmond vicinity are welcome to enter blooms.

Besides the usual competition for arrangements, there will be a table for display of single blossoms and another for children's entries. Mrs. Ray Klemme is chairman of the show committee. She says entries should be brought to the church before noon.

Mrs. R. H. Gowdy is in charge of the afternoon program, which will start at 2:30 o'clock. It will include a demonstration on flower arrangement by two 4-H girls, Marjorie Johnson and Janis Kalkwarf, and a talk on the same subject by Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell. The general public is welcome to attend the program.

Assisting Mrs. Klemme on the show committee are Mrs. George Hansen, Mrs. Luther Proeger, Jr., and Mrs. Ray Leebrick. On the serving committee for the luncheon that will follow the flower show are Mesdames George Baxter, Cecil Killius, Mike Luick, Cecil Carstens, Frank Long, Mattie Farmer, John Greenlander, Oren Hanson and George Jenison.

Arrangements Set For Bowling Start

Manager Jack Crosby has announced that the Bowl-Mor Lanes will open for the 1954-55 season on Saturday, Aug. 21. The recreation center is under new ownership this year, having been purchased last spring by Charles Mullin of Wesley.

Starting dates for league bowling were set at the end of last season by the men's and women's bowling associations. The women will continue to bowl on Tuesday nights, their first round of league matches being scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 31.

Play in the men's leagues will not get under way until the following week. Wednesday and Thursday night leagues will start on Sept. 8-9. Because of Labor Day, the Monday leagues will delay their start until Sept. 13.

POLIO STRIKES

Billy Sheriff, 10, of Goodell was taken to Blank Memorial hospital in Des Moines on Tuesday morning, a victim of polio. His condition is reported "good."

HAPPY WINNER of last week's "Miss Wright County" contest at Clarion, Betty Clare Henderson is shown above greeting Saturday's parade onlookers during the county seat's Town and County Days celebration.

Rites on Monday For K. E. Johnson

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at St. Olaf church for Knudt Edgar Johnson, 55, who died last Thursday at Cherokee. Rev. O. M. Severseike conducted the rites. Burial was in St. Olaf cemetery.

Born Jan. 13, 1899, at Kanawha, the deceased was son of John and Agetha Johnson. He was baptized and confirmed in the St. Olaf Lutheran church; received his education in the Kanawha schools and at Waldorf college, Forest City.

Mr. Johnson farmed for several years before suffering a breakdown in health in 1922. He was preceded in death by his parents and an infant sister. Surviving are two brothers, Clarence of Kanawha and Stanley of Clarion; a sister, Mabel Twedt of Roland; and a foster-brother, Oscar Lein of Clear Lake.

Tour for Farmers Scheduled Aug. 6

Friday afternoon of next week a tour has been arranged for farmers of Wright county to inspect noteworthy fertilizer plots and examples of conservation practices. Joint sponsors of the tour are the soil district commissioners, Soil Conservation Service and the county extension service.

Tentative plans call for inspecting experiments in nitrogen application and rates of planting, a weed control demonstration, corn borer spraying, rotation farms, erosion control practices and other practices favorable to the county's long-time cropping system.

Gambling Brings Two $100 Fines

Two concessionaires traveling with the carnival that provided entertainment for Clarion's Town and Country Days last Friday and Saturday were fined $100 apiece and costs on the closing night, charged with gambling. Five victims of a ring-toss stand operated by one of the men and owned by the other reported to Clarion authorities that they were "taken" for an aggregate of nearly $350 in trying to win prizes.

Benjamin J. May, London, Ont., Canada, age 21, was in charge of the game stand and it and four others were the property of Howard B. Burton, 35, of Des Moines. The men were heard Saturday night in the court of Justice of the Peace O. K. West, who assessed the fines. Sheriff Bob Blecker ordered all of Burton's concessions closed for the balance of the carnival's stay.

May's stand offered clothespin targets to be encircled with rubber jar-rings by its patrons. Certain scores were supposed to pay off with attractive prizes—but no one ever seemed able to win, regardless of his accuracy. The five complaintants reported cash losses at the stand ranging from $30 to $116. They were partially reimbursed by Burton.

County ASC's '54 Election-by-Mail Scheduled for Aug. 14 Through 20

Arrangements for holding the annual ASC election in Wright county were announced last week by the county ASC office manager O. J. Hanson. Farmers will have from Aug. 14 through Aug. 20 to vote for community committeemen. The county convention to name the county ASC committee will be held in Clarion on Aug. 30. Newly-elected community and county committeemen will begin their one-year terms on Sept. 1.

All balloting in the township elections will be done by mail, the same as in recent years, with the county ASC office sending a secret ballot and a return envelope to every eligible voter on its records. The ballots will be mailed to voters on Aug. 13.

Any farm owner, operator or tenant is privileged to vote in the ASC township elections if now participating in any of the agency's programs or eligible to participate in a price-support program. The committee states that anyone who fails to receive a ballot but believes he is eligible to vote should contact the county ASC office.

Ballot Count Aug. 24

A community committee of three members and two alternates will be named in each township, with the two candidates who receive the greatest number of votes becoming chairman and vice chairman. The third member of each community committee and the two alternates will be selected similarly on the basis of number of votes received. The counting of the ballots will take place on Aug. 24.

Newly-elected chairmen and vice chairmen of the various community committees will automatically serve as delegates and alternate delegates to the county convention, which will name the county committee consisting of a chairman, vice chairman, regular member and two alternates.

Changes made in the ASC election procedure this year are expected to result in greater interest in the choosing of community and county committeemen. Scarcely one-fourth of the eligible Iowa farm owners and operators have voted in recent ASC elections, and it is hoped that at least half of them will participate this year.

Changes Described

Principal changes brought about by the new rules provide for a county election board in each county, to be composed of officially designated persons outside the ASC organization, a limit on the office tenure of committeemen, prohibition of county committeemen from serving the ASC in any paid capacity other than as committeemen, and establishment of a new method of nominating candidates for community committeeman.

Each county election board will consist of the county extension service director, as chairman, and local representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and the principal farm organizations. The county election board will appoint a community election board in each township composed of three farmers who are not incumbent ASC officers. Each community election board will nominate 10 candidates for community committeemen.

Write-in Permitted

Additional candidates may be added to the list by petition of 10 or more farmers. Voters will be permitted to write in names of candidates. In past years, formal nominations for community committeemen were made by committees appointed by the county ASC committee.

A rotation system in ASC committee membership will be inaugurated by making county and community committeemen ineligible to serve more than three consecutive terms without a break in service. There will be an exception to this in the seven Iowa counties whose present county committeemen have all served three or more years without a break. In these counties one of the incumbents may be re-elected.

Remember When?

FROM THE FILES OF YESTERYEAR

TEN YEARS AGO—

Dr. R. T. Coe, former Belmond mayor, who left this community two years ago, has purchased the seed house and seed cleaning business of his father, Ed Coe, at Ames.

—1944—

Representatives of the Federal Housing Administration were in Belmond last week conducting a survey of the housing situation in Belmond. Homes will be needed by employees of the soybean mill, but priorities must be granted before any building can be done.

—1944—

A member of the armed forces on leave or furlough for a period of three days or more will be entitled to one gallon of gasoline per day, up to a maximum of 30 gallons, it has been announced by the Office of Price Administration.

—1944—

Mrs. George Brady has been elected president of the Belmond unit of the United Service Women of America, formed Tuesday evening. Any woman with a son or daughter in the armed forces is eligible for membership.

—1944—

Over 10,000 fish were saved from a flood backwater on the L. B. Oberhauser farm and returned to Morse lake last Thursday by a group of volunteers who scooped them from the slough with buckets.

—1944—

Mrs. Henry Johnson entertained a group of children Thursday afternoon, July 20, honoring her daughter Maryellen on her sixth birthday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—

Both Belmond banks will pay another 10 per cent dividend within the next 10 days, according to Receiver J. B. Altweg. The banks have each paid 30 per cent so far and this dividend will make 40 per cent paid to depositors.

—1934—

Olive Butts of Goodell returned home Tuesday evening of last week from a trip to Alaska, via steamship from Seattle, Wash.

—1934—

If you want to see a real field of potatoes, you should go out and see L. W. Gealow's field five miles southeast of Belmond. This field contains 37 acres and is now in bloom. Mr. Gealow has in all, 73 acres of potatoes, two of carrots and 14 of cabbage.

—1934—

Rev. and Mrs. Seth Huntington and family of Berea, Ky., arrived Sunday to visit Mrs. Addie Boughton. Mr. Huntington delivered the sermon Monday at the funeral of his wife's aunt, Mrs. Grace Boughton.

—1934—

"Hairbreadth Harry," author, poet, philosopher and King of the Hoboes, made his annual Belmond visit Monday as he was en route to Britt for Hobo Days.

—1924—

Considerable commotion was aroused here last week over an escapade of a man with the traveling tent show and a girl visiting here, but the excitement was hardly warranted by the facts and the matter was dropped.

—1924—

The Glenn Klemme and Dr. L. R. Parsons families are expected home this week from their trip to Yellowstone National park.

FORTY YEARS AGO—

The Democratic party in convention assembled last week declared against suffrage for women and ignored the liquor question. They might just as well come to it, for in the short space of two years women will vote in Iowa and when they do the liquor problem will receive a permanent and lasting knockout.

—1914—

Belmond had her first game of Sunday baseball last weekend, losing to Dows 15 to 6. There was about a $40 crowd in attendance, only about 25 per cent being from Belmond. It would seem that local sentiment is against ball games on Sunday.

—1904—

Ill deportment at the recent ball game at Klemme unquestionable derived in part from patronage of the "blind pigs" which that community tolerates. ASC Requests All To Reply Quickly On Corn Notices

Farmers having 1953 corn under loans and purchase agreements and 1952 corn under reseal loans can greatly assist their county ASC office by promptly replying to notices being mailed to them last week regarding their intentions, says H. P. Vanderlip, Wright county ASC committee chairman

Because of the serious shortage of storage space throughout the state, the ASC should be advised by farmers at the earliest possible time as to what they intend to do with the corn they have under loan or purchase agreement, the official said. With this information at hand, the county ASC office can make necessary plans for meeting the situation, he explained and can render better service to all

To help solve the storage problem, farmers of Wright county are being asked to reseal at least 900,000 bushels of price-supported corn and thereby agree to keep the grain another year

To encourage resealing, the government is offering a storage payment of 15 cents a bushel for price supported corn kept by producers a full additional year or a prorated payment if the grain is redeemed prior to July 31 1955 The corn need not be delivered to the government to qualify for the storage payment.

Farmers who have 1952 corn under reseal may extend the resealing for another year and qualify for the storage payment The storage payment due them for keeping the 1952 corn the first extra year will be paid to them when they extend the resealing agreement for an additional year or until July 31, 1955 Those who do not extend the present resealing argeement on 1952 corn will receive the storage payment due them for the past year when they make settlement on the 1952 corn

Holders of purchase agreements on 1953 corn may change their agreements into loans and become eligible to earn the storage payment

Chris Schulte Presents $1,000 Gift To State Camp of 4-H Near Boone

Last week's issue of the Iowa Farm Bureau Spokesman reports that C C "Chris" Schulte of Alexander recently became the 19th honorary member of the Iowa 4-H camp near Boone by a gift of $1 000 to the camping center. He is the first person from Franklin or surrounding counties to make such a bequest

In explaining the thought that lay behind the gift Mr Schulte said "Iowa has been good to me I thought the least I could do would be to invest in the youth of the state."

Came to Iowa in 1912

The article in the Spokesman tells that Chris came to Alexander from South Dakota in 1912, having been sent there as an employee of the Moore elevator chain at a salary of $50 a month In 1915 he married Minnie Bonte of near Alexander and chose to make that community his home

Showing initiative that has been characteristic throughout his life, Mr Schulte decided after six years with the Moore Brothers elevator to go into the grain business himself He continued in that business until 1948

Chris bought his first farm in 1927 at $92 per acre It is currently operated by his son Calvin with the daily assistance of his father who drives the six miles from Alexander When asked by the Spokesman reporter what he estimated the farm was now worth Mr Schulte replied, "I wouldn't sell for $300,000 "

1,920 Acres of Land

In following years he acquired additional land until he owned four farms totalling 1 920 acres His two daughters Mrs Merlin Bier and Mrs Foster Barkema both reside on farms owned by their father

Although he's never had any first-hand experience in 4-H work, Mr Schulte has been an active supporter of the Farm Bureau and extension work He very firmly believes that all farmers should belong to a farm organization because "everything else is organized "

He also is a firm believer in soil conservation and thinks more attention should be given to it He declares, "Too much of our soil is over-cropped and it won't stand that forever "

Let S. D. Claim Go

He looks back with much satisfaction to one sound decision that had a great influence on his life The same year he came to Alexander he had filed a claim for a homestead in western South Dakota of which he was to take possession on March 1,1913 When the deadline came, his employer persuaded him to remain in Alexander and he let the claim go by default.

Chris recalls, "In 1939 I became curious about that homestead so my wife and I drove out to see it. We found it and learned that the homesteaders had all been starved out and the land had gone back to cattle "

The Spokesman article concludes: "C C Schulte is proud of Iowa He believes in Iowa's youth That's why he has decided to help materially on the 4-H camp "

Not Too Late Yet For Cost Sharing Conservation Job

Wright county farmers may still file applications for the government to share the cost of needed soil and water conservation practices which can be carried out this year it's been announced by the county ASC Committee. They state that applications should be filed at the ASC office in Clarion at the earliest possible time to avoid unnecessary delay in starting practices authorized by the county committee Any owner or operator of a Wright county farm is eligible to file a request for cost-sharing conservation work, the chairman said

There are a number of practices offered in the agricultural conservation program of ASC which will fit into the work schedule of farmers at the present time, or immediately after small grain harvest is completed These include standard and diversion terraces, drainage ditches, tiling spreading of limestone, pasture improvement and land leveling A complete list of approved practices and the requirements for cost sharing may be reviewed by farmers at the county ASC office

Flood Revealed Need

H P Vanderlip of Dows, chairman, observes that the heavy rains and flood waters of June revealed a great need for extensive conservation work in the county and in the state as a whole. He points out that much of the heavy loss of topsoil resulting from the heavy rains and high water could have been substantially avoided "if farmers had only performed needed conservation in years gone by".

"Is it necessary," Mr Vanderlip asks, "that thousands of tons of valuable top-soil must be permitted to wash away in order to convince otherwise good farmers that they must establish and maintain sound conservation practices on their land? One purpose of the ACP is to share the cost of establishing practices most needed on individual farms and thereby demonstrate the great value of such work "

New Filing Policy

The government's cost-sharing conservation plan was inaugurated 20 years ago but this is the first time farmers have been given the privilege of filing requests at any time during the year, Mr Vanderlip comments.

He adds, "Another feature of this year's program is that each approval of a request advises the farmer of the exact amount he will receive in the way of cost-sharing if he completes the practice and also tells him the date by which the practice must be completed By fixing a completion date, it is possible for the county ASC officials to check progress being made and to re-pledge government funds released through failure of early applicants to meet completion dates.

County Purchases Of Bonds Nearing Total of Million

Iowa's outstanding record for purchases of series E and H United States savings bonds continues and the state had reached 61 per cent of its 1954 quota at the end of the first six months

Total sales for the first half amounted to $85,727,520, which is 25 per cent greater than for the first six months of 1953

Charles Kramer, Clarion, Wright county chairman, reported the state figures this week and said that purchases of series E and H bonds for this county during the first six months totalled $924,797 for 68.23 per cent of the 1954 quota

"Citizens of Wright county are to be congratulated and commended for their purchases of United States saving bonds With six months still to go we already have attained more than half of our 1954 quota," Mr Kramer said

The new series H current income bond continues to increase in popularity the chairman said, with sales for the first six months of 1954 going 116 per cent higher than for the first half of 1953 The 1954 increase for the series E bond was five per cent

"Popularity of the H bond in Iowa indicates that many persons want to receive their interest checks twice each year rather than wait for a lump payment of accumulated interest when the bonds mature," Mr Kramer said "However, the E bond still is ideal for those who wish to wait for the interest when the bonds mature "

Six month purchases of E and H bonds, and percentages of quotas attained are shown for adjacent counties Hancock, $540,786 for 67.3 per cent, Franklin, $521,553 for 68.77 per cent, Kossuth $921,070 for 63.24 per cent, Hamilton, $670,363 for 56.09 per cent

Tomahawks Win Again; Play E.G. Twice Sunday

A win over Hampton here Sunday afternoon kept the Tomahawks in the thick of the Quad-County league play-off race, but the Belmond nine experienced some anxious moments in the final inning before salvaging a 10-8 decision. Going into that frame the 'Hawks had an apparently invincible 10-4 lead. Three hits, a walk and two errors permitted the visitors four runs in their last time at bat, however, before Jake Koenen finally put out the fire.

It was a home run by LeRoy Smith in the sixth inning, with Jim Kleen on base via a single, that chalked up Belmond's final, two tallies and provided the ultimate winning margin. Koenen hurled a good game for the victors, allowing only eight hits and striking out 12, but six errors by his mates put him in occasional hot water.

Belmond got off to a two-run lead in the second. Hampton evened the count in the third, only to see the 'Hawks add two more in their half of the frame and then go ahead 8-2 with a four-run splurge in the fourth. In the first seven innings, Koenen was touched for only three hits. He weakened in the eighth though, and the visitors made two hits and an error good for two more runs.

Smith's homer had closed out the Belmond scoring, but Hampton continued its surge in the ninth to make the final score sound relatively respectable. The Franklin county crew batted entirely around in this inning before Koenen finally got the last man on a strike-out with two runners on the bases.

Ozzie Nelson played a fine game for the Tomahawks at first base and at the plate. He committed one error—in the third inning—but promptly compensated for it by nailing a base-runner at home plate for the third out. He had a big day at bat, getting four for five and two of his hits being doubles.

Jim Kleen, making a reappearance in the 'Hawks line-up after some absence, found his reflexes not up to the old-time par but made up for a couple of errors with a pair of solid base hits and personally cross the plate three times. Koenen also hit safely twice.

Sunday's Results

Belmond 10, Hampton 8
Eagle Grove 7, Clarion 4
Rockwell 4, Kanawha 1
Latimer-Coulter 7, Swaledale 6

This Sunday the Tomahawks will bring their Quad-County schedule up to date by playing home-and-home games with Eagle Grove to make up for a rain cancellation during the first half. They will take on the Legionnaires here at 2:15 p. m. and then travel to Eagle Grove for a repeat session at 8:15 p. m.

After Kanawha's unexpected defeat at the hands of Rockwell last Sunday, 4 to 1, Eagle Grove will be scenting a chance to take the loop title and will have much at stake during the busy day. But the Tomahawks will also find themselves at the crossroads, since they are still tied with Latimer-Coulter and Rockwell for third place—and there'll be only three games until the play-offs, following Sunday's double bill.

Added Bleachers Ordered by BHS

New bleachers to more than double the seating capacity for football games at the high school athletic field were ordered last week, Supt. Don Faris reports. This will be good news to BHS girdiron fans, for the old bleachers never had been adequate to provide seating for more than a minority of the home fans attending local games.

Ordered from the Tigott company of Des Moines through Salesman Lloyd Patterson of Eagle Grove, former BHS coach, the new bleachers will be portable and of the same design as the old ones. They will consist of two, 15-foot sections, however, compared to the 10-foot width of the two, older sections.

Mr. Faris says the previous seating capacity was about 250 and that the new facilities will add about 350 more to that number, making provision for approximately 600 fans. Patterson has promised delivery of the bleachers in time that they can be erected and available for the opening game with Hampton on Sept. 10.

Peewees Trounce Clear Lake, 15-2

It was three in a row for Belmon's peewee ball team as the boys took Clear Lake into camp Friday afternoon by the healthy margin of 15 to 2. Kenny Hawley pitched to only nine men during three innings of mound duty for the winners and earned credit for six strike-outs

Clear Lake's runs came while Emmett Studebaker finished out the last two frames. He fanned three batters, but gave up four hits.

Highlights of the Belmond batting attack was a homer cracked out by Hawley in the third inning. He connected for a single, too. Bob Lerdall collected a pair of onebaggers; Mark Mason, Cecil Eccles, Roger Ginapp and Johnny Murray a single apiece. Jeff Hansen produced a double Tommorrow afternoon the peewees' play Hampton her, and next Monday both the peewees and midgets go to Kanawha to take part in a doubleheader.

8-Team Softball Meet Next Week

Belmond softball fans will have an opportunity to view some of the classiest teams in this part of the state in action here next week when the General Mills Men's club conducts an eight-team tourney on the GMI diamond.

"Moke" Obrecht, manager of the Millers, reports that his team will be vying with such outfits as Kamrar, Ventura, Wodin and Elliott's Hardware for tournament honors.

First-round games will be played in the form of two double-headers scheduled for Thurdsay and Friday nights, the openers slated for 7:30 p .m. Semi-finals and finals will be held Sunday, the initial game to begin at 6:30 p. m.

A special gate prize is to be awarded on Sunday evening, Obrecht says.

Last week at the North Iowa-Southern Minnesota tournament at Manly, the Millers survived the first round in good style but were downed by Artz & Merritt of Mason City in the next round.

Both games were played Friday night. Duan Thompson shackled Dumont in the opener, allowing only six hits; but errors by the losers told the tale. The Millers' mound ace didn't have enough stuff left for the second game of the twin-bill and the M.C. hotshots won in five innings by a 13-0 count.

'54 Boone Valley Tourney at E.G.

Annual tournament of the Boone Valley Golf association will be held a week from Sunday, Aug. 8, at Eagle Grove. This will be the first introduction of the Boone Valley golfers to the new sand greens that the E.G. club constructed only a couple of years ago, replacing its former sand greens.

Bob Rost of Hampton won the tournament played last year at Iowa Falls. Runner-up at that time was Frank Rueb of Hampton, who has since moved to Algona and is no longer eligible. Third and fourth places were taken by a pair of Belmond entries, Fred Gordon and Pat Gallagher. Hampton was the 1953 team winner, nosing out Clarmond 309 to 313.

As usual, the championship flight will be confined to the 16, low qualifiers and the title-chasers will play 27 holes. Golfers in all other flights will cover an 18-hole route. There will be a special flight for veterans 60 years of age or older. Play will start at 7:00 a. m.

TOURNEY PLANS BREWING

A meeting of the Clarmond Country club tournament committee, of which Leo Hilton, Jr., of Belmond is chairman, was to be held last night to lay plans for this year's club tourney. Rules for qualification and flight play were to be drafted at that time and will be available for publication next week.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Christens of Klemme were guests in the H. R. Bayliss home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeVries of Titonka were callers Saturday in the Jelto Beenken home.

Cort Vestweber of Alexander visited in the Walter Boyd home Sunday.

Elliott's Remains Unbeaten in Loop

Elliott's Hardware racked up its third, consecutive win in the Tri-County softball league last Friday night, 11 to 7. On the same night, Helland & Long suffered its third loss in loop play, bowing to Root's of Latimer 16 to 3.

Two big innings spelled victory for the hardwaremen, who tallied six in the 5th and five in the 7th. A bases-loaded homer by Paul Rogalla in the 7th was the deciding factor. Coonie Smith was on the mound for the winners.

Helland & Long's game was quite close until the 5th, when a wheel came off for Pitcher Oscar Lundstrum. The Belmond crew had tied the count at 3-all in the second. Root's broke loose again in the 7th and Lundstrum was relieved by George Sharp.

As things stand, both Belmond teams now plan to play their "home" games at Alexander. Both are on the road this Friday, though. Elliott's will tangle with Root's and H&L travels to Sheffield.

Gordon 2nd Low In Humboldt Play

A bit of trouble on the second nine forced Fred Gordon to settle for second-place tie in the Humboldt Amateur golf tournament on Sunday as Defending Champion George Lee, a home-towner, won with a 35-36-36—107. Gordon had the lowest third-round score with a 35, but with his opening 35-38 he was still a stroke out. Marion Joslyn of Fort Dodge tied him with a 34-36-38—108.

Gordon lost the flip for second prize, a golf bag, and received a gallery stick-seat. Leo Hilton, Jr., lost a play-off for the first prize in the 3rd flight after shooting a 43-39—82. His prize was a piece of luggage, a carry-all bag.

Only other Clarmond entry among the money-winners was Frank Middleton of Clarion to tied for fourth in one of the lower flights. He was rewarded with a golf hat and golf glove.

Mary Gordon on State Golf Board

Mary Gordon was elected as one of the board members of the Iowa Women's Golf association as that group held its annual meeting at the time of the state golf tournament last week at Waterloo. This is the policy-making body of the association

Mrs. Gordon, who was playing in her seventh Iowa women's tournament, was eliminated from the championship flight in the second round. She bowed to Patricia Black of Des Moines by a 1-up margin.

A bit of glory was garnered by the Belmond contender when she tied for first place in an approaching and putting contest held in conjunction with the tourney. Shooting three balls from about 50 yards off a green, Mrs. Gordon downed them in a total of eight strokes and received three golf balls as her pay-off.

CHICK CHATS

One Way To Beat The Egg Market

I heard about a fellow the other day who got disgusted with the whole poultry business. For years, he raised chickens — usually some heavy breed. He didn't keep very good records so he didn't know for sure if his chickens made him any money or not. He just raised chickens "to keep the wife busy" he said.

This year, with things getting tighter, he decided to take a look at all his farm operations — cattle, hogs, grain and chickens. Of course, when he started to look at the chickens end of things, he didn't know what he was looking for. He didn't have records to know where he stood. So he decided to keep records on feed for awhile.

He found out he was keeping a hen house full of pets. The birds were eating plenty and laying not so many eggs. The egg price was down lower than a snake's navel and he was just breaking even. He figured with prices higher than average, he'd make a little money on eggs.

Well, it seemed like a lot of his wife's work was going to waste. He decided to drop the poultry operation. And he didn't hurt his wife's feelings with his decision.

He sold the whole shootin' mess — hens and chicks alike. The young birds were about three months old and he got a dandy price for' em.

His idea now is that if he ever raises chickens, it'll be one kind or another — but not both. That is, he'll either raise egg producers or broilers — not both. And he isn't going to piddle with chickens. He's going to make his chicken operation pay off big for him. He'll put enough time and effort into it to make it pay like his hogs and cattle.

He figures that dual purpose birds are a thing of the past — unless you want a dozen birds laying breakfast for you. The dual purpost bird just eats too much feed to produce eggs cheaply — and they don't bring enough meat money to pay for the extra feed they eat.

And that fellow is catching on to the new trend. Seems like this is the age of specialization. The dual purpose bird doesn't fit into specialization. It doesn't lay very good and it won't bring in much meat income either. It just lays there in the middle — not doing real well in egg or meat production.

The fellow figures that while he wasn't doing himself any good, he wasn't helping his neighbors either. Those few eggs he sold helped keep the egg price down — and the egg quality low too. The poultry meat he sold did the same thing to the broiler prices.

So he sold off every bird on the place. He figured he was giving himself, his wife and poultrymen a break.

Now don't get me wrong. There's a lot of people making a lot of money with chickens year after year. And you could be — or maybe you are — one of them. But if the chickens on your farm don't amount to a belch in a hurricane, sell 'em off. Give your wife a break. And your billfold, too.

Second Brood Corn Borers Potentially Worst in History

LATEST RELEASE FROM HAROLD GUNDERSON, EXTENSION ENTOMOLOGIST, SHOWS 450 LIVE BORERS PER 100 PLANTS IN CENTRAL IOWA AND 267 PER 100 PLANTS IN THE NORTHERN PART OF THE STATE. THIS COULD MEAN THE MOST SEVERE INFESTATION OF SECOND BROOD OF CORN BORERS IN HISTORY IN THIS AREA — UNLESS PROTECTIVE MEASURES ARE TAKEN.

Trained Crews Available

RECOMMENDATIONS ARE FOR SPRAYING WITH DDT WHEN THE EGG MASS COUNT REACHES 100 PER 100 PLANTS. WE HAVE TRAINED CREWS WHO ARE MAKING SYSTEMATIC DAILY COUNTS OF EGG MASSES IN SEED FIELDS, THESE SAME CREWS WILL KEEP A CHARTED COUNT ON YOUR FIELD WITHOUT OBLIGATION SHOULD YOU SO REQUEST.

Plane Spraying Necessary

SECOND BROOD SPRAYING MUST BE DONE BY HIGH CLEARANCE GROUND EQUIPMENT OR BY PLANES. BECAUSE OF THE LIMITED AVAILABILITY OF HIGH CLEARANCE SPRAYERS, MOST OF THE SPRAYING WILL BE DONE BY PLANE. MANY SPRAY PILOTS ARE ALREADY BOOKED SOLID. WE HAVE STEARMAN (double wing) PLANES ALERTED TO COME UP FROM FLORIDA IF ENOUGH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN THIS SECOND BROOD SPRAYING.

Call Belmond 291

WE ARE HEADQUARTERS FOR EMULSIFIABLE DDT, PLANES OR FOR JUST SERVICE IN CHECKING FIELDS. AT THIS STAGE, IT LOOKS LIKE THE BEST TIME TO SPRAY WILL BE SOMETIME BETWEEN AUGUST 1ST AND 10TH—IT COULD BE SOONER.

COUNTY BUDGET SHOWS THOUGHT; BUT SOLDIERS' FUND RAISES A QUESTION

Taken as a whole, the county's 1955 budget estimate drafted last week by the board of supervisors appears quite reasonable in its proportions and gives added indication that the current supervisors are much more economy minded than the boards of several years back. It appears that the arbitrary, annual increase in county expenditures is a thing of the past and that a genuine effort is being made to keep a reasonably firm grip on the county purse strings.

There was one item in the estimate last week that doesn't readily lend itself to understanding, though, which we'd like to know a bit more about. It has to do with the soldiers' relief fund. There may be a perfectly logical explanation as to why the requirements of this fund have multiplied almost seven times in the course of the past 10 years. While we haven't had too much luck obtaining replies to questions addressed editorially to some county officials, we're forwarding a copy of these remarks to Don Champlin, secretary of the soldiers' relief commission, in hope that he will considerately shed a little light on the subject.

In the past decade, the expenditures of this commission have increased as follows:

1947—	9,203	1952—	19,190
1948—	13,729	1953—	21,516
1949—	15,264	1954—	20,000*
1950—	16,131	1955—	30,000*

The asterisk following the figures for this year and next indicate that they are proposed, rather than actual expenditures. In June, $10,000 was transferred from earnings of the county farm to the soldiers' relief fund, indicating that the 1954 appropriation has already shown itself to be woefully inadequate.

What gives rise to natural curiosity is the fact that employment is currently at a high peak. If, under these conditions, aid to ex-servicemen and their families is burgeoning in such a fashion, what can we expect if there should be a slump?

Obviously the ex-service population is greater than ever before. But is the relief problem actually seven times as severe a year following the end of the Korean war as it was a year after the end of World War II? It's a matter we SHOULD be interested in, if not as taxpayers, then simply as fellow citizens of the apparently, steadily growing number of ex-servicemen and their families who are finding times so hard. We solicit, in all friendliness, some enlightenment from Mr Champlin as to the growth of the soldiers' relief role, the scope of the commission's responsibility and what the outlook for the future appears to be.

IT TAKES BUYERS AS WELL AS SAVERS TO KEEP U.S.A. AN ECONOMIC KINGPIN

We've pointed out before, with more than a little awe, how close to the top in the state Wright county ranks in purchase of U. S. savings bonds on a per capita basis. We hope that sometime the monthly bond report will give a break-down in relation to population; it might be a revelation.

In Wright's own particular bailiwick there's no other county can hold a candle to it. With only 19,636 population, our apparently well-heeled residents bought $924,797 worth of E and H bonds in the first six months of this year. Kossuth, with 26,181 population, totaled $921,070 in bond purchases; Hamilton, 19,659, had "socked away" $670,363; Hancock, 15,079 had a total of $540,786; and Franklin, 16,287, could boast only $521,553.

What prompts our comment on the matter again was a piece we read recently on the convenience of installment buying—and its importance to our national economy. We doubt that the many Wright county families that are buying a new car, a television, home freezer or what not by the month are contributing materially to that impressive bond total. Yet the part they play in making the good, old U.S. of A. the world's economic Garden of Eden is perhaps no less important than that of the thrifty folks who are piling up those E's and H's.

It takes optimistic "buyers" as well as conscientious "savers" to make a country like ours click. We can't notice that Wright residents are doing without, in order to "salt it away." And that's the way it should be.

IF WE'VE ONLY A PLANK FOR AN OAR, NO SENSE IN JUST THROWING IT AWAY

There can be no denying that acceptance of Red China as a member of the United Nations would be in complete contradiction to the principles that the United States has fought so hard to foster in the UN. More than that, it would represent a deplorable gesture of appeasement on the part a majority of the "free world" nations, from which the United States has a right to expect loyalty.

Nevertheless, the suggestion that such a step should prompt withdrawal of our nation from the UN arouses the deepest dismay in many of our most intelligent and intellectual citizens. It strikes us that they are right and that those who would give vent to righteous indignation by having the U. S. abandon the United Nations are dead wrong.

If you're adrift in a boat and possessed of a plank, it's questionable wisdom to throw it away because it isn't an oar. Certainly the United States owes it to itself and the rest of the democratic nations of the world to "make do" as best it can within the framework of the UN to further the cause of peace — and ultimate freedom for all peoples of the earth. It may not be the ideal instrument for achieving these ends, but it's the best we've got.

We and our allies have done reasonably well in dominating the Communist clique in the UN so far, and addition of another member to its ranks should not lessen that dominance materially. Should the unfortunate admission of Red China come to pass — censure it severely, certainly. Leave no question as to the deep, moral indignation that we feel.

But for the United States to desert the UN on this count would most certainly represent a graphic example of cutting off the nose to spite the face. The achievements of the UN in non-political spheres have been too great, even its potentialities as an international political force would STILL remain too great to justify a wrathful withdrawal.

City's Budget Estimate Calls for Tax Levy of 21.5 Mills

More Than 1954's By Just 1.47 Mill; Hearing Aug. 16th

After much study, the Belmond city council last Monday night drafted a municipal budget estimate for 1955 that will require an increase of slightly under $3,000 in tax askings and boost the municipal tax levy by the modest amount of 1.47 mill. Total assessed valuation within the incorporated limits of Belmond is shown to be $2,208,386 for the 1953 base year, compared to $2,221,000 for the previous year.

Efforts of the council to achieve a slight reduction in millage were foresaken when the city fathers were acquainted with the fact that tax aid to the Belmond Community hospital should advisedly be increased by a moderate figure for 1955. For 1954, the levy for the hospital was set at 1.5 mill and produced $3.334; for next year the levy was increased to 4.7 to provide $10,385.

Public Safety "Up"

With modifications here and there, the levies for the other funds were kept at the same general level as for 1954. Money for streets is virtually the same as was budgeted for this year. There was an increase of $3,000 for the public safety fund to continue the rat control program and to allow for the purchase of some new fire equipment. A hose dryer will be needed for the new fire station, for one thing, and it is possible some new fire hose will be required, also. The fund may also allow for a few odds and ends in the way of furnishings for the fire hall.

Appropriations for the sanitation, recreation and utilities funds are about level with this year. A drop in the debt service fund is allowed by the fact that bonds for the storm sewer on Third Street NE will be completely paid off this fall, leaving this fund with no obligation other than for the hospital bonds.

No General Fund Levy

Proposed expenditures under the general fund are increased from $7,121 to $10,000; but it is expected that unencumbered balance left at the end of this year, plus income from licenses, will provide this sum. Consequently there will be no levy for it, whereas a mill tax brought in $2,221 for the general fund this year.

Biggest increases in proposed expenditures are to be found in the sanitation and utilities funds. Money for these anticipated outlays is provided by the recent boost in water fees and the corresponding increase in sewer rental charges. Tax requirements, in each case, remain the same.

Over-All Millage Down

In the sewer fund, the added expense will be attributed to maintenance of the new sewage disposal plant, when it is completed; and the utilities increase looks to the imminent need for improvements and repairs at the water plant.

Public hearing on the city budget estimate will be held at the city hall at 8:00 p. m. on Monday, Aug. 16. With all local and county budget estimates now set, there are indications that Belmond propertyholders will be taxed for 1955 at an aggregate millage of approximately 47 to 48, compared to this year's millage of 60.7.

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

We invite attention to the story elsewhere on this page regarding the C-of-C's new housing committee, which Fred Fulton is heading. Having in recent weeks given what aid we could to many a newcomer desperately seeking a place to live here in Belmond, we at the Independent office know full well how many a "wild goose chase" must be suffered through in the course of a house or apartment hunt. It's exhausting, discouraging and — in due time — maddening. Belmond has lost several potential residents because the outlook for housing appeared so dismal.

We're going to lose more, unless some really aggressive action is taken to seek a solution. The Chamber committee can serve as a springboard to that end if we who are interested in seeing our home town grow and prosper choose to use it in that fashion.

Rental space is only a small part of the problem, but an important one. It will at least be a step in the right direction if the habit is formed, at once, of keeping Fred Fulton informed regarding any and all homes, apartments and even sleeping rooms that are currently available. If YOU have living space for rent, list it with him RIGHT NOW. Meanwhile, it is to be hoped that the C-of-C committee will launch CONCRETE action to encourage construction of NEW housing, too. It's a big job, but it MUST be tackled.

Principal Clair Hugh is back in town, proudly displaying callouses on the palms of his hands. The BHS pedagogue insists that these badges of worthy toil were hard-earned at the wheel of a tractor on his father-in-law's farm near West Union. We overheard one dubious gent, after inspecting the evidence, suggest that a fish pole gripped firmly enough hours of each day could produce the same effect. . . . We weren't there. We wouldn't know.

Wes Hunzinger, Spahn and Rose manager, recently brought us a clerk's record book in which was recorded the business proceedings of Pleasant township for the years 1905-1916. It was unearthed in the process of cleaning out a shed at the lumberyard, which was owned by John Greenlander before S&R came into possession. John succeeded G. W. Cram as township clerk in 1916, explaining the presence of the book on the former Greenlander premises.

This book is jam-packed with familiar names and less familiar happenings. We plan one of these days to compose an article based on its contents.

There seemed to be a great to-do at one point during the time covered as to whether farmers working out their poll tax with road work should be paid only for mileage dragged (at 50 cents per mile), or if they should also draw the approved stipend for distances covered to get back where they started. A newspaper clipping pasted in the front of the book apparently ended the argument. The attorney general decided that the law intended payment for comin' as well as goin'.

We've seen, in our day, persons we regarded as fastidious eaters; but we witnessed a new high in this regard the other day at a local restaurant. . . . an elderly lady consuming a hamburger sandwich with a fork. 'Twasn't a Maid-Rite, either; just plain, fried hamburger. Nearby was a man inhaling a cup of coffee like a sump pump. It takes all kinds!

A special meeting of local merchants belonging to the Chamber of Commerce was held last Thursday noon at the Jones cafe Pine Room, called by President Chet Hiddleston. About a dozen men showed up, delayed ordering their meals awaiting the appearance of Mr. H., and finally went ahead on the assumption that a sudden influx of customers must be keeping him at the store. As 12:30 approached, Secretary Luin Cox gave the Hiddleston residence a ring, just in case. Sure enough, Chet was home enjoying a leisurely lunch — having completely forgotten the confab HE had planned.

Local octogenarian: "You want to know why some people talk less, the older they get? They've got more to keep quiet about!"

A man-about-town you know observes: "Take my wife, now; she doesn't ask for much. She just goes ahead and buys it and hands me the bill."

Comment between shoppers: "Don't you believe that a woman will hear only one side of an argument. When me and the Mr. get in a spat, there's a neighbor of ours GLADLY listens to both sides."

DEMO WOMEN TO MEET

A meeting of the Democratic Women's club will be held Monday afternoon of next week at the home of Henrietta Pals, starting at 2:00 o'clock. Any women interested in attending are welcome to do so.

Hospital Patient-Load Declines in 2nd Year

Patronage of the Belmond Community hospital showed somewhat of a decline during the fiscal year that ended June 30, compared to its first fiscal year of operation. The annual report of Administrator Jack Shepard shows that the hospital performed 897 less patient-days of service in 1953-54 than in 1952-53, which was reflected by a drop of $8,095 in income from room charges at approximately $9.00 per day.

In some small part, Mr. Shepard pointed out, the decrease in room income is attributable to the fact that there was a backlog of elective surgical cases that had been delayed until the opening of the new hospital; and to the fact that the first fiscal year consisted of 53 rather than 52 weeks due to the hospital going into operation on June 23, 1952.

No Cause for Pessimism

Commenting on the report, Mr. Shepard says that neither he nor the board of trustees sees any cause for pessimism over the decrease in operational income. They agree that the experience of only two years is hardly an adequate criterion for forecasting what the normal, long-range patient load of the hospital promises to be. Several more, full years of operation must pass before anything approaching a dependable average can be struck.

Meanwhile, the trustees have approached the city council with a proposal that the municipal tax levy for aid to the hospital be increased for 1955 from 1.5 mills to 4.7 mills as a safeguard against the hospital finding itself in temporary financial straits if a moderate, further drop in patient load should ensue. This request was based on the possibility of a decrease of five per cent next year, in comparison to a 15 per cent decrease that was experienced during the fiscal year just closed.

Income Down $12,484

Operating income for the 1953-54 year was off $12,484.17 from the hospital's first year, $117,055.88 to $104,571.71; whereas operating expenses came down only $6,148.09 — from $113,509.51 to $107,361.42. This resulted in last year's $3,546.37 net operating income — before depreciation — being replaced by a deficit of $2,789.71. With allowance made for depreciation ($7,208.07) and tax aid received ($2,558.31) the hospital was left with a net loss of $7,439.47, compared with a net income in 1952-53 of $1,353.86.

Comparisons between the two years provided by Mr. Shepard's report show, with 1953-54 figures listed first: patients admitted 844 and 950; surgical proceedures, 283 and 293; births, 229 and 240; average occupancy (per day) 13 and 15; baby days of service, 1,302 and 1,426; average baby load 3 and 3.

March 27th Biggest Day

The compilation indicates 106 fewer adult patients, 11 less births and 10 less surgical proceedures. Deaths increased from 28 to 29. Most adults occupying the hospital on any one day was 24, on March 27; and fewest, four on June 25 and 26. High baby census was nine on Aug. 1 and 2 of last summer and low was zero on Nov. 17.

R. W. Courson, chairman of the hospital board, considers the past year a remarkably successful one from one standpoint. National figures indicate that a hospital must expect 65 per cent occupancy through the year to break even. In 1952-53, the Belmond hospital acheived this goal on only 58 per cent average occupancy and this past year missed by only a narrow margin on exactly 50 per cent average occupancy.

Salaries, Wages $66,093

This was done without sacrificing to any degree the completeness of the services offered the hospital's patrons, Mr. Courson emphasizes. It is to assure continued maintenance of service on the highest level, Mr. Courson added, that the modest increase in municipal tax aid was solicited. Personnel salaries and wages amounted to $66,093.47 of last year's expenditures or 61.6 per cent of the total operating expense.

Regardless of the patient load on any particular day, the board chairman added, the full-time staff must be kept at the irreducible minimum required to provide the best of service. The only staff variations permissable involve part-time registered nurses and nurse's aides who may augment the regular staff during especially busy periods.

BIG ONE $400!

A great, big chunk of cash will change hands next Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock if a winner can be found for the major Cash Gift Day award. Having been touched for only $25 this week, the businesses sponsoring the event are boosting the 3:00 p. m. gift to the handsome sum of $400. With the usual half dozen $25 prizes again offered at 2:00 o'clock, that makes $550 that could pass into circulation if the right people are present with the right numbers. Mrs. Chris Friesleben was recipient of the $25 that found a new home this week.

C. N. Hildebrand Named by Council As City's Maintenance Supervisor

C. N. Hildebrand, former Belmond mayor, took up employment on Tuesday of this week as a city official for the first time since relinquishing his position as head of the city administration in 1934 after a one-year term.

At Monday night's council meeting, Mr. Hildebrand was hired in the capacity of City Construction and Maintenance supervisor. His duties will correspond closely with those that were performed by Ed Bailey, maintenance superintendent, prior to his resignation last month.

Mr. Hildebrand for a brief time early in his career operated an engineering company here and from 1920 to 1937 conducted a contracting business. He has been intermittenly active in the engineering and contracting fields during the years that have intervened since.

He was a member of the Iowa Administrative Agency Construction Code authority during NRA days and was once a director of the Central Branch, Iowa State Association of General Contractors.

In accepting position of city supervisor, Mr. Hildebrand informed the council that it would not be his plan to devote his entire time to the job. Consequently, his pay was set at an hourly rate based on the equivalent of a $300 per month salary and he will draw wages for actual time devoted to city business.

SJOBERG ENLISTS

Donald Sjoberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sjoberg and a 1954 graduate of Belmond High school, on Thursday of last week enlisted in the U. S. Navy. He has been sent to USNTC, San Diego, Calif., for recruit training.

The tour is sponsored jointly by the Wright County Soil Conservation District commissioners and the Wright county extension service. Bob Locke, farm planner, and Aaron Bowman, county extension director, will conduct the tour. The six stops of the tour will show the following:

1st — The Hansen land west of Clarion where a corn experiment testing various amounts of nitrogen and different rates of planting corn is being conducted by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station; 2nd — Control of Canadian Thistles on the Sheldon addition, east edge of Clarion; 3rd — Crowe farm operated by Lawrence Murphy, for different types of tiling, including pot hole and side hill tiling.

4th—Baker Estate farm tenanted by Ed Buettner, to see grass waterways and strip cropping; 5th — Lynn Thompson farm operated by Harlan Harper, showing sweet clover weevil control and first brood corn borer control by spraying; 6th — Albert Thompson farm operated by Curtis Clutter, to see terrace construction. This farm tour is open to anyone interested in farming.

New Police Radio Station Going Up Early Next Week

Contractor Ted Zook, who is engaged at present in building the new state police radio station north of Belmond, reported this week that good progress is being made on the job. Footings and the garage floor were poured and foundations were laid by the middle of this week.

Work on construction of the station proper will be started the first of next week, Mr. Zook says. He expects that the building will be ready for the plasterer in about three weeks' time. If everything goes well, he predicts the station will be fully completed and ready for installation of equipment within 60 days.

Before the contractor's crew went to work, a well to provide water for the station's needs was sunk by Harold Olsen, local well-driller. He had to go 170 feet to reach a satisfactory supply. The contractor's gang reports it's a "mighty fine well;" and that its cold, pure water is properly appreciated by them all when the day's heat settles down.

Members of FFA Hold Project Tour

Members of the Friendly Service chapter of Future Farmers of America conducted their annual project tour on Saturday of last week. They visited the farm home of each of the boys to learn first-hand about the successes and set-backs their fellow members have experienced in their farming programs.

"These tours are of very real value to the boys," Francis Kelly, the new BHS vocational agriculture instructor, says, "by giving each an opportunity to compare his own methods with those of other Future Farmers and to correct any shortcomings that might be brought to light."

Starting out from the high school, the group spent the entire morning on the tour. A sack lunch was enjoyed at the city park at noon and then the tour was continued until 3:00 p. m., when the entire party went to Clarion for a swim in the pool.

Election Boards For ASC Voting Draw Up Slates

Preparations for conducting the annual ASC elections are now being made on the township level in Wright county. The community election boards have been busily engaged in nominating full slates of candidates for community committeemen.

An election board consisting of three representative farmers was named for each township. The principal duty of each of these boards is to nominate at least 10 candidates for membership on the ASC community committee, which administers the federal agency's price support, conservation and production adjustment programs on the township level.

Ballots Out Aug. 13

Each community election board was to complete its slate of candidates by Aug. 2 so that ballots may be printed and mailed to all farmers of the township by Aug. 13. The voters have until Aug. 20 to mark and return their ballots to the county ASC office.

Names of the township election board members have been released by O. J. Hanson, county ASC office manager, the first individual being the chairman: Belmond township—Glen Baker, Chet Hill, Roy McClure; Blaine—Oscar Holmes, John Burt, Merle Poolman; B oone — Bill Pogge, Jim Youngclas, Harlan Espe; Dayton—Alvin Benson, Justin Thebiay, Charles Simmons; Eagle Grove—Wesley Warner Don Brisbin, Peter A. Softball Tourney Taken by Clarion

Garner took first place in the General Mills softball tournament conducted over the past weekend as all three Belmond entries were eliminated in the first round. The winners piled up a total of 40 runs in their three games, winning all by decisive margins. Clarion bowed to Garner in the finals Monday night, 11 to 1.

First round results were: Clarion 4, Helland & Long 3; Woden 5, Elliott's 0; Garner 19, G. M. Millers 9; Kamrar 14, Ventura 1. In the semi-finals, Clarion ousted Woden 4 to 2; and Garner thumped Kamrar, 10 to 0.

Sheep Clinic Held At Sales Pavilion

Dewey Jontz of Runnells, secretary of the Iowa Sheep Breeders association, held a fitting-showing demonstration at Belmond Sales Pavilion on Thursday of last week for vocational agriculture teachers of the North Central district.

E. J. Mabon of Ankeny, assistant state supervisor of vocational agriculture with the state department of public instruction, also was present.

Francis Kelly, local "Voc. Ag." teacher, reports that the meeting covered management practices involved in sheep raising. Actual experience was given each instructor in shearing, clipping and worming.

Trinity Service Sunday Will Honor Couple Soon to Become Missionaries

Special services will be held this coming Sunday at 3:00 p. m. at the Trinity Lutheran church for Rev. and Mrs. Arvild Jacobson, who last Sunday at St. Paul, Minn., were commissioned as missionaries of the Evangelical Lutheran church. Rev. O. M. Sverseike, pastor of the Trinity church, extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend these services.

Mrs. Jacobson will be remembered locally as Leila Packard, daughter of Mrs. Julia Packard and the late Ned Packard. A highlight of Sunday's ceremonies will be the placing of a blue cross on the Christian service flag of the Trinity church, denoting that another member of its congregation has launched on a full-time career of Christian service. Special music is planned, also.

Last May, Rev. Mr. Jacobson was graduated from Luther Theological seminary at St. Paul and later in the same month was ordained as a Lutheran minister. Mrs. Jacobson is a graduate of Lutheran Bible Institute at Minneapolis. During most of the last school year, Mr. Jacobson served as student pastor at the Lutheran church at Fertile.

Mrs. Jacobson, a 1942 graduate of Belmond High school, has engaged in church work in Minneapolis since her graduation from the Bible institute in 1947. She served for four years as a missionary for the Zion Society for Israel and for a year as a parish worker.

On Aug. 18, the Jacobsons will sail for France for a year of study which will include learning the French language. At the end of that time they will continue on to their mission field in Madagascar, the large French colonial island off the east coast of South Africa.

REV. AND MRS. JACOBSON Will Be Honored Here Sunday

Clarionite Came A-visiting Monday Made Three Bad Mistakes—Quick!

A pick-up order for the apprehension of Dale Hurd, 33, of Clarion was broadcast Tuesday by the Wright county sheriff's office after an escapade here Monday night that damaged a car belonging to Hurd's wife and prompted a triple-charge warrant for his arrest to be issued.

Last month, Hurd had served about half of a three-month sentence in the county jail brought about by an OMVI conviction when he was released after the balance due on a $300 fine was paid by his father. The Clarionite's driver's license was under suspension when he drove to Belmond on Monday night in his wife's auto.

License Was Suspended

That fact provides charge No. 1 on the warrant for his arrest—operating a motor vehicle while license was under suspension. He experienced trouble in starting his car, after a downtown stop, and a group of five Belmond youths offered to help him with a push. After they'd shoved the vehicle some distance, on foot, a pickup truck came along and got the job done.

All the would-be good Samaritans piled into the car for a ride back downtown. Hurd tried to make turn at the extreme east end of Main street too fast and tipped the car over. That gave rise to charge No. 2, when a shoulder injury was suffered by one of the teen-agers—failure to report an accident involving personal injury.

Seen Near Meservey

Sheriff Bob Blecker reports that the Belmond boys are in unanimous agreement that Hurd was inebriated; hence charge No. 3—operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, second offense. The sheriff did not identify the boys whose testimony he's obtained in regard to the matter.

Summoned to Belmond to investigate the case, Sheriff Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod learned that Hurd had been at the home of his father, Howard Hurd of near Meservey, early Tuesday morning. He took off from the farm afoot, but considerable meandering by the officers through the Meservey-Thornton area failed to uncover Hurd's whereabouts.

Blecker and Walrod say that if they succeed in catching up with the fugitive, they'll gladly provide him a ride—back to the county jail.

Fred Fulton Will Head C-of-C Housing Committee

Fred Fulton has been appointed by C. Hiddleston, president of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce, to head a special committee that will serve as a central clearing house for all matters pertaining to housing in this community. He is empowered to name such supplementary committees as he may need to deal with various phases of the housing problem and will welcome any suggestions as to how he and his assistants can best deal with that problem.

"One of the biggest headaches produced by the current housing shortage is that of finding rental accomodations," Mr. Hiddleston says. "Newcomers to town have to do a great deal of investigating before finding living quarters, and often pursue many false leads in the course of their house or apartment hunting.

"We hope that one of the major functions of Mr. Fulton's committee will perform will be that of an information bureau through which bonafide leads to available rental quarters can be obtained. If it is to achieve this purpose, though, he will have to have the thorough cooperation of all persons with sleeping rooms, apartments or houses for rent."

Mr. Fulton asks that all such accomodations be listed with him and that he be kept posted when they are rented, so they can be withdrawn from his file. He believes this service will be of great value not to newly arrived persons, alone, but also to those individuals who have living quarters to rent.

"Making it possible for newcomers to learn quickly and easily just what accomodations are available to them and their families will give them a much more favorable impression of our community than many have recently derived in the course of much futile searching," Mr. Fulton observes.

"We strenuously urge anyone and everyone who has living space of any description available for rent to phone me (Dial 243) so it can be listed in our file. There will be no charge for the service; but it can be an effective and worthwhile service only with the public's help."

In addition to operating as a rental information bureau, the Chamber committee will be happy to serve as an agency ready to do anything possible toward alleviating the housing shortage. Any ideas along this line will be welcomed by the committee and it will develop any suggestions of a feasible nature to the best of its ability.

CHICK CHATS

SOME CHICKENS LIKE

CHICKENS FOR DINNER

I'm the first one in the world to admit that chickens are probably as dumb an animal as you can find on a farm. A possible exception would be the calf you're trying to teach to drink from a pail. But there's one thing you can say for the calf—it won't eat other calves. Chickens won't either—eat calves, that is. But they will eat other chickens.

Experts call it cannibalism. That's a pretty descriptive term. And accurate too. There are several ways to halt cannibalism. Some work well, some not so well.

For instance, you can have a heart to heart talk with the birds in your flocks, explaining the evils of the picking habit. But, as I said, chickens are pretty stupid. They may stop while you're having the talk with them. But as soon as you close the door—or even before—they'll be looking at one another with tasty meals in mind.

A little salt in the water sometimes halts cannibalism for a spell. Maybe that spell will be long enough to make the birds forget the habit. The trouble is that you can't keep putting salt in the water long enough to stop cannibalism in many flocks.

There are red-colored preparations to put on the tails of the picked birds. When a bird takes a bite of the stuff, she finds this awful tasting goo instead of tasty, warm raw chicken. The taste is generally enough to discourage the bird from further picking.

There are also devices that'll fit over a pullet's schnozz so that she can't look up to pick. She can look at food in feeders—but not food on other chickens. These devices look odd—but they usually work.

The best preventive is debeaking. That involves using a hot electric blade to cut off part of the upper beak. Since she can't get the tops of the beak together, she can't bite. Even if the beak grows back (if not enough beak is removed) most likely she'll have forgotten about picking.

Debeaking doesn't hurt the chicken very much. It hurts much less than getting picked to death, at any rate. And the debeaked bird can eat everything but corn on the cob. It doesn't hurt production in the least—unless you debeak after they come in lay. Even then, it won't bother them much if it's done correctly.

If you've had trouble with cannibalism before, debeak your pullets between the ages of 12 and 16 weeks. That may be right now. You can do it yourself if you can rent a debeaker. Your poultry service man can show you how. Or he can do it for you for a small charge per bird.

And it's worth it. The eggs from one saved pullet will pay for a lot of debeaking. It'll save you some money.

Tomahawks Shock Eagle Grove with Two Solid Wins To Gain 2nd Place Tie; Play Latimer Here Sunday

Eagle Grove's high-flying Legionnaires were dealt a double shock Sunday by the Belmond Tomahawks, who trimmed the E. G. nine here in the afternoon by an 8-2 margin and then "made it stick" by larruping the Legionnaires on their own diamond that night, 11 to 2. The double-win not only virtually clinched the 'Hawks a place in the post-season play-offs but boosted them into the position of a serious title contender.

Belmond jumped on Lalor, the Legionnaires' afternoon moundsman, for six hits in the first three innings to grab a 6-0 lead. Doubles by Jake Koenen, Gus Taylor and LeRoy Smith, with a walk to Lonnie Meyer inserted before the third two-bagger, touched off fireworks in the big fourth frame that accounted for four runs.

Taylor Has 3-Hitter

Taylor pitched for the Tomahawks, and after yielding a double to "Zip" Tanner in the first inning he didn't permit another safety until the eighth. Both of the Legionnaire runs came in the fourth and neither was earned. A pair of errors and a walk contributed to these tallies. In the eighth, Lalor pounded out a two-bagger but died on base and Rich Lyons singled in the final frame only to be picked off at first on a toss from Taylor.

Several "rhubarbs" livened up the game and there was some talk by the Legionnaires that they planned to protest the outcome. After the evening fray, though, such a step seemed unlikely. Taylor fanned 13 batters and issued five passes during his three-hit stint. Lalor was touched for nine hits, fanned nine and allowed 11 walks.

Koenen Effective

Jake Koenen handled pitching duties for Belmond in the evening game, surrendering only four hits while fanning eight and walking only three men. "Skeet" Ruiter, starter for the losers, was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning, the victim of a seven-run barrage by the 'Hawks. Duane Schipull took over in the sixth and lasted until the ninth, when Reister took over.

Dennis Scott, whose batting had been quite weak in recent games, started Eagle Grove on the road to defeat in the second frame with a home run that scored Koenen ahead of him. The 'Hawks counted another one in the fourth as Koenen hit to bring in Taylor, who had walked. The Belmond gang really teed off on the Legionnaires in the fifth, making four hits add up to seven runs with the help of three errors and a pair of walks. Scott got into the act again this time with a resounding triple.

The pair of wins Sunday by the Belmond Tomahawks over the Eagle Grove Legionnaires threw the Quad-County championship chase into a three-way battle as Hampton came through with a 1-0 upset victory over the league-leading Kanawhans.

Apparently doomed to an also-ran status only two or three weeks ago, the Tomahawks made it six in a row by drubbing the Legionnaires on their home diamond Sunday night, 11 to 2. They are without question the "hottest" team in the league right at present, while the Kanawha nine—regarded two weeks ago as practically a shoo-in for the title—has dropped two out of its last three starts.

Locals fans will have another chance to see the up-and-comin' 'Hawks in action this weekend when the Belmond crew tangles with Latimer-Coulter on the home diamond If the Tomahawks can get by the L-C Legion outfit, and Clarion the following weekend, their wind-up game here with Kanawha on Aug. 22 may very well see the loop crown hanging in the balance. After meeting Clarion this coming Sunday, Kanawha will have a game at Latimer still on its card before the Belmond clash

Until their loss at Rockwell last Sunday, the L-C Legionnaires were in a good position to figure in the title race but their chances appear exceedingly slim now. They remain one of the better clubs in the league, though, and promise to make a real contest of it when they take on the 'Hawks this Sunday.

Over 70 Gridders Offered Uniforms

Letters were mailed last week by Dick Hobbs inviting more than 70 prospective gridiron candidates to draw equipment on Saturday, Aug. 21, preparatory to the start of football practice the following Tuesday. This year's squad promises to be the largest ever to don Belmond High school uniforms and approximately double those of recent years, excepting last season

Coach Hobbs says that enthusiasm seems to be running high among the boys who will be representing BHS on the football field this fall. A nucleus of nearly a dozen and a half lettermen will be back to play for the Broncos, which is also a new record as to the number of veterans available.

GARNER PICKS DRAKE MAN AS NEW FOOTBALL COACH

Marvin Coffey, a 1950 graduate of Drake university, has been hired as Garner High school's new football coach He succeeds Jim Bauer, who resigned to accept a coaching position in Illinois.

After getting his degree at Drake, Coffey was assistant football coach at Missouri Valley for two years and then went to Bayard as head coach. During the past year he was coach at Lenox, a southwestern Iowa community of about 1,200. Corydon is Coffey's original home.

Young "Vets," Bronco All-Stars Will Vie in Donkey Ball Game Saturday

Entertainment of a type that hasn't been offered locally in some time will "take the stage" at General Mills softball diamond this Saturday evening when a pair of local teams indulge in a game of donkey ball. It will be under the sponsorship of Pierce-Zeiger post of the Veterans of Foreign aWrs and will bring together two aggregations identified as the Belmond Vets vs. the Bronco All-Stars.

A great deal of natural rivalry should exist between the contending teams, so a rare spectacle is in prospect according to Keith Chandler, who has lined up Ralph Godfrey's famous Oklahoma donkeys as steeds for the joust.

Keith wants it clearly understood that the word "Vets" in this instance is a contraction of "veterans" and not "veterinarians." If any participants in the fray end up in need of medical attention, it's much more likely to be the human contestants than their mounts. Actually, however—though thrills and spills abound in a game of donkey ball—no casualties are expected other than among the spectators. Some of them might understandably "split a rib" roaring at the antics of the Rocky Mountain canaries as they perform their duties as beasts of burden.

Comprising the Belmond Vets' team will be a line-up of the community's younger war veterans—whose bones haven't yet grown brittle and who can climb a flight of stairs without stopping in the middle to pant. Chandler admits that this will eliminate a lot of figures (mainly well padded) who are familiar in local Legion and VFW circles. But he believes there are enough ex-servicemen of Korean vintage around to mount a complete team.

Young bucks lately out of high school or still inmates of the halls of learning—who have been starring on the baseball and softball diamond this summer—will form the Bronco All-Star cavalry. Chandler was busy this week signing the best talent available at the going wage (nothin') to take the field when "Play ball!" is called Saturday at 8:00 p. m.

Five Teams Seek Peewee Ball Title

Only five teams are entered in the third annual peewee baseball tournament that got under way yesterday at the high school diamond under sponsorship of the PTA Summer Recreation program. However, all the contenders are expected to have strong teams vying for title honors and Coach Dick Hobbs believes a good tourney is in prospect.

Belmond and Hampton were scheduled to meet in the single, first-round game Wednesday afternoon. Hampton lost in an earlier meeting between the two teams, 9 to 6, in a hard-fought game.

This (Thursday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Belmond-Hampton winner is slated to meet Kanawha, which drew a first-round bye At 3:45, Renwick and Corwith—who also advanced to the semi-finals via byes—will meet in the second game of the day.

Friday, the consolation game will be played at 2:30 p. m. between this afternoon's losers to determine winner of the third-place trophy. At 3:45, the two finalists will contend for the championship.

Golf Qualifying Play Under Way

Qualifying for the annual Clarmond Country club golf tournament is now under way. Nine-hole scores are to be posted by all entrants by Aug. 14, a week from Saturday. Leo Hilton, Jr., who is chairman of the tournament committee, is the defending champion.

He says that the entry fee this year has been boosted to $2.00 to give the committee more money with which to purchase prizes. Sixteen golfers will be placed in the championship flight and all lower flights will consist of eight men each.

Winter golf will be allowed for the tournament, the committee has ruled.

Hampton Defeated By Peewees, 9-6

Belmond's peewee all-stars added two more wins to their string last week, trouncing Clear Lake on Thursday at Clear Lake, 22 to 3, and rallying to take a 9-6 decision from Hampton on the local diamond Friday afternoon.

The Clear Lake game was a fair contest in its early stages. Belmond gained a 3-1 lead in the first frame and expanded the margin to 6-3 in the second That finished the host team's scoring, though, while the Belmond boys went on to tally two more runs in the third, four in the fourth and 10 in the fifth

Hampton Leads, 6-0

Against Hampton, Coach Dick Hobbs started some of his younger players and the visitors raced off to a six-run lead in the first inning. With Mike Long on the mound for Belmond, the Franklin county boys connected for three hits, collected four walks and were assisted by a couple of Belmond errors.

In the home half of the frame, the deficit was cut to 6-1 on a triple by Roger Ginapp and single by Kenny Hawley. The latter took over twirling duties for Belmond in the second and gave up only one hit over the balance of the game.

Hawley Gets Homer

Belmond added three more runs in the second on a double by Gordie Johnson and single by Ginapp, with Johnny Murray gaining base on a walk and Mark Mason on an error. The count was brought to 6-5 in the third when Hawley pounded out a home run.

Four Belmond runs were tallied in the fourth, Mason getting a walk, Emmett Studebaker rapping out a single, Ginapp a double and Jeff Hansen getting on through an error. Hampton loaded the bases in the top of the fifth on two walks and interference by the catcher but couldn't get a man across the plate.

TOURNAMENT LAST WEEK

Elsewhere in today's paper appears the results of the General Mills invitational softball tournament that was held over the weekend. Through a misunderstanding, the tourney was listed, in last week's issue as scheduled for this coming weekend. Because the tournament play was delayed one day by last Friday night's rain and had to be completed on Monday rather than Sunday night, the results were not available in time for inclusion in the sports section.

Norway Ramblers Share 1st Place In Softball Race

In 4-H softball play, the Grant Growers took a big step last week toward winning the Senior Boys' league title by preserving their undefeated record with a win over the previously unbeaten Dayton Dynamiters. With only two games left to play, and both against less highly regarded foes, the Growers now stand a good chance to complete the season with an unmarred slate.

Championships in both the Junior Boys' and the Girls' leagues are still in contention, with teams from the Belmond area figuring in the title chases. The Norway Ramblers share the Junior loop lead with the Lincoln Leaders and Eagle Grove Eager Beavers, each with only one loss in five starts. Pleasant Pioneers have better than a .500 record, with four wins against three defeats, but appear to be out of the race

A tie for the girls' championship seems probable Wall Lake Wee Women has completed its card with a 3-1 record, but Iowa U-Go-I-Go is in a good position to match that performance. The U-Go-I-Go girls have won twice and lost once and will complete their schedule against the winless Dayton Dandies as heavy favorites to rack up another victory.

Gordon Chalks Up Couple of Misses

Fred Gordon was the victim of a couple of "near misses" last week in his pursuit of golf honors. On Tuesday he missed by three strokes as he sought to qualify for the U.S. Amateur as Iowa candidates for the national meet competed over the Wakonda course at Des Moines. Two tied with 151's for the fourth "ticket" to the tournament, while Fred came in with a 153.

Sunday at Lake Mills, a bad middle round kept Gordon off the prize list. He turned in a 33-37-35—105. John Eymann of Forest City took the meet with a five-under-par 103 and four golfers tied for second with 104's.

Iowa Farm Bought By GMI for Feed Research Center

Of interest to Belmond residents, in view of the current establishment of a Larro feed mill here, is the recent purchase of an 1,100 farm near Indianola by General Mills, Inc., as a new site for its animal feed research.

Whitney Eastman, vice president and general manager of the feed division, made news of the transaction public on Tuesday of this week. He stated that it gives General Mills the nation's largest feed research farm owned by a feed company. It will replace GMI's present farm located in surburban Detroit, Mich.

Program Launched 1912

Primary purpose of the research farm is to test the nutritional value of various formulas and develop Larro "Farm-Tested" Sure Feeds for all classes of livestock and poultry. The company's feed research program was initiated by James E. Larrowe and Charles Staff in 1912 on a "home" basis. The Detroit farm site was acquired in 1920.

Surveys will begin immediately at the new farm prior to launching an extensive construction program. An expansive 36x90-foot residential building on the Warren county farm, bought from the Harry C. Pearson estate, will serve as an administration building. The building program is expected to require about two years for completion.

Will Enlarge Operations

Mr. Eastman says that transfer of the research program to the increased acreage five miles southeast of Indianola will facilitate the company's plans for enlarging research operations. Beef cattle, swine and turkey populations will be more than doubled and activity in the dairy herd, chicken, rabbit and dog departments will be maintained.

"Indianola, the site of Simpson college, offers an attractive academic atmosphere for our scientific men to make their homes," Mr. Eastman commented. He adds that Harry A Bullis, chairman of the GMI board, is a trustee of the college and a former Simpson student.

Social Security Payments to 518 In Wright, $18,881 in One Month

Retired workers and their dependents get about 77 per cent of the total old-age and survivors insurance payments being made monthly in the 11 northwest Iowa counties served by the Fort Dodge social security office, Clifford W. Swedlund, manager, reports.

Social security payments totaling $211,676 went to 5,574 beneficiaries in the Fort Dodge area in December, 1953. This is an increase of 1,315 over the number of beneficiaries in the area in the same month of 1952 and an increase of 42 per cent in the amount paid.

In December 3,153 retired workers received a total of $141,288 and 957 wives and dependent husbands of retired workers received $22,537.

Benefits to survivors of deceased workers amounted to 23 per cent of total disbursements with 874 children receiving $26,442; 199 mothers with minor children receiving $6,864; 381 widows and widowers over 65 receiving $14,065; and 10 dependent parents receiving $480.

Counties served by the Fort Dodge office include Calhoun, Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, Hamilton, Humboldt, Kossuth, Palo Alto, Pocahontas, Webster, and Wright. Benefits totaling $18,881 went to 518 residents of Wright county in December.

"These monthly payments at the rate of more than 2½ million dollars a year are of real significance to the economic well-being of the Fort Dodge area and in many cases represent the greatest source of income to the individual family concerned," Swedlund says.

Mrs. H. L. Pals' Final Rites Held

Funeral services were held a week ago Friday for Mrs. Harm L. Pals, a native of Belmond and lifelong resident of this vicinity. She was stricken with a fatal disease early this year and submitted to surgery at Rochester, Minn., last spring, to no avail. After returning to her home, she spent the last weeks of her life at Belmond Community hospital, where she passed away on Wednesday, July 21.

Final rites were conducted at the Immanuel Reformed church by Rev. O. G Poppen, the church pastor, and Rev. Johann Schmidt of the Zion Reformed church, Chapin. Burial was in the Immanuel Reformed cemetery. Fulton Funeral Home was in charge of the services and pallbearers were Johann Pals, Leonard Pals, Conrad Meints, Clarence Blau, Lambert Barkema and Lewis Dorenkamp.

Born in Belmond on Nov. 2, 1896, Mrs. Pals (nee Grace Meinders) was adopted at the age of three by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meinders. She attended the public school and received her religious training at the Immanuel Reformed church, which she joined as a member in full communion in 1915.

She was wed on March 1, 1916 to Harm L. Pals and three children were born to them, all of whom survive. Her husband preceded her in death on March 28, 1943. Also preceding her were her parents; two sisters, Mrs. John Helland and Mrs. Joe Bayliss; and one grandchild.

Surviving besides the children—Lambert and Henry Pals of Belmond and Mrs. Duane (Marjorie) Slining of Alexander—are two sisters, Mrs. Ella Meints of Sheffield and Mrs. Harm Vierkant of Ionia; a brother, Andrew Koppernagel of Belmond; and seven grandchildren.

Youths Nearing 18 Reminded About Draft Registration

DES MOINES, IA. — Every young man who reaches the age of 18 is required to register with the nearest Selective Service Local Board and a failure to register or a late registration is a violation of the act.

Colonel R A Lancaster, State Director, today outlined registration requirements under the Act, as amended, which he believes are not thoroughly understood by the general public and especially those who are required to register with Selective Service.

Continuing Obligation

"The obligation to register is a continuing obligation and must be fulfilled", Colonel Lancaster said. "This obligation to register is imposed by the Act on every male citizen and every other male person in the United States, between the ages of 18 and 26, with the general exception of members of the Armed Forces and certain aliens".

"All young men in Iowa must register on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter", it was explained. "The fact that we are not now at war does not excuse a young man from registering and the law makes no distinction between an outright failure to register and a late registration when it provides for a fine of $10,000 or five years in prison, or both for violation of the provision of the Act".

Needn't Sign at Home

Colonel Lancaster pointed out that "if a young man is away from his home he need not return to register but may do so at the nearest local board convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction over his place of residence. After he registers, it is mandatory that he keep his local board informed of any change in address or status. This requirment applies from the time he registers until his Selective Service obligation has been satisfied".

Registrants who have received no deferment have continuing liability to keep their local board informed until they reach the age of 26 and registrants who have been deferred for one reason or another have continuing liability to keep their local board informed until they reach the age of 35.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

WALT MASON

In visiting with Walt Mason a few days ago we learned that Walt, up until last year, considered himself semi-retired from farming even though he moved from the farm 6 years ago following the death of his wife. He had been helping his son-in-law, Paul Veldhouse who farms just north of Goodell.

Mr. Mason is an old timer in the Goodell community having lived in it for 53 years, and as he said, for 53 years a customer of the Goodell State Savings Bank. Only one other resident of the community has lived in it longer, he remarked, that being Anton Boller, his neighbor across the street.

For 30 years Walt lived on the old Si Church farm, now owned by William Sheriff, at the west edge of Goodell, then he moved to his farm north of Goodell. He has farmed up to 370 acres at one time.

During that period Walt and his neighbors wore out 2 steam engines and 2 separators that they used in their threshing ring. Then after buying the third outfit, Walt said he quit the business.

Mr. Mason is taking it easy now, looking after his house, lawn and garden. He drives his own car quite often having been in Wisconsin this spring and plans to go to Sioux Falls this summer. He also drives to Des Moines frequently to visit his other daughter, Mrs. Louise Barnes.

Walt is a familiar figure in Goodell with a memory of many incidents in its past. We hope to again visit with him soon.

Mother and Four Children Lucky In Auto Mishap

Mrs. Mac Fuller and four of her children had a fortunate escape from serious injury on Wednesday afternoon of last week when the Fuller car went into a ditch three miles north of Goodell. The vehicle rolled over once, coming to rest on its wheels. A passing trucker administered first aid to the passengers from a kit he carried. Nothing worse than minor cuts and bruises were suffered by any of the car's occupants.

Another car was involved in the mishap, but did not stop. Mrs. Fuller says she was returning from a trip to Mason City when the accident occurred. She had endeavored to pass a car in front of her when she noted that an approaching auto would not allow her sufficient freeway. Still another car was behind her, trying to pass the slower vehicle in the right lane, also.

When Mrs. Fuller had to hurriedly pull back to the right side of the road, the car behind her was apparently taken by surprise and a slight collision between it and the Fuller auto caused Mrs. Fuller to lose control of her machine. HERE'S WHY WE SAY YOU SAVE 50c!! Because of rising costs, we have discontinued our rural delivery route that has been maintained the past several years throughout a wide area around Belmond. However, we have found that many of our farm route customers are coming to our store to purchase Mello-Maid ice cream and carrying it home for themselves and, in many cases ,they buy for their neighbors, too.

Formerly we had to charge $1.60 per gal. when delivered on the route, now we find that we can sell MELLO-MAID ICE CREAM, cash & carry from our store, at $1.40 per gal., or a savings to our customers of 50c when they purchase 2½ gallons of ice cream packed in the 2½ gallon metal container.

We invite new customers, as well as old customers, to take advantage of this savings and if you come from a distance, buy for yourself and your neighbors, too. The difference in the old and new price will pay for your trip.

LET US NOT BE CONFUSED REGARDING THOSE SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS

It is unfortunate that the "premium" that an ever-increasing number of Americans are required to pay for social security benefits — old age and survivors insurance — is regarded as a tax. This is strictly a misnomer and easily subject to misinterpretation.

A good example of how the truth can be twisted is provided by a statement in last week's publicity release from Iowa Democratic headquarters. Commenting on the 7½ billion dollar tax reduction achieved by the Eisenhower administration, Publicity Director Cort Klein states: "The trouble is that those who benefited are the fortunates making some $10,000 a year and upwards. We know of one man with two children who ended up with 45 cents a week less take-home pay after his 'tax reduction' and the boost in social security payments the first of the year."

If ever there was an insurance bargain, the benefits bought with social security payments is just that. And the premiums we pay — if we're independent business operators, or help our employers to pay — if we hold employee status, should no more be regarded as a tax than the premiums we pay on private life and retirement insurance. It's "money in the bank;" and as much CANNOT be said of a true tax.

From C. W. Swedlund, manager of the social security office that serves Wright county, we received last weekend a statement regarding benefits that were paid in this county during the month of December, 1953. A total of 518 Wright countians received old age and survivor payments amounting to $18,881. In the 11-county Fort Dodge area as a whole, 5,574 beneficiaries received a total of $211,676 during the same month — and increase of 1,315 over December of 1952.

This money is going to retired workers and the wives or dependent husbands of retired workers; to minor children of deceased workers and to their widows; to widows and widowers over the age of 65; and, in a few isolated instances, to dependent parents of deceased workers.

These monthly payments are bringing into Wright county and the other 10 in the Fort Dodge area monthly spending money at the rate of 2½ million dollars per year, and the amount will inevitably increase as benefits are broadened and extended to additional occupation groups.

Would that income taxes and the rest thus constituted financial bread upon the waters; but presumably we receive services in our behalf to recompense us for these jolts. Let us not, however, remain confused as to the nature of those social security payments. They represent an investment in the future security of ourselves and our families. They simply MAKE us "save" to this sensible end. And a tax, in the true meaning of the word, they are NOT.

HICKENLOOPER ISN'T ACTING FOR US IF HE LETS McCARTHY OFF THE HOOK

Developments in the "slap McCarthy" movement in the U. S. Senate last week made it highly apparent that a good many of the troubled members of that body are "senators" first and spokesmen for their constituents second — at least in this particular instance. This was certainly true of Iowa's own Republican senator, B. B. Hickenlooper, among others. Sen. Guy Gillette purportedly was on the fence regarding the issue; but it was very obvious that he regarded he had a hot potato in his hand and he wished circumstances would relieve him of it.

Senator Hickenlooper was quoted as saying: "If the senate were to pass a resolution of censure it might serve as a precedent for similar resolutions against any senator who expressed his views on a controversial issue, or took action that others questioned."

That, we would say, is purest poppycock. This implies that the Joe McCarthy type of demagoguery can be expected at any time from any of the 96 members of the senate, whether that is what the Iowan intends or not. Hickenlooper timidly adds that his position "is not to be interpreted as being either for or against Senator McCarthy."

Dependable polls have demonstrated that a vast majority of the Iowa voters whom Senator Hickenlooper represents are fed up with McCarthyism and regard it highly important that the Wisconsin one-man government be put in his place. If Iowa's senators lack the forthrightness to reflect this opinion in their votes on the issue, they are failing in their obligation to "represent" the people who put them in office.

We can understand the unpopularity of the original Flanders resolution that would have taken McCarthy's committee chairmanships away from him. The seniority precedent for naming committee heads is a "sacred cow" that has placed many an incompetent man in charge of an important committee. But it's a custom so firmly established that there was no chance of its being foresaken just to slap Joe down.

But we can't see where the second Flanders resolution, simply aimed at censure of McCarthy and his tactics, truly jeopardizes any senatorial prerogatives. It strikes us that the senate stands to lose much more in prestige by shillyshallying than it risks in infringement of individual independence by taking outspoken issue with McCarthyism. And we most certainly don't like the idea of our own elected representatives leaving the impression that we, their constituents, regard that the gent from Wisconsin has been no worse than a "naughty boy."

OCTOPUS OUTLETS . . . FUSE BLOW-OUTS . . . SLOW HEATING . . . FLICKERING LIGHTS . . . ARE ALL SIGNS OF NEEDED WIRING!

LIKE the boy in the suit he's outgrown . . . Reddy Kilowatt sometimes requires your help. He needs to be set free from binding, crippling old-fashioned wiring . . . he needs certified adequate wiring to enable electricity to flow freely to serve your needs everywhere in your home!

With certified adequate wiring, your home is fully prepared for modern electrical living. It's equipped to supply full power to all of your electric servants . . . wherever and whenever you need them.

Convenience outlets in kitchen, laundry and dining area have their own separate supply of electricity. Appliances here are not required to share electrical power with lights, radio and other equipment elsewhere in the house. No more "slowing down" of small appliances when several are used at once. And that's economy . . . for you pay for electricity according to the time you use it and "slowed down" appliances must work overtime. The fact that there are plenty of circuits giving full power to all your appliances at all times will, of course, save you money.

THE A-B-C's of ADEQUATE WIRING

A An Adequate Electric Service Entrance . . . having enough wires of the right size to bring in as much electricity as your home may need. Your home will not be limited in its ability to accommodate your electrical needs.

B Enough Circuits . . . having enough circuits to carry electricity at full power from the service entrance to all electrical equipment, lights and appliances — assuring maximum efficiency and economy to all use of electricity.

C Enough Convenience Outlets, Permanent Lights and Switches . . . at proper places . . . to add beauty to your home indoors and out, prevent accidents, reduce eyestrain, make for a more flexible and convenient use of all electrical equipment.

ADEQUATE WIRING Certified

Look for the Certified Adequate Wiring Emblem — it's your guarantee that your home will not "grow old" electrically — that your home is efficiently wired for today and tomorrow.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Shirley Bohning has sent the Mainstreeters a plea for assistance, to which we gladly respond. You will recall that this pert miss was elected Wright County Dairy Princess a couple of months ago. She's now in pursuit of further honors in a contest to select Cerro Gordo county's most popular waitress. She is eligible by virtue of employment at Petersen's Cafe at Clear Lake, where she's been chauffeuring chinaware since early June.

This waitress contest is being sponsored by Mason City's Verdun-Pearl Harbor chapter of the DAV (Disabled American Veterans) to raise money for its rehabilitation fund. One hundred votes for "Most Popular Waitress" go with every ticket for a dance at the Surf on Aug. 26, for which Henry Charles will provide the music. A dollar gets a ducat.

A week's vacation in Mexico City — or its equivalent in cash — goes to the lucky girl who takes the title. Shirley says the going promises to be rough, in competition with Witke's and many other, larger eating places. But she feels she owes it to her boss to give the deal an all-out try. She's selling all the tickets she can, personally, at Clear Lake. She's sent the Mainstreeters a bunch of ducats to peddle here. Step right up, gents. Spend a buck for a good cause!

One of these days we're going to think to ask the proper authorities whether that pickle jar that embellishes the point of the Post Office flag pole is intended to be decorative or is an accidental acquisition. If the former, might we suggest a coat of gilt paint to snazz it up a bit, boys?

Barney Dillon tells us there's quite a sight to behold on a farm located two miles south of Renwick (you get there by driving three miles west of Goldfield and then going north on No. 60). A farmer by the name of McGowan rents a large pasture each year to a horse fancier from Wisconsin — or it could be Minnesota, Barney's not real certain.

Anyway, about 50 thoroughbred mares are pastured there; and 37 of them, by Barney's latest count, have colts at their sides. He says it's really a circus to watch those youngsters frollicking and cutting up in general. Worth a special trip to see, Barney assures.

As the colts get old enough to go-it-alone, the mares are returned to their northern home. In the spring, McGowan takes on the job of breaking the colts to harness. Most of them are broken for riding purposes; but there's always a promising few who are broken to the sulky. But for now, the colts are carefree — and they're lovin' it!

Those square dances at the Vets' hall have been going over with a bang. Turn-outs have been well beyond expectations and a lot of fun has been enjoyed by all. The crowds have been SO good, though, that it's proved impossible to give the private instruction to those who want to get the hang of doin' a hoe-down. But starting this week, that's going to be corrected. Anyone wishing a lesson in the art of square dancing is asked to show up at the hall at 8:00 p. m. this Friday night, an hour before the regular dance starts, and they'll be given the low-down on the hoe-down.

Our good friend Jim Bolger, former R. I. station agent here who is now located at Cedar Falls, isn't one to look the other way when a pal is caught in a predicament. Last week we flubbed a headline, stating that Clarion won the recent GM softball tournament, whereas Garner actually copped the meet.

We received a "kindly" note from Jim to the effect that, if Clarion was awarded the championship, "they should give it back, 'cause Garner got the most runs."

Thankew, Mr. Bolger! But leave us say we've no monopoly on kabobbles. Last week's Hardin County times (Iowa Falls) reported: "MR. Lyle Raske of Radcliffe was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower Thursday at the home of Mrs. Archie McDanel." . . . We'll bet Lyle heard about THAT from his pals—and that The Times heard from Lyle!

This is to let one-and-all know that the Gallaghers are again in the cat business. The four-ply blessed event took place Sunday. Having watched with interest this summer as Misty has hauled home ground squirrels, moles, field mice, and what-not, three-year-old Kevin eyed the four kittens in the box with their mother and delightedly inquired, "Where did she catch them?" . . . Reservations are now being accepted.

Asked about the visit of some in-laws, a haggard Main street habitue merely shrugged his shoulders and philisophically observed: "In some marriages, problems are all relative."

Demand A-Plenty; But NO Listings Of Rental Space

"Where are the listings?" Fred Fulton wants to know. As head of the Chamber of Commerce housing committee, he has been designated to assemble and keep up-to-date a file of all living quarters available in Belmond. Up to the first of this week, not one listing of a house, apartment—or even a sleeping room, had been made with him. He refuses to believe that Belmond has not ONE nook or cranny to offer in the way of unoccupied living accomodations.

House and apartment-seekers very obviously read the story in last week's Independent telling of the proposed, C-of-C housing service. Mr. Fulton says he's had a number of inquiries as to available quarters. It's been a bit embarrassing, he admits, to report to them that he hasn't a single lead to pass on to them.

So he repeats the request that all possessors of rental space, be it in the form of a house or only a single room, immediately get information in regard to it in his hands. A phone call to No. 243 will suffice to arrange a listing, if you have quarters to rent. Mr. Fulton says there is no reason for ANY space to be unoccupied these days, when the demand is so far outstripping the supply.

Smash-Up Leads To OMVI Arrest

Benny Benson, 43, Belmond trucker, was arrested for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated after an accident that took place on Highway 69 two miles north of Belmond about 11:15 p. m. Saturday. Heard in the court of Mayor Henry Jenkins at Clarion on Sunday morning, he was bound over to the grand jury and his bond set at $300. At noon Tuesday, no bond had been posted and Benson was still being held in the county jail.

Amount of Benson's bond was boosted to $500 when he pleaded not guilty to the OMVI count before Judge J. M. Schaupp in district court Tuesday afternoon. The accused was arraigned, for hearing during the September term of court.

A collision between a gravel truck driven by Benson and a truck-tractor and trailer occurred when Benson's vehicle wandered over the center line of the highway, according to Sheriff Bob Blecker. The truck Benson was driving was the property of George E. "Coonie" Smith. Herman W. Harrison of Houston, Texas, was driver of the "semi," owned by a Texas trucking concern.

Estimates placed the damage to Smith's truck at $1,000 and to the tractor-trailer rig at $600.

David has completed a little more than half of his four-year enlistment in the Air Force.

Hiring of 2 More Instructors Fills 1954-55 Faculty

Last vacancies in the Belmond Community school faculty were filled last week with the hiring of Bernice Rewitzer, Gaylord, Minn., to teach commercial subjects and Donald L. Carnahan of Atlanta, Mo., as instructor in art. Supt. Don Faris says the two additions brings the faculty roster up to a total of 41.

Both of the new staff members are experienced teachers. Miss Rewitzer, who is 26, taught during the past year at Jordan, Minn. Before that she taught for two years at Elmore, Minn., after a similar period at Hancock, Minn. She got her college education at St. Teresa's, Winona, Minn., and St. Benedict's at St. Joseph, Minn., attending each for two years.

Since receiving a Bachelor of Science degree from St. Benedict's in 1949 she has spent two summers at Mankato (Minn.) Teachers college taking graduate work. Besides teaching commercial subjects, Miss Rewitzer will be journalism advisor. She has served in a similar capacity at the other school's where she's taught and during the current summer has been employed by the newspaper at Fairmont, Minn.

Mr. Carnahan, age 28, was in the U. S. Navy for two years during the latter part of World War II after graduating from Atlanta High school in 1943. After his discharge from the service he entered Missouri State Teachers college at Kirksville, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1946. From the fall of 1950 through spring of 1953, he was art teacher in the Liberty, Mo., public schools.

Last year he returned to Kirksville to obtain science credits required for entry into a school of medicine. Mr. Faris says the newcomer is undecided at this point as to whether he'll follow up on his aspirations to become a doctor or remain in the teaching field.

BUDGET ADOPTED

No objectors appearing at the hearing called for last Friday night on the 1955 Wright county budget estimate, the board of supervisors adopted the budget as earlier published.

Four—$100's—Four

Four persons received $25 apiece Tuesday to assuage the pain of not connecting with the $400 Cash Gift Day award that was put up as the 3:00 p m. attraction. While nobody's ship came in at the latter hour, canoes—at least—reached the dock at 2:00 o'clock for Mrs. Stanley Shahan and Mrs. Ivan Evans of Belmond, Mrs. Dan Schmidt of of Meservey and Clyde Blau of Alexander. It was the first time that many $25 prizes had gone out in a single afternoon since Cash Gift Day was started. By "popular demand," the big prize is being broken up next week to give more people a chance at winning. As customary, there will be six $25 awards offered at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday; but at 3:00 o'clock, FOUR $100 prizes will be at stake.

Letting Sees Job Go at Lower Cost Than Anticipated

Contract was let Wednesday of last week for construction of Belmond's new sewage treatment plant, the successful bidder being Spencer Construction company of Spencer. Low bid was $133,815.50. This was some $10,000 to $15,000 below the figure that L. W. Murray, engineer who drafted specifications for the project, had anticipated might prove to be the winning figure. Acceptance of one alternate item in drafting the contract made the final figure $133,218.50.

Seven contracting firms submitted bids, and three besides the Spencer outfit shaded the cost total that had been deemed probable. Lippert Brothers of Boone, builders of the Belmond Community hospital, was second-low with an orginal bid of $140,395.50 and an adjusted bid of $137,789.50. Third was Gjellefald Associates, Inc., of Forest City with $140,923 and $138,457.

Completion Time Extended

Other initial bids were entered by: Henkel Construction company of Mason City, $143,956.30; Young Construction, Kansas City, Mo., $144,449; Mechanical Construction, Moline, Ill., $156,618.04; and E. E. Spencer Co., Waterloo, $164,313.20. Altogether, 21 contractors and equipment suppliers obtained specifications and plans from Rowat-Murray in advance of the letting.

According to the contract, work on the sewage treatment plant is to be started within a period of 30 days. However, the originally specified requirement that the contract be completed within 180 was waived and Spencer Construction will be allowed a maximum of one year's time to get the plant built. This change was introduced because equipment firms that will be supplying the contractor have stated that some of the needed items could not possibly be delivered within a three-month period of time.

Preparing for Bond Sale

E. B. Carpenter of Des Moines, bonding attorney who has been handling the legal aspects of the treatment plant project, was engaged this week in drafting proceedings for the issuance and sale of municipal revenue bonds. City Attorney Roy Henderson expects the council will be able to take action in relation to the bond issuance and sale at a meeting next Monday night.

It has been recommended by Mr. Carpenter that the city first issue some $60,000 to $80,000 of revenue bonds to finance the earlier stages of the plant's construction. Money for redemption of these bonds will be obtained through sewer rental fees. General obligation bonds to pay for the balance of the project and such auxiliary sanitary sewer lines as will be installed are to be sold at a later date when the financial requirements for the rest of the over-all project can be exactly estimated.

FINNS SELL FARM

Word has been received by Belmond friends that Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finn of Thompson, former local residents, have sold their farm and will move to town. The step was prompted by Mr. Finn's health, which has been poor the past three years but has been much improved lately. Mrs. Finn is a sister of Mrs. Chris wagner and he has a number of relatives in and around Belmond.

Belmond Twp. Has Farm in County's Soil Award Entry

Wright county entries have been selected to represent the county soil conservation district in the annual Soil Conservation Award contest sponsored by the Des Moines Register and Tribune. Purpose of the contest is to focus attention on good soil management practices established on the farm according to its particular needs.

There are three divisions: (1) farms having different owner and operator; (2) farms operated by owner; (3) new cooperator in the soil conservation program.

Wright entries are, in the above order: a Vernon township farm owned by Rose Winingar and operated by Harold Dow; Norway township farm owned and operated by Willis Kurtz; and a Belmond township farm owned by Art Skauge and operated by Duane McCormick.

Judges were: Oscar Hanson, county ASC office manager; Harry Ladman, FHA manager; and Bart Noland, Eagle Grove veterans' agriculture instructor. Bob Locke, farm planner, and Aaron Bowman, extension director, assisted in an advisory capacity.

AMONG MEMBERS of the nursing class to be graduated Sunday by the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing at Des Moines is Mary Negrete (above), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Negrete. She has been studying nursing for the past three years under a $500 annual scholarship granted her by the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society.

E. G. Farmer, Son Named Defendants In 4 Suits Totaling Over $180,000

KANAWHA VICTOR

Kanawha won its postponed Quad-County game with Clarion, played Monday night at the Eagle Grove diamond, by a score of 9 to 3. This left the Kanawha nine still in the league lead with a record of nine wins against three losses.

Clarion Fugitive Again in Lock-up

Dale Hurd of Clarion, who took off for parts unknown after an escapade here on Monday of last week during which he wrecked a car belonging to his wife, was back in the county jail this week. He'd been turned free only about a month ago after serving part of a jail sentence for OMVI, his release coming after his father had paid the balance of a fine due on the conviction.

On Saturday night, Hurd was arrested by police at Elmore, Minn., and taken to the county jail at Blue Earth to await arrival of Wright county authorities. Sheriff Bob Blecker picked him up Sunday and returned him to Clarion.

Before Judge J. M. Schaupp in district court on Tuesday morning, Hurd pleaded guilty to a second offense of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The magistrate gave him a choice of a $500 fine or five months in the county jail. Hurd is serving the time.

LOUISIANA GUESTS

M/Sgt. and Mrs. William Auburn and children of Shreveport, La., were Monday guests in the Ralph Jenison home.

An Eagle Grove farmer and his son have been named as co-defendants in four suits filed in Wright county district court asking total damages in excess of $180,000. The actions are the outgrowth of a collision two miles south of Eagle Grove an Highway 60 last June 4 in which Harold Smith, 25, of Fort Dodge received fatal injuries. Named as defendants are Edwin Berg and his son, Edwin LeRoy Berg — owner and driver, respectively, of one of the cars involved.

Smith was driving north on the highway and Berg was headed south when the cars collided. Darlene Mosher of Eagle Grove, a passenger in Smith's car, and Ray Peterson of Eagle Grove, who was with Berg, each suffered a broken back and numerous other injuries.

Largest of the suits was filed by the widowed mother of Smith, Mrs. Hilda Smith of Fort Dodge. She asks judgment for $100,000 for hospital and medical expenses incurred prior to her son's death and for earnings lost during the 42.12 years of life expectancy that normally would have been ahead of her son. She also asks judgment equivalent to the $922.70 funeral cost, plus three per cent compound interest for the period of the decedent's normal life expectancy. In a separate petition, she asks judgment of $600 for irreparable damage done to her '49 Chevrolet, which the son was driving.

Miss Mosher's petition, filed in her behalf by her mother, Edith Mosher, states that the girl — in addition to the spinal fracture, internal and other injuries — has suffered loss of memory and is totally and permanently disabled. A sum of $50,000 is sought from the Bergs in this case.

Peterson's petition asks judgment of $30,000, stating that this plaintiff, too, has sustained permanent disability. All of the petitions charge that negligence on the part of young Berg was the sole cause of the collision. Each of the plaintiffs requested a jury trial.

First step toward relieving the housing shortage that's been concerning Belmond civic officials, the Chamber of Commerce and General Mills chiefs was in prospect this week with announcement of plans that will provide living quarters for about a dozen families. Kenneth Kinseth made known his intention to construct an eight-family apartment in the east part of town; and he and Ted Zook, in partnership, also plan the building of three houses.

Location of the apartment house —Belmond's first, expresssly designed for that purpose—will be just west of the residence of James Larson at 911 E. Main street. It will occupy a 70x280-foot lot, purchased by Mr. Kinseth from Lee Mussell. The structure itself will be 32x77 feet in dimension and two stories in height.

Exterior of Brick

Four, two-bedroom apartments and four with one bedroom each will be included in the building. Mr. Kinseth says that the basement has been so planned that it will include space for finishing off two, additional apartments if the demand should warrant. The full basement will provide laundry facilities for the downstairs apartments and there will be separate utility rooms for each of the upstairs units.

Exterior construction will be of SCR brick, such as used in the building of Ralph Wendel's new home a block north of Main street on Fifth avenue. The brick will be of red tones, rather than buff, though. There will be separate, front entrances for each downstairs unit and dual entries for the upstairs apartments, all on the west. Back entry-way arrangements on the east will be similar. A large playground is planned to the north of the building.

Dorr Sons to Build It

Construction on the apartment house is to be started about Oct. 15 and Mr. Kinseth hopes it will be completed and ready for occupancy about Feb. 1 of next year. A. R. Dorr Sons will do the exterior construction and part of the interior, with Ted Zook's carpentry crew finishing off the interior.

Mr. Zook and Mr. Kinseth have taken options on two lots in the Kirkendall addition, on which two of the proposed, new houses are to be built. The third will be erected on the lot just west of Mr. Zook's home at 720 Seventh street, NE. The builders contemplate erecting a three-bedroom home, in each case; and the houses will be offered for sale, not for rent.

45 Have Entries In Flower Show

Approximately 45 entries competed for awards in the flower show held Thursday afternoon of last week at the Methodist church under sponsorship of the Women's Society for Christian Service. An estimated 150 attended the event and the prize winners were determined by vote of the audience.

Janis Kalkwarf and Marjorie Johnson, who gave a demonstration on flower arranging as part of the program, were given first place in the flower-arrangement class. Second went to the entry of Mrs. Lena Loats.

Mrs. Dick Kalkwarf was winner of top award in the single-flower class, with Mrs. Alice Svendsen of Kanawha taking second. Cathy Proeger's entry was voted first place in the children's division and second was awarded to Candy McClenahan.

Refreshments were served to the WSCS members and their guests at the close of the show.

JACK MEINTS LEARNS UNHAPPILY THAT A FUR-BEARING HEN 'ISN'T'

Last Friday morning Jack Meints, who's been in the produce business for 24 years, had a new experience while pursuing his trade. It was the first time such a thing had happened to him—and he says that once in a quarter of a century is often enough.

Jack was at the farm of Kermit Kew, who was selling off all his chickens. They were going through the hen house, routing all the biddies off their nests. Although they were White Leghorns, when the creature in the very last nest presented a rather dusky appearance Jack thought little about it and made a grab at it.

He forthwith was splatted in the face with a dose of fragrance which he is sure will never challenge Chanel No. 5. It was delivered by an indignant civet cat which had been cozily curled up in that final nest, and which apparently chose that means to emphasize the fact that it "wasn't no chicken!"

Mr. Kew went into the house, grabbed a shotgun, and retaliated in Jack's behalf. The men won the round. Before the end of the day, Jack was once more socially acceptable. He got "it" so full in the face, that very little actually got on his clothes. Looking back on the incident he commented, "At least, I was lucky I was wearing glasses!"

Nutt Hospitalized By Polio Attack

Dick Nutt, 33, refinery super at the General Mills plant, became the first Belmond victim of polio during the current year when he was taken ill with the disease on Tuesday of last week.

He was taken to Iowa Lutheran hospital, Des Moines. Reports received here indicate that he has suffered no paralysis but has had some stiffness in his neck and upper back. He is undergoing physical therapy and is said to be making a satisfactory recovery.

POINTING WITH PRIDE at the new highway sign installed Friday over Highway 69 at the Main street intersection, George Keleher (left) describes the sign's virtues to Chamber of Commerce President Chet Hiddleston. Mr. Keleher was chairman of the committee that Mr. Hiddleston placed in charge of purchasing the sign. The men hope that, in addition to directing more transient customers to the Belmond business district, it will alert passers-through to the fact there IS a Belmond — and perhaps have the effect of slowing down River avenue traffic to some degree. IEL&P company linemen are shown installing the sign.

Juvenile Delinquency Prompts Warning from Mayor

A recent wave of juvenile delinquency, mainly involving boys of grade school age, has reached proportions that this week prompted a stern warning from Mayor Henry Hokel.

"There are some youngsters in town who are headed for very serious trouble," he informed The Independent, "unless parental cooperation brings a halt to their actions. Store pilfering has reached a point where it can no longer be tolerated."

Mayor Hokel says that the city authorities sincerely hope that the situation can be improved short of court action. The last thing they want is to be faced with the necessity of committing any of the offenders to reform school.

"However," said the mayor, "if this step proves the only solution, we will have to resort to it. Whether or not this will be necessary will depend on whether the boys' parents cooperate with us by exerting proper control over their children."

Numerous reports have been received regarding thefts of merchandise from Belmond stores and of items taken from parked automobiles. Several complaints have also been turned in by parents whose youngsters have been mauled by boys running in a gang.

"Several parents have already been warned that their sons are risking arrest if their current misbehaviour continues," according to Mayor Hokel. "This public warning can be accurately interpreted to mean we've about reached the end of our patience and that appropriate action will supplant talk of the parents can't or won't exert the discipline they should."

The park committee last week had four, 100-watt lights installed in the park. By lighting up the dark places it is hoped that the park will no longer be used as an abiding place for the lawless.

FIFTY YEARS AGO—

The Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church will serve a 10 cent supper in the lecture room of the church next Friday evening, from 5:00 o'clock until all are served.

—1904—

As soon as the farmers can get their harvesting done the grocers in the city are expecting to see the price of potatoes take a sudden drop that can be heard with distinctness by all consumers of the Irish apple. The price is now running from 65 to 75 cents per bushel, retail.

—1904—

The controversy over the cement sidewalk in front of the Greenfield building was amicably settled last week by J. P. Kenefick lowering his walk a trifle and Mr. Greenfield raising his to meet the slope.

—1904—

It now turns out that the legislature did not pass a law requiring that all gasoline cans be painted red, as rumor had it. The boys who went from house to house painting cans at 10 cents each made a good thing out of it, just the same, and it probably did the cans no harm.

—1904—

Many of those who were swindled out of hard earned money by the gambling sharks that accompanied the recent circus seem to be inclined to blame the city officials for permitting such things. The man who is fool enough to place money on another man's game, and loses it, ought to be man enough to take his medicine.

CHICK CHATS

The Peck Order

Can't remember if I've ever chatted with you before about the "peck order". But if I have, it's worth discussing again It's pretty important.

The "peck order" is what scientists call the social order of a flock of chickens Some fellow with more patience than I have, sat around looking at flocks of chickens for days at a time He finally found out that there is one hen in every flock who can pick at all the rest of the hens without getting picked back. Then there's one who can peck all the rest except the top hen And so on down the line That's known as the peck order.

Now it seems kind of silly to have a grown man sitting and refereeing chicken fights for days on end. And, at first glance, the things he found out seem kind of silly too But they have a lot of meaning for the poultry raiser.

The peck order can explain a lot of things that happen in the hen house For instance, I'll bet 17c that most of the culls in your flock are culls because of the peck order.

That's because the birds down at the wrong end of the peck order get pecked by nearly all the birds in the flock. And if there isn't enough feeder space, they peck from the feeders The same thing happens with the water fountains. This discourages eating and drinking amongst the lowly And feed is pretty necessary to lay eggs, as all we scientists know

That's why I personally recommend at least 4 inches of feeder space per hen. Four inches per bird is the absolute minimum. A veterinarian I know has tested flocks' production on various amounts of feeder space He says that at four inches per bird, production is quite a bit higher and mortality and culling is lower than with lesser amounts of feeder space

From his tests, he recommends 6 inches of feeder space per bird. His records show that you more than pay for the extra feeders with the extra eggs you get in one year.

Extra waterers work almost the same wonders Put at least one large (8 gal.) water fountain in the house for each 100 layers. Or use an automatic fountain for each 100 layers. And this veterinarian friend of mine says to use at least 2 fountains in the house even though there are less than 100 layers in it.

And all that's on account of the peck order. If the chickens would treat one another with love and affection, we wouldn't have feeder space problems. But chickens will be chickens. So we'll have to make sure that every one of them gets enough.

But then, it's worth it.

GRANT TOWNSHIP 4-H GIRL ATTENDING HEALTH CAMP

Janice Sann, a member of the Grant Go-Getters 4-H girls club, is Wright county's delegate to the state 4-H health camp being held this week at Iowa's 4-H camp near Madrid.

She was chosen, Extension Director Aaron Bowman reports, because of her interest in developing a strong 4-H health program in Wright county and on the strength of her excellent long-time record books.

This is the first year the state health camp has been held. It is being attended by delegates from 50 north and north central counties. Other counties in the state were represented at the state conservation camp. Next year attendance will be reversed and the Wright delegate will attend conservation camp.

'Hawks Edge Latimer 3-2; Play Clarion Sunday

A 3-to-2 win Sunday on the local diamond over Latimer-Coulter enabled the Belmond Tomahawks to remain in the thick of the Quad-County title chase and gave them their seventh, consecutive victory. It was a first-class game, both teams playing fine ball and both the Tomahawks' Gus Taylor and the Legionnaires' Gary Muhlenbruck pitching well.

Belmond went into a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first as the 'Hawks got three of their nine hits. Jim Kleen singled and Joe Long brought him home with a double. Long was then thrown out at the plate as he tried to score on a single by Jake Koenen, retiring the side.

All of the winners' scoring was done before the visitors got their first tally. In the fourth frame, Ozzie Nelson doubled and then crossed the plate on Ronnie Meyer's single. Belmond's final counter came in the sixth. Dennis Scott walked, Jerry Chandler advanced him with a sacrifice, and then Scott made it home on a single by Taylor. Barry followed with another single, but the Legionnaires got the third out by cutting off Taylor as he tried to rack up another score.

Latimer-Coulter entered the scoring column in the seventh with an unearned run by Schulte, Belmond's only error of the afternoon setting the stage. In the eighth, Milo Muhlenbruck doubled and then came home on a long fly to center field by Ostergaard.

Taylor struck out 13 batters, issued only one walk and in giving up five hits never allowed more than one in a single inning. Muhlenbruck permitted 3 hits in one inning and three times saw the 'Hawks get a couple of safeties in one frame. He fanned eight men and issued six walks.

Games This Sunday

Kanawha at Latimer
Belmond at Clarion
Rockwell at Swaledale
Eagle Grove at Hampton

Barring a major upset in the make-up game that was to be played under lights at Eagle Grove between Kanawha and Clarion last Monday night — the results of which were not available in time for inclusion in the sports section — games in last weekend's round of Quad-County league play came out much as expected. Kanawha was in Des Moines competing in the state amateur meet Sunday (they were whipped by Coon Rapids, 14-0), so their date with Clarion had to be postponed for a day.

Belmond's Tomahawks and Eagle Grove's Legionnaires look hopefully to Latimer to give the dope bucket a kick when Kanawha travels to Latimer next Sunday. Such an outcome, with Belmond and Eagle Grove winning their league assignments, would leave deciding of the championship to the final week of play — and make a title tie a strong possibility. Such a development is probably wishful thinking, but is not beyond the realm of chance.

As things stand, the final day of play — Sunday, Aug. 22 — will see the four, top-division teams battling it out. Belmond will play host to Kanawha and Rockwell will travel to Eagle Grove. So if the Tomahawks can get by cellar-dwelling Clarion this Sunday, they'll be assured of a chance at sharing the league crown if they can collar Kanawha in the finale.

Bronc Grid Card For 1954 Season Includes 8 Tilts

This year's BHS football schedule, just released by Supt. Don A. Faris, will find the Broncos taking on the same eight foes that they have with regularity in recent years. It will include a full slate of six games against North Iowa conference rivals, while Hampton and Clarion will provide the non-conference opposition.

As usual, the Bronco card will open with the Hampton game, scheduled this year for Sept. 10 on the local gridiron. Only two lettermen were in the line-up as the Broncos took a 28-0 shellacking at the hands of the Bulldogs last fall. It is hoped it will be a different story this year, though; for 17 BHS gridders who lettered last year are expected to be in uniform.

Besides the Hampton game, three others will be played at home—those with Northwood, Forest City and Garner. The joust with the tough Forest City eleven, which figures as a top title contender in the coming campaign, has been designated as the Homecoming game.

Last season, Northwood was the only foe the Broncs were able to vanquish. The Vikings bowed by a 23-0 score. Just for the record, losses in the other games were by the following tallies: Britt 25-6, Buffalo Center 25-0, Lake Mills 13-6, Forest City 33-0, Clarion 20-0 and Garner 28-7.

Nine of the 10 men who won major B's last fall as juniors are due to be once more available: Keith Madsen, Dwight Beavers, Ronnie Hansen, Marlin Jenison, Bob McLaughlin, Kyle Mennenga, Phil Schmitz, LeRoy Smith and Ron Steenbolck. The tenth, Keith Knoedler, has moved away.

Returning lettermen who'll be juniors this season are Marlan Cunningham, Gary Meyer, Roger Smith, Tom Stadtlander and Arlo Stolenberg. Three gridders lettered as freshme nand will again be on hand — Jerry Chandler, Gary Ersland and Bill Murray.

Following is the Bronco schedule:

Sept. 10—Hampton, here.
Sept. 17—Britt, there.
Sept. 24—Northwood, here.
Oct. 1—Buffalo Center, there.
Oct. 8—Lake Mills, there.
Oct. 15—Forest City, here.
Oct. 22—Clarion, there.
Nov. 3—Garner, here.

38 Lowest Score Among Qualifiers

By the end of last week, 35 golfers had turned in qualifying scores for the annual men's tournament at Clarmond Country club. Low scorers in the list were Leo Hilton, Jr., of Belmond, the defending champion; Bob Dunker of Clarion, last year's runner-up; and Lyle McConaughey of Clarion. All had 38's. Only other qualfier in the thirties was Fred Gordon, who recorded a 39.

All qualifying scores must be posted by this coming Saturday. Hilton, who is chairman of the tournament committee, plans to call his group together Saturday night to draw the flight pairings so they can be on the bulletin board at the clubhouse Sunday morning. Sixteen players will be placed in the championship flight and eight in all others.

Belmond Peewees Win Championship In Third Annual Invitation Tourney

After experiencing a couple of mild scares along the way, Belmond's peewee all-stars won the third, annual PTA Summer Recreation invitational tournament here last week by defeating Hampton, Kanawha and Corwith in that order. Renwick took third place by downing Kanawha 13-6 in the consolation game Friday afternoon.

On Wednesday, Belmond experienced little trouble in getting past its first-round foe, Hampton. Ken Hawley hurled three-hit ball to help his team post an 8-3 victory. In the sixth and final inning, Hawley rapped out a home run good for three scores. He homered in each of Belmond's three, tourney appearances and also was winning pitcher in the finals to stamp himself as the outstanding individual player in the meet.

Johnson, 4 for 5

Little Gordie Johnson also starred at the plate, failing only once to get on base in 10 appearances and connecting for four hits in five official times at bat. Three of his hits came in two innings of play against Kanawha as he collected a pair of safeties in the second inning.

In Thursday's semi-finals, Corwith downed Renwick 4 to 1 in a well-played tussle and Belmond trimmed Kanawha 19-13 in three innings after entering the bottom half of the third with a 19-0 lead. Coach Dick Hobbs inserted a complete line-up of second-stringers to play the last half-inning and the maneuver almost backfired.

Roger Ginapp had pitched no-hit ball in the first two frames, while his team mates pounded three Kanawha twirlers for 15 hits to gain that 19-0 edge.

Kanawha Rallies

In the third, Emmet Studebaker was pounded for seven hits and his inexperienced field support committed a number of costly errors to allow 12 Kanawha runs. With two men down, Mike Taylor took the mound and after another run was pushed over on an error he struck out the second man to face him and retired the side.

A six-run splurge by Renwick in the sixth inning brought the downfall of Kanawha in the consolation game. R. Anderson allowed just seven hits to get credit for Renwick's win.

Belmond Starts Strong

In Belmond's 10-6 decision over Corwith in the finals, Hawley produced a four-hit performance. The losers' Ronnie Stroupe did almost as well. However, he got of to a bad start and the six hits he gave up in the first two frames produced eight runs. He didn't permit another hit the rest of the route, but three consecutive errors by his mates let Belmond add two more tallies in the fifth.

Renwick brought the count to 8-4 in the third and then sliced the margin to 8-6 in the top half of the fifth. Belmond's batters went down 1-2-3 in the sixth, but fine fielding play retired Renwick in the same order in the bottom of the sixth to wind up the game and give Belmond the title. Handsome trophies were presented to each of the first three place-winners and Kanawha was given a new baseball as fourth-place prize.

Marschall Beats E.G. Links Record In Taking Boone Valley Golf Crown

John Marschall, youthful Hampton star, clipped a stroke off the course record with a finishing 32 at Eagle Grove Country club Sunday to win individual honors in the annual Boone Valley golf tournament. His winning total for the 27 holes was a four-under-par 101 on rounds of 34-35-32. Marschall also won medal honors for low nine of the two qualifying rounds on a play-off with Dr. J. B. Doctor Harris was individual runner-up with 34-36-34, followed by Harrison Wolcott of Eldora, 106, and Bob Marchand of Webster City with 112. Just out of the money in the championship flight were a pair of Belmond entries, Pat Gallagher with 114 and Leo Hilton, Jr., with 115. Insects' Attacks On Legumes Call For Action Now

Insect attacks on legumes have been unusually severe in Wright county this year, Extension Director Aaron Bowman reports. Grasshoppers and garden webworms are causing the most trouble, but the potato leaf hopper has been damaging legumes stands, also.

Alfalfa is receiving most of the insects' attention: red clover is being damaged too. Both yield and quality of legume crops are being reduced by the pests. Toxaphene or chlordane will control these insects. Bowman says He recommends 1½ pounds of toxaphene or a pound of chlordane per acre.

However, the extension director adds one note of caution. After being sprayed in late growth with toxaphene, legumes should not be fed to dairy cattle. Federal law limits the tolerances of this chemical in dairy products. Toxaphene-treated legumes will not harm beef cattle or breeding stock.

In early stages of legume growth, the plants being less than six inches high, toxaphene may be sprayed to prevent damage to later growth, according to Bowman. He says there will be no chemical residue when the hay is cut later. In more advanced stages, it's best to cut the legume a bit early, he says, leaving treated "trap strips" in the center or at the edges of the field.

Keep a close watch on the field for further trouble, he warns. If infestation should continue on the regrowth, a second spraying is advised.

Bowman Suggests Clipping Weeds

Last effective time for pasture weed clipping is at hand, according to Extension Director Aaron Bowman, who suggests that mowing at this time will catch small ragweed before it goes to seed. Since this serious, pasture pest depends on seed production for its survival, he says that mowing now will reduce the trouble ragweed may cause next year.

Bowman adds that a good weed-clipping program increases the productive capacity of permanent pastures. He suggests a clipping in June and another in August. Now is also the time to mow stubble fields and the shoulders of county roads.

Bowman also suggests that new seeding in heavy, high oats stubble will do better if the stubble is mowed high to eliminate shading and to kill ragweed, foxtail and other weeds that are competing with the seeding for space and moisture.

Pair of Forgers Given Sentences

District court action at Clarion on Tuesday afternoon included the sentencing of a Fort Dodge couple on charges of forgery and fining of another defendant on a drunk-driving count.

Lavina Porter, 22, of Fort Dodge was given concurrent six-month sentences to be served at the women's reformatory, Rockwell, for forgery and for uttering a false instrument. Judge J. M. Schaupp then granted her a bench parole and placed her in custody of the Webster county parole officers.

Merle Porter, 24, the husband, was sentenced to six months in the county jail. Charges against the pair developed from the issuance of several bad checks at Eagle Grove. They have been accused of committing forgeries in three other counties.

Herman P. Liscomb of Renwick was heard by Judge Schaupp on an OMVI charge, based on the defenedant's arrest in Clarion last week. Liscomb was fined $300 and costs.

'54 Tuberculosis "New Case" Hunt Starts This Week

Audrey Engen, R. N., Wright county health nurse, will begin work this week on the annual contact case-finding program, according to Charles Kramer president of the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association. The search for possible but as yet unknown cases of tuberculosis in Belmond will be directed by local physicians, assisted by Miss Engen.

Her job will be to work with family physicians to locate persons who have been in contact with others who have known tuberculosis. Hence the title of the case-finding program "Contact."

Miss Engen will call in the homes of the persons who have been exposed to tuberculosis. She will arrange appointments for all persons whose skin shows a positive reaction. This does not necessarily mean that tuberculosis is present. The physician may refer persons for other chest conditions. Information gathered by the nurse will be strictly confidential.

Dr. G. J. Hruska, president of the Wright County Medical society, has indicated the profession approval of the survey. Cost of the survey is borne by the county tuberculosis association and the division of tuberculosis of the state department of health. Christmas Seal funds help defray part of the expense of the survey.

Safety Officials Request Farmers 'Cut Corner Corn'

State safety officials this week appealed to Wright county farmers for helping in saving 60 lives that may be lost between now and harvest because of tall corn blocking the vision of drivers at rural intersections. Pearl W. McMurray, safety commissioner, asked farmers in the county to cut their corn just above the ears at least 100 feet back from the corners of road intersections.

"Most of the victims of crashes at blind intersections live within two or three miles of the scene of the accident," McMurray pointed out. "This means that the farmer who cuts his corn at intersections is safeguarding his own life and the lives of his close neighbors."

David Herrick, chief of the Iowa highway patrol, joined in asking farmers for their cooperation and in urging "extreme care at all rural intersections."

Several committees are working on Operation Tall Corn in cooperation with county rural mail carriers, who compile lists of dangerous intersections. Members of the county safety committee then make personal calls on the farmers whose fields adjoin the reported intersections, asking them to cut back their corn.

Ballots for Annual Election of ASC Go Out to Eligible Voters Tomorrow

Ballots for the annual ASC township elections will be mailed to wright county farm owners and operators this Friday. Candidates listed on the ballots for each township are those nominated by the community election boards. Additional names may be written in by voters if they so desire, farmers of the county are reminded by H. P. Vanderlip of Dows, county ASC chairman

To be elected in each township are three ASC community committeemen and two alternate committee members. The candidate who receives the greatest number of votes will be chairman of the committee and the one receiving the next highest number will serve as vice chairman. The third member and the first and second alternates will be similarly named on the basis of votes received.

County Parley on Aug. 30

The newly elected chairmen and vice chairmen will automatically become delegates and alternate delegates to the county convention, at which the county ASC committee for the next 12 months will be named. The convention will be held at Clarion on Aug. 30.

Any farm owner, operator or tenant is eligible to vote in the community elections if now participating or qualified to participate in ASC activities. Anyone who believes he is eligible to vote but fails to receive a ballot in the mail should contact the county ASC office, Mr Vanderlip says.

Vote Deadline Aug 20

Besides a ballot, each voter will receive an envelope to use in returning his vote by mail. Each voter will also receive complete instructions, including methods to be followed in maintaining secrecy in the balloting. Instead of returning their ballots by mail, voters may personally deliver them to the county ASC office if they so desire.

Voters will have until Aug. 20 to mark their ballots and deliver or mail them back to the county office. Counting of the ballots will take place on Aug. 24 and the results will be announced as soon as the official canvass is made by the community election boards.

Hafermanns Hurt In Auto Accident; Tall Corn Blamed

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Hafermann of Thornton, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Avery, were injured in an auto accident Thursday evening of last week that sent them and two persons from the second car to Belmond Community hospital. Tall corn at a rural intersection two miles south and two east of Meservey obscured the vision o fthe two drivers and was regarded as a major cause of the mishap.

The Hafermanns were headed west toward Belmond, Mr. Hafermann at the wheel, and Henry Vierkant of Meservey was driving north when the collision occurred. Also in the Vierkant car were the driver's wife and two children, Susan, age 8, and Jimmy, 5.

Most seriously injured was Mr. Hafermann, who suffered a brain concussion, multiple abrasions and contusions. He was still only intermittently conscious the early part of this week but showing steady improvement from a severe blow he received over the right eye. All occupants of the two cars were thrown into the road by impact of the crash, except the youngest Vierkant child.

Mrs. Hafermann suffered an ankle bruise and chest injuries. Mrs. Vierkant's right wrist was broken and her husband received a gash on his face. The children were not hurt. Mrs. Hafermann and the Vierkants were all released from the hospital by the end of the week, but Mr. Hafermann is still a patient.

Both cars ended up in the ditch after the collision and were badly damaged.

Mrs Ray Barry entertained 18 ladies in her home Thursday evening. Mrs. G. Dick of Des Moines and several ladies from Garner were present from out of town. Following a demonstration Mrs. Barry served a nice lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green, Jon and Jerry are enjoying a ten-day vacation at Hackensack, Minn.

4-H Demonstration Given At Legion Auxiliary Meeting

Mrs. Lee Robbins and Mrs. Kenneth Boller were hostesses to the Legion Auxiliary last Thursday evening in the Boller home. Those present enjoyed the demonstrations given by the Twin Lake Go-Getters 4-H clubs. Judy Eliason and Janet Lang in the junior club demonstrated the making of sewing boxes. Luann Waage and Faye Janssen in the senior club showed how to put in a zipper. The regular business meeting was held, followed by a nice lunch. THAT SECOND-YEAR, HOSPITAL DEFICIT SHOULDN'T PROMPT TOO MUCH CONCERN

A moderately unpleasant reality made itself unavoidably apparent to the residents of Belmond last week with publication of the front page story regarding the 1955 municipal budget estimate. Due note had been taken repeatedly during the planning and construction of Belmond Community hospital of the fact that it wasn't in the cards for the institution to be a "money maker." Hospitals of much larger size, and drawing patronage from areas of considerably larger population, find themselves continually hard pressed to make ends meet. It was to be expected that our own hospital would face the same problem.

Now it develops, in the second year of the hospital's existence, that a small operating deficit has resulted. The operating income failed by 2.6 per cent to match operating expense. Tax aid from the city was nearly suffieient to wipe out that deficit — but by the time depreciation on building and equipment was figured in, a final, net loss of $7,439 remained. Depreciation on the building can be more or less regarded as a mere requirement of accurate bookkeeping, but the $3,155 portion of the depreciation figure that applies to depreciation on equipment is a consideration that must advisedly be taken into account in determining how the hospital really stands at the end of any given year. That equipment must, in due time, be replaced.

So it can be said with fair accuracy that the hospital needed additional income of roughly $3,500 during its last fiscal year to balance its books. That's less than five per cent of the over-all cost of the hospital's operation and certainly leaves no cause for wailing, "What have we gotten ourselves into?" It does, though, explain why the hospital trustees deemed it advisable to ask for additional tax aid amounting to 3.2 mills for the next year. It doesn't follow that such a deficit will inevitably occur each and every year, by any means.

It reflects much credit upon the hospital trustees and Administrator Jack Shepard that, with only 50 per cent average occupancy during the year (an average patient load of 13, compared to a total of 26 beds), the books came so near to balancing.

The hospital remains a community asset in which we have every right to take great pride and satisfaction. Any fears that it might prove a "white elephant" are premature and wholly unjustified. Any new business undertaking must go through "building" years, while it establishes its clientele. These are those years for Belmond Community hospital. There's no serious "storm" in prospect that it will have to weather; so let's not be dismayed over an occasional surface riffle.

WHAT BETTER TIME TO GET AT THE JOB OF FORMING A HOSPITAL AUXILIARY?

The above editorial provides us with a perfect opportunity to reintroduce a topic we've brought up before — and which we intend to talk about, as the impulse strikes us, until some action results.

BELMOND COMMUNITY HOSPITAL NEEDS A WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

We capitalize the statement, because the need has been "capitalized" by the circumstances that exist. A properly conceived and effectively organized auxiliary could be of very appreciable value to the hospital. A better time to get at it will never present itself.

Two things have probably been mainly responsible for the fact that no movement has yet materialized toward formation of an auxiliary. The functions of such an organization are not adequately understood; and no group has shown a willingness "get the ball rolling."

It occurs to us that the Registered Nurses' club would be an ideal organization to undertake the initial step towards forming this much-needed auxiliary. Its responsibility toward it would end, once the framework was set up. But it's up to SOMEBODY to take the initiative.

If the R. N. club — or any other organization or group of individuals — wants to look into this matter, The Independent will provide its cooperation to the fullest possible extent. We will supply information as to how the auxiliary should be organized and what appropriate functions it would perform; and naturally, we will give the undertaking extensive publicity.

Membership in such an auxiliary does NOT entail a great amount of time. We know of one, highly successful auxiliary that has meetings only four times a year. Yet it performs annual services for its hospital that have a monetary value of several thousand dollars.

The old complaint, "There's already TOO MANY organizations," has no bearing in this instance. Truth of the matter is, anyway, there are simply too many organizations without specific purpose for existence. The NEED for a good, strong auxiliary is apparent. Shall we get at it?

CHAMBER DESERVES A PAT ON THE BACK FOR THAT HANDSOME SIGN ON HIGHWAY

A word of commendation is due the Chamber of Commerce, and particularly to George Keleher and his committee, for the handsome sign that was installed last week over Highway 69 at the Main street intersection. It fulfills a need that is all the more obvious for having at long last been fulfilled.

Belmond does not present too impressive an aspect to transient traffic passing though on the highway. Of course, passers-through may well have suspected there had to be something of a community here, witnessing the General Mills plant at the south approach to the city and the Thompson plant on the north edge. But it's been all too easy for them to slip by Main street without realizing there was an up and coming business district close-by to serve their various needs.

From the Chamber's standpoint, quite understandably, a major purpose of the sign will be to capture some of the transient business that local firms have missed in the past because it was so easy for a car to pass through the fringe of our town unmindful of the fact that we're HERE. But beyond that, the new sign serves effectively to help put BELMOND "on the map," so to speak. We've talked to many friends from other parts of the state who have driven along No. 69 more than once, and yet been only vaguely aware that Belmond lay along their path. That sign is a sign that denotes a bustling, progressive community. We regard it as a fitting innovation and a welcome one.

TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 45 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, AUG. 19, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

So now we know. . . Gordon Kessler informs us that the bottle atop the post office flag-pole (a pint, milk bottle—not a pickle jar, he added) prevents Old Glory from snagging herself on the sharp point at the end of the flag staff. So it DOES serve a specific and useful purpose. As to its getting a coat of gilt paint—the bottle, that is—Gordie didn't come right out and tell us, but he left a pretty strong hint as to who can do the job if it's going to get done . . . Sorry, gentlemen, that's out of our department.

—M-S—

Members of the volunteer fire department were extremely appreciative of a donation they received last week towards the station fund, even though it didn't match in size many others that have been turned in. Girls of the Belmond Busy Bees 4-H club voted a contribution of $3.00, which was duly delivered to Treasurer George Hansen. The girls' thoughtfulness pleased the smoke-eaters greatly.

—M-S—

Luther and Mary Proeger of Kay-Ellen Gardens are for the time being short on faith in newspapers. They practically monopolized the prizes at last year's gladiolus show at the North Iowa Fair; and they planned to try for a repeat performance at the Mason City show. Twice, Mary checked on the show date in the Globe-Gazette, she says—and each time the time was stated as Wednesday.

Tuesday night, she and Luther cut more than 75 spikes and labeled them for the various classes of competition, ready to be taken to the fair first thing Wednesday morning.

But about 9:30 Tuesday evening they got a phone call from the flower show manager wondering where they'd been. The show, actually, had been scheduled for that day and was all over. End result? Some folks in Belmond got some mighty fancy bouquets from the pair of highly dismayed "glad" fanciers.

—M-S—

Al Hanson doesn't get out on the golf links very often these days, so he was more than a little startled last Thursday to get a birdie on the tough No. 3 hole at Clarmond Country club. It should be explained, though, that the "birdie" in this case was a turtle dove that got in the line of flight as Al drove off the tee. Ever try skeet shooting, Al?

—M-S—

Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin recently won herself a free, 50-pound bag of a certain make of feed (we should mention Nutrena when Belmond's about to go into the production of Larro?) in a Name-the-Feed contest. Since it took a staff of 12 more than 900 hours to judge the thousands of entries, you can appreciate that Mrs. McL. didn't do bad even to get honorable mention.

You might say Mrs. McLaughlin's prize was nothing more than chicken feed. In fact, that's EXACTLY what it was. We presume it was nonetheless appreciatively received. Even the cost of chicken feed is sobering these days.

Anyway, the contest judges gave us a chuckle with some highlights of their ordeal. One gent sent in 176 entries. Another, who resides in a metropolis, was disqualified on his 10 entries because entrants HAD to be poultry raisers. Several unqualified contenders tried to confuse the issue by reporting what livestock they DID possess. Two listed their rabbits, and one said didn't have any chickens, but he sure owned a LOT of dogs

—M-S—

Quite an argument has been stirring on Main street in regard to who the oldest, living native of Belmond — still residing in the community — might be. A lot of the debaters have their own ideas, but since there's considerable disagreement, somebody must be wrong. So we present the matter to our readers for a correct answer. Let's get this thing settled.

—M-S—

...AND I QUOTE

Mumbled the father of a local "looker": "Of course, it would be no trick to tear a local telephone book in half. But it really takes strength NOT to, when you've got a teen-age daughter."

The owner of a '43 clunker says: "Our old car seems to run a lot better since we asked the price of a new one."

BHS Curriculum Change Effected

Principal Clair Hugh announces a change in the Belmond High school curriculum that will see Spanish replace Latin as the language course to be offered during the coming school year. Spanish will be taught by James Schmitt, who will be freshman and sophomore English instructor.

Only six students had registered for Latin, and they will be given the opportunity to change over to Spanish if they wish. Mr. Hugh believes there may be more interested in Spanish than had signed up for Latin. Any juniors or seniors wishing to substitute Spanish for another elective course are asked to call the principal's office or Mr. Hugh directly, at his home.

Collision, Following Earlier Accident, Claims One Life

Printing Two Papers This Week

All members of the Independent staff, with the exception of Bookkeeper Louise Johnson, are taking their vacations next week. As a result, they have followed the practice of past years and printed TWO issues this week—the regular edition for distribution this Thursday and a Vacation Issue, which will be distributed at the regular time next week.

It creates considerable turmoil around the newspaper shop when this annual ordeal is undertaken, and by the time it's over everyone NEEDS a vacation. Obviously, the Vacation Issue has to be restricted to a reduced number of pages and by necessity is short on "spot" news.

Independent readers will note from an announcement in this issue that Mrs. Johnson is once again trotting out her vacationtime "special" on subscriptions. While the bosses are gone, she's resolved to peddle subscriptions at 75 cents less than standard rates. The deal is on until noon of Saturday, Aug. 28. After that deadline, full rates are back in affect.

Busy Bees Club's Achievement Day At New Clubhouse

Gloria Rabe was named the club's outstanding senior girl and Mary Alice Studebaker was accorded a similar honor among the junior girls as annual Achievement Day was held by the Belmond Busy Bees 4-H club last Friday at the new Belmond-Pleasant 4-H clubhouse. A capacity audience of parents and friends filled the meeting room of the converted school to witness the evening program and inspect the girls' project exhibits.

Mary Alice Studebaker spoke the words of welcome. Then the senior demonstration team presented the demonstration it has prepared for fair competition, entitled, "Any Time is Ice Cream Time;" and the intermediate team, Kathryn Hunst and Nadine Rabe, demonstrated "Best-Ever Muffins."

Auction Brings $23

A pantomime was given by Sharon Strait, Sandra Simerson, Judy Oberhauser, Marjorie Johnson, Sara Simerson and Sondra Stoltenberg. Following this, two junior demonstration teams contended for the honor of going on to the Eagle Grove Junior Fair. Imogene Strait and Carol Finn earned that privilege with, "How to Set a Table Correctly." The runners-up were Miriam Kalkwarf and Diane Fetrow with, "Dishpan Interlude."

At the conclusion of the program, the baked goods that had been on exhibition for judging was auctioned off, the proceeds adding about $23 to the club treasury.

73 Exhibits to Fair

Seventy-three blue-ribbon exhibits were chosen to advance to the junior fair. Senior division winners were: cookies — Karon Bohning, Marilyn Mennenga, Sondra Stoltenberg; quick bread—Marjorie Johnson, Myrna Strait, Sandra Swenson; plain cake — Nadine Rabe, Mary Alice Studebaker, S. Swenson; angel food cake — Judy Kalkwarf, M. Strait, M. A. Studebaker.

Faculty Short 1 As Jacobs Quits

Supt. Don Faris's happy satisfaction over having all positions on the Belmond Community school faculty filled for the approaching school year received a rude jolt last Friday when Elwyn Jacobs submitted a belated resignation. Jacobs has been assistant football and basketball coach for the past two years and was also scheduled to teach three classes in mathematics and one in typing.

During the past summer, Jacobs has served as an adjustor for the Iowa Mutual Hail Insurance company, a Farm Bureau subsidiary. He informed Mr. Faris that he has accepted a district managership with the firm and will have his headquarters at Atlantic.

This week, Mr. Faris was conducting an intensive and rather desperate search for a replacement. He expects that his likeliest chance lies in discovering a lately discharged, ex-GI with the necessary qualifications. It appeared certain, though, that the coaching staff will still be short a man when opening football drills get underway next week.

4 Cars Smash-Up At Site Where 1 Went into Ditch

First fatality that "the Belmond stretch" on Highway 69 has claimed this year developed from a chain of mishaps 2½ miles north of town on Highway 69 that occurred about 6:15 a. m. Monday. Thomas E. Buckley, 27, of Waterloo lost his life and two other persons were hospitalized as five cars suffered anywhere from extensive damage to complete demolishment.

Buckley died at Belmond Community hospital at 7:56 a. m. from a skull fracture, crushed chest and probable internal injuries. He was the driver of one of two cars that figured in a head-on collision which came on the heels of an earlier accident that had happened a few minutes before. Though claiming Waterloo as his home, the deceased man was a full-time employee of Harvey Barz, oil tankman at Klemme. He was on his way to Klemme when the crash took place.

Initial incident in the string of events that brought Buckley's death involved Mrs. Irma Mae Clock, 27, of Des Moines, a buyer for a department store. She was driving south when her car got onto the right shoulder of the road and she lost control of it in trying to return to the concrete. The auto crossed the highway, rolled over as it struck a culvert and ended up in the east ditch. Police Chief Awe was notified and he drove to the scene, parked on the east shoulder of the road and was investigating Mrs. Clock's misadventure when the next mishap occurred.

An unidentified passer-by had stopped his car on the west shoulder, opposite Awe's auto, when Lyle J. Hoffman, 25, of Seattle, Wash., sped toward the site from the north. Awe informed Sheriff Bob Blecker that Hoffman swung into the center of the roadway, apparently shying from the car parked on the west shoulder, and failed to notice Buckley's car coming from the south.

Two Collide, Head-on

The vehicles of Buckley and Hoffman collided, almost head-on, and Buckley's car was hurled against Awe's parked machine, ricocheted back onto the highway and as it skidded to a halt was struck in the rear by still another auto. The latter was driven by George W. Baker, 20, son of the Eagle Grove chief of police. Baker is employed as a telephone lineman at Mason City and was, like Buckley, on his way to work.

The injured were rushed to Belmond Community hospital in Fulton's ambulance. Hoffman, a parachute stunt man who has been making the fair circuit in the midwest, sustained a left thigh fracture and three broken ribs. Mrs. Clock was treated for contusions and strained muscles in her neck and back. Baker suffered a dislocation of his left shoulder, but after medical attention had been given him he was released.

Both Buckley's and Hoffman's cars were almost totally wrecked and that of Mrs. Clock was extensively damaged. Awe's machine — he was driving his personal auto, not the city police car—was badly smashed at the front. Very considerable damage was done to the front end of Baker's car.

Estimates from the sheriff's office placed the values of the two completely demolished cars at $2,500 for Buckley's and $1,800 for Hoffman's — a '54 Ford convertible and '52 Ford sedan, respectively. Damage to Awe's '49 Oldsmobile was set at $950, to Baker's '53 Plymouth at $1,000 and to Mrs. Clock's '53 Dodge at $1,200.

Principals involved in the mess estimated the two cars that collided were both traveling at a rate of 60 to 65 miles an hour, according to Sheriff Blecker. Traffic on the highway had to be routed around the accident scene for a considerable period of time while the damaged cars were being towed away to free the traffic lanes.

Date Set for Sale Of Revenue Bonds

In today's paper, the city council advertises sale of $80,000 worth of municipal sewer revenue bonds, which is to take place at the city hall at 8:00 p. m. on Sept. 7. Sealed bids will be received and the bonds will be sold to the highest bidder for cash, open bids also being received the evening of the sale.

Provision is made that the council is to have the privilege of prepaying $40,000 worth of the bonds, which would normally mature during the period Sept. 1, 1965, to Sept. 1, 1972. The reservation allows for such prepayment on Sept. 1, 1964, or on any interest-payment date thereafter, at the city's option.

A hearing on sale of the bonds is scheduled for the same hour and date as specified for opening of the sealed bids.

Cash Awards Won By Two Repeaters

Five money-seekers went home with Cash Gift Day prizes this Tuesday as half of the winning number-holders were on hand to stake their claims. Strangely enough, two of the fortunate individuals had picked off $25 awards on previous Cash Gift Days. Mrs. Robert Summers of Belmond repeated with a $25 prize, while Mrs. Klaas Weiman of Alexander fell heir to $100 this time.

Herman Heginger was also a $100 winner Tuesday, and $25 gifts went to George Thompson of Belmond and Mrs. Andrew Pals of Meservey.

Having been touched for a total of $275 this week, the Cash Gift Day committee is pulling in its horns a bit next week. There will be the customary half-dozen $25 awards at 2:00 p. m., but at 3:00 o'clock next Tuesday there will be a single prize of $150.

Widdel Resigns; Goes to Grimes

Rev. Leo Widdel, who recently resigned as pastor of St. John American Lutheran church, filled the pulpit there for the last time a week ago Sunday and on Wednesday of last week moved to Grimes He was installed as pastor of the American Lutheran church at Grimes, a community of 582 population located west of Des Moines, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Widdel and their four children had made their home in Belmond for just short of three years, he having answered a call to the St. John church in early fall of 1951

The St. John church board reports it has issued a call to a new minister but has not as yet received acceptance. Until a new pastor is obtained, students from the American Lutheran seminary at Dubuque who are studying for the ministry will conduct the weekly services.

Infelt Will Sell Variety Business; Moving Sept. 1st

George Infelt last week placed his variety store here on sale, preparatory to opening a new store of the same type at Independence on Oct. 1. He has leased a double-front location there, which is being completely remodeled and refitted to serve his purpose. Independence is a community of 4,865, about 700 more in population than Eagle Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Infelt and their 8-year-old twin daughters, Penny and Pam, will move to their new home about Sept. 1 so he can personally oversee all the final preparations for opening the store. He says Independence has two other 5c-to-$1.00 stores but believes that the good location of his double-front establishment should augur well for its success.

The Infelts have made Belmond their home since he was discharged from the U. S. Navy 8½ years ago. He was a PT boat commander during World War II. It is their plan to sell their house at 416 Third avenue NE, as well as the store.

During his time in Belmond, Mr. Infelt has been very active in civic affairs. He has served as president of the Chamber of Commerce, is current president of the Congregational church's Congo club, has been on the board of the Belmond chapter of American Red Cross and was recently elected secretary of the Lions club.

Mrs. Infelt has been active in work of the Congregational church, has been serving as leader of a Camp Fire group and has been a member of the Tally Ho and Century clubs.

New Man Signed For Hospital Job

Stuart Kutz, 33, for the past three years a hospital relations representative for the Blue Cross organization, has been engaged by the Belmond Community hospital board of trustees to succeed Jack Shepard as administrator. He has been working out of Nashua, but is a native of Fort Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Kutz and their three daughters—Paula, soon to be 8, Terry, age 6, and Lynn, 1½—have moved into the home at 515-4th avenue NE that was the residence of the late Mrs. Harm L. Pals. Until he officially assumes his new duties on Sept. 1, Mr. Kutz is putting what evening time he can in at the hospital to get acquainted with the job.

A graduate of Fort Dodge High school, Mr. Kutz also attended Fort Dodge Junior college for two years. While in Naval uniform for 3½ years during World War II, he was enrolled at the University of Illinois for one school year. He held the rating of Motor Machinst's Mate 2/c and was attending midshipman school at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., when discharged in October, 1945.

Mr. Kutz continued his education at Iowa State college and Drake university, studying a year at each and also taking night courses at Drake for two years while employed in the accounting department of Solar Aircraft, Des Moines. He majored in mechanical engineering and accounting.

RECKLESS DRIVING, $25

Clarence Olson, Dows farmer, was fined $25 and costs in the court of Mayor Henry Jenkins at Clarion on Tuesday of last week on a charge of reckless driving. He had sideswiped a car at the accident scene after a semi-trailer and a gravel truck driven by Benny Benson of Belmond had collided just north of Belmond on Aug. 7. Olson admitted to the authorities he was hitting 85 mph as he approached the spot where the crash was being investigated.

Ed Reichardt, lineman for the Iowa Electric Light and Power company, has been hospitalized since last Tuesday when he suffered a bad fracture of the right hip when he tumbled from a tree. He was involved in installing a line to a trailer at the Clarence Fleener property, 407 Sixth avenue SE, when his foot slipped and he fell a distance of about 15 feet.

A lengthy operation on Wednesday was necessary to set the fracture. Mr. Reichardt will have to remain in the hospital for another week or 10 days and will likely be unable to return to his work for a period of about three months.

All members of the Gridiron club are urgently requested by President Cecil Carstens to return at once the cards signifying whether they wish to retain their memberships during the approaching football season. The new membership list will be drawn on the basis of these cards, and it is important that the directors know as soon as possible what vacancies are going to exist.

Trinity Honoring Severseikes on 25th Anniversary

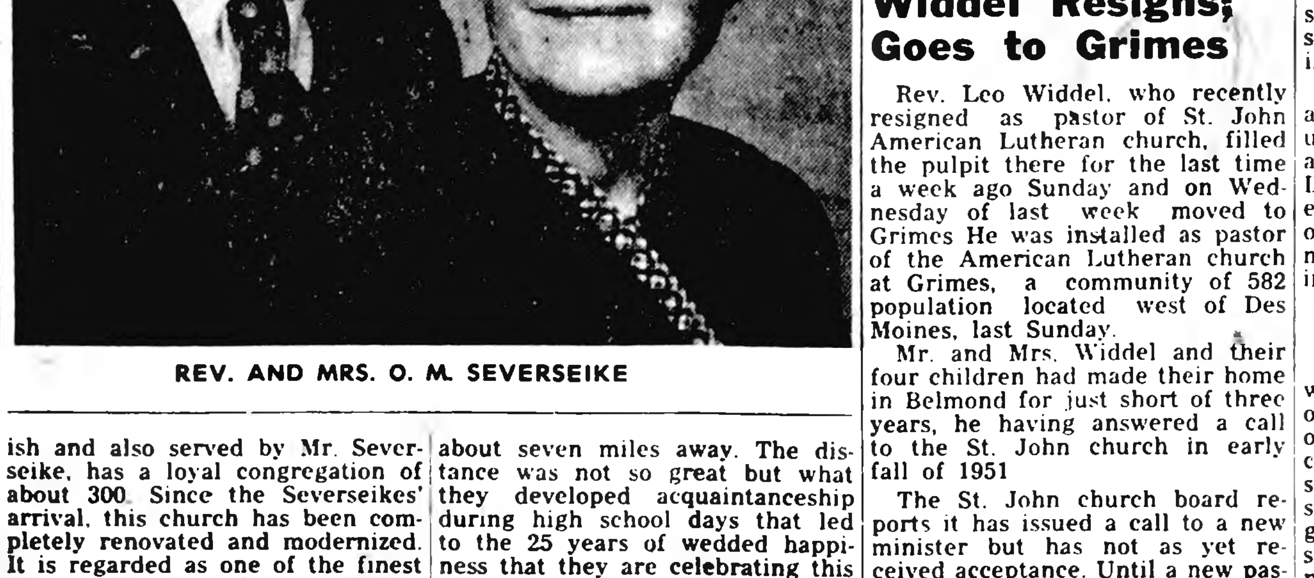
Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Severseike will be honored by members of Trinity Lutheran church next Sunday with an open house marking their 25th wedding anniversary. Actual date of their marriage was Aug. 20, 1929. Mrs. Axel Shefveland, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, issues a cordial invitation to members of St. Olaf church and the general public to join with the Trinity congregation in paying respects to the pastor and his wife.

Open house will be held at the Trinity parsonage from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. During the same period of time, persons calling to greet the honored couple will be invited to enjoy refreshments at the Trinity church parlors.

The Rev. Mr. Severseike was completing his study for the ministry at Lutheran Theological seminary at St. Paul, Minn., when he and Mrs. Severseike, Olga Sheldahl before her marriage, were wed. He had earlier graduated from St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and in May of 1930 received a B. S. degree in theology and shortly thereafter was ordained as a Lutheran minister.

He filled pastorates at Madison, S. D., and Arlington, S. D., spending about six years in each parish, before coming to Belmond in 1941. A couple of years after coming to this community he instigated a project that had as its original objective the remodeling and modernization of the Trinity church then in use. The undertaking became more ambitious as it developed, however, and eventually produced the fine, new building that is the Trinity church of today.

This achievement has been a source of much satisfaction to the Severseikes, but perhaps no more so than the fact that the church's congregation has nearly quadrupled since they came to Belmond on Dec. 28, 1941. It now boasts a congregation of approximately 500.



REV. AND MRS. O. M. SEVERSEIKE

St. Olaf church, in the same parish and also served by Mr. Severseike, has a loyal congregation of about 300. Since the Severseikes' arrival, this church has been completely renovated and modernized. It is regarded as one of the finest rural churches in this part of the state.

Native home of the Trinity pastor was Radcliffe, while his wife's original home was Garden City, about seven miles away. The distance was not so great but what they developed acquaintanceship during high school days that led to the 25 years of wedded happiness that they are celebrating this week. They have two children—a daughter, Dorothy, who is now Mrs. Gerald Swenson; and a son, Odean, who this fall will be a junior at St. Olaf.

Gordon 2nd Best Amateur at D. M.

Fred Gordon finished second in the amateur field at the annual Herman Sani Open golf tournament held last weekend at Des Moines. A field of 326 professionals and amateurs entered the event. Runner-up honors in his division brought Fred a fine shotgun, which he chose to convert into cash when made a lucrative offer.

The same middle-round trouble that has haunted Gordon in a number of tourneys this season kept him from leading the amateur division. He had first and third rounds of 71-71 to edge the winner, Jim Rasley of Des Moines, by a stroke. Rasley had 71-70-72 for 213, while Fred slipped to a 75 on his second 18 to finish with a 217 for the 54 holes.

Clarion Upsets 'Hawks; Kanawha Here Sunday

Hopes of the Belmond Tomahawks for a share in the Quad-County league title were dashed Sunday when the tail-end Clarion nine hung a 4-3 defeat on the 'Hawks. It was a particularly big disappointment to the losers, as they were in front throughout the game until Clarion edged ahead in the eighth frame on a three-run rally.

Starter Jake Koenen pitched good ball for the Tomahawks through five frames, but tired quite perceptably in the sixth. Manager Jack Lansing inserted Denny Scott in the eighth with the tally 3-2 and the tying run on base; but the maneuver proved a bit too late. Having had only a half dozen or so pitches to warm up, Scott retired a couple of men and matters looked a little better.

Skinner's Triple Decisive

However, he issued a pass to Don Champlin and then served up a fast ball in the groove to Joe Skinner on a 3-2 count. Skinner poled the pitch deep into right field, scoring Bernie Shepler—who'd gained base on a double to right—and Champlin. That gave Clarion its edge and Belmond was unable to erase the deficit in its last turn at bat.

Both sides played very nearly air-tight ball the first three innings. Koenen faced only nine men in those frames and fanned six of them. Belmond got a man on via an error in the second and Bob Barry got a bingle in the third, but no scores were threatened. The Tomahawks went into a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Joe Long tripled and Denny Scott brought him home with a long sacrifice poke to left field.

Hoppel Saves Score

It looked as if Clarion might tie it up in the bottom of the inning when Jerry Brenny led off with a single, Frank Flores advanced him to second with a sacrifice bunt and then Shepler unloaded a solid single into center field. But Donny Hoppel made a perfect peg to the plate that enabled Joe Long to nail Brenny as he was coming home. Charles Bunn, the next batter, popped out to the pitcher and the threat was extinguished.

With the help of three Clarion errors, combined with a single by Ozzie Nelson, the Tomahawks picked up two more runs in the sixth. An even bigger inning seemed in prospect, for with two down the 'Hawks still had a man on first and third. But Scott attempted a steal home and was easily squeezed between third and home for the final out.

Koenen Tires in 6th

Koenen showed plainly in the sixth that he was tiring when his control began to lack the accuracy it had possessed earlier. Jack McClelland led off with a single. A bunt by Brenny produced an out, Long to Nelson, but Flores then received a walk. Shepler laid a short one into the infield and a heave from Koenen to Third-Baseman Bill Murray misfired, permitting McClelland to score its first counter. Koenen fanned the next two batters.

But Belmond was unable to pad out its total in the seventh and eighth, and that set the stage for Clarion's game-winning splurge in the bottom of the eighth.

Saccento Effective

-Vince Saccento hurled one of his best games of the season for the victors, allowing only five hits and issuing only one walk, while fanning eight batters. Infield errors got him in hot water several times. Only one of Belmond's scores was earned.

Koenen struck out nine men and also permitted only five hits, but two of the four walks he gave up figured in the scoring. Scott fanned two men, allowed one walk and one hit. He got credit for the loss, since the pass put the winning score on base and the hit brought in the deciding run.

Next Sunday's Games

Rockwell at Eagle Grove
Latimer at Clarion
Hampton at Swaledale

Kanawha will be gunning for undisputed claim to the Quad-County baseball league title Sunday when the Hancock county nine visits Belmond's diamond to clash with the Tomahawks. The Kanawhans retained their loop leadership last Sunday with a 6-3 win at Latimer, while the 'Hawks saw their chance to share in the championship go down the drain as they lost at Clarion, 4 to 3.

Latimer's defeat eliminated the Franklin county team from a chance at the post-season play-offs when Rockwell trounced Swaledale, 14-4, to draw into a third-place tie with Belmond. With Jim Chapman unloading two grand-slam homers, Eagle Grove routed Hampton, 20 to 5, to remain in second place.

Belmond might yet garner a tie for second, if the 'Hawks should upset Kanawha here Sunday and Eagle Grove should come a-cropper Rockwell. But the Tomahawks are out of the running for the $100 champion's purse. Gus Taylor will probably take the mound for Belmond against Kanawha. Play at the local diamond will get under way at the regular time, 2:15 p. m.

Donkey Ball Game Scheduled Sunday

Barring further interference from the weather, Ralph Godfrey's Oklahoma donkeys will strut their stuff at the General Mills softball diamond this Sunday at 8:00 p. m. Astride the beasts for the demonstration of how to play ball on a burro will be local men forming teams identified as the Belmond Vets and Bronco All-Stars.

Tickets are once again on sale at Kessler's and the Tip Top grocery for any who wish to obtain them in advance. And advance tickets purchased before the originally scheduled date, Aug. 7, will be honored at the contest Sunday. Keith Chandler, who's been in charge of arrangements for the joust, promises it will provide laughs by the dozens and will be well worth witnessing.

Grid Drill Slated To Begin Tuesday

Coach Dck Hobbs offers a reminder to all boys who plan to be out for football at BHS this fall that equipment is to be issued at the gym, 1:30 p. m. Saturday. He urges all gridiron candidates to pick up their uniforms, pads and other paraphernalia on that day, without fail, so distribution of equipment will not delay a prompt start when drills begin.

First practice will be held on Tuesday of next week. Coach Hobbs plans an early start on contact drills and wants all the boys to "keep up with the crowd" from the very outset.

Larry Larson Has 37 to Post Best Qualifying Score

Larry Larson topped the 64 golfers who posted qualifying scores for the Clarmond Country club annual men's tournament, which gets under way this week. Matches in the title flight must be over the 18-hole route. Either nine or 18 may be played in the others.

Farmers Urged to Get ASC Votes In to County Office by Tomorrow

A strong appeal for every farm owner and operator in Wright county to participate in the annual ASC community elections was made this week by the county ASC chairman H P Vanderlip of Dows

Ballots have been mailed to every known farmer in every township of the county he declared Voters have until this Friday to mark their ballots and return them to the county ASC office To be counted the envelopes in which ballots are returned must be post marked not later than Friday Aug 20 or personally delivered to the county office by 5 00 p m of that day

"Full benefits offered through the ASC farm program depend to a great extent on the selection of competent qualified men to administer it on the township level" Mr Vanderlip points out "and it is up to the farmers themselves to pick capable men in the annual ASC comunity elections

Every Farmer's Duty

"It is the duty of every farmer to cast his ballot He should not only cast his own ballot but he should urge his neighbors to vote without fail"

It has been noted that the number of farmers participating in the community elections has dropped in recent years and that continued indifference might lessen the effectiveness of the "voice of agriculture" in national affairs A state goal of at least 100 000 votes has been set by the Iowa ASC committee for this year or nearly twice as many as last year the county chairman says

Five to Each Committee

To be elected in each township are three ASC community committeemen and two alternate committee members The candidate who receives the greatest number of votes will be chairman of the committee and the one receiving the next highest number of votes will serve as vice chairman The third member and the first and second alternates will be similarly named on the basis of votes received

The newly elected chairman and vice chairman will automatically become delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention at which the county ASC committee for the next 12 months will be named The convention will be held at the Wright county ASC office on Aug 30

Flood Indicated Value of Making Grass Waterways

Heavy mid-June rains throughout most of Iowa stressed the need for good grassed waterways In unprotected fields water rushed off and took with it some of the best top soil Soil losses were great even on lesser slopes generally considered safe from extensive erosion

Aaron Bowman Wright county extension director says grassed waterways would have prevented much of the loss The job of grassed waterways is to tie down the soil Waterways slow down the run-off water and safely conduct it to natural streams Thus grassed waterways prevent fields from being cut into smaller patches Eroded fields hamper the work of farm machinery

Now Good Time for Job

Now is a good time to convert eroded gullies into grassed waterways Bowman says Earth moving will be easy in both meadow and stubble fields First task in preparing a waterways is to remove all trash before filling the gully Regular farm tillage equipment may be used in shaping the waterway Soil conservationists suggest a saucer shape for the bottom of the waterway since it will spread the run-off water over a larger area Be sure the waterway is wide enough—many are too narrow, Bowman warns

Next step is to fertilize and seed the waterway to a mixture of grasses Reed canary grass and bromegrass are best but timothy bluegrass redtop and orchard grass may be used Legumes may be added but grasses should dominate Bowman advises a high rate of seeding for a thick stand Drilling is preferred A light mulch may be added to protect the seeding

ACP Funds Available

For a quick cover and nurse crop, sow wheat or rye This will be a safeguard against erosion until the grasses become established A temporary division around the head of the waterway is sometimes used until the grasses get started Bowman says Agricultural Conservation Program funds are available for permanent conservation practices Grassed waterways come under this plan provided they meet the specifications

Before beginning construction of grassed waterways, hower, file an application with your county ACP committee, and contact your Soil Conservation Service district office for assistance in meeting specifications

Marian Anderson Became Bride Of Louis Locatell Here Sunday

Marian Lucille Anderson and Louis Locatell, Jr., exchanged wedding vows Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in a candlelight ceremony at the Trinity Lutheran church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orphie Anderson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Locatell of Cedar Rapids. Rev. O. M. Severseike read the double-ring ceremony before the chancel.

Traditional wedding marches were played by the organist, Mrs. Harold Simerson, who also accompanied Robert Mead of Cedar Rapids as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love Thee."

Entering the church with her father, the bride wore a white gown with Chantilly lace bodice and illusion yoke bordered with rosettes encrusted with iridescent sequins. The floor-length skirt of tulle and net over taffeta was appliqued with rosettes and iridescent sequins. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace. She carried an orchid centered on white rosebuds and stephonotis.

Guests to the number of 125 attended the reception held in the church basement immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Ed Kennedy cut the tiered, white, wedding cake. Mrs. Duane Tideback, Marion Tyrrell and Mrs. Duane Anderson poured

Mrs. Gerhard Thompson and Mrs. Clarence Johnson were in charge of the gifts and Mrs. Duane Thayer of Marion was in charge of the guest book.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a brown linen duster over an aqua sheath dress and beige accessories. After a honeymoon in Canada, the couple will be at home in Coralville, where Mrs. Locatell will teach. Mr. Locatell will be a graduate student at the University of Iowa during the coming school year.

Both are graduates of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, where Mrs. Locatell was affiliated with Kappa Delta sorority and Mr. Locatell with Delta Phi Upsilon fraternity.

19 CLARMOND PAIRS COMPETE IN 2-BALL FOURSOME FUN-FEST

Water hazards, booby traps and a wide variety of unique obstacles made for an interesting afternoon as 19 mixed twosomes took part in a two-ball foursome competition at Clarmond Country club last Sunday afternoon. From the time that feminine members of the duos drove a pingpong ball from a pool of water to start the round, there was never a dull moment for the contending club-swingers.

A list of rules committed by C. C. Christie created consternation and comedy in equal proportions. A typical requirement provided that "all cards that win prizes must be signed by Herbert Hoover before he is 80 years old."

Free steak dinners went to the winning couple and the pair with the highest score were awarded with two hens well past retirement age. The couple with the least putts got two balls apiece and those with the most putts, one each.

Low score of 60 was turned in by Mrs. Harold Olsen of Belmond and Keith Strahorn of Kanawha; high score of 85, Mrs. Al Coleman and Paul Schueller, Clarion; least putts (17) Jean Strahorn and Lynn Knoll, Kanawha; and most putts (27), Mrs. Bob Dunker and Dean Robeson, Clarion. Harold "Dinger" Olsen and "Boots" (Mrs. James) Boehmler of Iowa Falls were quite the sensation of the afternoon when they achieved a birdie 2 on the 6th hole.

Marj Mishler propelled the pingpong ball for the longest (and wettest) drive from the No. 1 water hole — a distance of about 10 yards.

How To Make Up Your Mind on a Used Car

Hunting for a top value used car is a little like prospecting for gold. The more you know about where to look and how to look, the better your chances of success. It's easy to be fooled by so-called "low" prices and "clean" car appearances—and it's expensive! So before you buy, check over each one of these important points on where and how to look:

Where to look

Can you trust the dealer?
When you can trust a dealer, you can trust the value of the used cars he sells. Every Ford Dealer is an established businessman in his community. He has a large investment in his business and his good name at stake.

How about his prices?
Your Ford Dealer doesn't depend on used car profits to stay in business. He takes trade-ins mainly as a service to customers who buy new Fords. And today he is selling new Fords at a record rate. That's why Ford Dealers offer you used cars at rock bottom prices.

Is he really interested in you?
When a Ford Dealer sells you a used car he wants your service business, too. He's also looking ahead to the day when he can sell you another used car or a new car.

Does he know his used cars?
Ford Dealer mechanics work on new and used cars every day. They have the tools, parts, and "know how" to spot trouble fast and fix it right. Every A-1 used car gets a complete check before it goes on sale.

How to look

Get inside the car.
Try all the doors and windows. Start the engine. Test the windshield wiper, headlights, turn indicators, heater, and radio.

Look and listen under the hood.
A "rough" motor may mean bad spark plugs or faulty valves. Are there stains which betray a leaky head gasket? Check hose connections. Check battery cables for corrosion.

Walk all the way around.
Check the tires, and look for small cracks in the casings. Don't forget the spare. When the engine is warm, check the exhaust.

Take a Test Drive.
Try the brakes—do they pull evenly? Does the handbrake hold? Test the clutch for "chatter." Listen for excessive rear-end noise when you accelerate. How does it ride and hold the road?

Is your inspection welcome?
Ford Dealers invite your close inspection. They know skilled mechanics have made careful tests on every car they label A-1. But you be the judge—check your Ford Dealer's used car values for yourself.

W. F. BEIER
Mrs. Beier in Background

Among Goodell's many fine elderly residents are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Beier who have made Goodell their home for the past 47 years.

And since his retirement from active business 15 years ago they have devoted their time to their home a beautiful lawn, flower and vegetable garden.

Mr. Beier, who has had a life of varied activities was born in Elkport in Clayton county, Iowa and came to the farm he now owns, at the age of 6. After he was old enough to begin farming he operated the 160 acre place, just 4 miles west of Klemme for 11 years. He mentioned that he believed he had about all the hard luck a farmer could have during those first years with hail, hog cholera, cyclones, etc., but he stuck to it.

His activities in Goodell up to the time of his retirement included the operation of the elevator, then the ownership of a grocery and meat market where the Evenson building is now located and then for 18½ years he drove a Standard Oil tank truck.

The life of the Beiers is made even easier since he said he couldn't ask for a better tenant that they have had on their farm these many years.

They have one son, Walter who lives in Fort Dodge.

POLIO FOUNDATION'S A BIT TOO CHOOSY ABOUT WHERE ITS MONEY COMES FROM

During the current month the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation is conducting an emergency drive for funds. Whether or not a general solicitation will be conducted in Belmond, we don't know as this is written. Agencies sharing in local Community Chest funds have been good about NOT making further financial demands on us after having received their annual appropriations. But the point, in this instance, is that the polio foundation didn't realize that more than $500 of the sum it received from Wright county after the '54 March of Dimes was vilely raised through Community Chest channels.

If we're not mistaken, the appropriation of some $1,000 that Eagle Grove's Community Chest budgeted for the polio foundation was refused because its source was discovered. We noticed last week that the Iowa headquarters of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation rejected a check for $40,000 that had been raised through the capital's United Fund drive. We can't help but wonder how generously the people of Eagle Grove and Des Moines will respond to the emergency polio-fund campaign, being aware that the Foundation found their previous offers of financial assistance unacceptable.

We don't question the legitamacy of the Foundation's current appeal. We've wondered at its efforts to provide financial aid on a personal basis, in homes where polio has struck. It's a close thing to "socialized medicine;" but if we'd, ever benefited by this spirit of largesse, it would no doubt have our blessing. And the Foundation's search for a permanent answer to the polio riddle via gamma globulin and other research has involved immense expenditures. However, we DO question the practicality of the Foundation's arbitrary refusal of thousands of dollars in proffered aid on the strength of "principle."

The Foundation reasons, of course, that it can raise more money through independent drives than it will derive by sharing in united fund campaigns. In the last analysis, this REALLY means that it hopes to get MORE than its appropriate share of the public's charitable contributions if it can wangle it. According to its own statutes, the American Cancer Society operates on the same principle — BUT, when satisfied that it is receiving its just share from a community in the form of a Chest appropriation, the ACS doesn't quibble. It gratefully accepts the money, and that's that; which impresses us as a fair attitude.

Alms-takers, no matter how worthy their cause, in our opinion have small right to be arbitrary about the manner in which those alms are collected. We'd go so far as to suggest that a definite point be made next year of the fact that Belmond's donation toward the March of Dimes has the Community Chest as its source. Then if the polio foundation doesn't want the money, it could be pro rated among the other Chest agencies that aren't so particular. It behooves NO "begger," on whatever high plane he may do his begging, to be greedy at the expense of his brethren.

WHO MADE THE RECRUITS STAND TILL THEY COLLAPSED? NO ONE, THAT'S WHO

Many an ex-serviceman who went through a period of military duty during World War II or the war in Korea as an "un-reconstructed" civilian watched with more than a little interest the recent courts-martial prompted by "mass punishment" at Fort Dix, N. J. You may recall that a recruit company was kept standing at attention for an hour on a hot day, a dozen or more men collapsing during the ordeal.

First, a special court found the company's commanding officer guiltless because he was not on the parade grounds at the time and had not ordered or knowingly permitted the company sergeant to deal out the punishment. Then a subsequent court aquitted the sergeant, apparently on the grounds that the C. O. DID order and knowingly permit the ordeal. The only logical conclusion left to arrive at is that the recruits chose to stand in the sun at rigid attention for an hour just for the heck of it. No one, seemingly, was responsible for ordering them to do so.

This is a familiar state of affairs for any red-blooded American boy who has gone through recruit training. A handful of misfits jump the traces, and a whole company pays for their misdemeanors. It's happened thousands of times before; and, obviously, it's due to happen thousands of times more. That's the way the military wants it. So in the last analysis, neither the C. O. nor the sergeant WAS responsible. The long-standing military principle of "mass punishment" was to blame.

As we said, this is all a familiar matter to any ex-dogface, leatherneck or gob. Also to each new batch of recruits, in turn, it becomes equally familiar. And the powers-that-be wonder why so few young men choose to remain in the service, once their initial period of duty is completed. . . . WE know, don't we, fellahs?

CHICK CHATS

BEWARE!

'Tis midnight. The moon shines The pullets are in their shelters on the roosts — dreaming of feeders full of buttermilk and wet mash . . . . Across the range we see a waddling figure on all fours. Slowly and carefully, the figure wends it's way toward the shelter. Stealthily, the figure enters the shelter.

Then you hear the gol-dangdest racket you ever heard . . . Suddenly it is quite again. The figure slinks off . . . . And you've lost some valuable pullets to a coon.

Now I'm for soil and game conservation and all that. But I think it's too much that we have to feed coons with our good pullets. Or for that matter, foxes, weasels, mink or any other animal shouldn't be on the poultryman's dole.

What can you do about these nasty inhabitants of the wild? Well, you can shoot'em. But chances are you won't shoot the one The best way to avoid trouble is to keep them out.

The night raiders are easy to cope with. Make sure that your range shelter has no holes which aren't covered with heavy wire screen. And make sure the door is shut tight as soon as all the birds have gone to roost.

Of course, there are some animals, like fox, who go for a nice chicken braekfast. If you don't open the door too early, the fox might be cheated. But foxes have plenty of nerve. Sometimes, they don't care what time of day they eat and who sees them. A tight fence around the range may discourage a fox. But they are too smart for your chickens' good. Sometimes they manage to get inside the fence anyway.

A good dog out on range will stop predators from enjoying chicken dinners. You might have the problem of keeping the dog from eating an occasional bird, though.

We almost forgot about the two-legged skunks that like chicken too. In latin, these animals are known as Chickenivis Theiverorae. Their habit is to stuff gunny sacks full of pullets and haul them off to their lair.

One thing that stops this pest is a shot gun full of rock salt aimed at the right spot on its body. The sheriff can help get rid of the two-legged skunk too.

Like I said, ther's no use feeding all these animals with chickens. You aren't raising chickens for the propagation of game. Or the Chickenivis Theiverorae.

EIGHT PAGES THIS ISSUES

VOL. 34 NO. 46 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Wallace Ramsay had this bit of advice to offer in the Belmond Herald-Press of 40 years ago: "We never knew a girl unfaithful to her mother who came to be worth a one-eyed button to her husband. It isn't in the Bible. It is written large and awful in the list of misfit homes.

"If one of you boys ever runs across a girl with her face full of roses, who says as you come to the door, 'I can't go for a few minutes for the dishes aren't washed yet,' you wait for that girl. You sit down on the doorstep and wait for her.

"Because if you don't, some other fellow will come along and right there you will have lost an angel. Wait for her and stick to her like a burr to a mule's tail." . . . We doubt that there are very many "angels" available these days; but the advice seems still sound.

—M-S—

We get the usual columnist's kick out of having "Main Street" quoted elsewhere, but it seems we've got more scruples than most of the Brotherhood of Paragraphers. At least, so we've been informed by no less an authority that John M. Henry of the Des Moines R&T, who's secretary of the Press Columnists of Iowa. Made us feel good, too, in a perverted sort of way. What we write may not be quotable, but it's ours—all ours—by golly.

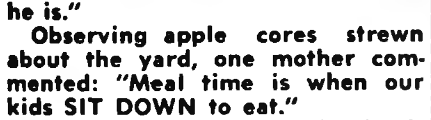
JMH told us, in fact, that a certin Bill Vaughn of the Kansas City Star in a momentary spade-calling mood just came right out and said: "Paragraph writing is based on recognized plagiarism." . . . To which Mr. Henry added, "Most columists change the wording a little bit and use the other fellow's paragraph as an original."

All this to-do came about because John Henry picked a bit from "Main Street" for publication in the August bulletin of the PCI. Regrettably, it happened to be from the amusing dissertation on bedroom mosquitos which we'd picked up from Stan Brotherton of the Whittemore Champion, duly crediting the source. We dropped a note to John (and to Stan) to set the record straight. Oddly, no one seemed bothered by the misquote except us.

—M-S—

The adjective "different" has always suggested to us someone with cousins as parents. So it perhaps classified us when Mr. Henry Wrote to Ye Ed: "You almost brand yourself as a different kind of columnist when you generally insist on giving credit for good quips." Guess we'll just have to take what solace we can from that. Others may get the quotes; BUT — can they lay claim to being "DIFFERENT"? . . . It's a distinction, anyway.

—M-S—



Watching a young employee gassing with a friend, a businessman you know muttered sourly, "That kid's never so busy but what he can stop to talk about how busy he is."

Observing apple cores strewn about the yard, one mother commented: "Meal time is when our kids SIT DOWN to eat."

One of our overstuffed friends tells us: "There's at least one advantage to being fat. People don't step on your toes."

Radios and Plane Used to Capture Young Fugitives

A combination of air reconnaissance and liason by police radio last week brought about the apprehension of a couple of Eagle Grove teen-agers who had walked off with $17 from a cash drawer at the Eagle Grove airport. The theft was reported about 11:00 a. m. and about three hours later both were in custody.

Sheriff Bob Blecker says that radio-equipped cars of his office and the E G police department were stationed at the corners of a farm area into which the 14-year-old and 15-year-old had escaped. The pursuit was abetted considerably by use of the plane, owned and flown by Dean Latta.

The boys were "pinned down" by the air search, and closed in on by means of radio communications. At length, one of the boys was caught in a cornfield, where—he explained to his captors—he was "looking for my pet rabbit." The other youngster was pulled out of a bean field, muddy and bedraggled.

Information concerning the boys' escapade was filed with the county attorney and they were placed, for the time being, in the custody of their parents.

If rain should prevent the picnic from being held at the outdoor site, it will be transferred to the school hot-lunch room.

Follows European Custom; Immense Banquet Planned

Two events such as never before have been witnessed in Belmond are planned by General Mills, Inc., for next Monday evening as a salute to establishment of the new Larro feed mill here. One will be a lighted-tree raising ceremony to mark the fact that construction on the new plant has achieved the highest point to which it will rise. Second will be the serving of a buffet dinner to an estimated crowd of 500 to 600 at Veterans' Memorial hall prior to the ceremonies at the site of the new plant.

Without question, the tree ceremony is unique in this area and is an event that has rarely been witnessed in this country. And the undertaking of serving so immense a crowd as will attend the preceding banquet has certainly never been endeavored before in Belmond, indoors.

Ancient European Custom

Of greatest general interest will be the raising of a lighted pine tree from a boom extending from a framework constructed on the bins of the new feed mill. This will be a public event and persons from Belmond and throughout the surrounding area are cordially invited to witness it. It will take place at 9:00 p. m. and will be accompanied by a short program featuring remarks by high officials of General Mills.

Whitney Eastman, vice president and general manager of the GMI feed division, explains that the tree-raising ceremony follows an ancient, European custom. In Germany, Poland and the no-longer-existing countries of Estonia and Latvia, a lighted pine tree is raised to the roof of a new structure when the highest point of elevation is reached. As observed for hundreds of years, the tradition signifies that the tradesmen responsible for erecting the building thus assure the owner that the construction can be expected to stand sturdy and strong through the years.

Supplants Ground-Breaking

Explaining the decision to dedicate the 50,000-ton capacity feed plant in this manner, David H. McVey, GMI vice president, observes. "It seemed to us that our friends would enjoy seeing the plant take shape, hence the tree-raising ceremony rather than the more common ground-breaking ceremony."

He adds, "Our Belmond plant will make a significant contribution to the farmer and to the feed dealer. The plant's layout will provide maximum efficiency, accuracy and service. Over 98 per cent of the ingredients will be handled in bulk through push-button controls." It is expected that the plant will be ready to go into operation not long after the first of the year.

Norm Dewes, GMI's North Central region sales manager for Larro feeds, originated the idea of the immense banquet to acquaint persons in allied fields with the great potentialities the new mill holds for this area.

Dinner at 6:00 p. m.

Feed dealers and their wives and grain dealers and their wives from throughout Iowa have been invited to attend the dinner. Belmond civic leaders and all workmen who have been engaged in the plant's construction, also accompanied by their wives, are also included on the guest list.

This dinner will be held at 6:00 p. m., with corn on the cob among the features of the menu. It is anticipated that the crowd will tax the facilities of Veterans' Memorial hall and arrangements are being made to carry the program by public address system to the diners accomodated in the basement.

Eastman Major Speaker

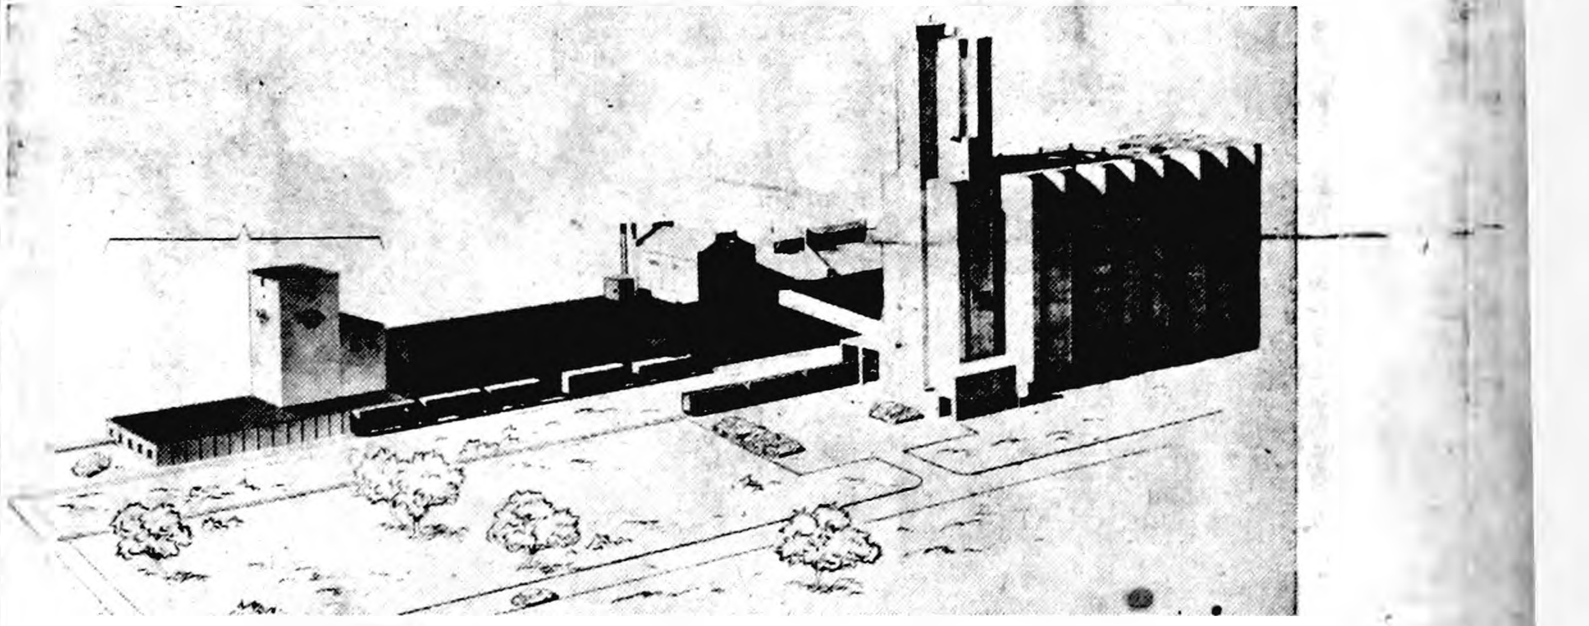
Mr. Eastman, a familiar figure here due to his long affiliation with the GMI chemical division, which is in charge of the local soybean processing plant, will be the major after-dinner speaker. Remarks will also be offered by Mr. McVey and Mr. Dewes and by the following General Mills executives: Sewell Andrews, Jr., general manager of the chemical division; Fred Hafner, director of soybean oil meal sales for GMI: and W. J. Walton, manager of the company's Chicago and southeastern grain operations.

Walt Hotvet, local plant superintendent, and Henry Stokke, office manager, will join with the visiting officials in acting as hosts for the occasion.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl Ferguson were recent supper guests at the Mrs. Jessie Fitzgerald home at Plover and also visited Paul Ferguson at Plover. That evening they called at the Floyd Ferguson home at Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Johnson met their grandchildren, Susan and Jack Olson of Milwaukee at Prairie du Chien a week ago Monday bringing them here for a two-week visit. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will take the children back later and will visit in the Olson home in Milwaukee.



POURING OF CONCRETE for the bins that will provide storage of grain for the General Mills feed mill here was started on Aug. 9. It has not been a continuous operation, but has required three sessions of pouring. The last was started this Monday and the bin structure should be all up by Friday, barring any unforseen developments. The bins and the rest of the new mill, in finished appearance, are indicated beneath the bracket in the above picture. This will be the site of next Monday night's tree-raising ceremony.

Faris Estimates About 1,040 Students Will Enroll In Belmond Community School District on Monday

Wright Hits 75% Of Its Bond Quota In Seven Months

Purchases of series E and H United States savings bonds by Iowans amounted to $10,617,364 during July, bringing the seven-month total for 1954 to $96,344,883. With 69 per cent of the annual quota already attained, Iowa has one of the best records in the nation.

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the savings bonds division, reports that sales of savings bonds in this county during July were $93,874, for a seven-month total of $1,018,670 and 75.16 per cent of the annual quota.

Three counties, Lucas, O'Brien and Tama, already have exceeded 100 per cent of their respective goals for the year.

"Real or threatened crop damage undoubtedly has retarded sales of savings bonds in same areas," Mr. Kramer says, "but Iowa still is appreciably ahead of the national average of bond purchases. We can look forward to seeing even more dollars invested in savings bonds during the next few months."

Total purchases of E and H bonds for the seven-month period, and percentages of annual quotas attained, in adjacent counties are: Franklin county, $554,314 for 73.09 per cent; Hancock county, $574,692 for 71.51 per cent; Hamilton county, $749,423 for 62.7 per cent; Kossuth county, $1,000,033 for 68.66 per cent.

REAL OLDTIMER

Mrs. Margaret Spratt, 85 is the oldest member in point of service on the staff of the weekly Oakland Acorn. She's been writing for the paper 56 years, starting in 1898.

Supt. Don Faris estimates that about 1,040 students will file into the classrooms of the Goodell and Belmond schools when Belmond Community School district launches on the first ~~year of~~ its existence next Monday at 9:00 a.m. The school at Goodell will accomodate children in kindergarten through sixth grade, all youngsters living to the east and west of that community attending classes there. Three teachers will serve the Goodell school and 38 will conduct the classes held here at Belmond's Ramsay Elementary school, the junior high and high school.

Bus routes covered in the new district will require the services of 10 busses. An eleventh is included in the fleet to fill in, in case of unexpected mechanical difficulties. A total of 416 students will be brought to school daily at Belmond and Goodell. Three of the busses will serve Goodell, two bringing students to the school there and a third bringing students from the same area in to Belmond to attend junior high and high school classes.

Hot Lunches Planned

Hot lunch programs similar to those of previous years will be carried on at both schools. Each will serve Class A lunches at noon under the state's supervision. As was true last year, weekly tickets will be available at $1.25 or individual meals can be had for 30 cents. Mrs. Mattie Farmer will be in charge of the program at Belmond and Mrs. Roy Foss will cook the hot meals for the children at Goodell. Supervisor of the program will be Carol Richards, home economics instructor.

Text book rental in the district's schools will be on the same plan as was in effect in Belmond last year. Charges will be: grades 1-3, $2.25 per year; grades 4-8 $2.50; high school, $2.75. Extra fees for special courses will be charged as follows: typing, $1.25 per semester; cooking, $1.00 per semester; industrial arts, $1.00 per year; vocational agricultural shop, $1.00 per year. Also, there will be an annual charge of $1.50 for band students and for athletes to help foot the expense of insurance on instruments and accident insurance, respectively.

New Equipment Bought

New equipment has been purchased by the school board for both the Goodell and Belmond schools. Teachers at Goodell will find new desks and chairs awaiting them and the classrooms there with new desks. The regular, new-seating program was continued this summer at Belmond; 35 new seats and desks were bought to replace old ones in the fifth and sixth grades. Additional playground equipment was purchased for both Goodell and Ramsay Elementary school grounds. Belmond will have a new merry-go-round and four-board teeter-totter; Goodell, a similar teeter-totter and a jungle gym.

Janitors Phil Erdman, Chris Friesleben and Adolph Wenzel at Belmond and Alvis Berhow at Goodell have spent the summer refinishing all the classrooms so they would be in top condition and ready for the school year.

Olde Tyme Editor "Told All" When Town Bum Died

Breathes any reporter with soul so numb, who on writing up the demise of a "bum," never to himself has said, "The no-good rascal's better off dead!"?

Like the minister faced with the necessity of eulogizing such a critter, an editor left with the sole choice of perjury or brevity usually writes as little as possible and lets it go at that.

Time was, though, when an editor would occasionally risk a charge of buckshot in the brisket to speak the unvarnished truth. While the bold step might incur the need for a new editor, at least the burst of honesty made for good reading.

First, A Standard "Obit"

Certainly that could be said of the following obituary of an aged citizen who had fallen on an icy sidewalk and suffered injuries that led to his death a few days later. Unearthed somewhere by the Dennison Bulletin, the olde tyme editor's "obit" started in the traditional manner:

"James Ralston, pioneer resident of this community, died Friday from injuries sustained in a fall on the sidewalk in front of his home."

There were some more details of the accident, the time and the place of the funeral and then the editor continued:

"He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ralston who came to this part of the country in a covered wagon 70 years ago.

"The couple raised a large family, most of whom have left the community for larger fields of endeavor."

Then He Let Loose

About that time the editor began to retch inwardly, we suppose, for he changed the tenor of his editorial.

"Readers of this newspaper know doggoned well what kind of a guy Jim Ralston was and the majority of our citizens are not shedding any tears over his demise.

"The truth is that Ralston was no good whatsoever to his family or the community and his passing is one of the biggest improvements since they graveled the road to the railroad junction.

Then the editor really began to swing:

"Jim's parents, the John Ralstons came here quite a few years ago. The old man soon made a reputation for himself as the biggest skinflint ever to pinch a penny until the Indian winced.

"They lived outside of town in an old sod house and Ralston went into the cattle business, with the aid of a long rope and a handy running iron.

Raised His Own "Help"

"He sired a lot of kids, which eventually killed his long suffering wife who went to her reward with a prayer of thanksgiving. He had that big a family because he was too cheap to hire help.

"He became known as "Black Leg Ralston"; all steers that died of blackleg at the Ralston place were butchered out and formed part of the family menu.

"The kids didn't get shoes until a pair of the old man's wore out; he'd tack a pice of rawhide on them and pass them on to the oldest child. Those shoes would work their way down through the string of kids until only shreds of leather and rawhide were left.

"As fast as the kids were old enough to run fast they'd leave home, streaking across the prairie while old man Ralston danced up and down in the front yard swearing bloody murder at them. The kids never came back.

"Jim Ralston stayed on at the old place; mostly because he was too shiftless and lazy to run and besides he knew the old man would eventually die of his own venom and Jim would inherit the sod house and a couple of sections of range land.

"After Blackleg died, Jim took over. He had himself a bath once and went to Denver where he prevailed on some poor woman to marry him. She returned to this town with him and three weeks later left, never to return. By that time the effects of Jim's bath had worn off and no one could bear to stand down wind from him.

"Over the years Jim sold off the cattle and used the money to buy liquor. He never did a decent day's work in his life; his biggest muscular effort was biting corks out of bottles.

Poor Reverend Smith!

"In recent times Jim swamped out O'Connors saloon every morning in exchange for a quart of rotten liquor; he'd go home to his soddy and drink it up, then lie there with his mouth open and flies buzzing aroud his filthy carcass.

"There will be a funeral for the old reprobate next Sunday at the Methodist church and we feel all-fired sorry for the Reverend Smith who will have to say some nice things about Ralston; the pastor certainly can't tell the truth.

"Burial will be at the city cemetery. We hope O'Connor, the furniture dealer and mortician, bathed Jim before he embalmed him. If he didn't and the wind is from the wrong direction, there will be some long dead and peaceful citizens who are going to climb out of their grave and move somewhere else.

"Yes folks, the country is progressing. Jim Ralston has passed from our midst and this should be a time for great rejoicing."

LIGHTED-TREE RAISING CEREMONY

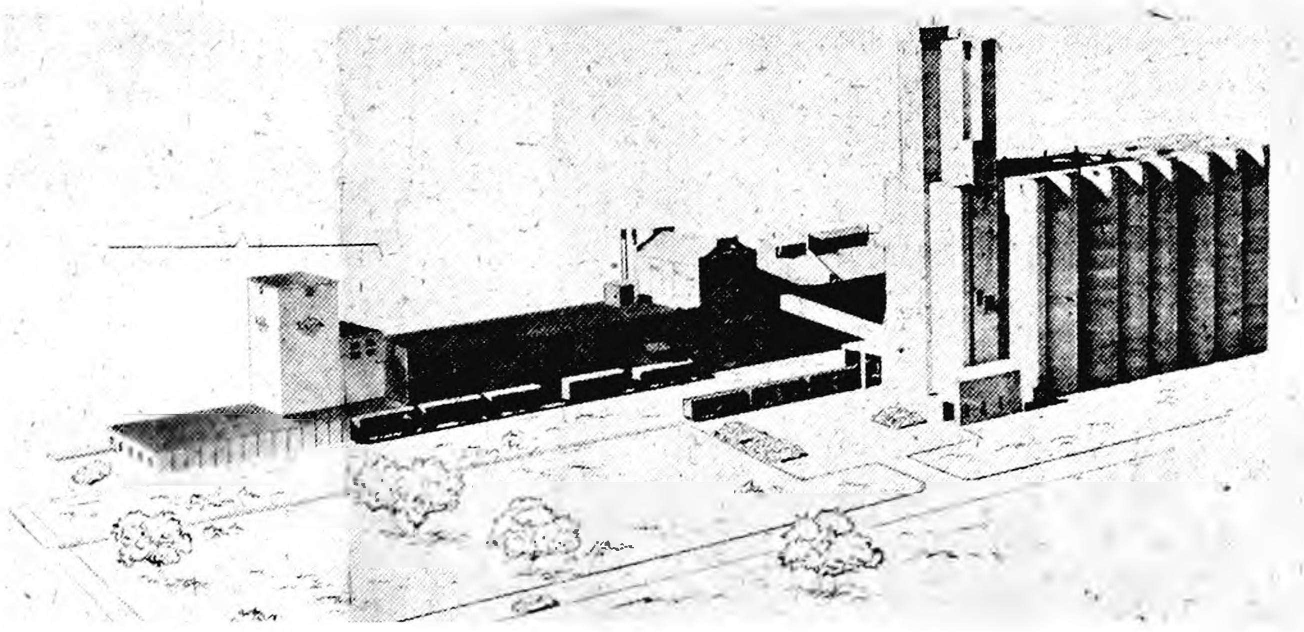
MARKING ESTABLISHMENT OF BELMOND'S NEW . . .

LARRO Feed Mill

MONDAY, AUG. 30., 9:00 p.m.



HERE'S HOW the completed mill will look. It is marked by bracket, directly to left of present GMI soybean processing plant. It will be an important addition to the General Mills family of industrial operations.

It's an old, European tradition to raise a lighted pine tree to the ridgepole when that highest point in the construction of a new building is reached. This custom has been followed for many hundreds of years in Germany, Poland and in the areas that once comprised Estonia and Latvia. Raising of the tree symbolizes the assurance of the carpenters and other tradesmen that the structure can be fully depended upon to withstand all stresses and strains and can be expected to serve its owner well for many years.

In appropriate accord with the ancient tradition. technical arrangements for observance of the custom here next Monday night have been shouldered by Joe Flaspohler. He's contsruction superintendent for Jones-Hettelsater Co., the construction firm that is building the mill. It's his job to see that the tree goes UP — and that it gets there LIGHTED.

A tree some 15 to 20 feet in height has been obtained for the ceremony. It will be hoisted by pulley to the top of the bin framework, which will be the highest point to which the new mill will extend above the ground—a distance of 100 feet. The occasion promises to be as interesting as it will be different.

CHICK CHATS

WATER, THE ELIXIR ESSENTIAL

There's a fellow on a big radio station in Iowa who talks a lot about how to raise chickens. This fellow knows a lot about it too He's been in the poultry business over 35 years. And he talks an awful lot about how folks should not skimp in watering their chickens. Lots of people call him the "water boy." He doesn't mind it a bit. As long as people give their chickens plenty of cool, clean water.

This fellow believes that poultrymen lose more eggs from lack of water than from anything else. And he's got quite a point. You see, the egg is mostly water. A chicken's body is mostly water. It follows that a chicken needs water to lay well and live well.

And if you've been in as many chicken houses as I have, you could see why this friend of mine is always harping on water. So many folks figure that since water is cheap, they can be kind of sloppy about giving it to the birds. At least it looks that way. The watering places, the few that you find, are often dirty with green scum on the inside. Not only is the water lousy tasting, but it might be loaded with germs of one sort or another.

One poultryman I heard of complained that his pullets ate so much litter–especially when he happened to spill water on it. Strangely enough, they stopped the habit when he put more waterers in the house. Those chickens were desparate enough for water to eat soaked crushed corn-cobs.

Water is important for any animal, or plant. But since we're chatting about chickens, we think water is more important for them. They need it to grom, live and lay. And they need water that's cool, and clean.

The nice thing about water is that's it's cheap. With the new plastic pipe, you can cut out a lot water carrying for very small expense. So, pipe it to the hen house and range. And pour it often to the birds.

There's no use losing money just from the lack of water.

SETTING OUT TO OWN YOUR OWN HOME HAS A GREAT DEAL TO RECOMMEND IT

At no time since the days of the pioneers, when it behooved each_family to be independent and self-sufficient to the greatest possible degree, has their been such trend toward home-ownership in this country—or greater justification for each breadwinner to adopt that goal.

We've become highly security-minded and a financially independent old age is a prime objective of the vast majority of us. This has come about through the inspiration provided by the federal Social Security program, through the urgings of private insurance concerns, and — we like to think — through a survival of at least some of the dogged individualism that helped our forefathers to make this country what it is.

Careful planning is the key to a comfortable old age, reasonably free from financial worries. And a home of one's own stacks large in any such planning. During our earning years, we "salt" what we can through savings programs—if we're smart; we can now plan on material assistance from Uncle Sam toward adequate retirement funds (a lot of us, anyway) through Social Security. Still, for the most of us, a retirement income truly adequate to live on, rather than just to exist on, is a tough prosposition.

That's where a home-of-your-own enters the picture. You take a large step towards life-long independence when you pick yourself up a mortgage and go to work on it. It stands a good chance of making you a more solid citizen as you go along, too; for you sink roots in the community of your choice and between truly a part of it.

What set us off on this tangent was a comment by George Replogle of Fort Dodge, Social Security field representative for this area, in a publicity release he recently sent out. Stressing the importance of planning retirement income to supplement what you may some day receive through Social Security, he observed:

"Important, too, in this total picture, is home ownership since a person who has a home fully paid for at retirement will need substantially less in retirement income than his neighbor who has to pay monthy rent."

We have no figures to back up our belief, but we'd be willing to wager that never has the percentage of homes OWNED by their residents been higher in Belmond than right now. (Ask someone who's been trying to rent a house lately). It's a trend we view with complete approval; and one that we heartily recommend that each young couple follow as early as circumstances permit.

—o—

IF YOU WANT A THING BADLY ENOUGH YOU'LL GET IT; GARNER WANTS A POOL

Garner, we note by the Garner Leader, is studying in very systematic fashion the proposal of building a swimming pool for that community. The subject has been in the discussion stage for some time. Recently the Rotary club called a meeting of club and other organization representatives for a "brass tacks" investigation into the feasibility of the idea. If we were obliged to lay a small bet on the matter, we'd wager that Garner will GET its swimming pool. For Garner NEEDS a swimming pool, and a lot of people up there have come to realize it.

We don't for a moment, though, believe that Garner needs a swimming pool any more than Belmond does. We pointed out in an earlier editorial that, although 250 local youngsters signed up for swimming at the Clarion pool this summer, not all who were eligible to take the Red Cross water safety course were able to do so. They simply couldn't be accomodated. The fact that we've "outgrown" the old system for teaching our children to swim and how to conduct themselves in the water is only one of a number of good reasons why the time is ripe for us to be thinking of a community pool of our own.

There's not much doubt in our mind but what a lot of enthusiasm for such an undertaking could be generated if some group would only take the initiative in launching the project It's a wonderful opportunity for some local organization to step right up and get a jewel in its crown.

VOL. 34 NO. 47 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Henry Larsen is not one who believes that modern farming methods must inevitably be better than those of the "good old days." He recently seeded about seven acres of riverbank land he owns in the south part of town, employing the art of hand-sowing he learned as a youth in Denmark.

And Henry defies any convert to mechanical farming to point out an evener job of seeding than he achieved by simply swinging his good, right arm.

Hand-seeding is a genuine skill, however, and isn't easy just because Henry makes it look that way. He says his talent along this line is in frequent demand by Belmondites seeding new lawns. After this "plug," he may be finding himself with a number of NEW clients, too.

There's talk of formally tacking a name on Belmond's very newest real estate development, located just north of Crapser's garage. "Wreckville" has been nominated as an appropriate moniker. Three new "squatters" moved in there over the weekend. They comes and they goes with truly alarming regularity. Sheriff Bob Blecker suggests that the stretch on Highway 69 to the north and south of Belmond is well on its way to earning a name of its own, too. He opines that "Death Valley" would hit it about right.

During-vacation mail brought us notes from a couple of subscribers-from-afar. Mary Wallace wrote from Waterloo, renewing her subscription for another year, commenting she's been gone for 11 years now and hasn't been back "home" for three. She added that she hopes to make it back to Belmond during the summer of '55.

Also a brief line from Mac and Dee Jensen, from far off Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

They ask that a "hello" be passed on to all their friends. They say that they're still house-hunting and are living in a hotel, for the time being. "When we get a little more settled we'll be able to write describing our work, etc., here in Haiti," they promise.

Ye Ed received a communication from Archie Rierson to the effect that The Independent sounded for all the world like the Daily Worker in its recent editorial concerning Marse Joe McCarthy.

You may recall that the editorial in question criticized Iowa's senators for pussy-footing on the matter of condemning McCarthy's methods. Archie states as his own personal opinion that what America needs is "more Americans like McCarthy."

While we disagree with this observation 100 per cent—make that 110 per cent—we're delighted to have one of our editorials elicit reader comment and are most happy to pass the comment along.

Belmond Community hospital was the recipient of three welcome gifts last week, all of which will be spent to purchase equipment for the children's ward to help young patients confined there "get well quicker." That was the specific request of the donors of two of the gifts.

Janet Howell brought to the hospital office $1.69 raised by a neighborhood entertainment and $3.03, the proceeds of a brief but profitable baseball game. The amounts were accumulated by the joint efforts of children living along 2nd avenue SE and general vicinity. Janet, apparently, was somewhat the guiding spirit behind the two benefit performances.

Another sum—a check for $29.06—was presented to the hospital by the directors of Belmond township School District No. 2 as its affairs were wound up preparatory to assimilation by Belmond Community School district. There was that amount left in the treasury, and the directors agreed it couldn't find a better home than the hospital.

Bronco Varsity Gridders to Play Team of Alumni

Belmond football fans will have a chance to see how the 1954 Broncos are shaping up when the BHS varsity takes the field Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock against a team of carefully handpicked alumni. Both of the adversaries have been making very bold statements about what's going to be the result and an interesting fracas is promised.

Only graduates of the last three BHS classes will be used on the alumni eleven. The "grad" squad may be a bit short on reserves, but spokesmen for the alum's boast that quality and not quantity will tell the tale.

Coach Dick Hobbs says the affair will actually be more in the nature of a scrimmage than formal game, with ample opportunity being allowed to him and his assistants to point out errors along the way. The public is cordially invited to view the proceedings.

Ross Henry Reports County's Assessed Valuations For 1954 Increased $572,322 Over Total for 1953

Assessor F. Ross Henry revealed this week that total assessed valuation of Wright county real estate and personal property for 1954 is up $572,322 over that of a year ago. About 60 per cent of the amount is attributable to gain in real estate valuation due to new building. New construction added $368,733 to the county's assessed valuation of real estate, whereas the value of previously existing real property dropped about $14,000—to $36,831,043 Buildings razed and land taken for roads largely accounted for the decrease, Mr. Henry says.

Compared to the net gain of $354,348 in real estate evaluation, assessed value of personal property increased a matter of $216,974—to $7,610,690. Total of moneys and credits went down $4,400, standing at $2,802,901 for the current year.

$614,500 for Construction

That $368,733 assessed value of new building represented an actual investment of approximately $614,500 in new construction during 1953, according to Mr. Henry. New building in Belmond had an assessed value of $39,133, in Clarion $51,956, and in Eagle Grove $48,396. Those figures represent actual cash investments of about $65,200 in Belmond, $86,600 in Clarion and $80,650 in Eagle Grove.

The assessor's figures show Belmond's '54 assessed valuation to total about $95,000 more than last year, having increased from $2,207,491 to $2,302,464. But local moneys and credits decreased from $437,297 to $419,196. Clarion's came down from $474,502 to $436,985, but Eagle Grove's went up from $759,493 to $873,000.

E. G. Valuations Jump

Clarion's assessed valuation gained $122,757, rising to a total of $3,589,094. Eagle Grove's total assessed valuation increased by over $254,000, with a boost of $206,149 in the valuation of personal property mainly accounting for the sizeable jump.

Townships in the Belmond vicinity all show some increase real estate valuation due to new construction, as follows: Belmond from $1,984,031 to $1,990,564; Pleasant, $1,749,365 to $1,767,318; Iowa, $1,794,365 to $1,805,868; Norwary, $1,841,625 to $1,859,340. Personal property valuation in Belmond township slipped from $353,067 to $349,560; in Pleasant, from $281,601 to $250,264; in Iowa, from $320,071 to $303,580; and in Norway from $284,204 to $253,319.

No Exemptions Deducted

Norway showed a $2,600 increase in moneys and credits, but it brought that township's total in that category to only $5,100. Belmond township had a drop from $48,692 to $44,750. Increases were shown in Iowa from $57,954 to $78,856 and in Pleasant from $34,678 to $41,416.

Mr. Henry explained that none of the property valuations have had soldiers' exemptions deducted; and that no bank account money is included in the moneys and credits.

ONE OF NINE airmen honored recently at Lincoln (Neb.) Air Force base with SAC Achievement Awards for outstanding efforts in performance of duty was A/1c Edward Eccles (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eccles. Each base squadron was permitted to nominate a recipient for this semi-annual award. Airman Eccles is shown with Col. Ervin Wursten, 98th Bomb Wing Commander, who made the presentations.

Only $25 Went

Just one winner turned up during the course of Tuesday's Cash Gift Day drawings. Mrs. Will J. Boelman received one of the $25 awards at 2:00 p. m. The Cash Gift Day committee will again have six $25 prizes up for grabs next Tuesday, 2:00 o'clock, and is boosting the 3:00 p. m. sum to $175. There was just one winner last week, too—$25 going to Mrs. Rodney Urdhal.

Wright Has Only 26 Rural Schools

Only 26 rural schools will be open this fall in Wright county, a reduction of eight under the total that opened their doors to students a year ago and comparing to 75 that were still in operation only 10 years ago. Most of the schools were beginning classes this Monday.

Three teachers from Belmond will be in charge of rural schools: Rose Ormsby, Grant No. 7; Nettie Watermiller, Lincoln No. 2; and Mrs. Francis McNulty, Lincoln No. 6.

Only eight of the 16 townships are still operating rural schools: Lake (2), Grant (2), Eagle Grove (2), Dayton (3), Lincoln (3), Troy (5), Woolstock (4) and Wall Lake (5).

Farm Machinery Tax Values Cut By State Order

Last week the state tax commission ordered a 10 per cent cut in assessed valuations that had been placed on farm machinery in Wright county for the current year.

This action followed on the heels of a similar step taken last year at the behest of the county board of review. Assessor F. Ross Henry says he cannot understand the reason for the latest reduction and that a personal appearance before the commission at Des Moines failed to shed any light on the basis for its ruling.

Mr. Henry says that all county assessors were provided a schedule to be followed for evaluating farm machinery and that it was scrupulously adhered to in Wright county.

He suggests that the actual average of farm machinery value on Wright county farms probably runs somewhat higher than in neighboring counties and that this fact may have misled the commission into regarding valuations here as being out of line.

Only four other assessors were instructed to change farm machinery evaluations. Moderate increases were ordered in Webster and Ringgold and more drastic shifts were ordered in Keokuk and Grundy counties.

ATTEND CANCER MEETING

Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Rowan, chapter chairman, and Mrs. Gwen Wilson of Eagle Grove, educational chairman, represented Wright county chapter of the American Cancer society at a 10-county area cancer education workshop last Friday at Algona.

Stores to Close

Most local business firms plan to comply with the decision of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce to have all stores and offices close next Monday in observance of Labor Day. Due to the holiday, The Independent will be delayed a day in publishing next week's issue and it will be placed in the mail on Thursday rather than Wednesday afternoon.

ROLLENES COVER NEARLY 5,000 MILES DURING TRIP

Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Rollene returned Friday from a trip they began Aug. 2 and which covered about 5,000 miles. They first went to Philadelphia, Pa., where they attended the International Council of Christian Churches; then on to Orono, Me., where they visited their daughter, Mrs. C. D. Richards, and family.

They ferried across Lake Champlain, came west through Canada and back to Evanston, Ill., where they attended the World Council of Churches. They also enjoyed a visit with their son, Merten Rollene, and family at Grayslake, Ill.

WINS ART PRIZE

Shirley Eliason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Eliason, won first prize of $60 in drawings and prints division of the Iowa State Fair art show at Des Moines last week. A year ago the Kanawha girl, now on the University of Iowa fine arts faculty, won second place in the same division.

874 Ballots Cast in ASC Election; Vanderlip Remains County Chairman

Township ASC committeemen who were elected earlier in the month met Monday at Clarion to vote on county ASC committeemen for the coming year and returned to office all four men who have been serving in that capacity. H.B. Vanderlip of Blaine township was again named chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee and C. C. Woodin of Grant was reelected vice chairman.

Martin O. Thompson of Troy returns to the committee as third member and Albert T. Thompson of Norway as first alternate. Ray Wilson of Dayton township was elected as second alternate, a position that had been vacant since resignation of Oscar J. Hanson from the committee in order to accept the position of ASC office manager.

On Friday, an earlier order from the department of agriculture was rescinded that would have made Vanderlip and Woodin ineligible for reelection by virtue of having served on the committee for three or more years. With this restriction lifted, the county convention promptly voted to keep the two men in their incumbent posts.

All of the committeemen are experienced farmers, who are familiar with ASC activities. These deal mainly with price supports, conservation and production adjustment programs. Their duties consist mostly of policy-making and decision-making functions concerned with ASC administration on the county level. Policy execution and day-to-day ASC operations fall to the office manager.

Votes cast for township ASC committeemen by the Aug. 20 deadline totaled 874, representing 37 more ballots than were cast last year. The official one-year terms of the township officers, the same as the county officers, started Sept. 1.

Following are the committeemen elected by townships in the Belmond vicinity; listed in order are chairman, vice chairman, regular member, 1st alternate and second alternate (new member indicated by asterisk):

Belmond township—Garfield Halverson, *Vernon Swenson, *Glenn Slining, *Elling Ellingston, *Emory Thompson; Pleasant—Hio Goeman, George Mennenga, *William J. Boelman, *Rex Fetrow, *Lambert H. Pals; Norway — *Glenn Russell, *James Jergenson, *Sherman Tesdahl, *Richard Arends, *George D. Abbas.

Grant — Frank D. Sebert, Earl Whipple, Dale Hardy, Jack Ketchum, *Eph Holm; Iowa — J. Henry Arends, John O. Lager, *Fred Frohling, Raymond Aldrich, Don A. Burt.

WILL HONOR DAN LEONARD

An open house is planned for next Sunday by the family of Dan Leonard, Clarion, to honor the former Wright county sheriff on his 90th birthday. It will be held at his home, 421 Second avenue NE, Clarion.

BHS ALUMNA with the Class of '52, A/3c Verda Mennenga, on Aug. 17 was graduated from the Classification Specialist course offered at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. She received instruction in interviewing and counselling newly arrived airmen to help determine the career fields for which they are best suited.

Girls Outnumbered By Boys, 542-478; 275 H. S. Pupils

Belmond Community School district launched on the first year of its existence Monday with a total student enrollment of 1,020. Of this number, 948 pupils are attending classes at Belmond and 72 at Goodell. The local enrollment is about 45 higher than a year ago, accounted for largely by the Goodell junior and senior high school students now attending school here.

Perhaps the most interesting fact relating to the enrollment is the unusual predominance in the number of boys, there being 64 more boys than girls in the school system. Twenty-two of this number is accounted for in the Belmond kindergarten class, alone, in which there are 55 boys and only 33 girls.

275 in High School

High school registration came to 275 about 10 less than had been anticipated. There are 68 seniors, compared to only 49 last fall; 54 sophomores, 14 less than a year ago; 64 juniors, an increase of 15; and 89 freshmen, a jump of 24. Total high school increase is 44.

Junior high students are three fewer in number than last year, with 8th grade enrollment down from 86 to 62 and that in 7th increased from 57 to 78. Local registration in 6th grade dropped from 73 to 63, with nine at Goodell bringing the district figure to 72. Fifth-graders here total 71, compared to 65 last fall; and another four are attending this grade at Goodell.

Biggest Kindergarten Class

Fourth grade enrollment was 72 here a year ago; is now 77, and seven more pupils are registered at Goodell. Corresponding figures for the other elementary grades are: 3rd—76 down to 68, and 11; 2nd—76 down to 75, and 14; 1st—83 up to 91, and 16. Last year's record-breaking kindergarten enrollment of 87 is exceeded here by one this year and 11 more kindergarteners are attending the Goodell school.

Supt. Don Faris announces that the final vacancy on the teaching staff was filled last week when Robert Wilson, 23, of Pocahontas was hired to succeed Elwyn Jacobs. He will teach the chemistry and general science classes that were conducted last year by Ernest Doeringsfeld and the latter will take over the mathematics classes that Jacobs was scheduled to teach.

Mr. Wilson is a graduate of St. Ansgar High school and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in science from Iowa State Teachers college in 1952. The past two years he has taught at Dike. He had been expecting a draft call, so had not signed a new contract at Dike. Final Rites Held For Mrs. Meints

Johann Schmidt of Chapin officiated over the rites and burial was in the church cemetery. Fulton Funeral home was in charge and six of Mrs. Meints' grandsons served as pallbearers.

Mrs. Meints died at her Belmond home on Wednesday of last week at the age of 86 years, five months and 19 days. She was born on March 6, 1868, at Boen, Eastfriesland, Germany. Elise Corline Harms grew to womanhood in Germany, and in early life became a member of the Reformed church at Wymeer.

On July 29, 1887, she was wed to Conrad Meints and six children were born to them. In the spring of 1903 the family emigrated to America, settling near Latimer. Subsequently they also lived near Chapin and Meservey.

In 1937, Mr. and Mrs. Meints retired from farming. On Sept. 18 of the following year, Mr. Meints died very suddenly and unexpectedly. Mrs. Meints is survived by all her children: Harm of Sheffield, Abbe of Thornton, A. J., Minnie (Mrs. John) Kriens and William of Belmond, and Amanda (Mrs. Fred) Wessels of Meservey. Arlen Pals Again Has Reserve Champion Baby Beef at Junior Fair

4-H and FFA exhibitors from the Belmond vicinity took a generous share of the honors in the various divisions of competition at last week's junior fair at Eagle Grove. One of the outstanding achievements was that of Arlen Pals of the Pleasant Pioneers, whose 1,075-lb. Angus baby beef took down the reserve grand championship. In 1951, Arlen had the grand champion calf at Eagle Grove and the following year showed the reserve champion. Michael Christenson of Vincent had the '54 grand champion.

Belmond FFA boys virtually monopolized honors in the sheep show. Airell Clark, among other distinctions, was judged champion sheep showman and showed the champion mutton-type purebred. His Hampshire sheep took first in both the ewe and ram divisions. Jack Spitler exhibited the champion market lamb and Larry Mennenga had the champion pen of three. Jack had a second blue ribbon individual lamb and Larry and Lynn Mennenaga showed three blue ribbons winners. The Mennenga brothers also had two other blue ribbon pens of three and Spitler had one blue ribbon pen.

Pals Champion Showman

Arlen Pals' champion calf was an Angus heavyweight; Larry Rietema of Kanawha got a blue ribbon in the same division and Airell Clark in the lightweight. Others from this vicinity getting blue ribbons on baby beeves were: Loren Payne and David Suntken, Belmond. Shorthorn heavyweights; John Studebaker, Belmond lightweight.

Roger Espe, Kanawha, Hereford heavyweight; Wayne Rietema, Kanawha, middleweight; Donald Aldrich, Belmond, lightweight. In the special two year. Angus division, Danny Aldrich got a blue. The beef showman championship was won by Pals, giving him about the only top honor that had hitherto escaped him.

Belmond produced its third champion showman when that title in the dairy department went to Terrel Baker. He also had the grand champion cow, in production. In the Holstein division, Terrel showed the best grade heifer calf and purebred or grade yearling heifer and the second best purebred heifer calf.

Only in the swine department did entries from the Belmond vicinity fail to cut much of a swathe. As usual, Eagle Grove hogs dominated the swine show. Don Williamson had the grand champion pig and Bob Flatebo the grand champion pen of three. Leland Watts of Clarion cut in on the Eagle Grove monopoly by winning the showmanship award.

S. Swenson D. M. Winner

Top place-winners among the 4-H girl exhibitors, whose entries were sent on to the Iowa State Fair, included: Gloria Rabe, three glasses of jelly; Sandra Swenson, three jars of food to form meal; and Mary Alice Studebaker, long-time expense book; all members of the Belmond Busy Bees. Miss Swenson also won a blue ribbon at Des Moines, as did Connie Jergensen of Norway Jolly Joy Makers on a plain cake. Seven Wright county entries at the state fair won blues, altogether

K. Lerdal Fined Following Crash

Kenneth Lerdal, 23, of Belmond was fined $25 and costs in the court of Mayor Henry Hokel last Monday as a result of an accident that occurred on Highway 69 about 1:15 o'clock that morning. He was charged with not having his car under control after his vehicle smashed into the rear end of a second auto three-quarters of a mile south of town.

Lerdal had apparently dozed off when his car collided with the back end of another one driven by Bonnie Lunstrum, 27, of Mason City. Both were traveling north. Impact of the crash was so great that the gas tank on the Lunstrum exploded into flames, according to the report of Sheriff Bob Blecker. The Belmond fire department had to be summoned to extinguish the blaze.

Mrs. Lunstrum received first aid at the Belmond Community hospital for scalp lacerations and Lerdal for a chest injury and minor abrasions. Sheriff Blecker estimated damages to Mrs. Lunstrum's '53 Plymouth at $1,500 and to Lerdal's '48 Ford at $500.

GOOD ROADS SPEAKER ESTIMATES COST OF MODERNIZING HIGHWAYS

"The Iowa Good Roads association's program for Iowa's highways actually is a 'catchup' program and is not a program of fancy roads." Gerald Bogan, the association's executive secretary, told the Eagle Grove Rotary club at Eagle Grove on Monday, night, Aug. 9.

He said an engineering survey had been made which listed the funds which would be required to completely modernize the primary road system in Iowa "to standards meeting the traffic loads of today." He said the survey indicated that it would cost $6,577,900 to modernize the primary system in Wright county.

Bogan explained that the contemplated program would cost $750,000,000 for the state and that the association is thinking in terms of a 15-year program, "which mean à $50,000,000 primary road construction program annually."

Car Numbers Increasing

He said that while the study indicated there were 137 miles of primary roads which carried enough traffic to warrant them being 4-lane, "only 17.3 miles of such roads are included in the estimates."

Using charts, Bogan pointed out some of the factors which prompted the Good Roads associaton to propose a "re-appraisal of the highway situation at this time." Among them, he listed: increase in motor vehicle registrations to more than 1,112,000 in 1953: increase in traffic on the primary roads up 38 per cent since 1949, when predictions had been for only a 33 per cent increase by 1960; the age of the primary system, which averages 23 years.

Also, the narrow roads, of which the state has nearly 4,000 miles; increased costs of building roads, an average of $100,000 per mile for a modern, wide roads with wide bridges, compared with an average of $30,000 when most of Iowa's roads were built; increased maintenance cost-up to $10,000,000 a year compared with only $4,000,000 ten years ago.

Maintenance Too Costly

"Our maintenance cost will continue to rise as the system grows older and traffic increases," Bogan said. "It is penny wise and pound foolish to spend increasing amounts on maintenance rather than contsruct modern highways for modern needs."

The speaker said the association's program for boosting the gas tax "to provide additional funds to give us a $50,000,000 annual primary contsruction program" would mean only $13 more a year ($1.08 a month) for the average motorist."

Bogan praised President Eisenhower's "boldness and imagination" in advocating a long-term road building program for America calling it, "The first time in history a President and a Congress have taken the lead in providing a realistic program for highways."

James W. Payne, who lives east of Belmond, has been appointed to serve as a Wright county committeeman for the Farmers Home Administration. His appointment will run for a term of three years. Mr. Payne is a life-long resident of Wright county.
